Light Brigade will be a notable addition to the list of stallions quartered in Kentucky, and it is quite certain that breeders will gladly avail themselves of the opportunity of sending mares to him. Mr. Camden, on his part, is to be congratulated on securing a stallion which cannot fail to enhance the reputation of his stud, where Ben Brush (the sire of Broomstick) and Peter Quince, a son of Commando, are installed.

Double Dark is a bay or brown mare, foaled 1912, by Dark Ronald, out of Dark Agnes (half sister to Pommern's dam) with a colt foal by Matchmaker and bred to Lemberg.

DISPERSAL OF THE FAMOUS COBHAM STUD.

In consequence of the approaching termination of the lease on the property, the whole of the stock at Cobham Stud, England, comprising stallions, mares and foals, yearlings, and other stock, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Wednesday, July 26, 1916. There is not a civilized country in the world which has not greatly improved its blood-stock by importations from Cobham.

Among the world-famous mares and stallions that will be sold is Javelin, perhaps the most promising young horse in England.

Javelin is a bay stallion, foaled in 1909, by Spearmint (winner of the Derby and the Grand Prix de Paris), out of Full Cry (winner of the Prince of Wales' Stakes of £2,400, and third in the National Breeders' Produce Stakes, etc.; dam of Fortafix, her first foal, winner in England and of several races in Australia, including the "Perth £2000"; and of Javelin, her second foal), by Flying Fox (winner of Two Thousand Guineas, Derby, and St. Leger. Sold by auction for 37,500 guineas); 2d dam Lady Villikins (winner of ten races; dam of Marcovil, winner of the Cambridgeshire and a most successful young stallion; Hips and Haws, winner of four races and £775; Footpath, £590; True Blue, Villikins, Phulnana, and Full Cry; also of Lady Angela, winner of four races and dam of Ma Laddie), by Hagioscope, (winner of twelve long distance races); 3d dam Dinah (own sister to Suicide, the dam of Amphion, sire of Sundridge, Lally, Acclaim, etc., and of Altesse, the dam of Hapsburg, etc.), by Hermit (winner of the Derby); 4th dam Ratcatcher's Daughter (dam of Suicide, etc.; own sister to Rapparee, winner of the Ascot Stakes, etc.; and half-sister to Ascetic, the greatest sire of jumpers ever known), by Rataplan.

"Top-weights win quite an undue proportion of Nurseries here, and S. Darling has been persistently fortunate with them, but in all the circumstances the performance of Javelin in the Friary Nursery was an exceptionally good one. . . . The start could scarcely have been better than it was. The top-weight got pretty well away, but Higgs was hard at him quite three furlongs from home, and no horse could have responded in gamer fashion, finally pulling through by three-quarters of a length from Franconi, which was in receipt of 12 lbs. from him."—[The Sportsman, Sept. 7th, 1911.

"The next most interesting winner of the week is, in my opinion, the two-year-old Javelin, which defeated Lom for the Exeter Stakes yesterday. Speaking of Javelin, this morning I am glad to say that Sam Darling fully confirmed my view as to his being game and trustworthy on account of his breeding, while so many others which are inbred again and again to recent fashion are the despair of their trainers, who can never be confident of what they will or will not do. Spearmint, as I have often pointed out, has not a single one of the so-called fashionable names in his pedigree—no Hampton, Galopin, Bend Or, Springfield, Rosicrucian, Isonomy, St. Simon, or Hermit, and it is for this reason that he is such a valuable mate for mares which are inbred to any of the above horses, as Full Cry (the dam of Javelin) is to Galopin, plus two other Vedette lines through Speculum, she herself being a tail male descendant of Bend Or. That Javelin will not improbably develop into as good a horse as his sire I am quite inclined to believe, for Lom had been very highly tried, and Butters makes few mistakes. Certain it is that Javelin is a game one and a true stayer. He ran home as straight as a gun barrel with Higgs, and stood all the necessary driving in a way that showed real grit. He is a more evenly turned horse than his sire, and has better fore legs, but, of course, he will need to do very much more than we have yet seen before we can compare his racing merit with that of Spearmint."—['The Special Commissioner,' The Sportsman, July 1st, 1911.

"Sport of the current week at Derby has been interesting as regards the two-year-old running. My high opinion of Javelin was well vindicated, and Belleisle accomplished a very fine performance by which Hall Cross was anything but disgraced. I was sure all along that Mr. Richards had taken too low an estimate of Javelin and Lom. In his last handicap book he puts Javelin only 2 lbs. in front of Franconi, whereas, we have now seen, Javelin gave Franconi 12 lbs. and three-quarters of a length beating, thus demonstrating at least 14 lbs. superiority. If I were given the choice of one colt now for next year's classics I should take Javelin, for he is a sure stayer and a game one, as was his rare old grandam, Lady Villikins, let alone his grandsire, Carbine."—[The Special Commissioner,' The Sportsman, Sept. 9th, 1911.

"He is a rare game bit of stuff, and after running under the whip for a quarter of a mile finally gave Franconi and Bewley Bar the go-by, and won quite cleverly at last by three-quarters of a length. This was a good performance, well worthy of his reputation as a stout-hearted winner of the Exeter Stakes. That he is a good stayer there can be no doubt, but as much might be expected of such a well-bred colt as he is, by Spearmint out of Full Cry, by Flying Fox."—['Vigilant,' The Sportsman, Sept. 7th, 1911.

Mr. W. Allison will be very glad to act for any who cannot themselves be present at the sale if they will favor him with their instructions.

POWERS-HUNTER'S SARATOGA SALES.

The schedule for the sales of yearlings the Powers-Hunter Co. have arranged for the summer meeting of the Saratoga Racing Association at Saratoga is announced in THE RECORD this week. The youngsters to go under the hammer represent the best racing output of the leading breeding establishments of America. Also yearlings from France, property of Clarence H. Mackay and the estate of the late H. B. Duryea. There is no better place nor time to sell yearlings than during the Saratoga meeting, so every breeder having high-class yearlings for sale should make arrangements with the Powers-Hunter Co. at once for a date if he wants to sell in New York.

See the announcement for dates of sales.

WESTCHESTER RACING ASSOCIATION STAKES.

The Westchester Racing Association announces in this issue of THE RECORD thirteen stakes for the autumn meeting at Belmont Park. The meeting will begin on Tuesday, August 29, and continue to Monday, September 11, twelve racing days. The stakes close on Saturday, July 22. See the announcement for full list of stakes.

LATONIA RACING STATISTICS.

During the twenty-four days of the Latonia Jockey Club's meeting, which opened June 14 and came to a close July 11, 168 races were decided and $160,440 was distributed in stakes and purses, representing a daily average of $6,685. TRAGEDY WINS ASTORIA STAKES.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Tragedy—Princess for a day at least—was toasted at a dinner given at Delmonico's tonight by H. K. Knapp. Tragedy is a daughter of McGee and Josie L., and she won the Astoria Stakes, a five-furlong dash for two-year-old fillies, the feature race at Aqueduct today. On a slow track Tragedy ran the five furlongs in 1:01, beating August Belmont's Serenest, the Brighton Stable's Whitney Bell and E. F. Whitney's First Ballot.

And what a dingdong finish it was when Tragedy and Serenest raced through the stretch stride for stride, with first one threatening and then the other. It was a finish among a day of thrilling finishes and those watching it were stretching legs and necks and shouting and gasping, and some, in imagination, riding as hard as the boy on either horse, only in the end to see the nose of Tragedy poked out in front of that of Serenest at the finish.

And, speaking of thrilling finishes, there was that of Hanson and Bayberry Candle, which also finished noses apart, Hanson having the call in the handicap, which was the fourth race on the card. And then there came another one in the fifth race, when Golden Gate just managed to get up in time to win by a head from Ahara and Marchena, with the much thought of Raconteuse just beaten a head for third place.

Even the sixth and closing number had its thrill when the P. Lorillard colors, worn by Fred Archer, when he drove the mighty Iroquois to victory in the English Derby thirty-five years ago, were brought home in front by the lowly Gleipner in a bunch of cheap maidens, each entered to be sold for $400. Gleipner got up in time to win by a length, but Dr. Gremer just beat Narmar a nose for second money.

Interest among the crowd out to see the races was centered in the Astoria and the handicap at seven furlongs, in which J. W. May's good mare Bayberry Candle was nosed out of first money. Of the five carded to go in the Astoria, Andrew Miller's Mother Machree, also a daughter of McGee, which sired the winner, was withdrawn. The consensus of opinion as to the outcome centered on Serenest, with Tragedy second in favor and the other two but little thought of.

It was a good race between the first two from flagfall to finish. Tragedy was first to show in front, but after the first few jumps Serenest took command and they raced side by side through the stretch. At the last sixteenth Tragedy had her head in front and T. Davies was driving her to keep the lead. Jockey Haynes seemed content to hand-ride Serenest, and his mount was outgamed in the final strides of the struggle, and Tragedy brought Mr. Knapp home a purse of $1,500, a gold cup valued at $500 and the privilege of settling for the dinner.

Handicapper Vosburgh showed plenty of respect for Bayberry Candle in the handicap, which followed the Astoria on the programme. He allotted her 128 pounds to carry over the seven-furlong distance, all that was coming to her under the scale. She was giving away 26 pounds to Hanson, 29 to Daddy's Choice and 25 to Sun God. She was beaten but a nose and should have won had Jockey Loftus not erred in judgment to the extent of allowing Hanson, known to be a fleet sprinter, too much of an early lead. And then when Hanson had this lead Loftus began to make his run on the old mare too late.

It made a grand finish when Bayberry Candle began to overhaul Hanson, which had been leading from the start. Loftus probably thought he would be able to get up whenever he said the word, but it was asking too much of the mare after her jockey's belated effort. She ran gamely through the stretch. Sun God and Daddy's Choice were beaten off.

Hanson ran the seven furlongs in 1:25, just one-fifth of a second more than the track record of 1:24 4-5, made by Roamer in 1914.

AMERICAN DERBY ENTRIES.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Had the American Derby been closed for entries in the usual way last spring, it would probably have received fifty or more nominations. Of these many would have failed to answer the stern questions of training and, at the best, no more than ten or a dozen would have appeared at the post. But entries only closed recently with twenty-two nominations. The essential difference is that every one of the twenty-two is fit and ready to race. If such a thing as all of them being sent to Chicago should occur, there is good training reason why each and everyone of them could not be sent to the post.

However, that is something hardly to be expected. Nor is it desirable. Half of them starting would be sufficient to provide a spectacular and absorbingly interesting contest. There is one thing local patrons of racing can be certain about. That is that, from the present outlook, the American Derby will lack no element of interest that attached to the Kentucky, Latonia and Brooklyn Derbys. Quite probably some of the Eastern nominations were complimentary. Even so, a fine race is in prospect and a fine race will be run next Saturday.

The twenty-two three-year-olds entered, their owners and pedigrees, are as follows:

A. Belmont's ch c, Friar Rock, by Rock Sand—Fairy Gold.

A. Belmont's ch f, Malachite, by Rock Sand—Miss Hanover.

Extract from "Irish Times" June 13th, 1916.

"Last year's Irish Derby winner, "Ballaghtobin," was saddled for the Dublin Plate (value £400) but Lord Decies' colt, which was looking remarkably well, experienced bad luck in the race, and Barrett eased him when he recognized the futilty of catching "Fair Mac," which won with plenty to space from "La Poloma." The winner was only recently sold by Mr. Parkinson through the Irish Bloodstock Agency, to the American sportsman, Mr. G. H. Browne, who had not long to wait for the return of some of his outlay.

BOOKS FOR STALLION OWNERS

1. Hoover's Stallion Service Record

The most complete book for recording stallion service ever placed before breeders. Not a pocket edition. No more disputing of sires. No more mixing of dams where this book is used. There is space for entering 100 mares, giving their full breeding, description, dates of service, dates of foaling, etc., with index, complete, size 10x7½. Each book is handsomely and substantially bound..... $2.00

2. The Standard Stallion Service Book.

The neatest Service Book published, containing space for entering 100 mares, giving space for full description, pedigree, date of services and refusals, date of foaling, etc., with index to names. Neatly bound in leatherine, suitable for pocket use..... $1.00

3. Breeders' Note and Certificate Book and Stallion Service Book Combined.

This book contains 75 blank certificates to be given to owners of mares, certifying that said mare has been bred to a certain stallion. Also 75 notes suitable for owner of mare giving to owner of stallion on account of stallion service fee. This book is well bound, and makes a book like No. 2, after certificates and notes have been removed..... $1.00

THE FINAL DISPERSAL

OF THE

FAMOUS COBHAM STUD

IS FIXED FOR

JULY 26, 1916,

CONSEQUENT ON THE TERMINATION OF A TWENTY-ONE YEARS' LEASE, AND AMONG THE MANY VALUABLE

STALLIONS, BROODMARES, FOALS, YEARLINGS, AND TWO-YEAR-OLDS

WHICH WILL THEN BE OFFERED THERE IS

JAVELIN,

Who is regarded by many capable authorities as the most promising young stallion of the day.

JAVELIN is only seven years old, and he has had two full seasons, in addition to a short one when he was five years old (as a result of which he has eight good yearlings in England). He is the best son of Spearmint, and is out of Full Cry (winner of the Prince of Wales' Stakes), by Flying Fox, her dam, Lady Villikins (winner of ten races and dam of Marcovil, etc.), by Hagioscope, out of Dinah (sister to Suicide, dam of Amphion), by Hermit.

JAVELIN was almost certainly the best two-year-old colt of his year, for he won the Exeter Stakes, beating Cylgad five lengths, and the Friary Nursery, seven furlongs, at Derby, carrying 9 st., and defeating eighteen opponents, to none of which he was giving less than twelve pounds.

JAVELIN, BY SPEARMINT—FULL CRY, THE YOUNG STALLION WHO IS TO BE SOLD AT THE FINAL DISPERSAL OF THE COBHAM STUD ON JULY 26

JAVELIN has been so extraordinarily well patronized that he may be likened to a gold mine with so much ore in sight or on the dumps, for in 1915 he had the following subscription list:—

SUBSCRIBERS FOR 1915.

Lady James Douglas (Mince Pie), Lord Coventry (Finale), Lord Downe (Necklace), Lord Londonderry (Flos Florum), Sir Henry Samuelson (Indulgence), Baron A. de Rothschild (—), Sir John Robinson (mare by Desmond—Etui), Sir W. Nelson (Aurina), Col. B. B. Sapwell (Sher), Mr. J. Reid Walker (Annie Berrill), Mr. L. de Rothschild (Slip), Mr. H. Hartley (Martango), Mr. R. Whitworth (Volymelia), Mr. F. Becerra (Queen Bessie), Mrs. E. A. Cradock (Diving Bell), Mr. C. F. Elsey (Water Baby), the late Mr. R. C. Vyner (Hari Kari), Mr. F. C. Brown (Dundrini), Mr. M. D. Peacock (Miss Starlight), Mr. H. J. Bailey (Happy Match), Mr. L. Ralli (Lady Prioresse), Mr. F. W. Talbot (Collar the Guinea), Mr. F. S. Brown (Gloria), Mr. H. W. S. Chilcott (Little Liane), Mr. W. de Krzymuski (Panama), Mr. W. Allison (Watersprite, Teacher, Torpenhow, Sagette, Cometic, Cora Vale, Gaiety Lass, Colette, Clovelly, Galigny, Petty Cash, Plain Jane, Tamanamass).

Sir W. Tatem, Bart. (Maid of Sker), Sir John Robinson (Simonetta, mare by Forfarshire out of Ardrogena, and Little Tinks) the Marquis of Londonderry (Perush), Sir H. Samuelson (Indulgence), Col. H. D. Brocklehurst (Guesswork and Nuneaton mare), Mr. Leopold de Rothschild (Slip), Mrs. Freville Cookson (Miss Lettice and Amphinome), Mr. Lionel Robinson (First Kiss), Sir Abe Bailey (Bongo), the Earl of Coventry (Blaythorn), Mr. J. B. Joel (Starlight), Mr. R. Brooke (Gracility), Mrs. Cradock (Cockyleekie), Mr. F. W. Talbot (Luminous), Mr. R. Whitworth (Volymelia), Mrs. Walmsley (Thebes), Mr. L. Gibson (Agnetta), Mr. Becerra (Floral and Arnside), Mr. G. A. Wilson (Bro), Mr. Percy Whitaker (Forget), Mr. James Buchanan (Fairy Dream), Mr. W. Whiteman (Point d'Or), Mr. F. C. Brown (Dundrini), Mr. T. Carr (Queen Laura), Mr. M. N. Rhodes (Comment), Mr. C. F. Elsey (Water Baby), Mr. W. Allison (Watersprite, Cora Vale, Galigny, Gaiety Lass and Clovelly).

No young horse ever had a better send-off than as above shown, and, as he is very prolific, it may be taken as certain that his fortune is already made. There will be few reserves at the Cobham Sales, and these will be announced by the auctioneer. The reserve on Javelin will be 5,000 gs. This is but little more than his dam realized at the December Sales of 1913, when Mr. Mantascheff bought her for 4,600 gs., her chief credential being that she was the dam of Javelin.

Animals bought at the Cobham Sales can, if the buyers wish, remain there on reasonable terms for keep for a while.
For buyers who are unable to attend, Mr. W. Allison will be happy to execute any Commission.
Foreign buyers should cable instructions to "Ciliary, London," and their interests will be most carefully studied.

GREAT OPENING AT HAWTHORNE.

CHICAGO, July 15.—With the same brilliancy which characterized it here for many years and which made American Derby Day the day of days in the turf world, the sport of horse racing was revived in this city today at the Hawthorne race track with the running of the $10,000 feature event. The big race fell to Dodge, winner of the Latonia Derby recently, and Weber & Ward's three-year-old son of Jim Gaffney—Flora Willoughby left no doubt but that he was the best horse, as he won by six lengths from Faux Col, R. J. Mackenzie's imported horse. Franklin, which ran coupled with Dodge, finished third. Churchill, owned by Foxhall P. Keene, was the only other starter and he went to the post very sore. He cut little figure in the running of the race.

The event was worth $7,000 to the winner, $1,750 to the second, $750 to the third and the fourth horse received $500. More than 20,000 persons cheered Dodge when he passed under the wire a winner, which is evidence of how popular racing is with the people of Chicago. It was the largest crowd ever within the gates of Hawthorne race track, not excepting even when racing was at its best in the Windy City. The people began to gather as early as 10 o'clock this morning. By post time for the first race there was not an inch of vacant space anywhere within the inclosure.

The four horses were off to a perfect start, with Franklin being rushed to the front at once. Dodge was closest in pursuit of him, and it was plain to be seen that Jockey C. Fairbrother, who rode Franklin, was going to open up a big gap if possible and take the chance of keeping his mount in front, while Jockey Frank Murphy, who rode Dodge, was instructed to keep off the pace and have plenty in reserve if challenged in the final running.

Turning off the back stretch Franklin began to show signs of distress, and then Dodge went to the front. From there on the farther he went the farther he drew away. Faux Col made a determined effort to get to the leader nearing the eighth pole, but he weakened. He beat Franklin three lengths for the place position.

Not only did Dodge win the Derby, but he set a new track record for a mile and one-quarter over the Hawthorne race track when he did so. He negotiated the distance in 2:04 3-5, while the best previous mark was 2:05 2-5. He was not the only horse to break a record during the day, however, as Sir Edgar, owned by H. G. Bedwell, set a new mark for five and one-half furlongs when he won the opening race of the meeting and ran it in 1:06 2-5.

The vast crowd seemed to go wild when the horses came on the track for the first race, and they realized that racing was on in Chicago again. The orchestra struck up "America," and hats and canes were thrown in the air as the horses paraded to the post past the grand stand for the inaugural dash. Pandemonium broke loose again when the small but select Derby field paraded to the post, and the cheering was deafening while the horses were running the big race.

As was predicted there was no trouble because of alleged wagering, as what betting was done was between individuals. However, there was no open violation of the law, but any person who desired to wager had little trouble doing so. The players of form got by far the best of it on the day, as the popular selections got the verdict in most of the races. A force of 100 Pinkertons, in charge of Capt. W. T. Duhain, policed the track to look for alleged law violations in the betting line, and they were assisted by Sheriff John Traeger, of Cook county, and fifty deputies who worked under him. Everything moved as smoothly as clockwork and there was no cause for complaint on the part of anyone, although twenty-eight arrests were made during the day for alleged violation of the betting laws. The men were arraigned and eighteen were dismissed. The other ten furnished a cash bond to appear for hearing before Justice Kendall next Tuesday and Wednesday. The arrests were made by Sheriff Treager's Duputies.

Kentucky horses played a prominent part in the decisions of the various races, as five of them were returned winners, and the other winner, Sir Edgar, was bred in the Blue Grass State. Kentucky was also represented by a large delegation of turfites, there being several hundred here from Louisville and Lexington.

Foxhall P. Keene made the trip here from New York to see his colt Churchill run in the American Derby. He was disappointed at his showing, but he would not scratch him even after he found that one of his legs was ailing, as he wanted to do all in his power to help bring the sport back here. Hollie Hughes could not start George Smith, as he was very lame and it would have been foolhardy to have sent him to the post. George Smith will be shipped to Saratoga tomorrow.

After M. Bert Thurman, owned by Capt. W. F. Cisco, of Jeffersonville, Ind., won the second race, he was bid up from $300 to $605 by W. C. Weant. He was retained.

HARRY KELLY WINS STAKE AT YONKERS.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Harry Kelly, the Ultimus—Woodlane colt of John W. Schorr's today made his Eastern debut at Empire City track and won the Whirl Stakes, one of the most valuable two-year-old fixtures for the juveniles. He beat Deer Trap, Ticket, and four others, but in this field was none of the real good ones that have been seen in these parts this season.

At New Orleans last winner and on the Kentucky tracks at the spring and summer meetings, Harry Kelly was proclaimed a world beater. He will have to show more than he did in his race today before those who have seen the stars of the East will concede that he is better than the best of the New York crop.

Harry Kelly is a racy looking colt, but today he was nearly 100 pounds lighter than when he was in his best Kentucky form. This reduction in weight was due to strenuous training he has been put through to get him properly schooled at the barrier. That this schooling was worth while was proved by the way he behaved himself during the delay of six minutes at the starting post, while Master McGrath behaved like a bucking broncho and refused to line up with his field.

The race for the Whirl Stakes proved as interesting as any two-year-old event that has been seen this season on any of the tracks. Sortie, a chestnut colt by Watercress out of Enterprise, belonging to M. L. Schwartz and trained by A. J. Joyner, was the other starter in the field to divide attention almost equally with Harry Kelly. Andrew Miller's Ticket was another one that was conceded a good chance, but Sortie proved a shocking disappointment and Ticket had a lot of bad luck in the earlier stages, although he did manage to get up and take third place from L. C. Smith's Friendless, which was the closest one in the chase after the winner for a good part of the journey. Deer Trap, which just beat Ticket a nose for second money, ran like a colt with plenty of courage, but was without the speed to catch the winner at any stage.

After having his own troubles with Master McGrath at the post Mars Cassidy finally got them away to a good start with the bad-acting Master McGrath first to foot it, Sortie in second position and Harry Kelly third away. Harry Kelly quickly raced into the lead with Friendless close after him and Master McGrath still hanging on. They ran around the turn in this order. Sortie had dropped back into fifth place, following Deer Trap, and with Ticket, which had been pinned in through the backstretch, sixth and Jock Scot beaten off.

It was Harry Kelly into the stretch by a length and a half, with Friendless still holding on and Master McGrath and Deer Trap close up. On the turn Deer Trap had saved ground and began to come on with such a rush that there were cries that he would take the measure of the leader. At the final eighth pole he was second in front of Friendless, which then gave way to the rush of Ticket. Harry Kelly was being driven in his final strides, to win by a length and a half, and there was a terrific fight between Deer Trap and Ticket, and the latter would would have gained second place in another jump.

It may be that Harry Kelly can run a more impressive race than the one he showed, but it is certain that he didn't win from this mediocre field like a real champion of his class. He carried 127 pounds, but Ticket had up the same weight against the 112 pounds packed by Deer Trap, and Ticket was going the best of any of them at the finish.

The time of the race—1:07 1-5—was very good for the track, the fastest furlong being the first, which was run in 11 3-5 seconds.

After the jockeys had weighed in Haynes, who had been riding Deer Trap, went into the stand and attempted to lodge a protest against Garner, claiming that the Schorr colt had crossed him in the stretch run. There was no ground for his claim and he was quickly shooed back to the ground. The only sign of bumping in the stretch run was at the finish when Ticket and Deer Trap were in such close quarters.

In the Fleetwing Handicap at six furlongs, the other holiday feature, He Will, from Louis Feustel's stable, outran his field from flagfall to finish, and in the end beat High Noon, the top weight, Jacoba, and three others. In winning the Fleetwing He Will ran right back to his first outing of the season, when he won over the six furlong distance at Jamaica. Since that winning he has appeared in races of greater distance and got nothing by his running.

High Noon, from Mr. Butler's barn, was the one most thought of to win this handicap. He was known to have a flight of speed and a liking for the distance, but he met with slight interference directly after the start and then failed to show speed enough to make a race of it in the early part with the flying He Will. Coquette and Jacoba were the other two that were given a fair chance, but the first named bled and was eased up, while Jacoba managed to take third place in a driving finish from Mr. Belmont's Fernrock.

He Will made a runaway race of it and was an easy winner in 1:12. Loftus, after losing some ground at the start, made an excellent turn into the stretch and was hard after the leader all the way home. Jacoba, which was making her first appearance after being laid up for some time, ran a good, game race and will do better.

There was a crowd that filled the course, the weather was all that could be asked and the only cause seen for complaint was the ride that Guy Garner gave Ed Crump in the second event.

HORSES KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Forget that old, wornout saying to the effect that 'lightning never strikes twice in the same place." There is a shining mark in the stable out back of the upper end of the grandstand at Empire City course, and in this barn three horses were killed last week, this same structure having been struck during the meeting two years ago, at which time Andrew Miller's great Roamer was for an instant knocked silly. Last week's bolt instantly killed August Belmont's Cockleshell and Nancy Fair, both two-year-olds, and so badly injured Mr. Butler's Variety, a three-year-old filly, that a policeman shot her to end her misery.

Fortunately for Mr. Belmont and Mr. Butler the horses they lost in the storm were not of the stars of their respective stables.

Mr. Butler's Variety was an attractive looking chestnut filly three-years-old by Voter—Red Light. She started nine times last season, winning two races and finishing third, once. This year she started but once and finished unplaced.

Cockleshell, chestnut filly, two, by Trap Rock—Crossways, was one of the two-year-olds in S. C. Hildreth's charge, he started four times, being second three times, and once unplaced. She was a nicely turned filly of moderate size and rather racy looking, but she never was ranked among the really good ones in Mr. Belmont's stable, although she came to hand early, and was considered worth backing every time she started.

Nancy Fair, bay filly, two, by Fair Play—Nineveh, looked to be a more promising filly than her stable mate, but up to the time of her death, she had performed disappointingly. One reason why she was well thought of was that she was an own sister to that good stake winning colt, Norse King, which fell and broke his leg in the race for the Suburban Handicap of 1915 at a stage of the running when he appeared to have an excellent chance of winning. She was both stout and racy looking, and when she came up from Kentucky as a yearling last autumn, she showed a straight quarter well inside of twenty-four seconds. She had started four times, but in each of her races she had been unplaced.

The lightning, which came through the stable roof, ripped off some of the planking of the front wall of the stable just above the door of Nancy Fair's box and then turning almost at right angles, southward, passed through the boxes of Cockleshell and Variety.

TRAGEDY WINS THE DEMOISELLE.

NEW YORK, July 19.

Tragedy, from H. K. Knapp's Oneck Stable, was winner of the Demoiselle Stake of five and a half furlongs for two-year-old fillies today. Gifford A. Cochran took both second and third when Marie Odile finished in the place, while Queen of the Water was third.

McCahey was alert with Marie Odile, while Hathor, the Willis Sharpe Kilmer starter, was very slow to leave from her inner rail position. Before the race she was looked upon as almost a sure thing, but her misfortune at the start and later in the running gave her absolutely no chance.

While Marie Odile was being rushed along a couple of lengths to the good Tragedy was running in second place, and Hathor, after being chased away, went into third position, but she was in close quarters and not able to stride freely. Storm Nymph was racing well until Butwell made a dash up with Mother Machree, when the imported filly was put on the fence and Keogh was forced to take up shortly.

In the meantime Marie Odile held to her lead and swung into the stretch close to the rail, showing the way to Tragedy by a length and a half. Shilling made a close turn with Hathor, but he found himself in a close pocket with no chance to come through.

Tragedy gradually wore Marie Odile down in the last furlong and right at the end she came away to score by a couple of lengths. Then along came Queen of the Water, before Hathor could come loose from her pocket, and she was the one to take third.

EXCITING FINISH AT WINDSOR.

WINDSOR, July 19.—Today's feature race at Windsor, the D. & C. Stakes, brought a smart lot of milers to the post and incidentally furnished the best contest seen at the meeting. It was a dash of a mile to which a purse of $1,500 was added.

There were nine starters and R. L. Baker furnished the winner in King Gorin, which came from behind and just managed to get up in the final stride to beat Venetia out a head on the post. Fountain Fay was third, half a length away and a nose in front of Prince Albert. Then followed Water Lady and Indolence right on top of the leaders. Prince Albert and Water Lady had a bit of bad luck, the former stumbling in the last twenty yards, while Water Lady was on the inside, pinned against the rail all the last furlong.

The disappointment of the afternoon was the defeat of the two-year-old Frigerio in the opening event. Incidentally Frigerio was the shortest priced horse that went to the post on the Canadian circuit this season. He was a 1 to 5 favorite. The one to take him into camp was the Marklein youngster, Sol Gilsey, which came from behind and won, going away by half a length.

The R. L. Baker stable scored a double when Father Riley followed up King Gorin's victory by making a runaway affair of the fifth race. He was never in trouble and beat Hocnir out a length and a half.

BLIND BAGGAGE WINS METROPOLE HOTEL CUP.

DETROIT, MICH., July 18.—E. R. Bradley's good three-year-old Blind Baggage scored another clever victory at Windsor this afternoon when he made a runaway affair of the Metropole Hotel Cup, a dash of a mile, in which he met some of the best horses in training at the course. Blind Baggage ran under restraint the entire trip, and ran his mile in 1:39 2-5. Commonada was second and All Smiles third.

After Early Sight was beaten in the second he changed owners, E. D. Dailey claiming him from J. K. L. Ross for $1,050.

Captain W. H. May, who is here for the race meeting, was struck by an automobile yesterday, and is confined to his hotel. He escaped with a few bruises.

Previous to the races this afternoon the stewards of the Canadian Racing Associations held a meeting. Licenses were granted to a number of trainers and riders. W. P. Fraser, secretary of the C. R. A., was unable to be present, being confined to his home in Toronto, suffering from a slight attack of the sun. Mr. Dyment acted as secretary in his absence.

The licenses granted the trainers were—J. A. Gibson, A. Baker, J. H. Baker, F. S. Fogg, S. J. Kelly, H. Louder, W. A. Muriel, P. J. Miles, D. E. Stewart, A. H. Vivell, R. McMillan, T. R. Queen, A. Brent, J. Shannon, G. Alexandra and G. M. Miller. Jockey licenses granted were—W. Lilley, J. Sloan, G. Scherrer, G. Alexandra, Jr., J. J. Campbell, F. Cooper, C. Martin, C. Hunt, A. Banks, H. Jeffcott, A. Nerger, B. Hescott, K. Weathersby and J. Brown. Jockey Dishmon was given permission to accept outside mounts.

Captain W. F. Presgrave purchased the mare Ask Ma from Sam Louis this morning. She will be raced through the Canadian circuit and next spring will be bred to Dalhousie.

A. R. Louden, secretary of the Hamilton Jockey Club, was an arrival. Mr. Louden reports that there are at present close to two hundred horses at the Hamilton track, a number of which are jumpers. The steeplechase course is thrown open twice a week so as to permit the steeplechasers to be schooled.

MR. SANFORD'S MATRONS IN ENGLAND.

The very wealthy American sportsman Mr. John Sanford, whose Nassovian put up such a good fight with Fifinella and Kwang-Su in the New Derby recently, has a big team of thoroughbreds in training just now in America, where he also has one of the most up-to-date stud farms to be found in that country. His establishment "across the pond" will shortly be augmented by four yearlings bred in this country, two of which are colts by Tracery, and the others fillies by Lemberg and Neil Gow. Mr. Sanford still has a party of nine well-bred brood mares in this country, which are managed by Dr. W. F. Smith. They are located at the Meddler Stud, Newmarket, and consist of:—Fleur d'Orange (1911), a bay by William the Third out of Coo-ee by Trenton, which has a brown colt-foal (April 15th) by Lonawand, and has been mated with Radium; Hemlock (1913), a bay by the Derby winner Spearmint from the Oaks victress Keystone II. by Persimmon, which is a maiden and has been covered this season by Llangibby; Kaffir Fowl (1912), a bay by Gallinule from Gravosa by Orme, with a bay colt (March 20th) by St. Amant, and covered by Lemberg; Kildonan (1899), a bay by Ladas from Lochnell by Barcaldine, which has a bay colt (May 14th) by Willonyx, and has been mated this season with Prince Palatine; the French-bred Louli (1904), a bay by Flying Fox out of Fanny by Isonomy, which was barren this season and has visited Tracery; Orange Lady (1912), a maiden brown by William the Third from Lady Cynosure (sister to Polymelus) by Cyllene, which has been mated with Llangibby; Philistia (1912), a bay by Isinglass out of St. Natalia by Common, with a bay colt (April 23rd) by Tracery, and put to Radium; Ryswick (1912), a chestnut by William the Third out of Lady Melton by Melton, which has a chestnut colt (April 30th) by Cicero, and has been covered this season by John o' Gaunt; and Scammony (1908), a bay by Sir Visto out of Samphire by Isinglass, with a bay filly (March 23rd) by Junior, and covered by Bayardo. —[London Horse and Hound.

Each Friday will be devoted to overnight races exclusively.

Sandy McNaughton suffered a visitation of bad luck this week when his bay yearling colt, by Superman out of imported Verdict, for which he paid $2,500 at the Oxnard sale, died at Belmont Park. While this colt was by no means the highest priced one which he purchased, McNaughton thought so well of him that less than three days after the sale, he refused an offer of $5,500 for him, the advance possibly being due to the fact that the youngster's half-brother had won a valuable stake abroad in the meantime.

The colt did not appear to be quite right when he reached Belmont Park the day after the sale and Dr. McCully was immediately called in, but although he did everything possible for the valuable yearling, his efforts were unavailing. It is believed that the colt's sudden change of diet from the grass of the farm, to the dry feed of the sales stable may have been the primary cause of his death.

LIBERAL INCREASE IN PURSES AT WINDSOR.

WINDSOR, ONT., July 17.—Another enormous crowd saw a good programme of racing decided today, though there was no stake event on the card. In the Canadian-bred handicap, Sir John Hendrie's Splutter, turned the tables on Lady Curzon, which was again in her old position of second at the finish. Captain Presgrave's Sea Lord was the early pacemaker and landed third money. Fair Montague ran one of his unwilling races and was never a contender.

Splutter put in the mile in 1:39 4-5, which is his fastest performance at the distance. William Walker's Miss Fay was a starter in this race and her dam, Kyle, ran in the fifth, a rather unusual occurrence.

Geo. M. Hendrie's Rancher had little trouble with the field he had to meet in the third race, but J. F. Shannon's Fels came from a long way back and finished a good second. In this race Stir Up ran for his new owner, H. Riddell, of Toronto, for whom he is now trained by J. R. Walker.

Sir John Hendrie made it a double when his Marta Santa colt, Thoughtful, won the maiden two-year-old race. Thoughtful had a good bit to spare at the finish. Just after the start Duchess of Lizwill fell, giving Jockey Pickens, of the Seagram stable, a bad-looking tumble, but the boy escaped with no worse injury than a shaking up.

E. R. Bradley's Hamburg two-year-old Pomp, third in the fourth race, was the subject of three or four claims, and in the draw he went to Sam Louis for $1,050.

The book for the August meeting here went to the printer today. It provides no purse less than $800, while many are of $900 and $1,000. The Windsor Jockey Club is aiming for the day when no race will be run here for less than a thousand dollars.

Announcement was made today of a change of direction at Dorval. Manager Sam N. Holman retires and it is understood that the management will be in the hands of Captain Presgrave, who, by the way, is Quebec-born.

AMENDMENT MADE TO RULES OF RACING.

NEW YORK, July 18.—At a recent meeting of The Jockey Club there was an amendment to the rules of racing adopted relating to handicap weights. Under the old rules in all handicaps where the added money exceeds $600 it was mandatory that the top weight should not be less than 126 pounds. Now the rule has been changed, fixing 126 pounds as the minimum top weight in all handicaps in excess of $800, except in selling handicaps.

The original amendment did not make the exception for selling handicaps and it was introduced by Spalding L. Jenkins on behalf of the Maryland Jockey Club, which desired to increese purses without being forced to go to the handicap weight regulation.

The amendment to the amendment, excepting the selling handicaps, was introduced by Captain Cassatt and was at once accepted by Mr. Jenkins.

Following the meeting of The Jockey Club there was a session of the stewards at which Schuyler L. Parsons was appointed steward to represent The Jockey Club at the Saratoga Springs meeting.

MARTIN NATHANSON RESIGNS AT MT. ROYAL.

MONTREAL, QUE., July 17.—Carrying out threats made on Saturday, the horsemen refused to make entries this afternoon for tomorrow's racing at Mount Royal, until their demands that they be allowed to make the drawing in all of the races to be split, were acceded to and after holding out until nearly 2 o'clock, the management of the track gave way and allowed the horsemen to make the split in two races scheduled to be run tomorrow, which drew more than the requisite number of entries.

This move on the part of the management of the club brought about a change in the officials of the meeting. Martin Nathanson, who was presiding judge and racing secretary, resigned his position, and Sheridan Clarke was made presiding judge, and Charles Campeau, associate judge and racing secretary. Some of the horsemen stated that they would later on make the same demands on the tracks racing under the jurisdiction of the Canadian Racing Associations, as well as the tracks in other localities.

MARES GOING BEYOND THEIR TIME.

An authority on breeding writes:—"I like mares to go over time, and always find their offspring have great constitutions. I am glad to say all my mares have gone considerably over their times this year. Two of them went a year, and theirs are certainly the best two foals.' It may interest some of my readers to know that when Lily Agnes was carrying the great Ormonde she went three weeks past her time, and when the foal appeared, on Sunday, March 18th, 1883, the little chap, destined to prove such a celebrated and unbeaten racer, had a coat like a bear. Another famous racer, and a niece of Ormonde, in Sceptre, always goes over her time.

SALE OF BOSQUE BONITA YEARLINGS.

NEW YORK, July 18.—An even dozen thoroughbred yearlings sold at auction by the Powers-Hunter Company at Durland's last night brought a total of $11,005, and it was an auction that again demonstrated the confidence that exists in the stability of the sport of racing.

These yearlings were consigned by John H. Morris, Bosque Bonita Stud, Versailles, Ky., and most of them were by the Hamburg stallion Burgomaster and from mares of known quality.

The prize of the lot was obtained by Hon. George W. Loft when Max Hirsch, bidding for him, paid $5,100 for a magnificent brown son of Burgomaster and Antipathy. This one was only knocked down after a very spirited contest in which A. J. Joyner, representing M. L. Schwartz, and Lawrence Carey, bidding for Frank Nolan of the Beverwyck Stable, had tried for him.

The second best price was paid by Joyner when he bought a chestnut half-sister to Blue Thistle, a daughter of Burgomaster and Wild Thistle, for $2,600. Mr. Joyner was bidding for M. L. Schwartz. These were the only ones of the sale to run into four figures, and they had all to do with an average of more than $900 being obtained for the lot.

This is how they sold:

Chestnut filly, by Burgomaster—Ellerdie; George Patterson	$ 700
Brown filly, by Burgomaster—Elizabeth D.; Carolina Stable	380
Chestnut filly, by Burgomaster—Foremost; E. F. Whitney	250
Bay or brown colt, by Burgomaster—Miss Charcot; James MacManus	150
Chestnut colt, by Burgomaster—Lady Charcot; Carolina Stable	225
Chestnut filly, by Burgomaster—Mary Morris; George Patterson	400
Brown filly, by Burgomaster—Ava; James McLaughlin	200
Chestnut filly, by Burgomaster—Wild Thistle; M. L. Schwartz	2,600
Bay colt, by Burgomaster—March; E. F. Whitney	800
Brown colt, by Burgomaster—Antipathy; George W. Loft	5,100
Chestnut filly by Bryn Mawr—Early Love; M. Matthews	75
Bay or brown filly, by Textile—Sanctissima; R. O. Miller	125

RACING IN ENGLAND A SPORT.

A. J. Joyner, who had charge of the English stable of Mr. Harry Payne Whitney from 1908 to 1915 and who was the recipient of many attentions while at Newmarket, was asked at Aqueduct to give some of the reasons why racing has retained its great popularity abroad.

"First and foremost," he said, "the racing of thoroughbreds in England is a sport. Gentlemen engage in it without a thought of the monetary returns. There are over there a greater number of men interested in the thoroughbred than in the United States. Many of them maintain breeding and training establishments and they are content if they win a few races each year. Outside of Lord Derby, J. B. Joel and E. B. Hulton there are few owners who make their expenses. They breed and race for the glory there is in it. It must not be concluded from this, however, that nobody makes racing pay in England, for every year small owners get hold of good horses, and that is one of the fascinations of the game. That horses capable of winning may be picked up reasonably is shown by the performances here this season of Faux Col, Jack Mount, Aristobulus and Perugino, all of which were secured by me and sold to various owners. Faux Col won the Canadian Derby for Mr. Mackenzie and is undoubtedly a fair horse.

"The short meetings and the fact that racing is held in every part of the country gives the sport-loving Briton a more or less intimate knowledge of racing and breeding. This is an education in itself. The fact that there is wagering on the Derby, the Lincoln, Cambridgeshire, Steward's Cup and other fixtures is an additional phase which tends to increase the popularity of the sport.

"Society is still another contributing influence," resumed Mr. Joyner. "Ascot and Goodwood especially are famous for their hospitality. The great London clubs, such as the Bachelors and Sports and all the crack regiments have tents, and between the third and fourth races an hour is set aside for entertainment. Members of these organizations distribute tickets to their friends, and it is really a gala occasion, with ladies and gentlemen dressed as only the English can turn out for such functions.

"Perhaps as great as any of the favorable aids to the racing game are the Military Meetings. These are mostly cross-country and the horses are ridden by the crack horsemen of the army. Races are also given at these meetings for members of the various clubs, and there is the strongest kind of rivalry. The war has of course put a damper on this branch of the sport, but the love of a good horse is so strong in the English heart that I look for a resumption of these meetings as soon as peace is restored."

When asked if English horses were not as a rule bigger than ours, Mr. Joyner replied: "Yes, I think they are, and they require more time to come to hand. As yearlings they are bitted and driven about with reins and a saddle and never backed before September. In order to discourage the racing of youngsters no stake of an added value of two hundred pounds is offered prior to June 1st. There is an abundance of two-year-old racing, however, as early as Lincoln, and in the autumn you will find the youngsters running against horses of all ages even up to two miles. There are no handicaps in England for two-year-olds at any distance."

As to how our horses compared with those of England, Mr. Joyner remarked: "That is a difficult question to answer. American horses of quality if they could be landed in England at the top of their form could hold their own. Englishmen think Foxhall and Iroquois were very great horses because they won their classics. Whisk Broom was a good horse for me and Harmonicon was considered the best sprinter in training. He never showed his best in this country.

Whisk Broom gave Willonyx five pounds in the Novelty Dinner Stakes at Liverpool and was beaten a short head. Subsequently Willonyx won the Ascot Gold Cup and the Cesarewitch, carrying 131 pounds in the latter."

Mr. Joyner was greatly impressed by the manner in which discipline was meted out by the Jockey Club. "Any owner, trainer or jockey," he said, "who wishes to make a complaint has to first post a deposit of five pounds and make his objection in writing. If the claim or objection proves reasonable the money is returned, but if of a frivolous nature the amount is forfeited. Any persons accused of practices detrimental to racing have the privilege of confronting the accuser. Positions at the post are drawn in public, and if a jockey leaves his position he is asked to explain by the Stewards. There are few fines, some suspensions and then a revocation of privileges. The starter inflicts no punishments; he reports to the Stewards and they in turn hand out the penalties."

"How does the selling race rule work over there?"

"Perfectly," was Mr. Joyner's response. "It is regarded as anybody's privilege to buy or claim. Men borrow halters and bridles with new purchases and frequently seek out a trainer to learn if the animal has any peculiarities. To my idea the best disposition to which the surplus in selling races can be put is to have one-half go to the owner of the second horse and the balance to a fund for extra races."

There seems to be a better feeling towards racing here," said Mr. Joyner in conclusion, "and like everybody else interested in the thoroughbred I am looking forward to the Saratoga meeting, where the best of the Eastern and Western horses will compete. The French and English horses should be in condition to show something of their form by then. Longer races, one a day, at no shorter distance than one mile and a quarter would be attractive. The public likes to see the horses pass the stand twice. If enough of these contests were offered trainers would prepare horses for them. It would help breeding at the same time as furnishing an attractive spectacle."

Baron A. de Rothschild, says Deutcher Sport, has handed the whole of the Austrian Derby Stakes won by his colt, Sanskirt, to his wife for distribution in connection with war and other charities. The value of the stakes to the winner was, roughly, $20,000.

The winner is a chestnut colt by St. Frusquin, out of La Lage. He was ridden by Rastenberger, and scored by half a length from Count Tassilo Festetic's Przemysl, the Puszta Stud's Fuvolas and eleven others. The winner's price was 37 to 10 against.

FRONTIER HANDICAP WON BY THORNHILL.

WINDSOR, July 15.—Today's sweltering heat, with the temperature at its top notch for the season, did not operate against the attendance at the opening of the Windsor Jockey Club's meeting. The crowd was the biggest the place has ever seen, and occupied every inch of the accommodation provided for the public.

The day was suitable for fast running, and E. R. Bradley's Blind Baggage, a Sain three-year-old, set up a new track record of 1:11 1-5 for six furlongs. The old mark was 1:11 2-5 made by Pan Zareta, July 14, 1915. Today, however, the six-furlong races were run out of the new chute for the first time. They were formerly started on the main track.

The big race of the day, the Frontier Handicap, was won pretty handily by Thornhill, and his Canadian owner, James Barry, the former noted lacrosse player, took down $5,070 by the victory of his good-looking horse, winner of the Connaught Cup at Ottawa. Besides, if he had a wager on his horse, he got back $125.90 for each $2 invested.

Rancher was second, King Gorin third and the Whitney horse, Borrow, shipped from New York just for this race, was fourth. Gipsey George and Robert Bradley, two most refractory horses at the barrier, delayed the start for ten minutes, and Bradley refused to leave when a start was made. Rancher was hemmed in when Jockey Robinson wanted to make his run going around the top bend or Thornhill's success would have been more hard-earned.

The Thorncliffe Stable's gift filly, Incog, maintained her record by winning the two-year-old race with something to spare from Beautiful Morn and J. B. Respess' good Kentucky colt, Highland Lad. The most notable performance in the Thorncliffe colors, though, was shown by Calgary. It was the first start for the red horse in more than two years, but Trainer Henry McDaniel had him in such order that he ran second to Blind Baggage in his record-breaking race, and the nearest horse behind Calgary was four lengths away.

The selling race activities that were so pronounced at Fort Erie were continued here today. Will Perkins' Jane Straith, winner of the second race, was bid up from $600 to $1,100 and sold to A. C. Paretto. The same bidder also raised Jim Baker's Irish Gentleman $400, but the horse was retained.

Out of the second race Harry Rites claimed Alhena for $1,050 from H. D. Dalley Wm. Stormont, for whom Trainer Paretto was acting in the other cases, put in a claim for the second horse. Wm. Martin's Water War. R. P. Marshall also made a claim, and in the draw Marshall won.

FURORE FIRST IN THE IRISH DERBY.

The Irish Derby was run at the Curragh June 28 and was won by the brown colt Furore, by Fugleman—Rappel, with King Robert second, Brandon third. Ten started with Furore the favorite at 2 to 1. Concerning the race, London Sportsman of the next day said: "Although horses trained in England finished first and second yesterday for the Irish Derby, both of them were bred in Ireland, the winner, Furore hailing from the stud of Captain Greer, while the runner-up, King Robert, was bred at Tully. There were ten runners, but they were not a particularly good lot, and neither of the first two is within over a stone of the best English form. On his spring form King Robert held Furore safe, but the latter has improved a good deal since he was only seventh to 'the King' in the first spring week at Newmarket. He is moreover, a good looking colt, and there was no flaw in the way in which he caught and defeated Col. Hall Walker's colt yesterday in the run-in. By Fugleman out of Rappel, Furore is the first horse ever owned by Mr. H. Ellis, who is to be congratulated on winning so important and valuable a race as the Irish Derby at the first time of asking."

Bay colt by Spearmint, dam by Cyllene, for $1,450.

Brown colt by Llangibby—Roundelay, for $400.

DEFENDS PEDIGREE OF LEXINGTON.

NEW YORK, July 17, 1916.

EDITOR THOROUGHBRED RECORD:

After all these years it seems strange to find it necessary to defend the pedigree of that great race horse and sire—Lexington.

The arbitrariness characteristic of the English Jockey Club in its ruling relative to what is and what is not eligible to the English Stud Book, together with the cynical and destructive criticism of American pedigrees by writers in British publications, caused me to decry the injustice of the re-echoed slurs.

We believe that the acknowledged pedigree of Lexington's dam, Alice Carneal, needs no mention, so we look for the supposed stigma through the line of his sire. Boston, the sire of Lexington was by Timoleon, he by Sir Archy, he by the winner of the first Derby—Diomed.

The point that I am going to make is this:—That the existing misleading impression that Lexington's grandsire Timoleon bore an untraced pedigree, or that he was considered not thoroughbred, not only is without foundation, but is grievously unjust. Without going into too many words I shall cite the real facts together with new evidence, but recently uncovered.

At the outset it may flatly be stated that the impugning of Lexington's pedigree is absolute maliciousness, inasmuch as no question of doubt was raised by writers contemporary with Timoleon. That which caused later critics to deem the pedigree faulty was the fact that they misinterpreted certain queries made in the American Turf Register in the years 1834-5. And the queries which led to doubt in later minds, rested merely upon which "Driver" was the sire of Timoleon's g-grandam. For a clearer understanding let us glance at Timoleon's pedigree as published and accepted during his lifetime: Timoleon by Sir Archy; first dam Saltram mare; second dam Symmes' Wildair mare; third dam Driver mare; fourth dam Fallow mare, she out of a Vampire mare.

Since the letters in the American Turf Register gave rise to the inception of doubt, it is well to recall the conditions that permitted such a state of affairs. And this condition is readily understood by recalling that previous to the publication of the American Farmer there had been no concerted effort to record pedigrees or performances of turf horses. With only memory and hearsay to guide them is it any wonder that those early writers were puzzled at the name of "Driver" mentioned in the pedigree. One gleans from those letters of inquiry, that the writers had just enough knowledge of old time horses to be confused at the mention of "Driver." The writers knew that there had been more than one Driver, but they only felt assured of two horses of that name. Of the two known, one was Tyler's Driver and the other Driver by Bellair. The fame of Tyler's Driver had been handed down through the years, for he was known to have existed previous to 1765; they knew too, that Driver by Bellair was not foaled until the beginning of the nineteenth century. To the latter's claim to a place in the pedigree of Timoleon little consideration was given; and the possibility that Tyler's Driver was the sire of the Driver mare was not confidently believed.

Thus, it will be seen, that earnest appeals for information have been misconstrued. In the later disinclination to accept the pedigree as given, is there any evidence whatsoever that goes to disprove the truth of the pedigree. While we are often forced to swallow falsities for truths, it is unreasonable to suppose that such a course would have been pursued in manufacturing a pedigree with the unfashionable ingredient represented by Driver, were the blood qualifications of the Driver mare at all questionable. Furthermore, it is almost unbelievable that the owner of the Wildair mare would have paid high stud fees to the Derby winner Saltram if the mare had not a clean thoroughbred title.

Aside from the clear points of reason, it is with some satisfaction that I am able to lay before students of pedigrees something tangible in the form of records of three horses called "Driver" that have heretofore never been mentioned as claiments for the title of sire to the Driver Mare.

That all three were considered by their respective owners to be of equal blood and bearing with the best horses of their time, is evidenced by the fact that they were raced at America's most popular race course, Annapolis, Md.

Daniel McCarty of Ropes Creek, Va., who owned also the famous winners Volunteer and Silverlegs, ran his horse "Little Driver" against the great Regulus at Annapolis in 1769. In 1771 there appeared on the Annapolis course a Maryland owned horse called Driver; and the same year, that prominent breeder and owner Col. Spotswood of Virginia raced his horse Driver.

By eliminating from my premise the Maryland Driver, together with all others bearing that name in various sections of the country at about that period, I offer the contention that either of the Virginia owned animals, McCarty's Driver or Spotswood's Driver, through the reputation of their owners, may well have added distinction to any strain of blood in the "Race-horse Region". What is more natural than to suppose that a Virginia mare by a Virginia "Driver" should in turn produce a mare by the Virginia horse Symmes' Wildair whose sire was the Virginia horse Fearnought?

For the benefit of the supercritical I will not end this defence before making mention of the dam of the Driver Mare. In reverting thus, to the very tap roots of the pedigree, we find the Stud Book accepting the pedigree of Lexington as laid down by "Frank Forrester", who, in turn was influenced by the author of that invaluable book "The South Carolina Turf". The Stud Book pedigree and the original pedigree differs on one name. The original says that the dam of the Driver mare was by "Fallow"; whereas, the Stud Book claims "Fallower". Concerning this disagreement little need be said, except that both were wrong, in a sense.

It is easy to understand the bewilderment of the early writers on this point, as it is safe to conclude that there never was a horse named "Fallow". Indeed not until 1856 was the fact uncovered by the author of the South Carolina Turf, that in 1766 there was imported into South Carolina a horse advertised as "Fallower" by Blank, out of a Partner mare. Dr. J. B. Irving said of this horse that he stood several seasons in Carolina, but "his importer sold him soon after his arrival in this country". From this we see a good reason for the substitution of Fallower for Fallow by "Frank Forester".

If it would seem not too much like presumption, I would go a step further and say that "Fallower" was mistaken for the English race horse "Follower". My experience with old time advertisements has taught me that handwritten pedigrees were not always legible to the printer who was unfamiliar with the names. I state the belief then, that "a" was substituted for "o" and that Fallower appeared in the prints instead of Follower. In this particular case I am impressed by the fact that no horse named "Fallower" appears in Bailey's Registery of Turf Horses, whereas there is one, and only one, that bore the name of Follower. He was owned by Mr. Vernon and raced unsuccessfully at five and six years in 1764 and 1765. As has been already noted, it was the year following "Follower's" retirement from racing (1766) that Fallower was advertised as an arrival in Carolina.

In tracing the horse Fallower or Follower by means of the pedigree under which he was sold to this country, (and there is little reason to doubt the authenticity of the pedigree,) we are by no means disheartened to find that the English Stud Book, with its only too well known deficiencies, is unacquainted with the existence of Follower. However, in the Stud Book we find a Partner Mare (sister to Spinster) which bears a pedigree that complies with the one sent with Fallower; and furthermore, the book records that she had several colts (names unknown) by Blank; and those very colts were foaled about 1760.

Since "Fallower stood several years in Carolina", it is not unreasonable to conclude that the succeeding years of unsettled conditions due to the Revolution account for the lack of additional mention of the horse. That the name survived, even in the abbreviated form of "Fallow", all credit is due to that Virginia breeder Benj. Jones, who must have had personal knowledge of the animal when the cross was made on his valuable Vampire Mare.

In conclusion, I express the hope that the foregoing has been no waste of words in proving that LEXINGTON IS A THOROUGBRED.

JOHN L. O'CONNOR,

E. H. Garrison, acting for Mrs. Edward Arlington, has purchased from Jefferson Livingston the imported bay gelding Longfellbw, 4, by Chaucer (son of St. Simon), out of Kalydor. This horse won eight straight races before leaving England, and was rated as a high-class thoroughbred. Longfellow will be shipped to Saratoga along with fifteen other thoroughbreds which Trainer Garrison has in his charge.

LEADING SIRE FAMILIES.

[Vigilant in London Sportsman].

On looking through the list of winning sires of the present season it becomes evident that the male line of Stockwell has been doing wonderfully well. Last year Polymelus, one of his descendants via Bend Or, headed the list of winning stallions, and he is again prominent, being second in regard to value of races won to another member of the family in Radium. When it is considered that Radium was one of the very last crop of foals got by Bend Or, and that the latter was twenty-five years old when mated with Taia, the facts speaks volumes for the potency of the Duke of Westminster's 1880 Derby winner. It is seldom indeed that so old a stallion as Bend Or was at the time he sired Radium is capable of begetting a colt of such class and constitution, one, moreover, which since he retired to the stud in 1909 has distinguished himself as a sire of stayers. Radium's chief winner this season is Clarissimus, whose victory in the Two Thousand Guineas was full of merit, and although that race, of course, was only a mile he may yet show that he has inherited the staying qualities of his sire. His defeat by Figaro for the Newmarket Stakes can be disregarded, for he was by no means himself, showing nothing like the fire and dash he displayed a fortnight earlier in the Two Thousand. Polymelus, the second in the winning list, depends chiefly on the Derby and Oaks heroine, Fifinella, for his position, not forgetting Pommern, winner of last year's Two Thousand, New Derby, and substitute St. Leger. Polymelus' feat of siring two successive Derby winners, by the way, had been accomplished on numerous occasions, the last stallion which previously did the trick being Cyllene (sire of Polymelus) with Minoru and Lemberg. Hampton accomplished a similar feat in the late "eighties" by aid of Merry Hampton and Ayrshire, and a few years earlier Hermit was credited with two Derby winners running in Shotover and St. Blaise, as was Parmesan before him with Favonius and Cremorne. At a much earlier period seven other stallions begot the Derby winners of two years in succession, but it need only be noted here that one of them, Waxy, did so twice, being, in fact, responsible for four Derby winners in seven seasons. Returning to the sires of the line of Stockwell, there are eight of them in the first eighteen, and all of them trace back to the great son of The Baron and Pocahontas through Bend Or.

Although the Stockwells have annexed three of this season's classic races, they failed to capture the One Thousand, Fifinella being beaten for that race by Canyon, whose sire, Chaucer, is a son of St. Simon. Chaucer stands third in the winning list, and another descendant of St. Simon in Fugleman (sire of the Irish Derby winner, Furore) comes fourth, with other St. Simon line stallions in General Symons and Desmond (both dead) also in the first eighteen. Of the remaining leading sires Roquelaure and Dark Ronald are tail-male descendants of Hampton (Newminster line), while Sundridge and Sunstar belong to the Speculum family. All the stallions mentioned belong to the male line of Eclipse. The rival houses of Matchem and Herod have each one representative in the first eighteen, Marcovil being a member of the Matchem family (tracing back through Barcaldine) and Roi Herode being a descendant of Herod, via Thormanby.

"Camping on Mount Mitchell."

The Southern Railway has issued a very complete booklet containing 31 pages of descriptive matter with illustrations, including maps, etc., regarding places for summer camps in the United States forests in North Carolina.

Much of the data contained in this booklet is furnished by the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

Copies of this booklet and information with regard to round trip fares, etc., will be gladly furnished on application to B. H. Todd, D. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

Grant Hugh Browne, the New York owner, bought the six-year-old horse, Fair Mac, by Uncle Mac—Fair Lily, just before the recent Baldoyle, Ireland, meeting, and won the Dublin Plate with him. The distance was a mile and seven-eighths and eight horses ran, including Ballaghtobin.

Max Hirsch has sold his two-year-old chestnut filly, Kathryn Gray, by Ballot—Old Squaw, to Mrs. G. Peine.

POWERS-HUNTER'S SARATOGA SALES.

The schedule for the sales of yearlings the Powers-Hunter Co. have arranged for the summer meeting of the Saratoga Racing Association at Saratoga is announced in THE RECORD this week. The youngsters to go under the hammer represent the best racing output of the leading breeding establishments of America. Also yearlings from France, property of Clarence H. Mackay and the estate of the late H. B. Duryea. There is no better place nor time to sell yearlings than during the Saratoga meeting, so every breeder having high-class yearlings for sale should make arrangements with the Powers-Hunter Co. at once for a date if he wants to sell in New York.

See the announcement for dates of sales.

BELMONT PARK STAKES CLOSE TODAY.

LOCAL NOTES.

Corrigan & McKinney, Wickliffe Stud, have recently purchased in England what are perhaps among the most valuable of all their recent acquisitions in bloodstock abroad. They are Lady Echline, bay, 1905, by Cyllene out of Echline by Minting, next dam Chatelaine by Bend Or, together with her filly foal by The White Knight, and a grey yearling filly by Roi Herode out of Nicola by Symington, her dam Vahren, dam of The Tetrarch. The breeding of this filly is virtually the same as that of The Tetrarch, both being by Roi Herode, The Tetrarch's dam Vahren and that of the filly, Nicola, daughter of Vahren. Like The Tetrarch, this filly inherits the grey color of their sire Roi Herode, and let us hope for the sake of the good sportsmen who imported her that she will have many of the characteristics of her distinguished family. The value of this filly is tremendously enhanced by a glance at the record of her almost full brother.

The Tetrarch was bred by Mr. Edward Kennedy of Ireland and sold as a yearling at Doncaster for 1,300 guineas. He ran only as a two-year-old and was unbeaten, winning stakes to the value of £11,336. The Tetrarch was in every respect a phenomenal colt and but for an untoward accident that terminated his racing career at the beginning of his three-year-old form, the classics of 1914 were conceded to be at his mercy. On the Saturday before the Newmarket Second Spring Meeting, The Tetrarch showed remarkably good form in a mile and a half gallop with Land of Song and Royal Weaver; but the following week, while going a steady, half-speed gallop with Royal Weaver, he hit his off-fore leg badly. The suspensory ligament had received a bad blow and the leg filled at once. It was a hopeless case and The Tetrarch was forthwith struck out of the Derby and sent to the stud. He began his stud career in 1915 at Thomastown, Kilkenny, at a fee of 300 guineas or $1,500 and his list was full for 1915 and 1916, a fitting tribute to this truly remarkable horse.

E. R. Bradley purchased last week from H. H. Selby the bay three-year-old filly, Anthony's Lass by Forfarshire out of Obelisk II. by Orvieto. This mare will be turned out at Idle Hour until fall when Mr. Bradley will put her back in training.

Lady Bennett, bay filly, 2, by Ormondale—Arthesia by Siddartha, property of George C. Bennett, has been shipped to Lexington and turned out at E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour Stud. She will be trained this fall.

* * *

Carr and Piatt shipped last week to Latonia the seven yearlings which they recently sold to Baker Brothers. These yearlings will be broken at Latonia where the Baker horses will summer. The yearlings are as follows:

Bay colt by Master Robert—Marbles by Lissak.

Bay colt by Master Robert—Ida Kearney by Sain.

Bay colt by Sweep—Ano by Albert.

* * *

W. S. Payne, Mapleton Stud, has sold to T. W. O'Brien, of Brooklyn, N. Y., the bay yearling colt, by Marta Santa—Anne Conyers, by Onondaga, and the chestnut yearling filly by Marta Santa—Goodness, by Goodrich. Mr. Payne will have these yearlings broken for Mr. O'Brien.

* * *

Seven yearlings, six the property of K. D. Alexander, Spring Station, and one belonging to J. Claude Rodgers, Midway, were sent to the local track this week are now quartered in W. J. Young's barn. They are:

Property of K. D. Alexander.

Brown filly by Broomstick—Christmas Star by Star Shoot.

Bay colt by Peter Pan—Starry Night by Star Shoot.

Brown colt by Burgomaster—Quagmire by Fiddlesticks.

Property of J. Claude Rodgers.

The twenty yearlings, ten colts and ten fillies, that Clarence H. Mackay has brought to this country from his Haras de Fresnay in Normandy, France, and which will be sold at Saratoga on August 12th, aside from leaving nothing to be desired on bloodlines, are pronounced an exceptional lot by most competent judges. Included in the shipment are the first of the Fitz Herberts and the last of the Rock Sands, and a glance at the list given in full below, is enough to convince any astute breeder of the many advantages afforded by this opportunity to secure yearlings of the highest class at public auction. The yearlings are:

Macchiavelli, bay or brown colt, by Macdonnald—Double Six.

Feu d'Artifice, bay filly, by Fitz Herbert—Strike-a-Light II.

Marsouin, bay or brown colt, by Fitz Herbert—Marise.

Mike O'Leary, bay colt, by Fitz Herbert—Irish Eyes.

Golden Sheaf, chestnut colt, by Meddler—Wheatear.

Lady Gertrude, bay or brown filly, by Meddler or Fitz Herbert—Lady Winifred.

Harbor Hill, bay or brown colt, by Meddler or Fitz Herbert—Kamara.

Nuit d'Orient, bay filly, by Meddler or Fitz Herbert—Semiramis II.

Chansonnette, chestnut filly, by Fitz Herbert—Melody.

Conference, chestnut filly, by Rock Sand—Audience.

Wattmann, bay colt, by Fitz Herbert—Manzanita.

Satiety, chestnut filly, by Rabelais—Semblance.

Spectacle, bay filly, by Fitz Herbert—Spectrum.

Bandana, bay filly, by Meddler—Ballantrae.

The people of Chicago and the country surrounding the Western metropolis gave unmistakable proof of their love for the thoroughbred on Saturday, July 15, when the Illinois Jockey Club opened its gates for a thirteen day meeting, which was to be in the nature of a test. The American Derby, at a mile and a quarter, valued at $10,000, was the feature of the card, and it was won by Dodge, Weber & Ward's good son of Jim Gaffney. The newspapers of Sunday gave the sport very flattering notices and the lowest estimate placed on the attendance was 20,000 persons. Roger Sullivan, the Democratic Judge of Illinois, who saw the Derby from the stewards' stand remarked as he looked over the throng which crowded every foot of the grand stand, lawns, paddock and the greater portion of the infield: "Chicago seems to want racing. Under proper auspices, rightly conducted, and for not to great a period, it would be a good thing."

* * *

John Buckner, colored stud groom at Kingston Farm and an employee of Major Daingerfield and his family for twenty years, was tried on a lunacy charge this week and sent to the Eastern State Hospital.

* * *

Ed. Kane, manager of August Belmont's Nursery Stud, is advertising for sale in this issue several young Rock Sand stallions. See ad.

* * *

Crit Davis died at his home, 372 S. Broadway Park, Sunday night after a brief illness. The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maria Gaither Davis; one daughter, Mrs. Tullius Witherspoon, of Harrodsburg; one son, Henry M. Davis, of Lexington; one brother, H. H. Davis, of Chicago, and two sisters, Mrs. William Campbell, of Kansas City, and Mrs. Fannie Latham, of Indianapolis. The funeral services were held at the family residence Tuesday morning. The body was taken to his old home at Harrodsburg for burial. For several seasons Davis trained a stable of running horses for the late James E. Pepper.

John E. Madden, Hamburg Place, has sold to James Butler twenty yearlings by that fashionably bred and wonderfully successful sire, Star Shoot, and two by Ogden, their dam being among the choicest matrons of Hamburg Place.

John E. Madden owes much of his success as the biggest breeder of thoroughbreds in this country to that well-founded policy that the best is the cheapest. He was lunching with John Sanford in the club house at Aqueduct a few days ago, and naturally enough the conversation turned to horses. "What is the biggest price you ever paid for a horse?" asked the master of Hamburg Place. To this Mr. Sanford replied: "I paid $28,000 for one at public auction in England, which is my record to date." Madden then said: "Did you ever get a real big price for a horse?" and on being answered no, added: "Well, you can get one now. I'll give you $50,000 for Nassovian, which ran third for you in the English Derby this year." Mr. Sanford smilingly refused, while admitting that the offer was a good one and most flattering.

Nassovian is by William the Third, out of Veneration II., by Gallinule, which represent blood lines of the best. Madden wants the horse for stock purposes, and in offering $50,000 showed a confidence in the lasting strength of the breeding industry—a confidence, by the way, he never lost in the darkest days for the turf. The good three-year-old, by the way, followed up his third in the Derby by winning the Princess of Wales Stakes of $10,000 last Friday.—New York World, July 10.

Buckhorn, R. J. Mackenzie's good handicap horse, dropped dead at the Hawthorne race course last week. He had just finished working half a mile in :49 and was being washed off in front of his stall when he suddenly made a dive for his feed box and then keeled over dead. The veterinarian who examined him pronounced his death due to a clot on the brain.

Buckhorn won twenty-nine races and $31,584, among his wins being Brooklyn Handicap, Empire City Handicap, Clark Handicap, Falls City Handicap, Douglas Park Inaugural Handicap (twice), D. B. I. and Windsor

Ferry Handicap, St. Claire Handicap, Juarez Handicap, etc. He was in the stud at Beaumont Farm the early part of the year and was bred to a number of high-class mares. He had not started this year.

Bloodstock.

STALLIONS, MARES, RACERS.

Bought on Commission.

List of animals for disposal on application with details.

Orders for purchases will be executed at Bloodstock Sales held in August at Dublin.

Extract from "Irish Times" June 13th, 1916.

"Last year's Irish Derby winner, "Ballaghtobin," was saddled for the Dublin Plate (value £400) but Lord Decies' colt, which was looking remarkably well, experienced bad luck in the race, and Barrett eased him when he recognized the futilty of catching "Fair Mac," which won with plenty to space from "La Poloma." The winner was only recently sold by Mr. Parkinson through the Irish Bloodstock Agency, to the American sportsman, Mr. G. H. Browne, who had not long to wait for the return of some of his outlay.

POWERS-HUNTER'S SARATOGA SALES.

The schedule for the sales of yearlings the Powers-Hunter Co. have arranged for the summer meeting of the Saratoga Racing Association at Saratoga is announced in THE RECORD this week. The youngsters to go under the hammer represent the best racing output of the leading breeding establishments of America. Also yearlings from France, property of Clarence H. Mackay and the estate of the late H. B. Duryea. There is no better place nor time to sell yearlings than during the Saratoga meeting, so every breeder having high-class yearlings for sale should make arrangements with the Powers-Hunter Co. at once for a date if he wants to sell in New York.

See the announcement for dates of sales.

THE LEADING STALLIONS IN ENGLAND.

Though Radium retains his place as leading sire, the son of Bend Or has not added to his total lately. Polymelus and Chaucer, on the other hand, are making slow but gradual progress. The "star" of the week, however, is William the Third, which takes an exalted position by virtue of the triumph of Nassovian.

VOGUE WINS HANDICAP.

CHICAGO, July 27.—Gallaher Brothers' Vogue, starting here for the first time, made an auspicious debut when she triumphed in the handicap over some good sprinters, incidentally serving as a medium for a mild betting coup. Her victory was decisive and she led for the entire trip, winning well in hand, Pesky landing second, a good margin before her stable companion, Sir Edgar.

Announcements of stakes are out for the autumn meeting of the Maryland Jockey Club (Pimlico). The added money allotments to these events are liberal, and the fact that no purse will be less than $700 is prominently featured.

BLACK BROOM WINS PRINCE EDWARD STAKES.

HAMILTON, ONT., July 26.—The second meeting of the Hamilton Jockey Club was ushered in this afternoon before a large gathering. Despite the heat a big crowd made the trip from Toronto to witness the sport. Buffalo also sent over a large contingent. Racing conditions were all that the most ardent admirer of the sport could wish for. Edward Trotter furnished the winner of the feature race, the Prince Edward Selling Stakes, a dash of a mile and a sixteenth, to which a purse of $1,500 was added, when Black Broom got up in the closing strides to beat Fountain Fay out a neck. Fountain Fay was a forward contender from the start, and, in the final furlong, when Black Broom got on equal terms with him, he repeatedly tried to savage the latter.

It was a great day for the followers of Jockey Robinson, as that clever rider landed his first four mounts winners.

Among the interested spectators was Mr. J. O. Keene, who arrived this morning. Mr. Keene motored from Lexington to Hamilton. He will remain for a couple of days, and while here will arrange to ship about four of his horses to Saratoga, among them the two-year-old filly Yermila. The latter is an eligible for the Spinaway Stakes, and she is being sent there to fulfill that engagement.

Steeplechase Jockey J. Smith was suspended by the stewards for what was termed a listless ride on Jim O.

Jockeys Shilling and Ward were set down for two days by the starter for disobedience at the post.

Acting in accordance with the suggestion made by the members of the Thoroughbred Horse Association, Secretary Loudon changed the conditions of all selling races and in future the winner of these events is liable to be claimed for the entered price, plus the value of the race to the first horse. This will apply to all selling races except selling handicaps. It was also recommended that a cheap race be put on every day in which all horses are liable to be claimed for the entered price only. This was done to insure the owners of the poorer grade of horses an opportunity to win a purse.

W. Perkins, acting for C. T. Worthington, has purchased the contract that A. L. Austin held on Jockey A. Mott.

The German Derby has been won for the third time by the Messrs. von Weinberg. Their previous winners were Fels in 1906 and Desir in the following season. This time their candidate, Amorino (Schmidt up) beat Antivari, Adresse, and seven others—starting at the long odds of about 23 to 1 against. The winner is by Festino out of Anmut, by Saraband, and his sire is by Ayrshire out of Festa (dam of Fels).

Wednesday, August 23—Adirondack Handicap, two-year-olds.

Thursday, August 24—Amsterdam Stakes, three-year-olds and over.

Saturday, August 26—Beverwyck Steeplechase, three-year-olds and over; Hopeful Stakes, two-year-olds; Saratoga Cup, three-year-olds and over.

Each Friday will be devoted to overnight races exclusively.

Mr. Robertson, who is interested in the Allendale Stock Farm, near Melbourne, Australia, arrived at San Francisco recently, en route for New York, where he will take a steamer for England to export a number of thoroughbred horses. For the past fourteen years Robertson has been making from one to two trips annually to this country and England for the purpose of securing horses for Australia.

Mr. Grant Hugh Browne, whose colors (white, blue spots, and red cap) were carried on the Seance colt (his purchase of Tuesday evening) in the first race at Newmarket yesterday, is the American owner who a few years ago raced John M. P. and Desert Chief with success on the other side of the "herring pond."—London Sporting Life.

The Detroit and Windsor Ferry Co. Handicap, $3,000 added, will be run on the the opening day, August 16, of the second summer meeting of the Windsor Jockey Club. The Windsor Double Event (First Half) will be run on August 19; the Canadian Handicap on August 21, and on the closing day, August 23, the George Hendrie Memorial Handicap will be decided.

SEVENTY-NINE FOREIGN-BRED HORSES ARRIVE.

NEW YORK, July 23.—When the steamship Mongolia docked at the Atlantic Transport Line's pier 58 about 4:30 yesterday afternoon, one of the largest consignments of thoroughbreds ever included in one cargo, sent to this country, came with her. According to the steamship's figures there were seventy-nine in the lot, but as many of the animals were unidentified, and only a part of the number on board were met by their importers, these figures may be subject to some revision.

At all events there were on board the big ship twenty highly bred yearlings bred and owned by Clarence Mackay, five yearlings consigned to Harry Payne Whitney, and thirty-six thoroughbreds (yearlings and two-year-olds) bought and imported by Delbert Reiff (a brother to the famous jockeys, Lester and Johnny Reiff), who has won for himself an enviable reputation on the other side of the Atlantic as a trainer and all around horseman.

There were also four yearlings for John Sanford and several for R. T, Wilson, but as no one was present to identify Mr. Wilson's importations it was impracticable to obtain particulars concerning them.

Among the passengers on board the Mongolia were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burlew and Delbert Reiff, and they were met at the pier and warmly welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Preston Burch, who were among their most intimate friends during their long stay abroad.

Fred Burlew, who was looking as hearty, vigorous and cheerful as usual, had little to say concerning his brief stay abroad since his last visit to this country, but when asked if he would make a long stay in this country replied with a significant grimace which would have done credit to a born Frenchman: "I hope so."

Delbert Reiff has been absent from the land of his nativity so long that the average observer would fail to guess that he was a native American, although there is not even the slightest trace of affectation in his voice, manner or pronunciation. He has the air of a thorough cosmopolitan and one which might cause him to be taken for American, English or French. He is absolutely free from mannerisms.

In speaking of his importations he said: "I have selected these animals from the best French farms, and many of them are from young mares. I refused many animals offered me because I did not consider them up to the standard of what I wished to import. In view of the expense attendant upon their importation I felt that I could not afford to handle any bad ones."

The yearlings bred and imported by Clarence Mackay which came over in Fred Burlew's charge are an attractive lot of individuals, but owing to the dim light in which they were looked over, anything like critical examination of them was out of the question.

Neither they nor any of the thoroughbreds which came over on the Mongolia can be brought ashore before Monday morning, and then they will be shipped to Saratoga as early as possible.

They are as follows:

Macchiavelli, bay or brown colt, by Macdonnald—Double Six.

CASTRATE EVERY GRADE MALE.

Capt. Edward B. Cassatt, who is one of the youngest members of the Jockey Club and who races horses from his own Chesterbrook Stud in Pennsylvania exclusively, has some very good ideas on horse breeding. He is one of the progressives in the ranks of that organization and was responsible for the introduction of the rule restricting the racing of two-year-olds, which brought about so much discussion at the time of its consideration and adoption.

The Captain is particulary interested in the production of the proper type of horse, not only for racing but for remount and saddle uses, and having lived much abroad is familiar with the workings of such institutions as Saumur, the great cavaly school in France. He is an ardent admirer of Col. Henri Couste connected with the celebrated institution. Col. Couste is the author of an exhaustive treatise decrying the decadent effects of sprinting and early racing. He holds these evils responsible for the changing conformation of the thoroughbred and incidentally of all grades of that horse.

Capt. Cassatt entertained Col. Couste during a visit to the United States at Chesterbrook and obtained permission from him to translate his work "Une foule de Galop de Course" ("Mechanics Applied to the Race Horse"). This work he had printed recently and distributed among his friends in the hope that the conclusions of Col. Couste would have a favorable influence upon all who read it. Capt. Cassatt in a most interesting preface says, after stating that he was actuated in undertaking the work by a desire to reach three classes interested in horse breeding in the United States:

"Col. Couste should appeal to our Remount Department, to the officers of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, and through them to the horse raising population of the country. By far the most important class which I desire to reach is the racing man and the breeder of the thoroughbred horses, and I say that the racing man is the most important of all, because I thoroughly agree with Col. Couste as to the evil effects produced upon the model of the horse by premature two-year-old racing and by short distance racing. It is the racing man who is primarily responsible for changes in the condition of racing and hence in the model of the race horse and he is responsible ultimately for the model, gait, quality and stamina of the commercial horse of this country."

Col. Couste's work is most intricate and abounds in mathematical studies dealing with the action and conformation of various thoroughbreds, and by analytical processes he shows the impossibility of horses of a certain physical type staying over a distance of ground. His principle plea is for an obliquity of shoulder, an uprightness of arm and horizontality of croup. All of these favor shock absorption and tend to lengthen the period of suspension between strides, the latter being the difference between the sprinter and the stayer.

Americans will note with interest that Col. Couste is fond of a type of stayer as represented by the French sires Mortemer and Rayon d'Or, both of which gained homes in the United States after brilliant victories abroad, the former being imported at a cost of $20,000 by Mr. Pierre Lorillard, who had him for many years in the stud at Rancocas, N. J., while Congressman W. L. Scott paid $30,000 for Rayon d'Or and kept him at his Erie, Pa., establishment. Both of these horses were phenomenally successful and their descendants have won many of our classics. Wanda, a daughter of Mortemer, is a maternal ancestor of the late Mr. H. B. Duryea's English Derby winner Durbar. There is very little of Mortemer's blood in the male line active today. Rancocas, for many years in the stud in Texas, was one of the last of his sons, but there is a grandson of the celebrated stayer, Booger Red, owned by Mr. Allan Pinkerton, who has him at his Bay Shore place on Long Island. Booger Red is one of the speediest horses of his inches in the world and he is making a great reputation as a sire of polo ponies.

Mr. August Belmont owns more of the blood of Rayon d'Or than any other breeder in America, and taking Col. Couste's opinion on blood and conformation it is not difficult to understand the popularity enjoyed by Octagon, a son of Rayon d'Or, donated by the Chairman of the Jockey Club to the United States Government. The records at Front Royal, Va., where Octagon is located, indicate that he is the most popular horse at that station. Don de Oro, another son, is at Piping Rock doing service for the breeding bureau of the Jockey Club, and there are weanlings by him in that district which cannot be surpassed. The breeders of the Genesee Valley have a grandson of Rayon d'Or in Merry Task, a son of Octagon, and Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth is giving him some of her best mares, as well as those of the Genesee Valley Breeders' Association, of which she is the head.

When asked a few days ago how the United States could most quickly improve the quality of its general horse product and especially those of the army remount type, Capt. Cassatt said: "Castrate every grade male. The temptation for the farmer to keep a colt by a sire of pure blood is strong, but the knife is the only salvation if we are to establish a type, and that should be the aim and endeavor of every man of us in and out of racing who wants to see our country progress."

WINDSOR MEETING BEST ON RECORD.

WINDSOR, July 22.—The Windsor Jockey Club's meeting, which closed today, has beaten all records for average daily attendance at a Canadian racecourse. In spite of the long, unbroken spell of excessive heat, every inch of accommodation has been jammed every afternoon of the seven days' session. Detroit is today undoubtedly the most prosperous community in North America, and that condition was reflected in the patronage of the meeting. In the club enclosure alone the number of motors every day far exceeded the number of people who used to attend in "the good old days" not so long ago.

The stake event of the closing day was the Edenwold, for two-year-olds, which was worth $1,700 to the winner, and had an even dozen runners. R. L. Baker's Box colt, Blaise was the first to show from a good break, and opened up a considerable gap. Going around the top bend he had three lengths the best of Blue Fox, which was followed by Lady Ivan, with a big band right behind her. Blue Fox, a Waterboy filly owned by the Mirasol Stable, wore down the leader in the last half furlong and won by a scant margin. Swift Fox came from far back and beat Langden for third place, while Lady Ivan, whose admirers considered her one of the best youngsters of the season, could finish only fifth.

After the defeat of the two-year-old Kingfisher in the fifth race he was claimed from the Tyree Stable for $1,050, by W. T. Martin. A. H. Vivell's Heenan ran away while being worked this morning, and died from exhaustion after being got back to his stall.

SARATOGA HANDICAP WEIGHTS.

Handicapper Vosburgh has given out his assignment of weights to the good horses engaged in the Saratoga Handicap, which will be one of the features of the opening day next Monday. With seventy-one entries he had plenty of good material to consider, eighteen being imported horses, some of which have raced with distinction abroad. They should be ripe for racing by this time and the manner of their running will be one of the many items of interest attaching to the great meeting close at hand. The weights are:

HAUBERK TAKES THE MELROSE STAKES.

NEW YORK, July 25.—W. R. Coe's Hauberk, which seems to have come back, was winner of the mile and a sixteenth of the Melrose Selling Stakes for three-year-olds and upward, under a particularly clever ride by E. Campbell. Andrew Miller's Bac took the place with the Quincy Stable's Sky Pilot third, while the Marrone Stable's Wooden Shoes was the only other starter.

From a good start Butwell went out to make pace with Bac and, saving ground on the first turn, he was showing the way, and Hauberk was chasing after him, while Sky Pilot was a good third and Wooden Shoes, which went very wide there, a bad last.

Swinging into the backstretch, Bac had a lead of a length and a half, but little Campbell kept Hauberk well in hand and he was picking the best going for him. The pair of them had gone out a couple of lengths before Sky Pilot and Wooden Shoes was so well beaten already that he was no longer considered.

It was on the far turn that Campbell made his first move with Hauberk and he quickly went to Bac, reaching the corner well lapped on the Miller plater. Butwell was riding Bac hard in an effort to hold his advantage and for a time he went with Hauberk, but he was doing his best, while the Coe gelding seemed to have plenty left.

Making the turn for home, Hauberk bore out slightly, where better footing was found. By that time he was showing the way. Butwell shot Bac up on the inner rail in an effort to save the day, but Hauberk was going strongly and he was being ridden snugly and intelligently. The pair of them were lapped to the sixteenth pole, but from there to the finish Hauberk came away to win by a length and a half.

When too late, Sky Pilot came with a great rush and his nose was at Bac's hips when he finished, while Wooden Shoes was beaten off ten lengths.

Incidentally this victory of Hauberk was a surprise to Jerry Carroll, for over the same kind of going in the Preakness at Pimlico last fall he was very thoroughly beaten. On that occasion it was decided that the going accounted for the result.

Three of the four selling races decided at Empire City today brought about run-ups and two horses changed hands during the afternoon. The only plater which escaped a boost was Gloomy Gus, winner of the first race.

J. W. Hedrick began his afternoon's activities by claiming Daddy Long Legs out of the first race for $1,500 and, as this two-year-old is a maiden, it appears a fairly good buy.

He next carried Ninety Simplex from $500 to $900, after that plater won his first race in two years and bought him at that figure. Later in the afternoon Emil Herz purchased this gelding from Hedrick at a slight advance.

Harry Fink registered the high run-up of the meeting when he carried Hauberk from $1,000 to $2,500 in three bids of $500 each. This good plater was bought in by the W. R. Coe stable.

Fink again took the spot light after the running of the fifth race, when he boosted Transit to $1,400, but this racer was bought in by the Marrone Stable.

Arthur Hancock, whose stallion Celt has sent many high-class performers to the races, was among the visitors at the Yonkers course this afternoon.

Walter Pearce, racing secretary on the Kentucky tracks, will make the riding engagements of Roscoe Goose during the August meeting at Saratoga Springs. Goose is the contract rider for Baker Brothers who has signed a contract for first call to August Belmont during the session at the Spa.

George Odom, acting for the Brighton Stable, bought Woodward from the Marrone Stable. Last week Woodward was claimed out of a selling race by J. W. Hedrick, who soon afterwards sold him to the Marrone Stable. He remained with his new owner until this morning when, after a brief conference between George Odom and Joseph Marrone, he was sold back to the Brighton Stable for $3,200, which is not a very great advance over what it cost Hedrick to take him out of the race originally.

AN AMERICAN OWNER'S VICTORY.

(London Sportsman.)

The absence of Kwang Su spoiled the Princess of Wales' Stakes, and it was equivalent to coining money to lay the modest odds of 5 to 2 on Nassovian, which Butters judiciously kept in his box until it was time to go out for the race. Never has the son of William the Third and Veneration been so well as he was today. He has developed muscle and substance to a surprising degree, though not surprising to anyone who knows that he is now a hearty feeder, whereas last year he was just the reverse. It was really delightful to watch the energy and enthusiasm of his trainer both before and after the race in all the little details of the colt's toilet, and no victory could have been more handsomely achieved, though as Nassovian is a bit of a slug and had to make his own running he did not string out his field as he would have done had there been anything else to bring them along. Spear says he never was really extended at any part of the race, and this was obvious enough to anyone who looked on with reasonable care. Mr. Sohn Sanford is one of the best class of American owners, and his success will do much to appreciate British bloodstock in his country. Nassovian perhaps did not understand it, or he would not have lashed out in the paddock after the race and very narrowly missed the point of Mr. G. H. Browne's chin. A miss, however, is as good as a mile. Blackadder, the Bayardo colt which ran second, is quite a good sort and will win in due course. So will King's Prize, which performed very fairly under his penalty. Elkington was as fit as hands could make him, and he was fancied, but never looked dangerous. Roderic has woefully disappointed since his yearling days. The summary:

Princess of Wales' Stakes of 2,000 sovs. added to sweepstakes of 30 sovs. each for starters; second to receive 300 sovs. third 200 sovs.; nominator of winner 300 sovs. and nominator of second 200 sovs; 1½ miles.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR DIADEM.

Quite the feature of a somewhat colorless day's racing was the capital performance of the two Stanley House fillies, Hasta and Diadem, and, judging by the way Lord d'Abernon's filly, Diadem, accounted for Sunset Glow and Pamfleta in the Fulbourne Stakes, she must be all the reputed poundage in front of the speedy Marchetta filly. The sister to Diadumenos was not as good a favorite as Pamfleta, but she had not the slightest difficulty in conceding Mr. Frank Curzon's filly 9 lbs. leaving the gate like a flash, and not giving any single one of her rivals a look in. It was a spreadeagling performance, and one that stamps her as not far off the best of her year. The pity of it is that she is not bigger and better looking, but "hand some is as handsome does," and besides having much of the outline and formation of both her sire and dam Orby and Donnetta, she has also their fleetness of foot —[London Sporting Life, July 8.

Diadem is a chestnut filly, two years old, by Orby son of Orme and Rhoda B. by Hanover) out Donnetta, by Donovan.

John W. Schorr has bought from W. O. Talbott t bay colt Cudgel, 2, by Broomstick, out of Eugen Burch. This colt was bred at Harry Payne Whitne Brookdale Farm. Cudgel has been under rac silks only once and is a maiden.

Running races will again be a big feature of the Blue Grass Fair during the week of August 7 to 12, inclusive. Following a meeting of the Executive Committee it was announced by Racing Secretary James P. Ross that three or more races will be given each day for purses ranging from $150 to $350. The judges will be Messrs. G. D. Wilson and W. H. Shelley and Harry Morrissey will do the starting, while S. K. Hughes will be timer.

LOCAL NOTES.

The first of a series of sales of American-bred thoroughbred yearlings the Powers-Hunter Company of New York have arranged for the summer meeting of the Saratoga Association at Saratoga will be held on the 5th of August in the race track paddocks when the produce of the studs of Parmer & Hendrie and John E. Madden are offered to the highest bidders. The youngsters to go under the hammer represent the best racing output of the leading breeding establishments of Tennessee and Kentucky, Messrs. Parmer and Hendrie having the biggest thoroughbred stock farm in Tennessee at Edenwold, just north of Nashville, and Mr. Madden owning Hamburg Place, near Lexington, the biggest establishment in the United States. Parmer and Hendrie have long sold their yearlings by public auction at Saratoga, but the coming sale will be Mr. Madden's first in a number of years.

The Edenwold youngsters are sons and daughters of Ballot, the imported Assagai, The Commoner (one of the most brilliant of the many famous sons of Hanover), Transvaal, Ivan the Terrible (sire of Hodge), Sain, Dr. Boots (full brother of Great Britain), and Star Shoot. The solitary Sain yearling in the lot is from Traditional, a daughter of Tradition; Ballot is represented by a half-brother of Apple Toddy and Lotus, a half-sister of Star Bird, and others; Star Shoot by a half-sister of Bessie Latimer and a half-brother of Tecumseh; and The Commoner by brothers and sisters of Bob Co, Simcoe, Miss Jonah, Superb, Marianao, etc. Ticket, Buford, Ballad, Bally, Capra and sundry clever two-year-olds have brought Ballot into unusual prominence this season and there will be a big demand for the produce of that sterling son of Voter and Cerito.

The Madden stud, which in the last twenty years has sent half a hundred first-class performers to the American and European races was never more brilliantly represented than it is this year. The colts and fillies by Star Shoot, Ogden and other stallions that have borne the silks of Gifford A. Cochran with such distinction in the East this season were reared at Hamburg Place, as were also those swift footed three-year-olds Gillies, Woodward and White Hackle. The stallions new and old represented in the Madden consignment are Plaudit (sire of King James, Plate Glass and Bringhurst), Sir John Johnson, an annual winner in Canada and the United States since 1907, Peep O'Day, Peter Quince, Uncle (sire of Old Rosebud and Little Nephew), and Hessian. The dam of Uncle's prospective contribution to racing was Round the World, winner in 1910 of the Great Trial Stakes at Sheepshead Bay. The other stallions will send up, brothers and sisters and half-brothers and half-sisters of Breeze, Gloaming, Smilax, Olga Star, Star Shooter, Milestone, Miss Puzzle, Eventide, Homecrest, Deviltry, St. Isidore, Yellowstone, Stelcliff, Alhena, and others.

W. F. Martin, who trains the Kentucky Stable, has sent to Walter S. Payne's Mapleton Farm, Ronkiss, b or br c, 3, by Dark Ronald—Sunkiss, to be educated for a jumper.

Trainer Martin has bought for the Kentucky Stable from W. O. Talbott the six-year-old chestnut gelding Nightstick, by Broomstick, out of Handspun, and he, too, will be sent to Kentucky. This fast gelding after racing under Harry Payne Whitney's colors, was turned over to Mr. Talbott, and having gone amiss he has been resold to the Kentucky Stable. Trainer Martin believes he may be patched up sufficiently to go to the races again.

Following its annual custom, the management of the Blue Grass Fair, to be held here August 7th to August 12th, both days inclusive, has designated Saturday, August 12th, as "Thoroughbred Day". We give below the various classes for the thoroughbred and certainly the premiums and added seasons are attractive enough to merit lively competition. We trust the Thoroughbred Show this year will be a thoroughly representative one. The committee in charge is composed of the following gentlemen, G. D. Wilson, chairman; J. P. Ross and H. Price Headley. S. C. Lyne will judge the rings.

In addition to the breeding classes for thoroughbreds, an excellent speed program will be arranged for the Blue Grass Fair. The running races will be under the direction of James P. Ross, superintendent of the Kentucky Association. There will be three such races each day, conditions of which will be announced later.

Ring.		1st	2nd	3rd

W. King, who for the past seven years has been employed at August Belmont's French stock farm, has returned to Lexington.

* * *

The yearling bay colt by Helmet, out of Crimea (dam of Prince Hermis and Casey Jones), owned by C. C. Patrick, suffered paralysis in the back and had to be destroyed this week.

* * *

John L. Paul, the veteran trainer, died at his home on Pemberton Avenue Monday night after an illness of long standing. He was 68 years old. His three sons are well-known upon the turf.

Further additions to the band of yearlings in W. J. Young's stable were made this week, when J. Claude Rodgers sent his Bryn Mawr—Flaming Flamingo colt and J. C. Durrett, a chestnut gelding by Peter Quince—Anna Hastings, to the local course.

In reporting the yearlings sent up from Woodburn to the Kentucky Association track last week, by Kenneth Alexander, that by Broomstick—Christmas Star, was given as a brown filly, when it should have been a colt. This youngster, by the way, is a corking individual and considered quite the star of the lot.

A notable sale of imported thoroughbred horses will be held at the Saratoga Race Course on Tuesday, August 15th, when Mr. Delbert Reiff will dispose of twenty-five head of French-bred yearlings and two-year-olds, sired by Elf, Rock Sand, Alcantara II., Sundridge, Oversight, Prestige, Helicon, San Antonio, Negofol, Querido, Maximum, Arc de Triomphe, Macdonald, Ramrod, Ossian, Fitz Herbert, out of high-class mares from the very best families in the French and English Stud Book.

Major Thomas J. Carson, Everton Stock Farm, Cannonsburg, Miss., writes THE RECORD as follows:

"I have only one foal to report, as the old mares I brought down here have been barren and dying.

May 31, Earth, by Esher, foaled a bay colt by Cameron, son of Meddler and Annot Lyle.

This youngster is a half-brother to several stake winner, and is a nice clean cut colt, and as everything out of the old mare by four or five different sires has won races, including Daddy's Choice, a two and three-year-old winner this season, I have good hopes for this one afterwhile.

"My yearling colt by Ferole—Learned Lady, is of fine size and conformation.

"These youngsters give me something to play with and keep me interested in all turf matters. I hope to have several foals next year. This is a good country and climate to raise them in—no rheumatism, roarers, etc."

Miller Henderson, who is now racing at Hawthorne Park, Chicago, will have a notable addition to his string to race at the fall and winter meetings in the West.

John E. Madden announced yesterday that he had closed arrangement with Henderson to take over eight of the Madden thoroughbreds after the close of the Saratoga meeting. These eight will be taken to Kentucky for the fall meetings.

Mr. Madden was at the Empire City course yesterday, having just returned from spending a day at Saratoga Springs, where he has thirty horses in training, besides the big string of yearlings he has there for the midsummer sales.

"I never saw the Saratoga course in better shape," reported the owner of Hamburg Place. Everything is ready for the races now. The track is faster than I ever saw it, and the horses at the Springs are all doing well."—[New York Telegraph, July 22.

Johnson & Crosthwaite report the death of the two-year-old Ed Morrow, by Ben Brush—Lass of Wheatly. The colt had shown some good trials and was promising.

Nineteen stakes are to be decided at the October meeting of the Maryland State Fair Association at Laurel, Maryland. In these stakes Matt Winn and his associates are to be complimented in having each fixture under added money conditions and the values range from $1,000 added to $2,500 added.

"We have spent $50,000 in improvements at Laurel," said Mr. Winn Thursday. "A new surface of the track has been laid at a cost of $6,000 alone. Four hundred new stalls have been built, so that there will be ample stable room this fall. The overnight purses will be not less than $700 in value, and the stakes have been increased. We anticipate more and better entries than last year, which means a high-class meeting."

FALL STAKE EVENTS.

Stake events for the fall meetings at Douglas Park and Latonia have been announced by Manager John Hachmeister, and the offerings show marked liberality. Headed by the Louisville Cup, with $2,500 added, the Douglas Park card includes the Douglas Park Inaugural Handicap, $2,000 added, one and one-sixteenth miles, and the Beechmont Selling Stakes, for two-year-olds, $1,500 added, five and one-half furlongs. No purse of less than $600 will be given.

The Latonia Cup, as usual, features the Latonia card, while the Ft. Thomas Handicap, the Autumn Selling Stakes and the Latonia Autumn Inaugural round out the list of fixtures. An overnight handicap for two-year-olds, at one mile, with $1,500 added, will be given the last of the meeting. A $1,000 handicap will be booked each day, and as at Douglas Park no purse will be less than $600. The Douglas Park meeting will run from September 18 to September 28, and the Latonia session from October 7 to October 28. The list of stakes follows:

Latonia.

Latonia Inaugural Handicap, three-year-olds and upward, one mile and a sixteenth, $2,000 added.

Ft. Thomas Handicap, two-year-olds, six furlongs, $2,000 added.

The Autumn Selling Stakes, three-year-old and upward, one mile, $1,500 added.

The Latonia Cup, three-year-olds and upward, two and a quarter miles, $5,000 added.

Douglas Park.

Douglas Park Inaugural Handicap, three-year-olds and upward, one mile and a sixteenth, $2,000 added.

Beechmont Selling Stakes, for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs, $1,500 added.

The Louisville Cup, three-year-olds and upwards, two miles, $2,500 added.

SPUR RUNS A CAPITAL RACE.

NEW YORK, July 26.—More disagreeable weather was in store for race-goers today and, coupled with the street car tie-up and the failure of several well-backed "good things," made it rather an unsatisfactory afternoon all around. The Midsummer Handicap, for three-year-olds at one mile with $1,000 added, served as the afternoon's feature.

The defeat of King Baggot in the first race was a surprise, as the colt was heavily backed at odds-on. Hanobala was returned an easy winner over the Kentucky Stable's Courtship, essaying its first start.

Bob Hensley made good in the second after being backed to the exclusion of the remainder of the field. He won by a big margin, as in his last start.

Spur accounted for the stake race over the three other starters. Vermont set the pace for the first half-mile, and then was challenged by Dick Williams. Loftus had been been running along within striking distance with Spur and, when Dick Williams went up on the outside, drove Spur through next to the inner rail. The Butler colt responded and was soon in front. After turning for home, Dick Williams made a menacing move and Loftus drew his whip, whereupon Spur came away to win easily with Dick Williams in second place and Celandria third. Spur's effort can be considered a creditable one, as the colt had a hard race behind Roamer in the Yonkers Handicap last Saturday and many good judges today reasoned it had taken something out of him, but his victory showed him to be at his best. The time, 1:42 2-5, was good, considering the slowness of the track and the winner's impost of 128 pounds.

Secretary A. McL. Earlocker left for Saratoga today and will open the offices of the Saratoga Racing Association in the Grand Union Hotel Thursday. Charles G. Logan accompanied him and will assume charge of the reading rooms in the Grand Union and place them in order.

J. W. Hedrick claimed Daddy Long Legs out of the first race yesterday for $1,500 and later sold him to Emil Herz at an advance.

H. Fink bid Bob Hensley up from $1,000 to $2,200 after that racer scored in the second race. J. L. Marrone made a bid earlier and Fink's bid of $2,200 failed to get the horse, he being protected by his stable.

J. J. Moran bid Jesse Jr up after the Hedrick horse had won the third race. There were several bids by other horsemen and Moran then bid $1,200. Hedrick protected the horse.

T. J. Healey, trainer of the R. T. Wilson horses, was a visitor today from Saratoga, where he has been for several days. He reported everything in great shape at the Spa and predicted a big season of racing.

HAWTHORNE MEETING CLOSES TODAY.

CHICAGO, ILL., July 26.—The matter of extending the Hawthorne meeting was disposed of for good this afternoon, when Thomas Carey, owner of the track, announced that with the running of the last race Saturday, the experimental meeting under the auspices of the Illinois Jockey Club, looking toward permanent revival of Chicago racing, would come to a close,

"While there has been much pressure brought to bear for an extension, and a petition containing the names of all horsemen here sought a continuance I deem it advisable for the best interest of the sport," said Mr. Carey, "to bring the racing to a stop with the originally announced period. The racing has proved conclusively that Chicagoans want the sport, and while this meeting has not been successful financially, it has gained its object—the indorsement of the people. We feel that we can go before the Legislature and ask for a bill, one patterned on the lines of Kentucky, which will safeguard the sport and enable us to give race meetings of limited periods that will eventually surpass those of other tracks. The decision to close Saturday night has, in a measure, a bearing on our contemplated plans for a bill."

There is some talk of a fall meeting, but the general belief is that no more racing will be held in this vicinity until next year.

There was some disappointment on the part of several of the horsemen over the decision to close, but the majority of owners, including those with the better grade of racers, approved thoroughly the verdict. They realize to close Saturday will be beneficial and redound to the best interest of future prospects for the sport in these parts. Immediately after it became known positively that there would be no racing here next week owners began plans for departure. Telegrams applying for stall room at Saratoga were sent by many owners, and if space for the horses can be secured there will be a big list of departures for the noted track Sunday.

Incidents were plentiful in connection with this afternoon's racing, chief of which was a spill in the fifth race that for a time threatened disastrous results, but luckily terminated in nothing worse than disabling a jockey for saddle service for a time. The unlucky rider was Clyde Van Dusen, who had the mount on the extensively backed Luzzi. The filly could not be brought clear of Martre, which had fallen directly in the Yeager filly's path just before rounding the stretch turn and went down in a heap over Martre, which had previously "hit the dust" as a result of tripping when she ran onto the heels of M. B. Thurman, Martre was ridden by J. McCabe, and both riders were hastily given first aid. McCabe showed no ill effects of his spill, excepting for a sprained hand, but Van Dusen remained unconscious until his return to the jockey room. He had many cuts about the face and head and later was taken to St. Anthony Hospital.

In the opener the much-raced Originator made his appearance for the last time and his elimination from further racing was due to his breaking a leg while in a forward position entering the stretch. His injury necessitated his destruction.

Another mishap came in the third race when Jockey Feeney was unseated from the green May First, but neither rider or horse suffered. The intense heat, coupled with the ordinary card, were factors towards a decreased attendance, but on the whole a fairly good crowd witnessed the sport. The finishes in all the dashes were of the furiously driving kind, with the winner in doubt until the last stride.

DAMROSCH SHOWED A GOOD PERFORMANCE.

HAMILTON, ONT., July 27.—J. K. L. Ross furnished the winner of the Sandringham Handicap, today's feature race at Hamilton, in his Rock Sand colt, Damrosch. The latter smothered his opposition, and after opening up a long lead rounding the first turn, led his field the remainder of the trip and won well in hand.

The Kenilworth Handicap, under selling conditions, brought a well-balanced field to the post, and furnished a good contest, in which Astrologer beat Fair Helen out a head.

After Pomp won the fifth race he was claimed by E. Trotter for $2,000. Three claims were put in for Conowingo, and G. Alexandra secured her for $1,400. S. Alexandra and D. A. Ewart were the others who had claims in for the filly.

The stewards handed out a notice this afternoon refusing the entry of the horse Thornhill for the balance of the meeting for inconsistent running.

The National Stud has made a good start with an average of over a "monkey" for the half-dozen yearlings, and liberal buyers are at hand when good yearlings come under the hammer. It is really more than satisfactory that these National Stud yearlings should have done so well and given the Government a first taste of blood in the shape of hard cash. A condition attached to the auction that no colt bred at the National Stud can at any time be exported from the United Kingdom without written permission from the Board of Agriculture, and the question arises, Were these horses bred at the National Stud? It appears to be rather a fine point, for it is but a few months since that Col. Hall Walker gave the stud to the nation, therefore colts offered yesterday were foaled before the National Stud was in existence, and it can be argued that they were bred at the Tully Stud by Col. Hall Walker, and if so much be admitted the restriction as to export cannot hold good.—[London Sportsman.

"THE RENAISSANCE OF THE THOROUGHBRED IN AMERICA."

In the current issue of the Bloodstock Breeders' Review, under the above heading, Mr. Edward Moorhouse gives his impressions of his recent tour of America. The article is embellished by photographs of numerous American celebrities, human and equine, among the former being likenesses of Hon. J. N. Camden, Mr. A. B. Hancock and Mr. John Sanford. The article follows:—

A visit to the United States, extending over a period of six weeks, has endowed me with a bewildering variety of impressions. Not until this moment, when I take my pen in hand for the purpose of conveying to readers of the Review some idea of the achievements, aims and ideals of those who are breeding, rearing and racing thoroughbreds in America, have I fully realized how exceptional were the opportunities that came my way. Everywhere I received the heartiest of greetings. Overwhelming in its spontaneity and generosity was the hospitality vouchsafed to me. And yet to all but a very few of the people I met I came as a stranger, known to them by name only. If I live to be a nonagenarian I can never hope to repay the kindness showered upon me. Were proof required of the bond of sympathy that exists between American and British sportsmen, it is to be found in this manifestation of a desire to make my sojourn in the United States an occasion crowded with pleasing and happy memories. More than once it was borne in upon me that I was regarded in some sense as an ambassador, representing the breeding interests of England and Ireland. I need hardly say I scrupulously avoided the encouragement of that conception of my mission. At the same time the very fact that such a notion was entertained was significant of the community of interests that exists between us and them.

We are in the midst of a struggle against conditions terribly adverse to the prosperity of breeders of bloodstock; our American confreres are just emerging from a prolonged period of stress and difficulty. Our mutual sufferings constitute a strong bond of sympathy. American breeders sought, and in some measure obtained, assistance from us when, eight years ago, drastic legislation brought them face to face with disaster. They, in their turn, are now holding out a helping hand. English and Irish breeders have reasons to be grateful for the purchases made by Americans at last year's sales. Their operations went a long way towards holding the market together. I am not suggesting that the element of charity enters into these transactions. But this I will say: One hears no querulous grumblings among American breeders because men, accustomed to buying their yearlings, have freely spent money on youngsters bred in England or Ireland. When American yearlings were being sold by the score at Newmarket some years ago, the Jockey Club were frenziedly urged to devise some method of stopping the importations. I contended at the time that that agitation was the product of a dog-in-the-manger spirit. Those who engineered it must now realize that their conduct was not only foolish, but mischievous. If they have not long since felt heartily ashamed of themselves it is quite time they did. American breeders have not yet forgotten the endeavors that were made to hamper them in the hour of their distress, but they bear no resentment. The cult of the thoroughbred is every day becoming more and more a matter of international concern. Britain is still the fountain head. Let us see to it that it so remains, the while rejoicing over the progress that may be made in lands across the seas. Such progress inevitably makes for the greater prosperity of the industry in this country.

I had been in New York bàrely twenty-four hours when a visitor called at my hotel to see me. It was Mr. William L. Powers, of the Powers-Hunter Company, whose privilege it is to condcut the most important of the bloodstock sales in America. I was not aware that Mr. Powers knew of me, or of my arrival. As a matter of fact, it was a communication he received from Kentucky that enlightened him. He at once set to work to ascertain my whereabouts, and it was only after the pursuit of a long trail that he discovered my lair. His persistence was indicative of the determination of Americans with whom I came in personal contact to make my stay in this country as agreeable as possible. Within the next day or two I was introduced by Mr. Powers to many prominent men in New York associated with breeding and racing. Among them were Mr. Henry T. Oxnard, Mr. W. H. Rowe (the Secretary of the Jockey Club), and Mr. J. Temple Gwathmey. It was under the guidance of Mr. Powers that I visited the first of the many studs I inspected in the course of my travels. This was Mr. H. P. Whitney's farm at Brookdale, New Jersey.

Crossing the Hudson River by the ferry, we took train at Jersey City for Red Bank, an hour's run away. Then came a five-mile drive in a motor car through prettily-wooded country. Mr. James Rowe, known to all and sundry as Jimmy, was awaiting us at his office, and without more ado we went away to see the yearlings. It was a glorious spring day. The atmosphere was brilliantly clear and delightfully bracing. I was, and felt, highly favored. In the course of conversation, I learned that the Brookdale Stud was founded some thirty-five or forty years ago by the late Mr. D. D. Withers. After his death the property was bought by Colonel Wm. P. Thompson, who maintained the stud and himself raced the animals he bred there. It was at that time that Mr. Rowe first became associated with Brookdale, for he was appointed trainer to the Colonel, and a very successful association it was. Among other notable achievements, he prepared three winners of the Futurity Stakes in Requital, L'Alouette, and Chacornac, their years being 1895, 1897, and 1899. After Colonel Thompson's death the property passed to sons, who leased the farm, with its training track and quarters, to the late Mr. James R. Keene. The latter made use of Brookdale solely as a training establishment, for he already had his stud farm at Castleton, in Kentucky. From Mr. Keene the tenancy was tranferred to Mr. Harry P. Whitney, who both breeds and trains his horses there. Mr. Rowe controls the whole establishment, and it follows that he does not find time hang heavily on his hands. He is one of the outstanding personalities on the American Turf. Many people look upon him as a veritable wizard in the handling of race horses. His reputation as a trainer is the highest possible. Sometimes he must find it inconveniently high, for the public are apt to expect him to do unachievable things. Like most great men, he is extremely unassuming. He thinks a lot but says little. That, at any rate, is supposed to be one of his characteristics. I am bound to say, however, that I found him a most charming and affable companion, even though information concerning his own accomplishments had to be dragged forth by a close cross-examination as he went the round of the paddocks and barns.

There are 800 acres of paddock land at Brookdale. One of the fields runs to 130 acres. It is set apart for the use of the brood mares during the summer months. Most of the paddocks are 40 to 50 acres in extent, but there are a few smaller ones. Generally speaking, the grass is very good, though much better on one side of the farm than the other. I may say here that during my travels I found that vegetation, both east and west, was unusually backward. Mr. Rowe said that at Brookdale it was about a month late. In Virginia and Kentucky it was claimed that the season was three weeks behind its normal time. The fact is that in the States they had a winter and spring very similar to ours. January was an exceptionally warm month as with us. Then came a long spell of severe weather, which retarded the growth of grass and the budding of trees. When I returned to New York, towards the end of May, its inhabitants complained that they had not yet enjoyed a really warm day this year. It came the day before I sailed for Liverpool on the 27th. Down in Kentucky I had, however, experienced a sample of summer weather in America, for more than once the thermometer registered over 85 in the shade. This sultry temperature enabled me to appreciate the merits of a mint julep for which Kentucky is renowned far and wide. Never shall I forget the long railway journey I took from Louisville to Pittsburg on Sunday, May 14th. I was travelling from eight in the morning to eleven at night, save for a two hours' wait in Cincinnati. The heat was most trying and ruffling to one's temper. The two hours spent in Cincinnati was a period of positive torture. When I related my experience to Mr. Oxnard, he gave me no sympathy, but chided me for not dressing to the climate. That is all very well. Apparently one ought to travel in America with a big wardrobe, because within three days of the frizzling I got during that journey through Ohio, I sat shivering over a heating stove in a little town in the north-west corner of Pennsylvania, lamenting that my heavy overcoat was in a trunk which I had sent on to New York! One is apt to forget the distances one covers in the States. Americans think no more of a 500 mile journey than we do of travelling 50 miles. You pass from winter into summer during the night. The seasonal range of temperatures is much greater than with us. Kentucky is so far south that one had imagined that it had a semi-tropical climate. In summer the heat is, indeed, intense. A thermometrical reading of 95 degrees is nothing out of the common, yet the times are out of joint if the mercury does not touch zero occasionally during the winter months. But nature in that district responds very quickly to the sun's heat which comes with the spring. By the middle of May the rye was in ear, and before these lines are in print it will have been harvested. In Kentucky the garnering of hay and cereals is practically a simultaneous operation.

Let us, however, return to Brookdale. There was a something about the general aspect which seemed strange, but it was not until towards the end of my visit that I discovered the reason. I missed the quick hedges with which our English and Irish paddocks are usually surrounded. In America you see nothing but post-and-rail fences. A growing hedge is so rare that it is at once noticed. It seems to me that American stud masters would be studying their own interests if they were to give their bloodstock the shelter which a hedge so admirably affords. Failing that, they might, with advantage, provide a screen by boarding portions of the fencing on each side of the paddock. I never came across any boarding. Even the stallions are turned into paddocks surrounded with open fences. Not infrequently, as at the Kingston Stud, Lexington, these stallion paddocks adjoin the high road. The idea of cooping a stallion up in a box or a high-walled paddock all day long is anathema to an American stud manager. The aim is to allow horses to enjoy life as much as possible and see something of the world and its inhabitants. It is believed, and I am inclined to think rightly, that horses treated in this way are less liable to become vicious and intractable.

Then again, when exercised on the roads, stallions in America are almost invariably ridden. Many of them are galloped every day, pretty much as if they were still in training. This is generally the case at farms where there is a properly appointed training track, as at Mr. E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour Stud, Lexington. At Brookdale, the stallions, for some weeks before the breeding season begins, cover from 15 to 20 miles on the roads every day; while the season is in progress, exercise is limited to 8 or 10 miles. During the summer months they spend each day in small paddocks divided by posts and rails. That they thrive on this treatment was made abundantly evident to me when they were brought forth for inspection. There are four of them—Broomstick, his son Whisk Broom, Peter Pan, and All Gold. My pick of the bunch was Whisk Broom. With the sun shining on his rich chestnut coat, he made a splendid picture. He had countless admirers when he was winning races for Mr. Whitney in England, and he gained many more when he returned to the States, where he won all the events in which he competed, carrying big weights. Broomstick, by Ben Brush (whom I afterwards saw at Mr. Camden's stud in Kentucky), is also a fine type of horse, who has been a conspicuous success as a sire. He is only fifteen years old, so that with ordinary luck he should have many seasons of usefulness still ahead of him. His daughter, Regret, won the Kentucky Derby last year, and in Thunderer (own brother to Regret) he has a colt who displayed brilliant form last season as a two-year-old, and who is expected to do big things before the present season terminates. The dam of Regret and Thunderer is Jersey Lightning, by Hamburg. Mr. Whitney has out of her a two-year-old colt named Vivid, by his Persimmon horse All Gold; but Jersey Lightning, who was this season again mated with Broomstick, has neither foal nor yearling. By some mischance I missed seeing her. Commando's son, Peter Pan, is a big and powerful bay horse. Mr. Rowe told us that when in training, Peter Pan required a tremendous amount of work to get him fit. Two good races he might have won were lost because it was impossible to get him ready in time. Even so, he earned his corn and a bit over on the racecourse. All Gold is getting some good chances at Brookdale. By Persimmon out of Dame d'Or, he was bred in 1908 by Mr. Russell Swanwick, at Cirencester. Mr. Whitney gave 2,600 guineas for him as a yearling at the Newmarket July Sales. He is a chestnut, and in this and other ways favors his maternal ancestry rather than his sire's. The first of his get are now two-year-olds. I saw some good foals and yearlings by him.

Several of Mr. Whitney's mares were covered by English stallions last season and then shipped to America. I came across foals by Cylgad, Tracery, St. Amant, Greenback and St. Victrix. They all looked very promising. It follows, therefore, that what with these youngsters, others that were also foaled in the States, and the yearlings bought in this country last year, English and Irish breeders will have a large interest in American racing during the next few seasons. Americans themselves look forward with pleasure to the rivalry which these importations will create. Ardent admirers, as they naturally are of the best of home-bred products, they are not blind to the eventual benefit which these "aliens" will bring in their train. It is all a part of the renaissance of the American thoroughbred which we are now witnessing, a blending of the old remnant with vivifying blood.

It was at Brookdale that I saw for the first time a dirt track. Mr. Rowe trains Mr. Whitney's horses on an oval course—a mile in circumference. There are many such race-courses in America, and none, I venture to say, is kept in better order than the one at Brookdale. To anyone accustomed, as I have been, to seeing racing only on grass, these dirt tracks seem at first sight an abomination, but it is surprising how quickly one gets used to them. Long before I came away, having seen racing many days at Lexington, and afterwards at Louisville and Belmont Park, I was almost reconciled to the dust or the mud, according to the state of the weather. At Lexington I saw the track fast, sloppy and sticky by turns. Its sloppiness one or two days was positively appalling, and one commiserated with the jockeys who passed the winning post plastered with dirt from head to foot. As race meetings are arranged in America these dirt tracks are inevitable. Racing proceeds de die in diem for perhaps a fortnight, and it is obvious that a grass course, no matter how carefully tended, would not stand the hard wear it would receive during so prolonged a period. A dirt track, on the other hand, is harrowed and rolled between races, and always presents a fair surface. It is, however, an unyielding surface. Every yearling, or nearly every one, that goes into training in the autumn has to pass through the ailment known as "bucking." This is Americanese for sore shins. English and Irish breeders may think that this is a matter of purely local concern. In reality it touches them. Yearlings bought here in the autumn or late summer for exportation to the States cannot be put into training that season, because by the time they get across the Atlantic and have overcome the effects of the voyage, wintry weather has put a stop to training operations. I am assuming that the buyer is not prepared to incur the additional expense of sending his imported yearlings to South Carolina or Georgia to be trained during the winter. One patron of the American Turf, who was concerned in an important group of yearlings bought at Newmarket last autumn, told me very positively that he would not buy yearlings over here this season unless he could get what he wanted at the July sales. I was also given to understand in other quarters that the purchase of yearlings in July would suit American owners and trainers much better than acquirements in September. This hint may be of service to some of our breeders, because it may be that for several more years the supply of American-bred yearlings will not meet the demands of American racing men.

Before Mr. Powers and I left Brookdale, "afternoon stables" was on and we went the round of the boxes with Mr. Rowe. He has a fine looking lot of horses under his care, and it may safely be assumed that before the Saratoga meeting in August has run its course, Mr. Whitney's name will once more occupy a prominent place in the winning owners' list. Like the majority of American trainers, Mr. Rowe relies entirely on colored servants in his stable. He not only finds them more amenable to discipline, but experience has shown him, as it has other trainers, that horses seem to prefer darkies.

The mile-and-a-half Scandinavian Derby of 10,000 kr., decided on June 18th, was won by Captain G. Wannberg's Clapham Boy (J. Allen), a brown colt by Black Auster out of Clapham Lass, which beat six opponents. Black Auster, the sire of the winner, is a brown horse by Persimmon out of Crusado by Uncas, which failed to win a race in his two seasons in England, although he finished second to Serenata in the Woodcote Stakes at Epsom in 1905, being sent to Scandinavia two years later. Clapham Lass is also a purely English mare, bred by the late Sir J. B. Maple, and a bay by Prince Hampton out of Clapham Common by Common. She left England for Denmark in 1904.

SALE OF THE DURYEA YEARLINGS.

SARATOGA, N. Y., August 1.—Seventeen youngsters bred by the late Mr. H. B. Duryea at Haras du Gazon, in Normandy, France, were offered for sale at auction in the Saratoga paddock this morning and attracted a big audience. The sale was conducted by the Powers-Hunter Co. LEXINGTON, SATURDAY, AUGUST 5, 1916.

SALE OF THE HARAS DE FRESNAY YEARLINGS.

The thoroughbred racing and breeding interests of America have alike learned with gratification of the safe arrival on our shores of another consignment of thoroughbreds from Mr. Clarence H. Mackay's Haras de Fresnay in Normandy, France. Mr. Mackay's racing career in this country during 1900-1-2 was not only characterized by uniform and brilliant success, but also proved the prelude to the establishment of a breeding stud which has long since been recognized as one of the most select and formidable in universal turfdom. The turf triumphs of Banastar, Heno, Kamara, Gay Boy, Trigger, Grand Opera, Mexican, etc., under their owner's "turquoise blue, black sash and cap" were no less conspicuous or complete than the subsequent achievements of Mr. Mackay's stud in the production of Mediant, Golden Drop, Aeronaut, Affliction, Explosion, Manchester, Grasmere, Projectile, Rocky O'Brien, Detective, Tattling, Hammerless, etc., who won in this country, and Melody, Rock Flint, Kempion, Congo II., Miss Malaprop, Torchbearer, Mr. Peeper, Meddling, Queen Tii, Troubled Waters, Washoe II., Miss Ellen, Sands of Time, Sassenach, Medley, Fireplay, Manzanita, etc., who performed successfully in England, where Mediant also achieved brilliant triumphs as a three-year-old after a successful juvenile on her native soil. Since its transfer to the Haras de Fresnay in 1910, Mr. Mackay's establishment has continued its production of winners, furnishing the French turf with Allumeur, Balancoire, Tattoo, Potinier, Mediateur, Footlight, Marigold, etc., and it is but recently that the French-reared two-year old filly Hathor scored a brilliant success upon her debut in this country.

In view of the unequivocal triumphs of Mr. Mackay's breeding establishment, it is obvious that the importation of the present consignment of Haras de Fresnay yearlings is an event of great importance as well as interest to American turfdom, and it is therefore thoroughly safe to predict a memorable vendue when these yearlings are offered at public auction on Saturday, August 12, at the Saratoga racecourse. A study of the catalogue of this sale reveals a veritable wealth of the choicest blood. The successes of the past have abundantly demonstrated that there was genuine acumen in the purchase of the mighty Meddler (St. Gatien—Busybody) as a stallion, and the acquisition of such famous native matrons as Correction, Vacation, Audience, Gunfire, Admiration, Flocarline, Hatasoo, Reina, Lady Winifred, etc., re-inforced by the importation of two Cambridgeshire heroines in Ballantrae and Irish Ivy, and such blue-blooded English-bred mares as Miss Ellie, Spectrum, Strike-a-Light, Wheat-ear, Mistress Penn, Last Love, Won by Waiting, Debacle, Heartache, Rotha II., Manzana, Goutte d'Or, etc. Founded upon a policy of constant betterment in the individual class and bloodlines of its stallions and broodmares, the Haras de Fresnay is obviously stronger and its representatives more desirable today than ever before, and the American devotee of the thoroughbred, whether owner or breeder, cannot fail to recognize the importance which pertains to the forthcoming sale of these yearlings.

Grand old Meddler, who, full of years and honors, recently died in France, has been succeeded at the head of the Haras de Fresnay by Fitz Herbert, whose name became a synonym for speed, stamina and championship during his American turf career in 1908-9-10-11. It took a genuinely first-class horse to do what Fitz Herbert did in the Brooklyn Handicap of 1910, namely to pick up 130 pounds, make all the running, and win easily in 2:05 3-5 for the mile and a quarter, giving such a good horse as Olambala no less than fourteen pounds. This, however, was but one of the numerous noteworthy feats achieved by the redoubtable "Fitz," whose three-year-old campaign of 1909 included victories in the Pocantico, Broadway, Suburban (105 pounds, won in a canter by ten lengths, 2:03 2-5 for the mile and a quarter), Advance, Lawrence Realization (1⅝ miles in 2:45, a time record which stands unbeaten today), First Special, Jerome Handicap (130 lbs.), Election Day Handicap (129 lbs.), Hall Stakes and the Bowie (2 miles, won by six lengths in 3:25 4-5). The Haras de Fresnay catalogue well says that Fitz Herbert "proved himself to be a grand racehorse at all distances and under all kinds of weights," and its prediction of his making a grand stallion and successful sire would appear to be thoroughly ensured by his pedigree, he being by Ethelbert (a grand racehorse) out of Morganatic, she by Emperor (unbeaten) out of Lassie, she by imp. Mortemer out of Wyandotte, she by imp. Leamington out of Nemesis, dam of Rhadamanthus and Retribution, Requital's dam. Fitz Herbert is a tail-male representative of the Whalebone branch of Eclipse through the line of Touchstone, as Ethelbert was by imp. Eothen, son of Hampton, he by Lord Clifden, son of Newminster, by Touchstone.

As might have been expected, Fitz Herbert has promptly been given a good chance at Haras de Fresnay, and his present group of yearlings comprises six colts and three fillies. The fillies are an exceptionally attractive trio, their respective dams being Strike-a-Light II. (dam of the English winners Torchbearer and Fireplay, the French winner imp. Allumeur, the American winner Explosion, and Quick, dam of the English horse Mushroom), Spectrum (a beautifully-bred English mare, dam of Spectatress, Commodore Anson, etc.), and Melody, the lovely daughter of Meddler and Ballantrae. Melody won the Hyde Park Plate and the Acorn Stakes (127 pounds) in England, where she was beaten only a short head by White Star for the July Stakes (Newmarket) and Champagne Stakes (Doncaster). Melody also won in Germany and France in 1913, and is a full sister to Mediant, Night Rider II. and Balancoire, to all of whom the Haras de Fresnay yearling filly by Meddler out of Ballantrae is also a full sister.

The Fitz Herbert yearling colts are chiefly out of young mares representing the strains which have been pre-eminent in establishing the fame of Mr. Mackay's stud. The Fitz Herbert colt out of Irish Eyes is a half-brother to the English winners Critic and Sassenach, and other mares to be represented by Fitz Herbert colts are Miss Malaprop (Meddler—Correction), Queen Tii (Meddler—Kamara) and Manzanita (Meddler—Flocarline), three of the most choicely bred young matrons in all turfdom. Fitz Herbert is also represented by colts out of Mistress Penn (Hampton—Lozenge) and Marise (Hamburg—Leonora Loring), while a trio of youngsters described as by Meddler or Fitz Herbert are the bay brown colt out of Kamara (dam of Wallflower, Washoe, Queen Tii, Medley, Hathor, Banagher, etc.), the bay filly out of Semiramis II. (full sister to Ninus, The Nipper, Sun Rose, etc.), and the bay brown filly out of the flying Lady Winifred, she by Plaudit out of Passan, half-sister to the unbeaten Colin.

The lamented Meddler is represented in the Haras de Fresnay catalogue by two yearlings of superb breeding. The bay filly out of Ballantrae is a full sister to Mediant, Melody, Night Rider II. and Balancoire, a quartette whose combined winnings include numerous important events in America, England, France and Germany. Ballantrae was herself a high-class performer in England, her successes including the time-honored Criterion Stakes and the historic Cambridgeshire from twenty-three opponents. The other Meddler yearling is a chestnut colt out of Wheatear, a winning and superbly bred English mare by St. Frusquin out of Corncrake, she by Gallinule out of Corday, she by Hampton out of Patineuse, half-sister to Hermione, grandam of Persimmon, Diamond Jubilee, Florizel II., etc. This yearling is a full brother to Jaboteur, who won in France and has been purchased by the French Government as a sire.

In pursuance of his policy of steadily replenishing his stud with new and desirable blood, Mr. Mackay has annually mated some of his mares with the best stallions in France, and one of these alliances of 1914 will no doubt reach a sensational development when the chestnut filly by Rock Sand out of Audience is led into the Saratoga sales ring on the 12th. It would be difficult to imagine a more desirable union than that of Rock Sand and Audience! The maxim "Death loves a shining mark" was never more vividly exemplified than in Rock Sand's recent premature demise, for the achievements of Tracery, Rock Flint, Que'lle est Belle II., Vulcain, Trap Rock, Friar Rock and his many other genuine high-class representatives in America, England and France will cause their sire's name to be ever honored throughout turfdom. Audience has also earned imperishable honors as the dam of the flying Whisk Broom II., who followed up his brilliant English campaigns of 1909-10-11-12 by accomplishing the great "triple event" of the Metropolitan, Brooklyn and Suburban of 1913 in his native land, carrying welter burdens in tremendously fast time. Audience herself won the Brighton Produce, Tennessee Oaks, Kentucky Oaks, etc., and there should be some lofty bidding for her yearling filly, who is one of the last progeny of Rock Sand.

Another great French stallion represented in the Haras de Fresnay sale catalogue is Rabelais, a high-class winner on the English turf and one of the best sires in France, where Verdun (French Two Thousand, Grand Prix de Paris, etc.), Vellicia (French One Thousand), Rire aux Larmes, Loris, Armenienne, Brunette, Jacobi, Valemont and Romagny, are but a few of his winners, while Long Set won numerous important events in England, where Durbar set the seal on his greatness by capturing the Derby after taking such French prizes as the Prix de St. Cloud, Prix Delatre, Prix Noailles, etc. The Rabelais yearling in the Haras de Fresnay catalogue is a chestnut filly out of Semblance, she by St. Blaise (Derby) out of Selina D., she by Longfellow out of Vie, full sister to King Fish, tracing through Kitty Clark (grandam of Parole) to Miss Obstinate.

Mordant (War Dance—Magdala, by The Bard) is another high-class French stallion represented in the Haras de Fresnay catalogue. The Mordants are a chestnut colt out of Cafe-au-Lait (Meddler—Gunfire) and a chestnut filly out of Hazel and Blue (Meddler—Irish Eyes), the dams being young homebred mares of unimpeachable breeding. The young Meddler mare Courtisane, has a Haras de Fresnay yearling filly by the French stallion Chouberski (Gardefeu—Campanule, by The Bard), who won his only start, the Prix Reiset at Paris, and has sired Bruleur (Grand Prix de Paris, Prix Royal Oak; etc.) and numerous other winners. The daughters of Meddler are peculiarly qualified by their sire's pedigree to succeed as broodmares, in view of Meddler's direct descent from an unbroken succession of Oaks winners, through Busybody (Meddler's dam), she out of Spinaway, daughter of Queen Bertha, and one of the several reasons for which the forthcoming Haras de Fresnay sale will be notable is its offering of so many obviously desirable yearlings by the best French sires out of Meddler mares.

The famous French stallion Macdonald II., furnishes the Haras de Fresnay catalogue with the bay brown colt out of Double Six, she by the mighty Domino out of Gloaming, the famous daughter of imp. Sir Modred and Twilight. Macdonald II., by Bay Ronald (sire of Bayardo) out of Myrtledine, she by Barcaldine out of Myrtha, by Robert the Devil, was a grand racehorse, his turf triumphs including the Prix Royal Oak, Prix du Conseil Municipale and Furstenberg Memorial. Macdonald II., has also been a great success in the stud, among his large array of high-class winners being As d' Atout (Grand Prix de Paris, Prix Le Sancy, etc.), Moia (Prix de Diane, Prix Vermeille), Gavarni III., (Prix Eugene Adam), Olivier II., (Grand Prix de Nice), Uriel (Grand Criterium at Maisons—Laffitte), Ardee (Prix Semendria), etc., etc.

In view of the great regret experienced by American turfmen and breeders when Meddler and Mr. Mackay's superb broodmares were sent to France in 1910, it is obvious that extraordinary importance attaches to the Haras de Fresnay sale at Saratoga on August 12th, for that occasion will enable our owners and breeders to reinforce their stables and studs with animals representative of the priceless strains upon which Mr. Mackay founded his breeding enterprise, combined with the blood of the most successful stallions of France.

DOUGLAS PARK AND LATONIA FALL STAKES.

Stake events for the fall meetings at Douglas Park and Latonia are announced in this issue of THE RECORD by Manager John Hachmeister, and the offerings show marked liberality.

Headed by the Louisville Cup, with $2,500 added, the Douglas Park card includes the Douglas Park Inaugural Handicap, $2,000 added, one and one-sixteenth miles, and the Beechmont Selling Stakes, for two-year-olds, $1,500 added, five and one-half furlongs. No purse of less than $600 will be given.

The Latonia Cup, as usual, features the Latonia card, while the Ft. Thomas Handicap, the Autumn Selling Stakes and the Latonia Autumn Inaugural round out the list of fixtures. An overnight handicap for two-year-olds, at one mile, with $1,500 added, will be given the last of the meeting. A $1,000 handicap will be booked each day, and as at Douglas Park no purse will be less than $600. The Douglas Park meeting will run from September 18 to September 26, and the Latonia session from October 7 to October 28. The list of stakes follows:

Latonia.

Latonia Inaugural Handicap, three-year-olds and upward, one mile and a sixteenth, $2,000 added.

Ft. Thomas Handicap, two-year-olds, six furlongs, $2,000 added.

The Latonia Cup, three-year-olds and upward, two and a quarter miles, $5,000 added.

It is estimated that with the above list of stakes, a handicap or condition race each day for $1,000, that during the nineteen days racing, $100,000 will be distributed in stakes and purses.

Douglas Park.

Douglas Park Inaugural Handicap, three-year-olds and upward, one mile and a sixteenth, $2,000 added.

Beechmont Selling Stakes, for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs, $1,500 added.

The Louisville Cup, three-year-olds and upwards, two miles, $2,500 added.

Mr. Hachmeister is anxious for horsemen and breeders to co-operate and support him in giving races of all kinds over a distance of ground, such as the Louisville and Latonia Cup races. At this time of the year, on account of their seasoned condition, horses will naturally be prepared to run in races of a longer distance than during the spring meetings, and consequently Mr. Hachmeister expects the cup races this fall to be not only the most attractive, but to make the best contested races for high-class handicap horses of the year.

POWERS-HUNTER'S SARATOGA SALES.

The schedule for the sales of yearlings the Powers-Hunter Co. have arranged for the summer meeting of the Saratoga Racing Association at Saratoga is announced in THE RECORD this week. The youngsters to go under the hammer represent the best racing output of the leading breeding establishments of America. Also yearlings from France, property of C. H. Mackay, and yearlings and two-year-olds, property of Mr. Reiff. There is no better place nor time to sell yearlings than during the Saratoga meeting, so every breeder having high-class yearlings for sale should make arrangements with the Powers-Hunter Co. at once for a date if he wants to sell in New York.

See the announcement for dates of sales.

ANNUAL SALES AT LEXINGTON.

As usual, there will be a sale at Lexington during the fall race meet. The date selected is Sept. 12-13 and for the event quite a number of entries have been received by The Kentucky Sales Co. Among those who will offer their yearlings are R. H. Anderson, Dr. J. D. Neet, Hinde & Baker, W. E. Oots, Lucas Combs, Dr. J. C. Carrick, etc. The sale during the fall meet here has been a success ever since it has been inaugurated, and, as Kentucky will have its full quota of racing stables this fall, it is assured that buyers will be on hand from every section. The Kentucky Sales Co., has had numerous inquiries from prospective buyers concerning this event and breeders will do well to list their yearlings promptly, so that prospective buyers may be informed as to what will be offered for sale. Catalog space should be engaged at once with the Kentucky Sales Co.

Raymond Hack, who was injured when Just Red fell at Hawthorne last Saturday, died Tuesday from a fractured skull.

LOCAL NOTES.

Seventeen yearlings, nine colts and eight fillies, which will comprise the juvenile end of August Belmont's string for 1917, were shipped by Manager Ed Kane from Nursery Stud to Saratoga on Thursday. Their breeding is as follows:

Lee Smitha has five fine foals of 1916 at his farm near Lexington, four being by Olambala. The Olambala foals are out of Lizzie Gilman (dam of Dr. Barkley, etc.), Foneda, Artful Art and Miss Kingston. The other foal is by Bearcatcher out of Handy Lizzie. Artful Art, Miss Kingston and Handy Lizzie were bred this year to Danger Rock. Lizzie Gilman was mated with Jack Atkin and Foneda with Marta Santa.

W. J. Young, who is at Saratoga from Kentucky with eleven horses, reports that Bulse is undergoing light training, but will not get to the races this year. "It is seldom a man has such a horse as Bulse under his care," said Mr. Young, "and I intend to proceed with his preparations for racing most carefully. I fully believe he will come back in 1917 and demonstrate his true worth to the public."

The running races, which will be a most attractive feature of each day's program at the Blue Grass Fair here next week, will be under the management of James P. Ross, who has provided quite a good card for each day. There are plenty of horses already at the local track to make the contests worth while, and doubtless many owners whose horses are at Latonia and Louisville will ship some of them to Lexington to pick up a race or two just to help out until the fall racing season opens in Kentucky.

The racing will be governed by the rules of the Kentucky State Racing Commission and the following officials of the Kentucky Association have consented to act in a similar capacity at the Blue Grass Fair. W. H. Shelley and Garret D. Wilson will be in the judge's stand, Harry Morrissey will do the starting, and S. K. Hughes will be the timer.

The program for the first three days follows:

First Day—Monday, August 7.

First Race—Purse $150; for maiden two-year-olds. Weight: 110 pounds. Those never placed allowed 3 pounds. Five furlongs.

Second Race—Purse $150; for three-year-olds and upward. Non-winners of a race of $400 in 1916. Weight: Three-year-olds 109 pounds, others 116 pounds. Non-winners of $400 at any time allowed 3 pounds. Six furlongs.

Third Race—Purse $250; for three-year-olds and upward. Weight: Three-year-olds 106 pounds, others 115 pounds. Non-winners of $400 in 1916 allowed 5 pounds. One mile.

Second Day—August 8.

First Race—Purse $150; for maiden three-year-olds and upward. Weight: Three-year-olds 108 pounds, others 115 pounds. Those never placed allowed 3 pounds. Six furlongs.

Second Race—Purse $150; for three-year-olds and upward. Weight: Three-year-olds 108 pounds, others 115 pounds. Non-winners in 1916 allowed 5 pounds. Six furlongs.

Mr. R. H. Anderson, Tea's Over Stud, has listed his entire crop of yearlings for sale at Lexington, Sept. 12. No stallion has shown better than Dick Finnell this year and these foals by him are said to be a very fine lot individually.

* * *

J. C. Milam has purchased from B. Chapman the eight-year-old chestnut mare Stick Pin by McGee out of Scarf Pin by Springbok. Stick Pin is the winner of any number of good races. Milam will retire her.

* * *

Lucas Combs and Brother have engaged space in the Sept. 12-13 sale at Lexington for their yearlings. These young breeders have eight head for the market this year and are expecting to increaee their breeding establishment, as they can secure select mares.

Several stables arrived at the Kentucky Association course this week from Hawthorne.

Gallaher Bros. brought Howdy Howdy, Vogue, Amulet, Bourbon Lass, Piatt, Traffic, Sleeper, and three others.

In J. O. Whitlow's stable are Westy Hogan, Al M. Dick, Cardome and Sun Maid.

In the Williams Bros. string are Grasmere, Impressive, Jocular, Juvenile, January, James and six others. C. Hawk came in with Bonanza, Shine and Louise Paul. R. P. Dickinson arrived with Olga Star, Lackrose and Guide Post. Frank D. Weir brought Type, Walter H. Pearce, Mildred and three others. In addition to these, several other horses, including Uncle Hart, World's Wonder, Hawthorn, Casey Jones, Liberator, Grover Hughes, Billows, Hanovia, Trappoid, Deckhand, Billy Joe, Rapids and Johnny Mac, are here from Hawthorne, and are expected to participate in the racing under the auspices of the Blue Grass Fair next week.

SELLING RACE NOVELTIES FOR WINDSOR MEETING.

HAMILTON, August 1.—The following notice was posted here today:—

"With the endeavor to suit all who intend participating in the Windsor meeting, August 16 to 23, and with a view to trying out the different methods of equalization in selling and claiming races, the following changes will be made in the program: There will be one selling race per day. Should there be any surplus run up, the same shall be divided 50 per cent., 30 per cent. and 20 per cent. to the second, third and fourth horses. All other ordinary selling races now in the book will be changed to claiming races, wherein the winner may be claimed for his entrance price plus $200. Others may be claimed for their entrance price, plus first money. The Windsor Jockey Club will add all surplus run-up money received at the first meeting to two addition selling stakes, to be opened next year, the value of which will not be less than $2,000 each added."

Miss Marion, by Himyar—Astolat, a fine race mare and an excellent broodmare, died last year, her death being unreported at the time. She was the property of Barney Schreiber, and for him she foaled such good racers as Woodlands, Tom McGrath, Joe Carey and Sager, besides other useful ones of lesser note.

STROMBOLI WINS SARATOGA HANDICAP.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, July 31.—August Belmont's Stromboli, a five-year-old gelding by Fair Play—St. Priscilla, won the Saratoga Handicap, feature of the opening at Saratoga today. John W. Schorr's Ed Crump was second a length and a half back, and Friar Rock, stablemate of Stromboli, just beat Short Grass a head for third place.

Iconoclasts—if there be any such among us on the turf these days—must have cracked their heels together and grinned ghoulishly at the finish of the race, for there was an idol shattered so utterly when Harry Payne Whitney's hitherto unbeaten filly, Regret, went down to defeat that there was not one to be seen who showed disposition or fortitude to try to pick up the pieces. And no one had the courage to go near Jimmy Rowe, whose own particular idol Regret had been, to condole or inquire the why of this so totally unexpected happening. She was absolutely last.

And Regret, daughter of Broomstick and Jersey Lightning, was not the only idol to fall, for in this same race Short Grass failed to finish in a position where there was money to be had for his portion of the running. And Short Grass of recent days has been talked of as being the greatest handicap horse of the season.

However, this imported horse, which always has been coming with such tremendous strides at the finish, did manage to wind up in fourth position, while Regret was a meek and miserable last in the field of eight which faced the barrier.

And, unlike any of the other big handicaps that have been run on the New York tracks this season, there was a thrill missing as these eight among the best in training wound their way around the course. An obvious lack of enthusiasm was not because of the poor showing that Regret made, but most likely because of the absolute lack of excitement in any portion of the running.

The element of speed seemed to be lacking at every stage of the running, and they went down through the backstretch at a selling plater pace, not like horses that were out to show themselves as the star performers of a season in contest for one of the year's most noted events.

The time of the race was poor, being four-fifths of a second slower than that made by Roamer in his winning of this event a year ago. And the track could not be called slow, because the winner of the first race, an event for selling platers, made the six furlongs in 1:12 3-5.

The real reason that the race was no faster was because Jockey Notter did not allow Regret to show her usual flight of speed until it was too late to do any good. The mare ran under a strong pull for the greater portion of the journey. She was forced to change her stride at least twice, and as the race was run, and as Regret was ridden, there is no wonder that she did not win. At no time in today's race did Regret show the speed she had in a warming up of half a mile she was indulged in Sunday morning, when she stepped the distance breezing in 47 seconds. Today's race was slow all the way, the first quarter being run in :24 2-5, the three-eighths in :37, the half in :50, the three-quarters in 1:14 4-5, the mile in 1:40, the mile and an eighth in 1:53 and the finish in 2:05 1-5.

Not only was the pace too slow for Regret, although of her own making, but also it served to lessen the chance that Short Grass was thought to have. Trainer Rowe is said to have instructed Notter not to set too fast a clip, and if those were the instructions then Notter most certainly was a good soldier. He obeyed orders and then some. This would seem to be a case of where the horse knew more than either the trainer or the jockey, for certainly had Regret, which always has shown a disposition to run, been allowed to go about her business she would have found the way home in better style than she was shown by her rider.

Ed Crump, in taking second place, showed an improvement over his Empire City form, but it must have been the way the race was run that suited him so well. Had Short Grass been forced to follow a faster pace to keep near the leaders his would have been a better race, although, at that, he did not show that wonderful strike at the finish that has placed him to the front in other recent attempts.

The running of this race elsewhere in detail. The charts will show that Regret led as long as she could, but the restraint had stopped her when the final effort was made. She no longer is the unbeaten, and it is a certainty that no man is sorrier for her defeat than Jimmie Rowe, her trainer.

Almost as great a surprise as that at the defeat of Regret preceded the running of the handicap when Mr. Belmont's Deer Trap beat home the other eleven starters in the United States Hotel Stakes. In this race A. K. Macomber's Hollister, which led for the early portion of the race, closely accompanied by Rickety, failed when the final test came and could do no better than second, which he only took by a nose from Gifford A. Cochran's Philippic, which came with a mighty rush at the finish.

The time of this race was poorer relatively than that for the handicap. It was run in 1:14, or one and two-fifths seconds slower than that made by the selling platers in the first. It was a hard race for Mr. Macomber to loose, but second place seems to be his portion in his stake attempts, for his other starter, Stargazer, ran the best race of any of the others and should have been in front had he not met with repeated interference in his running.

The big surprise of this race was the remarkably poor showing of Campfire, which got away last and held that lowly position to the very end. And Campfire was again running in blinkers. There must have been something in the showing of Campfire, which was the favorite with the crowd, to call for an investigation, for some time after the race Jockey Schuttinger, who rode him, was questioned by the stewards. These officials, however did not give out any information in the matter.

We have to announce an increase of £110 to our fund for wounded horses during the current week—£10 from Mr. Reid Walker and £100 from Mr. J. Sanford, who sent his cheque to the "Special Commissioner" last week, when, owing to his absence at Newmarket, it did not come to hand for several days. Appropriately enough, the letter reached London from Newmarket last Thursday, the day on which Nassovian won the Princess of Wales' Stakes for this popular American sportsman. It was not long, therefore, before Mr, Sanford's generosity was made good to him by his good and game colt. As a rule, one does not care to see the big prizes of the turf go to other than English owners, because it generally means that the money leaves the country, but the present case is on a different footing, and we shall not grudge any success that attends the colors of open-handed sportsmen of this class, no matter what their nationality may be. Will English owners who win races during the remainder of the month, that is at Gatwick, Newmarket and Windsor, give a small percentage, say 5 per cent of the stakes they win, to the wounded horses? It would be a graceful act, and we trust that some at least of the winning owners will adopt the suggestion.—[London Sportsman, July 12.

Miss Shirley Kellogg has sold Joyland to go to America. For a novice, she has had a remarkable success on the turf, having scored three wins in six attempts.—[London Sporting Life.

DODGE WINS GOLD CUP HANDICAP.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Hawthorne's experimental thirteen-day meeting under the auspices of the Illinois Jockey Club, terminated this afternoon with an immense attendance on hand to view the decision of the getaway card and attending incidents. The Illinois Jockey Club's Gold Cup Handicap with $2,000 added and a handsome gold cup, served as the feature and a handicap at six furlongs was an added attraction. A half mile dash for polo ponies, ridden by gentlemen riders and carrying catch weights held interest to the "smart set" but only received passing notice by the calloused racing habitutes.

Secretary Jasper had surrounded the stake race with a diversified programme, resulting in bringing out the best at the track and furnishing an excellent brand of sport.

The Weber & Ward stable consummated a highly successful session here by finishing first and second in the Illinois Jockey Club Gold Cup Handicap, with Dodge and Franklin. Leo Skolny, the only other starter, landed in third place. The winner of the American Derby showed to his best form today and handled his 126 pounds in remarkably handy fashion. Murphy took him into the lead immediately after the barrier was raised and he forced a steady and fast pace, though well in hand. Leo Skolny kept him close company, with Franklin trailing. Each time that Leo Skolny threatened Dodge would just stride along a bit faster, enough to keep daylight separating him from the Mackenzie starter. There was no notable change in the trio's running until the stretch turn was reached, where Leo Skolny made one last hard effort to overtake the leader, but failed palpably and soon thereafter had to devote his attention to stalling off Franklin, which was coming fast. In the last sixteenth Leo Skolny weakened perceptibly and Franklin steadily wore him down and landed a scant length off from his stable mate. The net value of the stake was $1,800 to Dodge, and Franklin received an additional $500 for being second. Leo Skolny got $200 for finishing third, and the $100 that went to the fourth horse was retained by the association. Trainer Ward, after the finish, was presented with the handsome gold cup.

An outstanding performance of the afternoon was that of Vogue's, which picked up 120 pounds and carried it to a fine victory over some smart cracks, incidentally reducing the track record to 1:12 1-5. An added surprise in the race was the good showing of Faux-Col, which finished in second place and might have won with a stronger ride. The colt was handled by the diminutive Hunt, and he went much improved over the showings when handled by Byrne. Pesky and Sir Edgar, representing the Bedwell-O'Meara combination, ran forwardly most of the way, Pesky landing third place.

The Bedwell stable scored a double during the afternoon and started off the day as if to make a clean sweep. Their successes began in the opener, when Volant, which in former starts here has not been able to raise a respectable gallop, showed surprising speed and dashed into a long lead, which enabled him to win out in easy style, Dehra, taking second place, with Thanksgiving following.

It was in this race that an accident came which necessitated the destruction of Just Red, which sustained paralysis of the back when he fell in a heap at the first turn. The promising apprentice, R. Hack, which had the mount on him, received grave injuries and was rushed to St. Anthony's Hospital, where Dr. Harvey gave him medical attention. The youngster is still unconscious, and an early examination showed him suffering a concussion of the brain and possibly a fractured skull.

The following ruling was handed down by Steward Fitzgerald this afternoon: "Owner John Huffman is ruled off the turf for refusing to deliver the mare Mary H. to W. A. Baumgardner, who claimed her out of the third race on Friday, July 28, for $1,000."

Trainer C. Hawk, who trains Dancing Sun, which represented Baumgardner in the third race Friday, disclaims any connection with the claiming of Mary H. and stated that Baumgardner acted on his own accord.

Jockey Schemerhorn, suspended for a faulty ride on Skiles Knob sometime ago, was restored to good standing by Steward Fitzgerald during the afternoon.

The rumor of a possible fall meeting was again rife this afternoon, but it is hardly likely that the management will attempt any more racing until next year.

H. D. Brown was among the interested spectators at the track. He came from New Orleans.

Owners J. Umensetter, J. B. Goodman and R. P. Dickinson will send their horses to Lexington and race some of them at the Blue Grass Fair.

W. W. Finn telegraphed yesterday that there was a good chance for a short meeting soon at Spokane, Wash., and that he was on his way there now to look the field over.

LEXINGTON, SATURDAY, AUGUST 12, 1916.

Something over a year ago, Richard Allman of Coulee City, Washington, came to Kentucky and purchased the bay stallion, Sager, foaled in 1907, by Bannockburn out of Miss Marion by Himyar, for the purpose of crossing him on the cold-blooded mares in his vicinity and thereby improving the general class of bloodstock, as well as raising horses suitable for cavalry purposes. Mr. Allman could scarcely have found a horse better adapted for this purpose than Sager, as he is a big upstanding bay, with plenty of bone and substance and not only comes from a great racing and producing family, but has demonstrated his stamina by numerous victories on the racecourse. Sager was a corking good race horse, winning seventeen races, among them the Canadian Derby at one mile and a quarter, in which he established a new record.

Mr. Allman has recently circulated a petition, which by the way was signed by everyone to whom it was presented, for the lease of certain government land on which to raise horses suitable for cavalry remounts. If the Government acts favorably upon his proposition thoroughbred blood will be given every opportunity in his part of the world to demonstrate that it has all the merits that its devotees claim for it.

As Mr. Allman's petition is rather unique, we print same in full.

We, the undersigned, citizens, residents and taxpayers of School District No. 4, Grant County, State of Washington, respectfully petition the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, to enact a statute, authorizing the Secretary of the Interior, to lease to Richard Allman of Coulee City, Washington, the following described government land, all of which is within the said school district, viz.,

North half of Southeast quarter, west half of section four, west half of section nine, all of sections five and eight, in township 24 North, Range 28 E. W. M.

Said land to be used for the purpose of raising U. S. Cavalry horses, we represent that this land is not tillable agricultural land, and has no value except for grazing purposes, that this land is adjacent to the town of Coulee City, the land around it has been largely filed upon and occupied for the past twenty years.

We further represent that the taxpayers in said school district are assessed a special levy of twenty mills to maintain the public schools and suggest that one-half of the proceeds from the rental of said land be turned over to the school district.

This land is not used except by one or two persons who allow a few horses to range over it; but such persons are willing that the land be leased and have signed this petition.

This land is partly fenced by a natural rock wall and the balance could be fenced with woven wire so that the danger of horses being injured in the wire would be eliminated.

The said Richard Allman, is the owner of a thoroughbred stallion which he purchased for the purpose of raising cavalry remounts, said horse is over 16 hands high, weighs over 1240 pounds, has good bone, splendid conformation and kind disposition, and is an ideal sire of cavalry horses.

The fact that so many horses are injured in the barbed wire has caused farmers to hesitate to breed to this horse, and if a safe pasture could be had there would be no trouble in securing all the mares this horse could breed.

We ask that the land be leased to Richard Allman for a term of ten years, under guarantee that there will be no stock except horses pastured or raised upon said land, that all mares shall be bred to a thoroughbred horse, that the Government shall have an option on all male colts in their three-year-old year, to be exercised on or before October 1st. The Government to pay the average contract price prevailing at that time for three-year-old geldings.

The rental to be twenty-five cents per month per head for all horses or mares over nine months old, from the first day of April, until the first day of December in each year, except that the horses taken over by the Government shall not be liable for pasturage during the year they are accepted.

One-half the rental to be paid to the school district, which shall deliver two receipts, one to be sent with the other half of the rentals to the Government.

"Making The American Thoroughbred" by James Douglas Anderson, has just come from the press and a thoroughly interesting book it is, presenting as it does a phase of American life not considered in any State or general history. It is not a discussion of matters relating to the breeding, training and care of horses, but a statement of facts showing how the thoroughbred originated and why and how he came to be a dominant force in shaping the customs and habits of the American people from pre-revolutionary days to the "Civil War." The book is profusely illustrated with pictures of famous men and horses, and includes "Reminicences of the Turf" by Balie Peyton, which vividly portray scenes in which men and horses of olden times play leading roles.

President Jackson's letters to Rev. Hardy M. Cryer about politics and race horses in which both men are interested form another attractive feature of Mr. Anderson's work.

"Making The American Thoroughbred" is well worthy of a place in the library of any lover of the thoroughbred horse.

POWERS-HUNTER'S SARATOGA SALES.

The schedule for the sales of yearlings the Powers-Hunter Co. have arranged for the summer meeting of the Saratoga Racing Association at Saratoga is announced in THE RECORD this week. The youngsters to go under the hammer represent the best racing output of the leading breeding establishments of America. Also yearlings from France, property of C. H. Mackay, and yearlings and two-year-olds, property of Mr. Reiff. There is no better place nor time to sell yearlings than during the Saratoga meeting, so every breeder having high-class yearlings for sale should make arrangements with the Powers-Hunter Co. at once for a date if he wants to sell in New York.

See the announcement for dates of sales.

THE LEXINGTON SALE.

The sale at Lexington September 12-13, will include some of the best yearlings to be offered at auction this year. The consignors to this event now include R. H. Anderson (the get of Dick Finnell), Edward Frazer (the get of Contestor), Dr. J. D. Neet, W. E. Oots (Bearcatcher and Rapid Water), Edgar Renshaw (Zeus), J. V. Shipp, A. J. Gorey, J. H. Morris, C. C. Downing, J. N. Camden, A. E Hundley, Chas. Nuckols, L. B. Combs and others.

Those who expect to sell in this event are urged to send their data to the Kentucky Sales Co. immediately, as catalogue for this sale will be put to press in the next few days.

DOUGLAS PARK AND LATONIA STAKES CLOSE AUGUST 18.

CHURCHILL DOWNS STAKES.

Secretary H. C. Applegate, of the New Louisville Jockey Club announces the stakes for the coming fall meeting in THE RECORD this week, and Manager M. J. Winn has selected for these events this fall the usual stakes which are annually offered at this track and have become fixtures at the autumn meeting at the Downs.

The events this season for the coming eight days' race meeting, which begins on Wednesday, September 27, and concludes on Thursday, October 5, have the same conditions and added money as prevailed at the meeting last season at this track. They are as follows:

The St. Leger Handicap, for three-year-olds and upward, two miles and one quarter. $2,000 added.

The Falls City Handicap, for three-year-olds and upward, six furlongs. $2,000 added.

The Golden Rod Stakes, (selling) for two-year-olds, six furlongs. $1,000 added.

The Cherokee Stakes (selling) for three-year-olds and upward, one mile and one-sixteenth. $1,000 added.

These events will close for entries on Tuesday, August 22.

LAUREL FALL STAKES.

As usual Manager M. J. Winn, of the Maryland State Fair, has announced an attractive stake list for the fall meeting at Laurel Park course, which opens on October 2 for a twenty-six days meeting. All classes of horses have been catered to, and the stakes, which close on Wednesday, August 23, should make a showing up to the average. There are nineteen events in all, to which an amount of $28,000 has been added. See the announcement in this issue for list of stakes and full particulars.

"THE RENAISSANCE OF THE THOROUGHBRED IN AMERICA."

After spending a week in New York and the neighborhood, I proceeded to Washington on Good Friday. Early the following Sunday morning I met Mr. Oxnard, by appointment, at the splendid new Union Station, not far from the Capitol. It is not necessary or desirable that I should incorporate in this article any of my sight-seeing experiences, though I confess I am finding it rather difficult to resist the temptation to wander away from the path I have to follow. I must, however, just say that on the Saturday morning I attended a sitting of the House of Representatives in the Capitol, and listened for a while to a more or less edifying debate on the subject of bugs! An appropriation for agriculture was under discussion. Perhaps I had better explain that in America germs are frequently referred to as bugs.

Mr. Oxnard had arranged to take me that Sabbath morning to his farm in Virginia, located at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains, which receive frequent mention in histories of the Civil War, for they form one side of the Shenandoah Valley, the scene of Stonewall Jackson's famous exploits. An item in my programme was a tour through the Valley, but I regretfully had to abandon the excursion for lack of time. When we boarded a Southern train for Rectortown, some sixty miles away, rain was falling. Mr. Oxnard suggested a postponement of the trip, but I urged that we had better take our chance, and it was well we did, because the rain had ceased before we had reached our destination, and we were favored with a beautiful afternoon. It was a long drive from Rectortown to the stud, over one of the worst roads I have ever seen. I hope that any Virginian who reads this article will forgive me for stating that those who are responsible for the unkeep of the roads in the Old Dominion have cause to be thoroughly ashamed of the condition of their highways. I afterwards found that in other parts of America the Virginian roads are notorious. There is a general movement in many States directed towards the improvement of roads, and I understand that in recent years a wonderful change for the better has been effected. So far, however, the Virginians seem to be quite oblivious to the needs of the present day. They act on the antiquated principle that what was good enough for their forbears is good enough for them, and they resist the levying of a rate, the proceeds of which would enable the road authorities to replace the present rut-scarred dirt tracks with a properly macadamized surface. Mr. Oxnard informed me that he had offered to pay his share of the cost of repairing the road which runs alongside his estate for a couple of miles, but his proposal met with no response.

But with all its faulty roads, Virginia is a lovely and fascinating country. Travelling that day to Rectortown, and two days later further south still to Charlottesville, I passed through some beautiful scenery. It is a land richly wooded and well watered with mountain streams. There are countless acres of fine pastures, and as many more under the plough. The soil usually is of bright red color, indicating the presence of iron. A little below the surface, with an occasional outcrop, there is limestone. This limestone extends for hundreds of miles to the west, traversing the whole State of Kentucky, and for all I know, further still. No doubt our Irish friends will tell us it is no wonder Kentucky and Virginia produce good horses! Blue Grass is associated the world over with Kentucky, and there it is to be found in greatest profusion, and perhaps in its most flourishing condition. But there is also an abundance of it in Virginia. I trod it on Mr. Oxnard's farm. What is blue grass? According to one authority I have consulted it is the variety with the botanical name poa pratensis. "It is found in both Europe and America, but reaching its finest developments in central United States, especially in Kentucky. In Great Britain it is known as June or smooth meadow grass." It gets its name from the fact that when swayed by the wind the flower assumes a bluish-purple tinge. Of more consequence is it to know that it forms a succulent, closely-knit herbage on which horses and cattle thrive. Blue Grass is a name to conjure with in the States, and dwellers in the Blue Grass region are jealous of the reputation it has acquired. It is no part of their creed to hide their treasure under a bushel, and if they are sometimes laughed at for their pains, what do they care?

The Blue Ridge Stud is beautifully situated on the foot hills of the mountains which constitute an attractive background to the panorama as one looks towards the west. The land hereabouts is some 800 feet above sea level. The farm owned by Mr. Oxnard comprises 600 acres under grass, 500 acres under cultivation, and many hundreds of acres of timber. He bought the estate about ten years ago, and has spent a small fortune in adapting it to the purposes of a thoroughbred nursery and in effecting other improvements. Some of the barns are quite new. Last year two were destroyed by fire, and with them went Mr. Oxnard's crop of yearlings. This disaster is believed to have been due to the wicked action of an incendiary. There was an accumulation of evidence pointing to a certain individual as the guilty party, but there were one or two missing links and so the alleged culprit escaped prosecution.

The barns one sees on American stud farms are all built on a similar plan. There are six or eight roomy boxes on either side, with a wide passage running the whole length between the two rows of boxes. Each box has a door leading into the passage, as well as one in the outer wall. By means of the door into the passage, a mare or yearling can be reached without opening the outer door. This facility is very advantageous in the winter when snow lies thick on the ground. Very often the space between the boxes is wide enough or long enough to enable walking exercise to to be given to the animals housed in the adjoining boxes. At Brookdale and one or two other studs, I saw large and lofty sheds attached to the barns. These sheds serve as exercise grounds when the weather is inclement. It must not be inferred from this that American stud masters are addicted to the practice of coddling their bloodstock. So far as my inquiries enabled me to judge—and I was a persistent questioner on the point—they are firm believers in the virtues of fresh air. Boxes are almost invariably roomy and well ventilated. At the Brookdale Stud, for instance, they are fourteen feet square. Nine times out of ten the barns are built entirely of wood. Several have been destroyed by fire in recent years owing, it is believed, to employees contravening the strict rule against smoking. Here let me say that nothing astonished me more during my travels in America than the restrictions to which devotees of tobacco are subjected. I had always imagined that the average American never had a cigar or cigarette out of his mouth during his working hours. Great was my astonishment when I was reproved by an official because I was smoking a cigarette in the grounds at Mount Vernon, the home of Washington. I am still wondering whether I was guilty of an act of desecration. One day while waiting for a train on the platform of one of the Subway (Tube) stations in New York, I lit a cigar. A man in uniform approached and politely said: No smoking here please." Smoking is barred in cinema theatres, many of the music halls, and in the trains is often relegated to a little den at the far end of the car. I do not refer to this by way of complaint, but as a matter for surprise. It was also surprising to find how the prohibition movement has spread and is still spreading. Many States are entirely "dry," others are rapidly going "dry." There is a very general opinion that the day is not far distant when intoxicants will be banished from the country as a whole. This tendency does not cause the resentment that might be expected. I attended a banquet in Lexington, organized by racing men, at which iced water was the only liquid refreshment partaken of, although Lexington is not a "dry" city.

I hope these "asides" will not be taken amiss, but as I write impressions which are somewhat extraneous to my main theme will come crowding along. Perhaps readers will be good enough to overlook these informalities and be content to regard this contribution as a mere chat. I am dealing with material that could easily be expanded into half a dozen articles, and so the free and easy style is, I think, the one best to adopt.

There are two stallions at the Blue Ridge Farm—King James, by Plaudit (son of Himyar) out of imported Unsightly, by Pursebearer; and Superman, by Commando out of imported Anomaly, by Bend Or out Blue Rose, by Coeruleus from Angelica, dam of Orme. Both were useful horses when in training, but, judged as individuals, I prefer King James, despite the fact that his ears lop. Up to a mile and a half Ballot could just beat King James, but beyond that distance the boot was on the other leg. The son of Plaudit raced for six seasons, first carrying Mr. Madden's colors and then Mr. Sam Hildreth's. It was from the latter that Mr. Oxnard bought him. He is a good bay of nice size and standing over a lot of ground. His offspring made their first appearance on the turf last year, and among them was the smart colt, Lena Misha. Mr. Oxnard showed me some good yearlings, and ever better foals, by King James, who seems to impart to his stock the vigorous constituion he himself possesses. Superman is a horse of a different type, being rather longer in the back than he need be. Bred at Castleton by Mr. James R. Keene, he won some nice stakes for that sportsman as a juvenile, and afterwards carried off a Brooklyn Handicap. He then passed into the possession of the late Mr. Kohler, after whose death he was purchased by Mr. Oxnard. Superman's stock show considerable promise, and there is every reason for the belief that he will make a satisfactory name for himself at the stud. It may be recollected that it was at the Blue Ridge Stud that Islington, brother to Isinglass, ended his days. Mr. Oxnard has about sixty thoroughbred mares, most of them young. I was naturally much interested in seeing the four mares the British Bloodstock Agency bought for Mr. Oxnard at the Newmarket sales last December. They are Galanta by William the Third, Hortense by Troutbeck, Carpathia by Sainfoin, and Areophane by Arizona. Very well they looked. Three were in a paddock with a number of other mares. They kept apart from the rest, so they evidently became pals on the voyage to America.

Mr. Oxnard owns a third stallion in Sir Wilfred, a big bay horse by Ormonde's son, Ossary. He won many good races, but so far his chances as a sire have been very limited. Nevertheless, he is credited with Trojan, winner of the Futurity Stakes in 1914. There is now at the Blue Ridge Stud a capital foal who is own sister to Trojan. During the past season Sir Wilfred has been standing at Mr. Hancock's stud in Kentucky, but I understand that next year he will join King James and Superman in Virginia.

A stream of water, direct from the Blue Ridge, runs through each of the eleven paddocks, into which Mr. Oxnard's pasturage is divided. The soil is for the most part a light clay. Here, as at Brookdale, I missed hedges. In some of the early-settled districts of Canada, hawthorn hedges are now to be seen. It must not be forgotten that America is still comparatively a new country. Evidence of this is constantly met with as one goes about. Except in the cities, and sometimes only in the heart of those, the wooden frame building is almost universal. It is remarkable how attractively these are often designed, but for all that they lack the character of permanence which a stone or brick building possesses. The houses occupied by the poorer classes always have a makeshift appearance, and very frequently seem to be at the point of dissolution. When motoring through Lexington one day, I saw some of them on fire. It was a mighty blaze. Then, again, in the woods, fallen trees are left to rot where they lie. The time is yet far distant when the proprietors of timbered areas will deem it necessary to bother their heads about trifles of that sort. In many districts one passes field after field dotted all over with the stumps level with the ground. They have probably been in that state for a decade or more. Some day the stumps and roots will be dynamited out of the soil, but there is no immediate hurry. As a rule, such fields are used for grazing cattle, which reminds me that the breeds of cattle most in favor are Shorthorns, Holsteins (very numerous), Herefords and Jerseys. I also saw the Aberdeen-Angus and a few Guernseys. For dairy purposes the Jersey is a universal favorite. There is a fine herd of these prolific milkers on the Haggin Estate, near Lexington, which possesses one of the largest and best-equipped dairies in the world.

It is scarcely necessary for me to explain that Mr. Oxnard sells his output of yearlings, for we have from time to time seen drafts of them disposed of at Newmarket. The products of the Blue Ridge farm are now winning races in many parts of the world. The stud is Mr. Oxnard's hobby, affording him a much-needed relaxation from business worries. His home is in Washington, but the greater part of the week he is to be found at his office in New York. It is at the weekend, during the summer months, that he derives his chief pleasure from his Virginia farm, the management of which is entrusted to Mr. Jardine. Shortly before my visit, one of the colored laborers, inspired, like the poets, by the advent of spring, had, in a moment of ecstasy, declared to Mrs. Jardine that the place was "as pretty as Heaven and smelt like a Cologne factory." His metaphors were assuredly mixed, but, reading the reference to the factory in a complimentary way, he may certainly be said to have accurately painted the Blue Ridge Farm in the fewest possible words.

After a very brief stay in Washington, I moved on to Charlottesville, a three hours' journey southwards. There I was met by Mr. Arthur B. Hancock, who had arrived from Kentucky, 500 miles away, a few minutes ahead of me. To him I am indebted to an immeasurable extent for the experiences I enjoyed and the impressions I gained during the next eighteen days. He was my host, guide, philosopher and friend during all that period, and yet when we shook hands on the platform of Charlottesville railway station we saw each other for the first time. Long before the day arrived when I had to bid him good-bye, I had made the discovery that Mr. Hancock is one of the most popular and most respected men in American racing and breeding circles. His friendship is prized; his advice is freely asked and freely given, and I should say that no one is better qualified to express opinions on matters pertaining to bloodstock. He has been closely associated with thoroughbreds all his life, and has deeply studied the many and complex problems with which a breeder is from time to time confronted. Anxious as he naturally is about the welfare of his own stud, Mr. Hancock has very much at heart the interests of the American thoroughbred as a whole. In many ways he unconsciously reveals the satisfaction with which he hears of success and progress achieved by other breeders. It is this trait, coupled with his authoritative power, which marks him out as the man destined ere long to be regarded as the premier of the cabinet of American breeders. That, at any rate, is the conviction I formed in the course of my tour through the Blue Grass region. Mr. Hancock has definite aims and courageously strives against all temptations to deviate from the path he is pursuing. The fact that other breeders have got into the habit of consulting him before they take any important step is of great assistance to him in furthering his policy.

Broadly speaking, that policy is the development of staying power in the American thoroughbred. He has a hard and long fight ahead of him. For a generation —a human generation I mean—speed has been an all-important factor in American racing. The first day I attended the Lexington meeting there was one race of four furlongs, one four and a half, three over six furlongs, and two over a mile and seventy yards. That is a typical programme. Before it can be altered, the prejudices of owners and trainers, as well as those of breeders, must be broken down. This meeting at Lexington extended over twelve days. The horses that were saddled from day to day arrived there before the proceedings began and remained on the spot until the last day. Many of them raced four or five times. Trainers contend that a long-distance race, strongly run, would take so much out of a horse that he would probably be able to compete the once only. This possibility also influences the manager of the meeting who, as the days go by, is apt to find a difficulty in framing the conditions of races that will secure a decent entry. This is one of the disadvantages of conducting a sport in a country where the racing centres are so far apart.

It will, then, be understood that those who share Mr. Hancock's view that the glorification of speed has been carried to excess, have to proceed warily, step by step. Just before I sailed home from New York, the Kentucky Racing Commission resolved to establish a race to be called the Kentucky Gold Cup, to which the Commission will add a trophy worth £200. An influential committee was appointed to draw up the conditions, and I was given to understand that one of them will provide that the distance of the race shall be two miles. In all probability it will be found that the weights are to approximate to those ordained in the case of the Ascot Cup. The event will be allotted to the track, the management of which offers the biggest purse. This affords an indication of the trend of affairs, and it is assuredly one that deserves every encouragement.

The Racing Commission, I may explain, is composed of a small group of gentlemen appointed by the Governor of the State. They are invested with the authority which, with us, is exercised by the Jockey Club. The weakness of the system is that the members of the Commission do not necessarily possess a knowledge of racing. They may receive their appointment simply as a reward for political services. In point of fact, however, the plan has been found to work fairly well. The Commissioners have striven to work harmoniously with those in close touch with racing and have not hesitated to seek advice and assistance when they needed them. By this exercise of control over the sport, the official sanction of the State is implied, and the turf is, in consequence, on a safer footing so long as it has the sympathy of the Governor and a majority of the Legislature. In this respect Kentucky is in a happy position, for, as I stated at the outset, it was one of the two States that resisted the machinations of the anti-racing crusaders eight years ago. I myself heard Governor Stanley declare that he wanted the horse-breeding industry to flourish and would do all he could to further its prosperity. "Preparedness" is the watchword of the day in the United States, and it is more than ever realized that without an adequate horse supply a thorough state of preparedness cannot be attained. In a large measure this accounts for the revulsion of feeling in the eastern States with regard to horse racing, and it will no doubt help also the movement which aims at producing thoroughbreds endowed with endurance as well as speed.

Mr. Hancock's home is now, and has for some years been, at Paris, eighteen miles north-east of Lexington, Kentucky. He is, however, a Virginian, for he was born, and lived the greater part of his life, at Ellerslie, eight miles from Charlottesville. His father was the late Captain R. J. Hancock, who, while attached to Stonewall Jackson's army, was three times wounded during the Civil War. One night, towards the end of the war the household at Ellerslie were disturbed by the arrival of a party of Federal troops, who mistakenly supposed that General Sherman was hiding there. On one occasion Captain Hancock secreted himself in a wood near his house and remained there for several days, receiving a supply of comforts from the homestead each night. I have always been interested in the history of the Civil War and it was thrilling to hear our charming hostess, Mrs. Hancock, senior, relating personal incidents like these.

The Ellerslie estate, situated about 900ft. above sea level, covers an area of 1,800 acres, of which exactly half is splendid blue grass land, with limestone a few feet below the surface. Immediately behind the house there is a thickly-wooded hill, which constitutes a most attractive feature of the landscape. I was forcibly reminded by it of the timber-grown slopes that border Lord Carnarvon's stud farm at Highclere on two sides. All around Ellerslie the country is wonderfully beautiful. While driving from Charlottesville, over a typically bad road, we made a detour in order to see Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence. The mansion is situated on the crest of a high hill. From the grounds a remarkable panorama unfolds itself. Looking towards the east there lies, hundreds of feet below, a magnificent stretch of country, thickly wooded. This view recalled that one gets of the Weald of Sussex from the summit of the Brighton Downs, and it filled one with unbounded admiration of the glories of the Virginian landscape, flecked as it was with the vernal freshness and the lovely blossoms of a belated spring.

It was in 1878 that Captain Hancock, who died three or four years ago, began to breed bloodstock at Ellerslie. One of his early endeavours was to buy the horse Eolus as a stallion. By imported Leamington (son of Faugh-a-Ballagh) out of Fannie Washington by Revenue, a son of imported Trustee by Catton, Eolus was bred by Major Thomas W. Doswell, at Hanover Junction, Virginia. When seen by Captain Hancock at Major Doswell's place he had finished his racing career with a record of eight wins in seventeen starts. He was a horse of great substance and in every way a commanding individual. Much to Captain Hancock's disappointment, the Major refused to sell. The former thereupon purchased Scathelock, a half-brother (by imported Eclipse) to Eolus, the price paid being $1,000. About the same time he bought the mare War Song, by War Dance (son of Lexington) out of Eliza Davis, by imported Knight of St. George from imported Melrose by Melbourne. Mated with Scathelock, War Song produced Lizzie Hazlewood, who was destined to gain distinction as a brood mare.

After a year or two had gone by Captain Hancock learned that, without saying a word to him, Major Doswell had sold Eolus to a Mr. Harbeck, a breeder in Maryland. The Captain at once set to work to find the horse's whereabouts. He ascertained that Harbeck had authorized Governor Bowie, of Maryland, to resell Eolus, and that the Governor had actually disposed of the horse to a man in Cecil County. The name of the buyer and his place of abode had quite escaped Mr. Bowie's memory. At that time there was a Colonel S. D. Bruce, who published a periodical called "Turf, Field and Farm," and Captain Hancock asked him to do his utmost to find Eolus. During the next two years all inquiries produced no tangible result. Eolus might have been engulfed by an earthquake, so completely had all trace of him disappeared. Then suddenly he came to light. Colonel Bruce received for insertion in his paper an announcement that the owner of Eolus was willing to match him against any horse in Cecil County to trot a mile! Captain Hancock was at once advised. It turned out that while using Eolus as a stallion, his owner, a man named Craynor, had broken him to drive. Negotiations with Craynor were at once opened. As it happened, he wanted to procure a stallion of a different line of blood, and little difficulty was experienced in persuading him to exchange Eolus for Scathelock.

And so it came to pass that Eolus was at last quartered at Ellerslie, and there he spent the next twenty years, for he was twenty-nine when he died. War Song was the first thoroughbred mare Captain Hancock put to the son of Leamington, and the result of the alliance was Eole, one of the best horses of his day. When seven years old he was sent to England, where he ran second to St. Gatien for the Ascot Cup, and third the following day for the Alexandra Plate. From first to last Eole won twenty-seven races worth £10,800. War Song also bred to Eolus the filly Eon, a winner of thirty-four races, and the colt St. Saviour, who was the best three-year-old of his year, and who retired to the stud at the Elmendorf Farm, near Lexington, then the property of Mr. C. J. Enright, but afterwards incorporated in the big estate owned by the late Mr. J. B. Haggin. From first to last the offspring of Eolus won stakes to the value of nearly £200,000, though he never had more than fifteen mares in any one season. It was Eolus that made the Ellerslie Stud famous. Greatly daring, Captain Hancock put to him the mare Lizzie Hazlewood, which, as I have explained, was by his half-brother, Scathelock. The result, however, was eminently satisfactory, because the produce was the good horse Knight of Ellerslie, who was raced, in partnership, by Major Doswell and Captain Hancock. They sold him as a three-year-old to Mr. L. O. Appleby for £2,000. Knight of Ellerslie begat Henry of Navarre, the sire of China Cock's dam. For many years Major Doswell and Captain Hancock were racing confederates; but eventually their stable became overcrowded and they adopted the plan of selling their yearlings, first at Pimlico, Maryland, and then at the race tracks in the neighborhood of New York. The list of good horses bred at Ellerslie is a long one. It includes the Futurity winner, Morello, who captured twenty-four prizes worth £16,300; Elkwood and Eurus, both winners of the Suburban Handicap; Diablo, a Brooklyn Handicap winner; Eon, Eolian and Russell, in addition to the others I have mentioned. Morello was admitted to be one of the best horses ever seen in America The late Major Daingerfield, who for so many years managed Mr. Keene's stud, used to say that he was almost entitled to rank with Colin. Bred "on shares" by Captain Hancock and Dr. W. C. Hardy, of Norfolk, Virginia, Morello was sent to New York as a yearling, but was in such bad shape that he only made £20. The buyer was Mr. Bernard Doswell, who sold him as a two-year-old for £1,000 to Mr. W. M. Singerly, of Philadelphia, and Mr. Frank Van Ness. He had won eleven out of fourteen races before he gained his triumph in the Futurity, which was that year worth £8,100. In this race he defeated sixteen opponents, although a sick horse at the time. As a two and three-year-old, he won twenty-four races out of thirty-two, and was only twice unplaced. His health was never good and he died in 1896. His dam was Cerise (which had several other winners) by imp. Mocassin out of Lizzie Lucas by imp. Australian.

Other stallions that have been associated with the Ellerslie Stud are Charaxus, an English-bred horse by Distin; Fatherless, a great Metropolitan winner, by Isonomy out of Orphan Agnes, the third dam of Pommern; and Eon (by Eolus) whose daughters have been very successful producers, one of them being Network, the dam of Embroidery and Paddy Whack. Fatherless got many useful winners, particularly steeplechasers. When he died Mr. Hancock leased Celt from the late Mr. James R. Keene, and when the latter's horses were sold in 1914, Mr. Hancock gave £5,000 for the son of Commando.

LOCAL NOTES.

Capt. Charles Clay sold this week to J. C. Milam the bay or brown yearling colt by Sweep out of Ellangowan dam of Cock o' the Walk, Stargowan. John Smulski,

The good race mare, Kate K., bay, 7, by Peep O'Day —Wantage, by Meddler, died Wednesday from blood poisoning. She was the property of J. C. Milam, who lost the Broomstick mare, Taka, in a similar manner last week. Kate K. was winner of twenty-one races.

Among Mr. Reiff's imported horses to be sold on August 15 by the Powers-Hunter Co., are two colts by Sundridge. The only Sundridge ever imported to America was sold at Mr. Mackay's sale for $6,600, and these colts should be in demand.

Today is Thoroughbred Day at the Blue Grass Fair. Don't fail to be on hand to see the rings for thoroughbred breeding classes. First ring called at 10 a. m.

On Wednesday, August 16, the executor of the late James Mulholland will sell at public auction 541 acres of land, located about eight miles north of Lexington on the Georgetown pike, on interurban line. The land will be first offered in three separate tracts and then sold as a whole. This farm is very desirable for a stock farm, being only about five miles from Mr. August Belmont's Nursery Stud. See ad. for full particulars.

J. O. Keene's Katenka was entered to be sold for $1,000 in the Troy Stakes at Saratoga Tuesday, but she went back to her stable for $1,500 on the bid of A. L. Denny, who was acting for J. O. Keene. After she was knocked down there was a bid of $1,700.

The races at the Blue Grass Fair, which opened Monday, were well attended and were distinctively the feature. Messrs. G. D. Wilson and W. H. Shelley are the judges. Harry Morrissey did good work as starter. James P. Ross is racing secretary and supervisor of pari-mutuels. A crew of eighteen men being on.

* * *

A. E. Hundley, Monietta Farm, Danville, Ky., is one of the recent contributors to the sale at Lexington on Sept. 12. He has four yearlings, three of which are by Plaudit. Chas. Nuckols has also entered his good Stalwart colt, and A. J. Gorey has included his colt by Transvaal—Cerina, by imp. Meddler. This latter colt is a brother to the stake winner Guy Fortune.

* * *

John E. Madden has sold the chestnut colt Starlike,2, by Star Shoot—Blakeslee, by Yankee, to John Sanford for a price said to be $15,000.

Another youngster to leave the Madden barn was Defense, this son of Star Shoot and Dike being sold to P. A. Clark.

M. McLaughlin, trainer for Frank D. Weir, took up ten yearlings this week belonging to his employer and Col. W. E. Applegate and will break them at the Kentucky Association track. Weir will send a man to Texas to bring back Old Rosebud. He has been running out on the range and is said to be wonderfully improved.

John Nichols has up six yearlings belonging to Jefferson Livingston. Gallaher Brothers are taking up their youngsters. T. L. Pierce has up a dozen youngsters belonging to various owners.

* * *

At a meeting of the directors of the Kentucky Racing Association Thursday it was decided to give $4,000 daily to the fall meeting here, beginning September 6 and continuing ten days. This will amount to $7,000 more than was given at the fall meeting of 1915. There will be no purse of less than $500 during the meeting,

Present at the meeting were President Johnson N. Camden, Vice President O. H. Chenault, Secretary Garret D. Wilson and Racing Secretary William H. Shelley. Mr. Shelley will have the program books for the meeting ready next week. A number of improvements in the grounds, grandstand, track and stables were authorized.

Mr. Edward Frazer has entered with the Kentucky Sales Co. all his yearlings (the get of Contestor and Bearcatcher) for sale at Lexington on Sept. 12. Among the lot is a full sister to the good two-year-old filly Katenka, that won the Troy Stakes at Saratoga a few days ago from a good band of juveniles.

M. J. Winn, manager of the Churchill Downs track, is home from the East for a short stay before he returns to the Laurel track in Maryland, of which he is also manager, and has since his arrival in Kentucky been superintending with H. C. Applegate, Secretary of the New Louisville Jockey Club, the improvements now underway at the Downs and attending to the details for the coming fall meeting.

The improvements at the Downs, which will all be completed long before the date of the fall meeting, consist of two new barns below the clubhouse, which contain sixty-eight stalls and increase the stable capacity at this plant to 730 stalls. The old shed row, known as number three on the Fourth avenue car line, has been torn away and a new blacksmith shop put up. A new fence now running even on the Fourth avenue line has also been put up.

There are quite a number of horses at present quartered at the Downs track, and many more will be shipped in there in the next few weeks from the various racing points of the country.

John Hachmeister, manager of Douglas Park and Latonia Jockey Clubs, has gone to Saratoga and the Canadian tracks to solicit entries for the stakes at Douglas Park and Latonia, which close for entries on Friday, August 18. On his return to Kentucky from Canada and the East he will bring his force at once to Douglas Park and open the office there to prepare for the coming fall meeting of eight racing days at that course, which begins September 18.

* * *

W. H. Shelley, while at the Lexington fair this week, will begin the preparation of his book programme for the coming meeting at Lexington, which opens the fall racing season in Kentucky Wednesday, September 6. During the racing at Lexington he will put on several long distance races, one at a mile and a quarter and another at a mile and a half, as preliminary trials for the long distance races at the other tracks, embracing the Louisville Cup, two miles, at Douglas Park; the St. Leger Handicap, two miles and a quarter, at Churchill Downs; and the Latonia Cup, two miles and a quarter, at Latonia. He will also have on the Lexington programme several races of a mile and an eighth.

KATENKA WINS THE TROY.

SARATOGA, August 8.—Katenka today was winner of the Troy Selling Stakes, a five and a half furlong dash for the two-year-olds and, what was more to her credit, she was winner with Lykes in the saddle. Passing Fancy saved the place and third went to County Court..

Katenka had the inside position at the post and she did not leave the leaders, but fortunately for her the others did not swing over on the rail and she had plenty of racing room. Passing Fancy, Chatterbox and County Court were the ones to cut out the running, and, with The Dean, they were leading Katenka.

Lykes did one thing for the Keene filly. He kept her on the inner rail. That naturally saved ground for her all through the running and when the others were thoughtful enough to leave an opening, she finally found her way through. At the furlong pole in the stretch Passing Fancy had the others beaten, and Katenka was alongside on the inner rail before Buxton realized she was in the race and she passed the wire winner by a nose.

Passing Fancy readily outfinished County Court to save the place by a length and the others were well strung out with Alone at Last, the added starter, a bad last. Chatterbox was the disappointment of the running. She stopped very badly.

"Camping on Mount Mitchell."

The Southern Railway has issued a very complete booklet containing 31 pages of descriptive matter with illustrations, including maps, etc., regarding places for summer camps in the United States forests in North Carolina.

Much of the data contained in this booklet is furnished by the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

Copies of this booklet and information with regard to round trip fares, etc., will be gladly furnished on application to B. H. Todd, D. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

GOOD PRICES FOR YEARLINGS.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, Aug. 5.—Thirty-eight yearlings, the property of John E. Madden and Messrs. Parmer & Hendrie, brought $42,675 when offered in the paddock before the races by the Powers-Hunter Sales Company today. This was an average of $1,123 a head. The sale was attended by a large throng of horsemen and spirited bidding resulted on many of the best fancied future racers.

The star of the collection was a bay colt by Star Shoot—Ohiyesa, which was knocked down to R. F. Carman for $4,700. S. D. Riddle was the most liberal buyer of racing material, this recent addition to the turf purchasing five yearlings for a total of $14,700. He paid the second highest price of the sale when he bought the Plaudit—Elise B. colt for $3,500. He also purchased three of the Sir John Johnson yearlings at good prices, obtaining the Deviltree colt for $3,200, the Quack colt for $3,000 and the Fair Catherine filly for $2,000.

The Beverwyck Stable bought four, including the Hessian—Sister Jeanie colt for which $2,000 was paid. R. F. Carman obtained five and J. W. Schorr and A. J. Joyner three each. A summary of the sales follows:

Property of John E. Madden.
Chestnut colt, Plaudit—Elise B.; S. D. Riddle	$3,500
Bay colt, Plaudit—Autumn Leaves; A. J. Joyner.	1,600
Bay colt, Plaudit—Lacrimae; W. Garth	500
Chestnut colt, Plaudit—Mary Scribe; G. Preece	600
Bay colt, Plaudit—Olga Nethersole; S. D. Riddle.	3,000
Chestnut filly, Plaudit—Auvergne; W. May	400
Chestnut colt, Peep O'Day—Kate D.; Mrs. J. M. Shilling	750
Bay colt, Hessian—Sister Jeanie; Beverwyck Stable	2,000
Chestnut colt, Peter Quince—Pamela; P. T. Chinn	450
Bay colt, Sir John Johnson—Deviltree; S. D. Riddle	3,200
Bay or brown colt, Sir John Johnson—Quack; S. D. Riddle	3,000

COBHAM DISPERSAL SALE.

The final dispersal of the famous Cobham Stud took place in England on July 26. The stallions Flotsam, Javelin, Jingling Geordie, and Ouadi-Halfa were all passed through in consequence of their respective reserves of 1,000, 5,000, 500, and 2,500 guineas not being forthcoming. It was the same with Marten, which was withdrawn under a 400 guineas reserve, but the half-brother to Flair and Lesbia—Cornstalk—went cheaply to Mr. Lancaster at 180 guineas. Altogether the total proceeds of the sale amounted to 2,904 guineas for 49 lots. Details of purchasers and prices are appended:—

CAMPFIRE TAKES THE SANFORD MEMORIAL.

SARATOGA, Aug. 5.—There was an old-time holiday crowd of the palmy days at Morris Park or Sheepshead Bay out to see the horses here today. The sport is gaining a new hold on the public. Men with money are spending fortunes for thoroughbred racing stock.

Campfire, which was so badly beaten in the running of the United States Hotel Stakes, redeemed that running in the Sanford Memorial, the third race of the day, when under 125 pounds he scored over Harry Payne Whitney's Rickety and the Oneck Stable's The Knocker.

It was a good start and Gifford A. Cochran's Jock Scot was the first one to show out of the field, while Campfire, Deer Trap. Koh-i-Noor and Hollister followed in close order, though Hollister had the extreme outside position and it was something of a handicap for him.

Jock Scot did not long hold his lead, and before the first turn was reached he was showing signs of weakening when The Knocker, Campfire, Rickety and Hollister all raced by him with Campfire going better than any one of them. Hollister was still forced to race on the outside, as he did not have speed enough to head the others and find better racing ground.

It was going to the stretch turn that Campfire finally drew away slightly from Koh-i-Noor, and he held command from there to the finish. Rickety in the meantime had been crowded back and he was slightly blocked in the stretch. Through the last furlong he came again, but could not reach close enough to threaten the winner, which had two lengths to spare at the end. The Knocker proved to have more left than Jock Scot in the final drive and he beat him a head for third place. Noh-i-Noor headed the others at the finish, while Hollister, after having to go so wide all the way, stopped badly in the run home, where he was carried very wide.

It might be said for Campfire that in the running of the United States Hotel Stake he had no chance, for he was cut off on the rail right at the break and shuffled back until he was entirely out of the running.

Spur was winner of the mile and a quarter of the Travers Stakes when, under a perfect ride by Johnny Loftus, he just nosed out Star Hawk in one of the best finishes in the history of the stakes. Franklin was a distant third and August Belmont's Tea Caddy a beaten off last. The race was run in 2:05.

From a good start Tea Caddy went out to make the pace under double wraps, with Franklin running second also under stiff restraint, while Loftus had Spur down on the rail and just showing the way to Star Hawk, which lost some ground on the first turn when Connelly went unnecessarily wide with him.

Through the backstretch this was the order until passing the half-mile ground, when Connelly rushed up on the outside with Star Hawk, and in a sixteenth of a mile had gone from last place to first. When he moved on the outside Loftus stole through on the inside, but was not in the same hurry, and as soon as he had run by Tea Caddy and Franklin, he was content to take hold of the son of King James and rate him along at the heels of the imported colt.

By this time Tea Caddy and Franklin were both well beaten, and it had resolved itself into a two-horse race. When Connelly had taken Star Hawk to the front he swung down on the rail and Loftus was forced to go outside of him in the chase to the stretch. Using rare judgment he delayed his drive on Spur until well into the stretch. At that time Star Hawk looked all over a winner, but nearing the furlong pole Spur had drawn up so close that Connelly was forced to go to the whip.

As he urged Star Hawk, Loftus went to work on Spur, and gradually the Butler colt crept up until they were racing stride for stride. At the furlong pole there was little to choose between the two. Star Hawk seemed to hold Mr. Butler's colt safe, but Loftus does not give up in that last sixteenth and he had a colt under him that would not give up. It was first one and then the other to the very last stride, and as they dashed by the judges no one not right on the line could tell which was the winner. Then Spur's number was displayed. Ten lengths back of them Franklin had no trouble saving third from Tea Caddy.

BOOTS WINS DOMINION HANDICAP.

FORT ERIE, Aug. 5—The Dominion Handicap, with a value of $5,280 to first horse and $1,450 distributed among the next three, is the most valuable racing event of the Canadian season, and today's running was worth all and more than it cost the Niagara Racing Association. It produced a new Canadian record for the mile and a quarter, and the distance was never run faster over a mile track in America. Indeed, only once has it been equaled—by John Schorr's Luke McLuke at Douglas Park, Louisville, last year. The American record is 2:00, by Whisk Broom II., at Belmont Park. There is a mark of 2:02 credited to Roamer at Syracuse, N, Y., State Fair, but, as this race was run over the same trotting track on which Amalfi was given 1:36¼ for the mile, it is not usually considered in comparison with time on regular running tracks. The previous Fort Erie and Canadian record was 2:03 3-5, Star Charter. The fractional time today was: Quarter, :23 4-5; half, :47 1-5; three-quarters, 1:12 3-5; mile, 1:37; mile and a quarter, 2:02 4-5.

The pace was such as to put all but Borrow and Boots out of consideration for the first mile. They ran back to the starting point in 1:37, with the other four many lengths back. The pair were well on their way in the stretch run, and Borrow had half a length advantage, when Jockey Fairbrother let Boots move up for the deciding test. Very quickly Joe Notter had to use his whip in an effort, unavailing as it proved, to keep Boots from taking the lead away. The son of Hessian, though, carried to many guns for Borrow, and the issue between the pair was settled right at that point. Under the whip, Borrow could not hold his own any longer against his antagonist, which was only hand-ridden, and on which a whip is never carried in his races. More than that, the long, hard run against a better horse took so much of the steam out of Borrow that when the hard-ridden Rancher came from behind Borrow could not even stand him off for the very respectable $900 that was the reward of the second horse. Rancher ran one of his best races, though he could not get closer to Boots than the leader's heels at the finish. Outpaced the first part, he stood up under the long, hard drive necessary to make up his ground, and went a mile and a quarter himself as well as 2:03.

All Smiles, Pif Jr., and Thornhill are smart horses, but not of the grade to be dangerous to the 2:02 or 2:03 horses. They were well beaten throughout the terrific speed of the pacemakers.

Though none of the day's selling races were of the auction variety, several horses changed owners under the claiming clause. W. C. Weant took Moss Fox from the Brookdale Stable for $1,050, and, as he had won $450, he was thus sold for $1,500, a fair enough price. C. N. Freeman and Sam Louis both had claims in for Resign, after he was beaten in the opening race, and the former got him in the draw for $1,550. Martin Casca, the winner, was taken by J. G. Buzzy for $1,250. George Alexandra got the worth of his money when he claimed Aristocrat for $1,050, after the Ben Brush gelding had won the sixth race for Ed Trotter.

At a recent meeting of the Jockey Club stewards an amendment to the present selling race rule was proposed by H. K. Knapp and seconded by Andrew Miller, to read as follows: "Every horse running in a selling race shall, if the winner, be liable to be claimed for the selling price by the owner of any other horse running in the race, but if it is a condition of the race that the winner shall be sold at auction, the sale shall take place immediately after the race and the surplus over the selling price be equally divided among the first three horses."

The English "triple crown" winner, Diamond Jubilee, the champion sire of last year in the Argentine, has again a commanding lead this year, his stock having won thirty-nine races of the value of nearly 215,000 pesos. Second is Old Man, with 23 races worth 148,726 pesos, and third is Greenan (23 races of the value of 106,175 pesos). The French horse Jardy comes fourth, St. Wolf fifth, Le Samaritain sixth and Cyllene seventh.

Frank Ensign (ch g, 3, by Ultimus—Miss Juneau), a maiden in the Talbott establishment, stepped on a bottle while pasturing and it was found necessary to destroy him.

Executor's Sale!

OF DESIRABLE SCOTT COUNTY

STOCK FARMS

As executor of the will of James Mulholland, the undersigned will, on Wednesday, the 16th Day of August 1916

AT THE HOUR OF 10:00 A. M.

at the late residence of the deceased, James Mulholland, sells at public outcry to the highest bidder 541 acres more or less of very desirable and high-class farming lands, lying upon the waters of Cane Run Creek, in Scott County, Kentucky. Three hundred and thirty-four acres and twenty poles of this land has a frontage upon the Lexington and Georgetown turnpike (Dixie Highway), upon which turnpike the interurban traction line between Georgetown and Lexington runs and is located about eight miles North of Lexington, Ky., and about four miles South of Georgetown and 207.58 acres of same fronts upon the Georgetown and Payne's Depot turnpike and is located about 2½ miles Southwest of Georgetown, Ky.

Of the tract lying upon the Lexington and Georgetown turnpike and traction line 56 acres, 2 roods and 13 poles lie upon the West side of said turnpike and traction line and upon which is located a modern two-story brick dwelling, good carriage house, splendid cistern and orchard and small tenant house. The dwelling is about two hundred feet from the traction line with beautiful lawn and abundant shade and the cars stop at the front gate for passengers. Immediately in front of this tract of 85 acres and 3 roods upon which is located a good stable, double corn crib, stock scales and ice house, all in grass with an abundance of never failing running water.

Adjoining the last described tractis another tract containing 191 acres, 3 roods and 7 poles, commonly known as the George W. Downing tract, fronting upon the aforesaid Lexington and Georgetown turnpike and also upon the Lisle turnpike upon which there is a splendid two-story frame dwelling, two large tobacco barns, concrete Silo, good stable, tenement house and all necessary out buildings. This tract is also abundantly watered by never failing running water. The tract of 56 acres, 2 roods and 13 poles and the tract of 85 acres and 3 roods are all in grass and most of it has been in grass for many years. Only a small part of the tract of 191 acres, 3 roods and 7 poles is in cultivation and the balance is in grass.

Each of said tracts will first be offered separately, then the tract of 56 acres, 2 roods and 13 poles and the tract of 85 acres and 3 poles will be offered together, then the tract of 85 acres and 3 poles and the tract of 191 acres, 3 roods and 7 poles will be offered together and then the three tracts will be offered as a whole and the bid or bids realizing the most money will be accepted.

The tract of 207.58 acres lying on the Georgetown and Payne's Depot turnpike will be sold at the same time and at the same place, the home of deceased and any one who contemplates being a bidder on same should inspect same before the day of sale since same will not be sold on the premises but at the place where the other lands are to be sold. There is on this farm a modern two-story brick residence, good stable, large tobacco barn, concrete Silo, tenement house and all necessary out buildings. It is located in a splendid neighborhood and fronts upon a good turnpike and is abundantly watered and is in a high state of cultivation with a goodly portion in grass.

Said lands will be sold upon the following terms: One-third of the purchase money to be paid March 1st, 1917, at which time full possession will be given and the balance to be paid in one and two years in equal installments bearing six per cent interest from March 1st, 1917, interest payable annually, to secure the payment of which deferred payments a lien will be retained upon the land. The usual and customary seeding privileges in the fall of 1916 will be given the purchaser.

The undersigned, or any of the Messrs. Mulholland, who reside upon the lands, will be pleased to show the lands to any one interested at any time before the sale.

JAS. BRADLEY, Executor of James Mulholland.

"THE RENAISSANCE OF THE THOROUGHBRED IN AMERICA."

In the current issue of the Bloodstock Breeders' Review, under the above heading, Mr. Edward Moorhouse gives his impressions of his recent tour of America. The article is embellished by photographs of numerous American celebrities, human and equine, among the former being likenesses of Hon. J. N. Camden, Mr. A. B. Hancock and Mr. John Sanford. The article follows:—

The foregoing summary brings the history of the Ellerslie Stud down to the present day. One addition to it is, however, necessary. For many years before his invalided father's death, Mr. Arthur B. Hancock had had the management of the establishment. It follows, therefore, that it is today enjoying the benefit of a continuous policy now that the farm is under Mr. Hancock's sole control. For the time being its prosperity may be said to be bound with the fortunes of the stallion Celt. All available data go to strengthen the belief that the contingency is one that can be regarded without the slightest apprehension. Celt has made a very promising start, but it will not be until next year, or the year after, that it will be possible even to begin to gauge his merits by results. The now yearlings by him are the first of his get since he became Mr. Hancock's property. In the seasons 1912 and 1913, when he was merely leased, comparatively few mares were put to him; all told, they were not as many or as good as those allied with him in 1914. And yet from them he got winners in Celandria, Paddy Whack, Embroidery, Crank, and several other useful performers. When, in 1911, Mr. Vosburgh learned that Celt had been secured for the Ellerslie Stud, he wrote urging Mr. Hancock to "hold on to him with hooks of steel"; and in a second letter suggested the building of "a stone wall around him as high as the great wall of China." I have not stopped to count the number of stallions I saw while in America, but fine looking horses as many of them are, I would certainly take Celt if given my choice. The yearlings and foals by him I came across at Ellerslie formed the best and most even groups by any one stallion I have ever seen. A chestnut horse of good size aud splendid conformation, he shows great masculine character, combined with high quality. Mr. Hancock has every right to be proud of his horse.

Celt is a representative of the strongest male line in America—that of Alarm, Himyar, and Domino. Following the era of Glencoe, Australian, Lexington and Leamington, which gave to the turf such horses of the stamp of Iroquois, Parole, Foxhall and Prioress, there came an unsatisfactory period which may be said to date from the importation of a horse called Phaeton. By King Tom out of Merry Sunshine by Storm, he ran once at Goodwood, as a two-year-old, and once, at Newmarket, as a three-year-old, without showing any form. He carried the colors of Admiral Rous, who probably congratulated himself when Mr. Ten Broeck bought the colt and shipped him off to Kentucky, to his farm in Jefferson County. The buyer, as it happened, made a very good bargain, because Phaeton sired two good horses in Ten Broeck and King Alfonso. The latter, in his turn, begat Foxhall. American breeders noted these striking results and proceeded to buy in England a number of extremely moderate and low-priced colts, hoping to achieve a similar success. Naturally enough they failed, and not only that, but wrought great mischief by damaging the quality of American bloodstock. Then, too, in order to meet the growing demand for racehorses that developed in the eighties, ship-loads of cheap mares were imported. Judgment and discretion were thrown to the winds. Any animal registered in the English Stud Book was deemed good enough to buy. The stock bred from these importations began to cumber the ground, and managers of race meetings had to devise races in which the crowd of "weeds" could slaughter one another. They had no "bottom," and so scrambles over short distances became the general rule. From time to time, men like Mr. James R. Keene, Mr. William C. Whitney, and Mr. Marcus Daly did much towards correcting the mischief that has been wrought, and later still, the arrival of such horses as Rock Sand and Adam, imported by Mr. Belmont and Mr. Francis Bishop, foreshadowed a movement that was calculated still further to repair the damage done by indiscriminate importations. Unhappily, however, this movement was nipped in the bud by the passing of the Hart-Agnew anti-betting bills by the New York State Legislature, with the strenuous assistance of Governor Hughes, now the Republican party's candidate for the Presidency.

Latterly, the survivors among American breeders have, to a large extent, recovered from their despondency. Assisted by some notable acquisitions to their ranks, one of whom is Mr. Price McKinney, of Cleveland, they are earnestly seeking to place the American thoroughbred once more on a sure foundation. To accomplish their aims, they are again leavening their studs with importations from the fountain head. But that is not to say that they have lost faith in their own lines of blood. Far from it. We must bear in mind that immediately after the stoppage of racing in New York and other States of the Union, there was a wholesale weeding out of bloodstock. Generally speaking, members of the best thoroughbred families were alone retained. It may well be, therefore, that the upheaval which created so much havoc in American breeding circles was, in reality, a blessing in disguise.

Before I was led away on that train of thought, I was saying that the line of Alarm is the most potent of the American stallion families. That of Hanover is practically played out in tail-male, though when it comes to brood mares the descendants of Hanover are looked upon as most valuable possessions. The family founded by imported Bonnie Scotland is still in a fairly flourishing state, represented as it is today by such sires as Ben Brush, Broomstick, Whisk Broom and Sweep; and other lines are being maintained by Fair Play and Uncle. But there is no denying that for the time being the Alarm family dominates the situation. In recent years the two most important links in its chain were Domino (by Himyar), and his son, Commando. It is remarkable, as showing on what a slender thread thoroughbred families sometimes continue to exist, that both Domino and Commando had been at the stud less than two years when they died. Domino, I believe, begat fewer than twenty foals, but among them were Disguise II. (third to Diamond Jubilee in the Derby, and winner of the Jockey Club Stakes of £10,000). Cap and Bells (winner of the Oaks), Commando, Running Stream and Olympian. Commando's stud record was equally phonomenal, for in his two seasons he sired Colin, Celt, Peter Pan, Superman, Peter Quince and Transvaal. In 1907 his stock won stakes to the value of £54,070, which stands as an American record. That a horse of his calibre and prepotency died so young was a veritable calamity. The sons he left behind him are, in consequence, all the more valuable, especially because proof is already forthcoming that his grandsons have had transmitted to them the qualities which brought him into prominence.

On his female side, Celt is of pure English descent, for his dam, Maid of Erin, is by Amphion out of Mavourneen by Barcaldine. Voter, half-brother to Maid of Erin, is the sire of Ballot and many other good horses. Celt was not overdone with racing. Both as a two and three-year-old he started twice only, but he managed to win over £6,000, his successes including the Jockey Club Weight-for-Age race and the Brooklyn Handicap with 7 st. 8 lbs. in the saddle. When a three-year-old, misfortune overtook him in the shape of an injury to one of his feet. But for this mishap, Mr. Keene would have sent him to England to be trained for our cup races, for he believed the colt to be nearly as good as Colin. Mr. Rowe managed to patch him up sufficiently to enable him to win a race as a four-year-old, but we may take it that Celt was an infinitely better racehorse than his record shows him to have been, and had more staying power than the majority of the other members of his family have possessed. Mr. Hancock has the utmost confidence in the son of Commando, and is giving him every possible chance. There is a second stallion at Ellerslie in Glorifier, a son of Hastings. This is the American branch of the Melbourne line. The claim is made for Glorifier that he is the second best of his sire's sons, the first place, by common consent, being given to Mr. Belmont's horse, Fair Play. Glorifier has already had several winners, and there are assuredly many more to come.

During the past twelve months, Mr. Hancock has added to his list of mares by buying others in England through the British Bloodstock Agency. These acquisitions are Merriment (1912) by Sundridge—Marian Hood, half-sister to Polymelus; Pietra (1905) by Pietermaritzburg—Briar-Root; Patricia IV. (1909) by Ard Patrick; Princess Caprice (1911) by Marco—Royal Marriage. These mares have been mated with Black Jester, Myram, Llangibby, and Junior. The American-bred mares at Ellerslie include representatives of the best winner-producing families. Every one of them has good credentials. Mr. Hancock has no use for mediocrities and will not allow his judgment to be warped by sentiment. The mares he owns must "make good or quit." The farm, in short, is conducted on practical business lines. I cannot close these notes on my visit to Ellerslie without paying a tribute to the skill which Mr. Huston, the foreman of the stud, discharges his responsible duties. Mr. Hancock lives at Paris, five hundred miles away, where there is another stud that receives his personal attention. He pays frequent visits to Ellerslie, but during his absence he has the comforting knowledge that his interests are being thoroughly safeguarded by by the faithful Huston and his loyal and competent staff.

Charlottesville is the seat of the University of Virginia, one of the founders of which was Thomas Jefferson. Before we boarded the train for Lexington, Mr. Hancock showed me round the University buildings, which count among the glories of the State. We travelled through the night to Kentucky. It was the only night journey I had while in America, for at other times I made it a rule to move from place to place in daylight so as to see as much of the country as possible. I must have missed some fine scenery during that trip westward, because we crossed the Blue Ridge at Staunton and passed through a district famous for its apple orchards. We were sleeping, or trying to sleep, while we traversed the State of West Virginia, which broke away from old Virginia owing to a difference of opinion arising out of the Civil War. Incidentally, it became necessary during the journey to put our watches back an hour, for we crossed the line that divides the territories whose peoples conform their activities to Eastern or Central time, according to their location. We left Charlottesville on a Chesapeake and Ohio train at six in the evening, and arrived at Lexington, the capital of the Blue Grass region, shortly before ten the following morning. Mrs. Hancock awaited us with a motor-car, and an eighteen mile run through the heart of Kentucky landed us at the thriving little city of Paris, which is one of the centres of the tobacco industry. During the next fortnight I was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hancock, and to them I am indebted for a very memoriable and enjoyable experience. I cannot describe here the many social engagements in which I participated. The chronicle is outside the immediate scope of this article. I will merely state that abundant opportunities were offered me of becoming acquainted with the manner of life of the leading Kentucky families, and that I have never mingled with more delightful or goodhearted people. Their one desire seemed to be to extend the warmest of welcomes to the stranger within their gates. They succeeded in making the stranger feel very much at home. This is but a poor acknowledgment of the kindness shown to me. I am, indeed, fully conscious of the fact that no mere expression of thankfulness would adequately liquidate the debt I owe.

The Blue Grass region of Kentucky extends over an area upwards of a hundred miles square. It is an elevated plateau, from 600 to 800 feet above sea level. One has to take notice of the fact that with one or two exceptions—Brookdale for instance—the nurseries of the American thoroughbred are situated on high ground. I cannot remember ever having seen the point raised, but I have little doubt in my own mind that to this elevation is due in large measure the way in which blood-stock flourishes in the States. Whether the location of the studs is a matter of accident or design I cannot say. Maybe blue grass, on the virtues of which so much reliance is placed, does not flourish on low-lying land. Some botanical authority might enlighten us on that matter.

The district of which Lexington is the centre is an area in a high state of cultivation. The moiety under grass receives careful attention, though I gathered from answers to inquiries I made that it does not receive the dressings of lime and phosphates which English and Irish pastures periodically receive. Only recently have some stud masters in Kentucky thought it advisable to make applications of crushed lime to their grass. Then, again, the beneficial services of cattle are not taken advantage of to the same extent as in England and Ireland. The practice of running horses and cattle together is very rarely resorted to. These and other details might, I think, be studied with profit by American breeders. Nevertheless, the fact remains that wonderfully fine grass fields are met with all over the Blue Grass region. A portion of nearly every farm is devoted to the cultivation of tobacco, and the barns in which the leaf is matured are a conspicuous feature of the landscape. Apart from these structures, the countryside is very much like that one finds in many parts of England. Only hedges are needed to complete the picture. Many a time as I passed along the road between Lexington and Paris I suddenly realized that for several minutes I had been unconscious of the fact that I was a sojourner in a foreign land. The home-like surroundings lulled me into a sense of familiarity.

The day before I reached Kentucky the twelve-day spring race meeting at Lexington had opened. I attended it nine of the remaining eleven days. It was at once an advantage and a disadvantage that my visit to these parts coincided with the racing carnival. While I had the frequent opportunities of becoming acquainted with the men who are a power in turf and breeding circles of Kentucky, with the spirit and enthusiasm that animate them, with the qualities and, perchance, shortcomings of the horses I saw competing and with the distinguishing features of American racing, facilities for inspecting the many stud farms in the locality were of necessity greatly curtailed. I did, in fact, reach several of them, but, as a rule, my stay was very brief. If, therefore, my references to these establishments seem unduly casual and unpardonably brief, the reason has been explained. I can assure all and sundry of the proprietors that I esteemed it a privilege to be permitted to pass within their gates and spend the little time available "behind the scenes."

There has been racing at Lexington, on the site of the present racecourse, for close upon a hundred years. Many a horse, famous in the annals of American turf and Stud, has been put to the test on this track, Alice Carneal and her celebrated son, Lexington, among them. Since those far off days ideas have changed. The Lexington course, an oval, just about a mile in circumference, has become a wee bit antiquated. Its imperfections can, however, be forgiven it by reason of its precious historical associations. Epsom and Chester have their bitter detractors, but where is the iconoclast who would wipe them off the map? Earlier on I alluded to the preponderance of sprints in the Lexington programme. This is the more unfortunate because of the nature of the course. A four-furlong race, the first half of which is run round a sharp turn, is apt to degenerate into a scramble, in which luck plays a disproportionate part. And the case is not much better when the distance is extended to five or six furlongs. The chief aim of a jockey is to jump off in front and keep there. There is no scope for the exercise of finesse and the finer arts of horsemanship. In the great majority of the races I saw at Lexington, the winner was lying either first or second when turning into the straight. Even in contests over a mile riders of the favorites preferred to be in the van all the way if possible. When I suggested that a straight five-furlong course would add greatly to the amenities of the establishment, I was told that the public abominate straight tracks. There is one of seven furlongs at Belmont Park, near New York. When I saw it I ventured to praise the bold spirit who conceived the idea, but I was given to understand there would be some difficulty in persuading the average racing man to contribute to a monument in his honor. The inevitable inference is that Americans desire that the spectacular side of racing shall not be sacrificed to other considerations. I can now appreciate more completely than heretofore the feeling of amazement which overwhelms our trans-Atlantic cousins when they attend for the first time one of our Newmarket meetings, especially if it is Cesarewitch day, when half of the chief race on the programme is decided out of sight.

The Lexington meeting, to which I am alluding, was a wonderfully successful affair. Attendances were good all the way through, especially when there was a feature on the card a little out of the ordinary. One afternoon the Governor of the State and his gracious lady lent their patronage, and towards the close of the meeting there was an influx of prominent Eastern sportsman, who had "looked in," so to say, on their way to Louisville for the Kentucky Derby. Senator Fall, of New Mexico, who was to submit Mr. Roosevelt's name to the Republican Convention at Chicago, was also there with his friend Mr. Price McKinney, and I came across Mr. Rowe, the New York Jockey Club's Secretary. I had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bradley, and before leaving the district spent a night with them at their beautiful place near Lexington, the Idle Hour Farm, of which more anon. But if I were to mention all the notable and agreeable people I met I should have a long list to write. There is one more I must name. It is Mr. Catesby Woodford, the importer of Star Shoot who has been so successful a sire in the States. Until recently Mr. Woodford, whose home is near Paris, was the President of the Kentucky Racing Association. His successor in the office is ex-Senator J. N. Camden, who was unhappily prevented by ill-health from attending the meeting. This was the more regrettable because three or four races were won by his horses. It was particularly gratifying to many of us to see Mr. Hancock's smart filly, Embroidery, by Celt, win two races with consummate ease. She and Mr. Camden's horses are under the care of Mr. J. C. Milam, who saddled no fewer than thirteen winners during the twelve days.

An interesting happening the fourth day was the appearance of Mr. John Sanford's colt George Smith in a race over a mile and a sixteenth for a purse of $700. This was his first public outing as a three-year-old, and as he was already regarded as a very likely winner of the Derby to be run at Louisville twelve days later his appearance and performance were naturally closely scrutinized. He was just beaten by the five-year-old mare Bayberry Candle, to whom he was giving 2 lbs., and his admirers were perfectly satisfied. "The Derby is all over," was a remark I heard. Had the speaker forgotten Star Hawk? I wondered. The last day of the meeting I saw a fine chestnut two-year-old colt named Harry Kelly, by Ultimus, win the Breeders' Futurity in impressive style. In doing so he beat a better favorite in Westy Hogan, and covered the five furlongs in :58 4-5 seconds, which clipped one and two-fifths of a second off the track record. This seemed to indicate that Harry Kelly is as good as he looks, and the cognoscenti predicted that he had a brilliant career ahead of him. His owner is Mr. J. W. Schorr.

Great importance is attached to the timing of races in America. They do not tell you of the rivals a horse has beaten but of the time he has "done" and the weight he carried. "Clockers" are very busy on the training track every morning, and even during the intervals between races. No sooner is the course clear than, as a rule, several horses are breezed over various distances. These diversions greatly tend to lessen the tedium of waiting for the next event. Another peculiarity, if I may so term it, which I came across during my travels was the practice of judging a horse's condition by weight. At many studs it is the custom to weigh a stallion or a yearling at regular intervals. I was frequently nonplussed when asked how much I thought some English stallion or other weighed. In America stallions are more often than not called "studs."

Readers of the Review are well aware that it has been a persistent advocate of the pari-mutuel form of betting. I learn that during my absence abroad this advocacy has been taken up in other quarters. I am very pleased to hear it. If these new champions of the totalisator want further evidence to strengthen their case let them seek it in Kentucky, where it has now been in operation about ten years. It has effected a wonderful improvement in racing in that State. Before the adoption of the pari-mutuel the average value of the purses offered at Lexington was $200 or $250 At the present day no race is worth less than $500 or £100, and prizes of $700 and $800 are quite common. This remarkable development is due solely to the enhancement of the income of the Racing Association by a deduction of 5 per cent. from the money invested in the "tote." Some of the bigger bettors do not like the machine, and find a way of investing their money elsewhere; but the general public are in love with the pari-mutuel, convinced as they are that it is the fairest method of betting. The smallest unit that can be invested is $2, or eight shillings. It is deliberately fixed as high as that in order to check betting by those with slender purses. At Lexington the biggest unit in operation is $10, but at Louisville there are machines at which the unit is $25. The primitive system of working the pari-mutuel which still obtains (or obtained before the war) in France has in Kentucky been superseded by an automatic apparatus. By touching a lever, the attendant who hands you your ticket registers, with one movement, the total amount that has been put on the horse you have backed with the addition of your bet, and also the aggregate that has gone on all the runners backed at that particular machine. Thus, by a little calculation, you can tell, roughly, the state of the odds. I believe these automatic registers are also used in New Zealand. A popular mode of betting in Kentucky is to back a horse for a "place" (which means 1, 2), or for a "show," otherwise, 1, 2, 3. Money thus invested is dealt with separately, and the "dividend" returned is often surprising. To quote one case, a winner on the eighth day at Lexington was returned (to the $2 unit) at $6.20 cents. for a win, $4.70 cents. for a "place," and $3.60 cents. for a "show." That is nothing out of the common, however. Some curious anomalies crop up at times. Another winner returned $75.80 for a win, or nearly 37 to 1, but only 12½ to 1 for a "place" and a mere 3½ to 1 for a "show." You can bet for a "place" when there are only five runners. At one location you may invest $6 "across the board," which means you are on $2 each for a win, "place" and "show." It has to be admitted that the pari-mutuel form of betting is calculated to try one's temper when there is a crowd like that which attended on Derby Day at Louisville. You have to take your place in a long queue of investors, and, unless you are early on the scene, wait a long time before you can make your bet. That trouble only occurs, however, on exceptional occasions.

There were other features of the Lexington meeting on which I might dwell, such as the low prices of admission to the stands; the firm control the managers have over the jockeys; the number of races for which horses can be nominated without payment of any entrance fee; the completeness of each day's programme, every horse entered in all but what are called Stake races, being compelled to go the post unless the special permission of the Stewards (granted only in exceptional cases) is obtained for their withdrawal; the saddling of horses in stalls numbered to correspond with those on the card; and other details of a like character, all tending to good order and the quick dispatch of the business of the day. But I must hurry on.

The last stud we were at was that at Ellerslie; the next to which I have to refer is that owned by Mr. Hancock near Paris, a mile or so along the Winchester pike. Here it was that I renewed acquaintance with that good horse Wrack, whom I assisted last autumn in buying for my host. The formation of the Claiborne Stud, as it is called, dates from the arrival of Wrack from England. Previously it was worked as an ordinary farm, but it has easily been adapted to the purpose of a stud. The necessary embellishments will be added in the near future. Not that Mr. Hancock is addicted to extravagance in that direction. He pins his faith to utilities rather than ornamentations.

I should find a difficulty in conveying to my readers an adequate idea of the enthusiasm with which Mr. Hancock and many of his friends among breeders regard Wrack. So far he has more than fulfilled their most sanguine expectations. He has taken to stud life with alacrity and done his work most satisfactorily during his first season. All the thirty-five mares with whom he was mated are believed to be in foal. Many of these mares are first-rate individuals, so that there will be no excuse for the son of Robert le Diable and Samphire if results are not satisfactory in due course. No horse could look better than Wrack did on the several occasions I saw him. He was "fighting fit," and yet perfectly tractable. When he reached America he had a hogged mane.. The hair is now being allowed to grow, and in its present state gives him a somewhat rakish appearance. Among Wrack's greatest admirers is Mr. Hancock's little son and heir. I heard him offer all sorts of sums in dollars to induce his father to sell the horse. Asked if he could produce the money, he said he would try to borrow it! Not so bad for a youngster of seven. The continuance of the Ellerslie and Claiborne Studs seems to be assured for another generation or two, anyway. The Claiborne property extends to 800 acres, and Mr. Hancock has an additional farm near Lexington which can be used in connection with the stud if necessary.

Joseph E. Widener recently completed a most important purchase of foreign thoroughbreds when he took thirteen head from Edmond Blanc's breeding farm. In the lot there are represented such famous stallions as Ajax, Flying Fox and Verwood. Jerry Welsh will break the youngsters in France and they will be brought to this country and turned over to Thomas Welsh in the fall.

Geo. T. Miller has sold to J. W. Johnson, of Porto Rico, the brown gelding Killcraggen, 3, by Cave Adsum—Sailor's Delight; the chestnut colt Bully Kean, 4, by Bobbie Kean—Fighting Girl; and seven two-year-olds.

LOCAL NOTES.

The Powers-Hunter Company will continue their series of yearling sales at the Saratoga racecourse today, offering the youngsters, from Mere Hill Stud, property of Chas. W. Moore; John S. Barbee, S. C. Lyne, Capt. T. J. Clay, C. C. Patrick and others.

On Thursday, August 24, the yearlings from Blue Grass Farm, property of F. J. Pons, and from Hurricana Stud, property of John Sanford, will be sold.

Racing Secretary William H. Shelley Thursday afternoon issued the programme book for the entire ten days of the Kentucky Association's autumn meeting of ten days, which will open Wednesday, September 6, and close Saturday, September 16. The book calls for seventy races with a total distribution of $40,000, an average of $4,000 per day from the association, while twenty-two of the races will require an entrance fee of $10 from each horse named, all of which goes to the winner and increases the aggregate of the distribution. It was announced that there would be no purse less than $400, but there is one for that amount. It is for a race for amateur riders, otherwise "gentlemen whose credentials must be submitted to the Committee for approval." Such races usually are farcical, but each season the gentlemen come forward with a request for at least one opportunity to disport themselves and Secretary Shelley usually grants their request, though there is a tendency on the part of the horse owners and the officials to discourage the practice.

The conditions for only two of the seven races have not been written into the book. These are left open for "advance money races". which is the technical term for races through which the run-up money from selling races is distributed to horsemen, as required by the rules of the State Racing Commission, though it is contended by horsemen since the advent of the seven-races-daily programme that the associations are pocketing the run-up money, the argument being that they would give seven races, no matter whether there would ever come a cent from that source. Thirty-one of the races are for $500 each, thirty-two for $600, three for $700, one for $800 and two for $1,000 each. These higher purses, likewise several of the $600 purses are for handicps, entries to which will be made three days before the date of the race.

Of the sixty-eight races for which conditions have been written, nineteen are for two-year-olds, ten for three-year-olds, thirty-four for three-year-olds and upward and five for four-year-olds and upward. Eight are for maiden two-year-olds and two for maiden three-olds and upward. Three of the ten races for three-year-olds are exclusively for fillies.

In the matter of distances, three races are at five furlongs, eleven at five and one-half furlongs, twenty-six at six furlongs, four at one mile, three at one mile and seventy yards, eleven at one mile and one-sixteenth, five at one mile and an eighth and five at one mile and a quarter. The increase in distances is gradual until on the closing day, when there are three races at one mile and a quarter.

In the writer's judgment it is the best book yet written by the able Mr. Shelley for a fall meeting at Lexington, and it is certain to prove attractive to horsemen. Mr. Shelley has been signally successful in getting highly interesting contests at local meetings, spring and fall, and, after a perusal of this book, it is certain that excellent sport will be had here next month.

The breeding classes for thoroughbred horses at the Blue Grass Fair Aug. 12 produced less competition than in any previous year. For some reason unexplained, unless it be that they are fearful of injury to their stock, the owners of stallions, mares, yearlings and sucklings have in distressingly few instances kept their horses at home. T. C. McDowell, although himself at Saratoga with his racing stable, gave instructions to his men at Ashland to enter in several of the classes, and as a result he got nearly all the premiums. The awards were:

Brood mare, four years old and over.—First, T. C. McDowell's Star Cat, 12, by Star Shoot, dam Catalina II.; second, T. C. McDowell's Mirth, 11., by Alan-a-Dale, dam Acushla.

Colt foal of 1916.—First, T. McDowell's chestnut colt by The Manager, dam Luck Lockett; Mr. McDowell also took second premium.

Filly foal of 1916.—First, T. C. McDowell's bay filly by Ballot, dam School Mistress.

Brood mare, four years old and over, with foal of 1916 at foot. Each to count 50 per cent; (both to be shown in hand).—First, T. C. McDowell's Lucy Lockett and chestnut colt by The Manager; Mr. McDowell also took second and third premiums.

Filly foal of 1915.—First, J. S. Hawkins' chestnut filly by Peter Quince; Claude Rodgers took second premium and T. C. McDowell third.

Colt foal of 1915.—First, Gallaher Bros'. chestnut colt by Jack Atkin, dam Royal Captive; T. C. McDowell took second premium.

Get of stallion. Two, the get of one stallion, without regard to ownership, both under two years old. Each to count 50 per cent. (Both to be shown in hand).—First, T. C. McDowell's chestnut colt by The Manager, dam Star Cat, and bay filly by The Manager, dam Ancient.

That Star Shoot is a really marvellous stallion is shown year after year by his position in the list of winning sires in U. S. A. Sent out there in 1901, when he was a three-year-old, the son of Isinglass and Astrology (dam of Telescope) has since then on several occasions figured at the head of the list of winning stallions, and in other years has generally been among the leaders. A most prolific sire, he has already this year been credited with no fewer than seventeen winning two-year-olds. Another successful sire of juveniles is Toddington, which as a two-year-old was one of Mr. Sievier's various sensational purchases. The price he paid for him after he won his opening race for Mr. Masker was about £10,000, part of which was soon got back in the Woodcote Stakes and at Kempton Park. By Melton out of Minera, Toddington was a rare good sort, but he bruised his foot when he won at Kempton and was sent out to the States the next year. Recently I saw in an American paper that the old fellow—he is now eighteen—was to be sold at auction, and the doings of his present crop of youngsters should draw renewed attention to this son of Melton. Other English-bred sires whose two-year-olds are prominent are Marta Santa and Peep O'Day. Ogden, too, which was imported in utero, has eleven winners to his credit. Of the native-bred stallions Ballot (by Voter out of Cerito) is likewise well to the fore. Ballot. it will be recollected, was sent over here to run as a five-year-old, and he gave the then three-year-old Valens 10 pounds and a beating for the Select Stakes in the autumn at Newmarket. That was an excellent performance, for he was giving 3 pounds more than weight for age to Lord Carnarvon's colt over the Rowley Mile, and that Valens was of high-class he showed on various occasions, notably when he ran second to Bayardo, for the Leger.—[Vigilant in London Sportsman.

Chairman Johnson M. Camden, of the State Racing Commission, upon being asked the question, "Will Walter H. Pearce be reappointed Racing Secretary for Churchill Downs, Douglas Park and Latonia tracks?" said:—

"Racing Secretaries in Kentucky now are recommended by race track managers to the State Racing Commission. I am not advised whom the Louisville and Latonia track managers will recommend. I cannot say at this time what may be the action of the State Racing Commission if the name of Walter H. Pearce is presented for its confirmation."

Chairman Camden further stated that the date for the next meeting of the commission has been extended to September 1.

In the yearling sale to be held here on the evenings of Sept. 12 and 13, by The Kentucky Sales Co., the get of the following sires will be found in the catalog, viz.: Astronomer, Ballot, Bearcatcher, Bryn Mawr, Burgomaster, Contestor, Dick Finnell, Dorante, Ferole, McGee, Marathon, Peter Quince, Plaudit, Rapid Water, Sweep, Toddington, Transvaal, Watervale and Zeus.

Louis Tauber has shipped to Louisville Jefferson Livingston's Royal II., Fleuro, Lingtal, Prim Harry, Prince Eugene, Princess Kathleen and six yearlings. They are to join the nine other yearlings recently purchased by Mr. Livingston in England and which arrived at Louisville in charge of Tauber this week. The yearlings shipped from here came over from England in January and were broken by John Nichols. Tauber expressed himself as highly pleased with them.

Fred a Forsythe has placed his yearling filly by Dorante—Commena (dam of High Private) with John Nichols to be broken.

The clever race horse Horron, bay, 6, by McGee, out of Josie L., by Top Gallant, she out of Elise B., by Prince Royal, next dam Mattie T. (sister to Sir Dixon and Belvidere), by Billet, will be sold in the Lexington Sale, Sept. 12 and 13. Horron, an excellent individual, was a high-class stake winner both in his two and three-year-old form, probably the best of his age and coming as he does from a most successful sire family should be much in demand. During the current season he was mated with several nice mares, the property Talbot Bros., Mt. Lebanon Stud.

Last autumn Mr. J. B. Joel sold a number of his young stock to the American trainer, W. B. Jennings, for the stable of Mr. A. K. Macomber, inclusive of Star Hawk. I now learn that within the last ten days Mr. Joel has disposed of about ten of his present crop of highly bred yearlings, likewise to go to U. S. A. In the circumstances it is indeed pleasant to learn, the sale of a number of his yearlings, notwithstanding that Mr. J. B. Joel has no intention of withdrawing from turf pursuits, and that he intends going in for breeding from broodmares of different lines of blood, mainly to those with which he has established the fame of the Childwickbury Stud, in order to get in o a different strain. That there are few breeders of bloodstok who are as conversant with the "mysteries" of breeding as Mr. Joel, is a matter of common knowledge, and that he has decided to quit the paths (to a large extent) along which he has in the past travelled with such conspicuous success, is especially interesting. That it is possible to adhere too long to breeding from certain strains has been shown in the past by the experiences of other notable breeders. To take a simile from the mining world, it is a wise man that knows when a claim shows signs of being worked out before others equally interested in it become aware of it. This does not, of course, apply equally to horse-breeding, for the simple reason that a few lean seasons following in the wake of years of brilliant successes, may in turn be succeeded by other triumphs. There is always, however, a possibility of breeders remaining too long in one particular groove, and I for one shall watch the breeding operations of Mr. J. B. Joel in the time to come with the greatest interest.—[Vigilant in London Sportsman.

FOREIGN HORSES ARRIVE IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, August 14.—One of the largest consignments of richly-bred thoroughbreds ever received here from England, arrived on the Atlantic transport liner Manchuia. Foreman Gurney, who had charge of the seventy horses, said that he had never known animals to have had a more comfortable trip and all those intended for racing looked fit enough to take the track at once if necessary.

Nineteen of the prospective racers were for Grant Hugh Browne, who has just resumed the sport. They are mostly of the handicap and selling class, and are a likely band with good chances of taking purses. The next largest consignment was for A. P. Humphrey, Jr. He came across with the horses, which he intends to ship to his Virginia farm. There are eight yearlings bred in the purple for Jefferson Livingston, who is following the plan that he inaugurated two years ago of getting the best English blood.

Many horsemen at the dock were interested in the two great English mares, Glass Jug and Quair, which were brought over for Gifford A. Cochran, each with a foal at side. The two mares cost Mr. Cochran $25,000 and the foals are by famous sires. Glass Jug is by Isinglass—Amphora and her foal, three months old, is by August Belmont's great horse Tracery. Quair is by Orme—Memoir and the six months old colt at her side may prove a hard one to beat. His sire, Swynford, is the sire of Knutsford, one of the best two-year-olds in England this year. The Cochran horses had special attention and were in charge of Frank Midgely, a brother to Mr. Cochran's trainer.

Mr. Humphrey's band included six yearlings and the rest are mostly three-year-olds. All are maidens, but their breeding suggest what that they may do when raced over the jumps as four-year-olds. The complete list of the Humphrey importations follow:

Luneville, b c, 3, by John o' Gaunt—La Lune, by Despair

Ben Land, br c, 3, by Land League—Game Hen, by Gallinule.

Merry Feast, b c, 2, by Bonarosa—Symposium, by Symington.

Monikie, b f, 3, by Despair—Clef d'Or, by Bend Or.

Sir Galahad, b c, 3, by The White Knight—Agnes Lowther, by Symington.

Chestnut filly, yearling, by Bonarosa—Fleuve Rouge.

Chestnut colt, yearling, by Beppo—Aboyne.

Bay filly, yearling, by Marajax—Faverolle.

Bay colt by Land League—Mill Bay, by Red Heart.

Bay colt by Heliotrope—Applecross, by Lychnoscope.

Chestnut filly by Pericles—Stray Moment, by St. Hilaire.

Bay colt by Heliotrope—Hutton's System, by All Moonshine.

Bay filly by Heliotrope—Seisdon Princess, by Veracity.

CRANK WINS THE GRAB BAG HANDICAP.

SARATOGA, N. Y., August 16.—Crank, a son of Celt and Crosspath, that raced for Samuel Ross down in Maryland, and one of the lightweights in the six furlongs of the Grab Bag Handicap, was a handy winner over August Belmont's Deer Trap and the Brighton Stable's Tom McTaggart, to say nothing of nine others.

The start was a straggling one, Crank was off running, while Tom McTaggart was not ready and broke behind his horses, though there were others that had more of a handicap to overcome than he did.

Sunflash was particularly unlucky, as was Sunbonnet and Beaverkill, a Gifford A. Cochran starter.

Mink made every use of his advantage when he was off running with Crank, and he was hustled into a good lead before the others were fairly under way. Deer Trap went out after the Ross gelding, while Tom McTaggart was weaving his way through in good style on the way to the turn.

Rounding that turn McTaggart had reached third place, but he was still headed by Crank and Deer Trap and both were racing very strongly. Going to the stretch turn Loftus took Tom McTaggart down on the rail in an effort to steal through. Jockey Tom McTaggart, after whom the colt is named, was quick to see the move. He had the leg up on Deer Trap and he swung the Belmont colt over, holding his namesake in on the rail all through the run home.

Through the last furlong Crank showed a disposition to stop and he was switching his tail and trying to bear out all the way home, but his early advantage stood him in good stead and Mink coaxed him along until he was winner by two lengths, while Deer Trap blocked Tom McTaggart and beat him half a length for the place.

Sunflash was fourth, having overcome a deal of interference to reach that place. Mida, after being in close quarters on the rail in the backstretch, came strong and was fifth. America, the filly that beat Harry Kelly in Kentucky, was never a contender.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE JOCKEY CLUB.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Jockey Club, held at the clubhouse of the Saratoga Association, Mr. Edward F. Whitney, of Oyster Bay, L. I., and Mr. George D. Widener, of Philadelphia, were unanimously elected members of the Jockey Club.

No change was made in the present selling race rule, but the chairman, Mr. August Belmont, was requested to appoint a committee of six members of the Jockey Club to discuss and draw up a suitable selling race rule.

At the meeting of the stewards of the Jockey Club the approval of the stewards was granted the Harford Agricultural and Breeders' Association to conduct a race meeting September 12 to 30, inclusive.

The Maryland State Fair of Laurel, Md., to conduct a race meeting from October 2 to 31, inclusive.

The Maryland Jockey Club to conduct a race meeting at Pimlico, Md., November 1 to 13, inclusive.

The Southern Maryland Fair Association to conduct a race meeting at Bowie, Md., November 14 to 30, inclusive, and the appointment of the officials for the above meeting was approved.

The approval of the stewards of the Jockey Club was granted the Piping Rock Association to conduct a race meeting at Locust Valley, N. Y., on October 7 and 12, and Mr. C. K. G. Billings was appointed steward to represent the Jockey Club at this meetlng.

Mr. F. R. Hitchcock was appointed steward to represent the Jockey Club at the autumn meeting of the Westchester Racing Association.

Jockey and trainers licenses were granted as recommended by the license committee.

On the report of the stewards of the Saratoga Association that Jockey Schuttinger had been suspended and reprimanded for a listless and indifferent ride on the horse Campfire on July 31, and further that no proof of fraud had been found, it was resolved that the suspension be terminated.

ABOUKIR'S NEWBURY CUP.

NEWBURY, ENG., Aug. 12.—The Newbury Cup of $2,500 was won today by W. Raphael's Aboukir, with Steve Donoghue in the saddle, by a short head from Lord Cholmondley's Brown II., ridden by Balding. C. Hulton's Nisus, with J. Smyth up, was third, three lengths behind. Twelve horses ran. The betting was: Aboukir, 6 to 1; Brown II., 7 to 1, and Nisus, 5 to 1. The winner was trained by H. Persse.

Yesterday J. J. Buchanan's Hurry On, ridden by J. Childs, won the Newbury Stakes. Three lengths behind was Reid Walker's Black Adder, with Bullock in the saddle. Lord Derby's Canyon, with Martin up, was third, five lengths away, and W. Singer's Market Girl was last.

Only four horses went to the post. The betting was: Hurry On, 9 to 4; Black Adder, 4 to 1, and Canyon, 6 to 5.

FORT ERIE RACING STATISTICS.

During the seven days of racing given by the Niagara Racing Association, which began August 5 and came to a close August 12, forty-nine races were decided and $39,855 was distributed in stakes and purses, representing a daily average of $5,693.57. I should have thought the Derby and Oaks of 1918 would have filled better, for, after all, the war need deter nobody from making such entries, as there is no liability at all unless and until the race comes off; 287 entries for the Derby is a fair number, no doubt, but it ought to have been larger, and it is rather surprising that there are only nine entries from Paris and six from New York. The Oaks has closed with only 205 entries, seven of which were made in Paris and one in New York.—[The Special Commissioner in London Sportsman.

Trainer Frank Taylor, who has been handling a large string of thoroughbreds for W. Sharpe Kilmer, has severed his connection with that stable.

Henry McDaniel has resigned as trainer for the Thorncliffe Stable and will take charge of Willis Sharpe Kilmer's horses. Henry McDaniel's brother, William, will succeed him as trainer for Messrs. Davies.

The filly, Inbreed, racing at Saratoga, is by Bartender—Miss Lisbon. Bartender is by The Bard—Lisbon Maid, and so is Miss Lisbon. It follows that the aptly-named Inbreed is the result of mating a brother and sister. Such incestuous breeding is now uncommon, but was frequently practiced in the early days of thoroughbred breeding.

TWENTY LEADING SIRES IN AMERICA IN 1916.

At the end of last month Star Shoot has gained such a lead over all competitors in the sire list that even this early it seems a certainty he will be the premier stallion of 1916, says Daily Racing Form. This would make honors even between him and Broomstick, with each having achieved the primacy three times. Broomstick's record is in a fashion the better, however, in that his three years of leadership were consecutive. He does not appear to have a chance this year, although beginning to make a good showing. The now dead sire, Peep O'Day, is now second to Star Shoot, owing his position in considerable measure to the fact that his son, Ed Crump, is one of the big winners of the year. McGee, Marta Santa and Dick Welles follow in order with no great disparity in the total earnings of their progeny. Old horse Hastings is making a brave showing in sixth place and probably will figure about as well at the end of the year. A wonderful sire of good race horses he has been. At the end of July the relative standing of our twenty leading sires through the earnings of their sons and daughters was:

Sire.	Per-formers.	Sts.	Races Won.	Amt.

CHURCHILL DOWNS STAKES CLOSE AUGUST 22.

LAUREL PARK STAKES CLOSE AUGUST 23.

The nineteen stakes for the fall meeting of the Maryland State Fair close on Wednesday, August 23. See announcement in this issue.

That foreign-bred horses are not the equal of our home-bred racers has been shown this year. There are scores of foreign horses in this country, but they have cut little figure on the turf in so far as winning rich stakes are concerned. Many of them have won overnight handicaps or selling races, but only one horse, the Irish-bred Short Grass, has displayed either speed or stamina to warrant the belief that they are in the class with our first-class thoroughbreds. At the beginning of the season their poor form was excused on the ground that they were not acclimated, but now they have had plenty of time in which to become used to our climate and conditions, but still they are far from being world-beaters.—[New York Sun.

The old City Park racetrack, unused since the racing war at New Orleans in the summer of 1906, will be reopened on January 1 for a forty-five day season. The Business Men's Racing Association will be open on December 15, just fifteen days prior to the opening of the competitive venture.

SALE OF THE MACKAY YEARLINGS.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, August 12.—Nineteen yearlings imported from Clarence Mackay's French stud at Normandy brought a total of $43,550 when offered in the paddock before the races this afternoon by the Powers-Hunter Company. This was an excellent average of $2,292. The star of the sale, a handsome daughter of Rock Sand and Audience, went to Willis Sharpe Kilmer for $9,500 after much spirited bidding. This miss is a half-sister of Whisk Broom II.

J. C. Milam opened the bidding on the filly and she quickly advanced in $1,000 jumps. Francis Hitchcock and Walter Jennings, acting for A. K. Macomber, were other unsuccessful bidders. The latter went to $9,000 before halting.

Andrew Miller paid the second highest price of the sale when he obtained a son of Fitz Herbert and Mistress Penn for $6,000. A daughter of Meddler and Ballantrae was knocked down to George D. Widener for $3,000. S. D. Riddle was noticeable at the ringside and purchased one youngster, as did Walter M. Jeffords. A summary of the sales follow:

GREAT DEMAND FOR FRENCH-BRED STOCK.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, August 15.—Good prices were again realized for yearlings and two-year-olds, when twenty-four imported thoroughbreds, the property of Delbert Reiff, were sold in the paddock this afternoon by the Powers-Hunter Company for a total of $39,925, an average of $1,663. Sixteen yearlings sold for $23,525, an average of $1,470, and eight two-year-olds brought $16,400, averaging $2,050.

The star of the sale, a handsome bay yearling son of Sundridge and Sweet Briar, which will be known to racing fame as Sunday, went to Willis Sharpe Kilmer for $6,000 after some spirited bidding. Le Chevesne was best fancied of the two-year-olds, and this colt went to A. K. Macomber for $4,300, Ral Parr, Frederick Johnson and the Greentree Stable were other good buyers of the French thoroughbreds.

KATENKA WINS THE KENTUCKY STAKES.

SARATOGA, August 14.—It was eminently proper that a Western filly should win the Kentucky Stake, and what more fitting than that J. O. Keene's Katenka should come down in front. She was brought on from Kentucky. Then another Western filly, that has been here a longer time, was second in the person of the Kentucky Stable's Storm Nymph, an imported miss, while G. A. Cochran's Marie Odile, was the one to finish third.

Seven went to the post, and Marie Odile was the one to step to the front at the break, while Storm Nymph raced second to her, and for a time Solveig was heading Katenka, which seemed to have some trouble finding her racing legs.

Marie Odile continued to hold her lead until well into the stretch, and Storm Nymph was well in front of Katenka. At the same time the Keene filly was beginning to cut down her lead and was going very strongly on the outside. At the furlong pole Marie Odile was in a real difficulty, and from there to the finish Katenka came on, and at the end she was a very handy winner.

Right at the end Storm Nymph proved gamer than Marie Odile and saved the place by a good length and a half, while Solveig was easily best of the others.

After the race Mr. Keene lost his filly when E. A. Burke bid her up $1,000 over her entered price of $1,500 and was allowed to take her away.

SARATOGA SPECIAL WON BY CAMPFIRE.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, August 12.—The largest racing crowd of the season saw Richard T. Wilson's Campfire run another one of his good races here today, and win the Saratoga Special with a money value of $4,625 and a gold cup valued at $1,000.

Campfire forcing all the pace for the six furlongs was winner by a couple of lengths over the Brighton Stable's Tom McTaggart and August Belmont's imported colt Hourless. The latter was a very close third. Back of these came the Harry Payne Whitney pair, Tumbler and Hard Cash, and Gifford A. Cochran's imported colt Philippic.

There was very little to the race. Johnny McTaggart had Campfire off on his toes, and shooting him out to a lead of a length and a half, he steadied him and just let him step along in his own fashion. He was waiting in front, and there was nothing back of the son of Olambala to hurry him unduly. Tom McTaggart had left in second position, and he was under a nice steadying pull, while Hourless raced close after him, and Tumbler and Hard Cash, the ones that were expected to go out and set a dazzling pace, were utterly unable to keep up.

Going to the far turn Loftus eased Tom McTaggart back slightly as Hourless chased after Campire, and Notter rode Tumbler into fourth place. That was as close as he could come, and before the stretch was reached he was fading away again. Hourless had moved up on the outside in a manner that threatened and making the turn for home he was well lapped on Campfire, but he was forced to go a bit wide when he challenged, as Campfire swung out slightly from the rail. It was then that Loftus dashed up on the inside with Tom McTaggart, and, finishing with great gameness under the drive, he was along in time to beat Hourless half a length for the place, but he was a good two lengths back of Campfire.

Tumbler and Hard Cash were both beaten off and they will have to prove themselves all over before they will be taken seriously again.

H. C. Hallenbeck's The Finn, the black son of Ogden and Livonia, was an easy winner of the mile and a furlong of the Champlain Handicap. Two and a half lengths back of him August Belmont's Stromboli beat home Harry Payne Whitney's Pennant by a neck and five lengths back of him Emil Herz's imported Short Grass was last.

The field was sent away at the first try. Notter let Pennant step to the front and once he was out there he took hold of him and had him under a stiff pull before the backstretch was reached. Stromboli was racing second, on the outside under stiff restraint, while The Finn, down on the rail, was right there with Short Grass only a couple of lengths away. It was possible for him to be so close because Pennant had only gone to the first furlong pole in :13, and took :25 2-5 to reach the quarter.

All through the backstretch Pennant went along with his mouth wide open from the restraint under which Notter kept him, while McTaggart on Stromboli could not be coaxed to go out with him and Schuttinger was content to rate The Finn on the rail. This dodging of pace permitted old Short Grass to move up until he was right at the heels of the other, while with any sort of pace he would have been lengths out of the running.

Going to the far turn, Schuttinger moved up with The Finn on the rail, and as he made his move, McTaggart went up on the outside with Stromboli. As they drew closer, Notter let out a link on Pennant and he held his lead still in hand. Short Grass, by this time, was circling around on the outside in a manner that suggested victory.

Then going to the stretch turn McTaggart shook up Stromboli and he drew up on Pennant, while Short Grass on the outside was hanging just when he was expected to come on. Schuttinger was quick to see an opening on the inner rail, and he shot The Finn into it right at the corner. At the furlong pole Notter had to go to the whip on Pennant, and McTaggart was riding Stromboli hard, with the Belmont gelding responding gamely to the call. But The Finn, with his pull in the weights and the fact that he had cut the corner into the stretch, gave him an advantage and after a short battle he came away, and at the end had plenty left to win by two and a half lengths. Stromboli proved to have more left than Pennant, and he was second by a neck, with Short Grass five lengths further away.

MEETING OF HORSEMEN.

SARATOGA, N. Y., August 14.—While the Horsemen's Association discussed at some length the selling race rule and plans for its betterment at the meeting held in the United States Hotel last night, no conclusion was definitely reached.

The expressions were numerous and varied and in the end the discussion was resolved into two questions. One was a preference for the rule now in vogue in Canada, which permits the winner to be claimed (not bid up in front of the stand) for its entered selling price plus an amount equal to the winner's portion of the purse by any person. The other was on a preference for this rule modified to permit only persons having horses in the race to claim the winner.

William Garth had suggested the adoption of a modification of the French rule permitting a horse to be claimed for his entered selling price, plus the added money to a purse at any time after the closing of entries to scratch time next day, such a claim to operate as a withdrawal and to permit any horse to be claimed after the race under the same terms, but it was not favored.

E. R. Bradley offered a suggestion that all run-up money be divided as follows: One half to be given, 70 per cent to the second horse, 30 per cent to the third horse and 10 per cent to the fourth horse. If the winner is sold the other half to revert to the person in whose name the horse ran. If the winner is bought in that half to be divided among the selling races the following day, the owner so selling his horse not to be permitted to repurchase it at private sale under 90 days. This did not meet with the favor of more than half a dozen, but it seems as if it were not fully understood.

At the conclusion of this meeting the Board of Directors and committeemen met and determined to recommend that the Jockey Club and the Kentucky State Racing Commission and all other turf-governing bodies in this country give a thorough trial to the Canadian rule under both preferences, that confining claim to owners of horses in the race and that not restricting the personnel of the bidders.

President Headley appointed Messrs. William Garth, R. F. Carman and Emil Herz to present this recommendation to the Jockey Club and New York and Maryland tracks, and Messrs. Headley, Hancock and McDowell will make recommendation to the Kentucky State Racing Commission.

The association was put on record as being "opposed to confliction of racing dates in any city of any state, territory or province on this continent."

ALL SMILES WINS FERRY HANDICAP.

DETROIT, MICH., August 16.—E. T. Zollicoffer's consistent performer All Smiles, accounted for today's feature at Windsor, when he beat the Whitney crack Borrow in handy fashion in the Detroit and Windsor Ferry Handicap. This race is a dash of a mile and a sixteenth. It carried with it a purse of $3,000. Four starters went to the post. Borrow was a heavy favorite. He flattered his backers by going to the front at the start and leading for seven furlongs.

In the stretch All Smiles moved up with a rush and, easily disposing of opposition, drew away into a commanding lead in the final furlong.

The opening of the final meeting of the present season of the Windsor Jockey Club drew out an immense gathering. The attendance was up to the standard established at the previous meeting.

NOTICE TO CONSIGNORS.

The catalog for the sale at Lexington, Sept. 12 and 13, will go to press in the next few days. It is, therefore, imperative that all entries for this event be in our hands without delay. We urge upon all who have engaged space in this catalog, and others who expect to sell in this sale, to send in their data immediately.

DODGE BEATS SPUR HOME.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 15.—J. S. Ward's Dodge, winner of the American and Latonia Derbies in the West, made his first Saratoga appearance in the running of the Saranac Handicap, and in a well-run race he took the measure of James Butler's Spur over the mile distance. August Belmont's Tea Caddy was third.

There were nine started, the only withdrawal being Celandria, and it was about as smart a field of three-year-olds as has been brought together this season. Spur was required to take up 127 pounds, giving Dodge two pounds, while the others scaled down to 103 pounds, the weight carried by Emil Herz's Daddy's Choice.

The start was a good one, but Spur, after breaking well enough, almost at once dropped back badly, and all through the early stages he was outrun. Kathleen was the one to go out in the pace, and Tea Caddy chased right after her, while Delancey, the other Belmont starter, was showing the way to Dodge, which was down on the inner rail and galloping very strongly. Jacoba and Indian Chant at this time both had Spur headed, and this took him many lengths from the leaders.

Going to the far turn Delancey began to weaken slightly, and, as he did, Dodge went into third place, while Tea Caddy was right with Kathleen, and they were showing the way to the Ward colt by a length and a half. At that stage of the running he was in something of a pocket, but it worked no hardship, for he had plenty of room to stride freely.

By this time Loftus had roused Spur and he was working his way up, but it was necessary for him to go to the outside to find clear racing room, and it was a course that cost him a deal of ground. At that stage of the running it was very evident that he would be fighting it out with the winner, if not, indeed, the winner himself.

At the head of the stretch Kathleen was beginning to tire of her pacemaking and Tea Caddy was showing in front of her. Connelly went to the whip on the filly, but it was no use. She was through and was dropping back beaten. Then it was that Murphy swung out a trifle with Dodge. He had been rating him along on the rail. Once clear the colt quickly went to the Belmont colt, and after a short fight put him away, when he came on handily. But in the meantime Spur had circled around, and he was racing in a manner that was alarming to the admirers of the Western colt. He came on straight and true right to the end, but Dodge was good enough to beat him a length, while he had beaten Tea Caddy a like distance.

Incidentally the Saranac did not cost the Saratoga Association anything. It was a guaranteed stake of $2,000, and it just ran $75 over that amount in nomination and starting fees.

THE LEADING STALLIONS IN ENGLAND.

A change in the leadership where the sires are concerned has to be notified. Polymelus has been steadily gaining on the stationary Radium for some time, and, thanks to the victory of Phalaris on Saturday, Mr. Sol Joel's horse assumes first place. Others to advance are William the Third and Orby.

"THE RENAISSANCE OF THE THOROUGHBRED IN AMERICA."

A visit to Mr. Camden's stud near Versailles was arranged for the first Sunday I spent in the Blue Grass region. To reach it we had to motor through Lexington, and then twenty miles or so along the road to the old city of Frankfort, the capital of the State. Mr. Camden, though still something of an invalid, was able to accompany us round his barns and paddocks. This farm, which covers 1,600 acres, adjoins the Woodburn estate belonging to the Alexander family, and where the stallions Lexington and imp. Australian were quartered for many years. Mr. Camden has for eighteen years had in his employ a colored man named Henry Overton, who, when a boy, weighing 65 lbs., was sold as a slave to Mr. R. A. Alexander, of Woodburn. Henry, as everybody calls him, was at once drafted into the stables and taught to ride. He remained at Woodburn forty-three years—until he went over to Mr. Camden. All who know Henry have the greatest respect for him. He has charge of Mr. Camden's bloodstock, and takes a very keen interest in his duties and responsibilities. Having learned that he had charge of Lexington for several years, I plied him with some questions about that famous horse. It is generally stated that he stood 15.3, but Henry thinks he was nearer 16 hands. He had tremendous lung power, and it was said that when he was out at exercise his neigh could be heard five miles away. When at the stud, and afflicted with blindness, he was always good tempered, though a man had to ride him because no boy was strong enough to control him. Even the men who used to ride him had sooner or later to suffer the indignity of being unsaddled. Lexington would never rest satisfied until he had demonstrated that he could unseat them. Henry is inclined to think that the horses of fifty years ago were better tempered than those of the present day, though he maintains that, with very rare exceptions, stallions can be mastered by persistent kindness. He has had a few notoriously vicious animals to handle in his time, but by setting to work to convince them that he was their friend he has quickly brought them to an amenable frame of mind. With regard to Australian, Henry said he was a great sire, and a grand horse. Mr, Robert Alexander on one occassion refused $20,000 for him. Foxhall was bred at Woodburn, and here is the story of the way in which he came to be bought by the late Mr. James R. Keene. A Mr. Bathgates, who was Mr. Keene's buying agent, went to Woodburn in 1879 to see Mr. Alexander's yearlings. After looking them over he remarked that they were a very nice lot. While he was returning to Lexington he met Henry Overton. After Mr. Bathgates had explained that he had seen the yearlings, Henry said to him: "There is one colt in that lot that is worth 300 acres of blue grass." Impressed by Henry's confidence, Mr. Bathgates returned with him to Woodburn and had another look at the yearling referred to. "I saw him make a memorandum of what I had told him," said Henry, "and he must afterwards have handed it to Mr. Keene. Anyway, Mr. Bathgates having died before the sale of our yearlings, Colonel Sanders Bruce, who came in his place, asked me if I remembered the conversation about the colt, and did I adhere to what I had said. I told him I was still convinced that the colt was a wonder. 'And what is more,' I continued, 'you will probably be able to buy him for $600 or less, because he is by a horse who has never got a winner and out of a mare who could not win a race herself, and this is her first foal.' If I remember rightly, Colonel Bruce bought the colt for $650. And that was Foxhall, by King Alfonso out of Jamaica, who, as a three-year-old, won the Grand Prix de Paris, the Cesarewitch, the Cambridgeshire, and other races."

Versailles is in Woodford County. Somebody once said that "the Blue Grass region is the garden of the world, and Woodford County the asparagus bed of the garden." Without endorsing that fanciful hyperbole, I can truthfully say it is a very charming district. Mr. Camden's estate not only has beauty to boast of; it comprises some most excellent land. The mares, foals and yearlings were all in very good fettle. This autumn the group of mares will be enlarged by the arrival from England of Double Dark, by Dark Ronald out of Dark Agnes, half-sister to Pommern's dam. She has a colt foal by Matchmaker and has been mated with Lemberg. Baronne, by Melton out of Baroness la Fleche, was bought for Mr. Camden at the last December Sales. She reached Versailles quite safely, but a few days afterwards died very suddenly. This was a great loss, because mares of that line are not easily found. Mr. Camden has two stallions, one the veteran Ben Brush, now 23 years old; the other, Peter Quince, an eleven-year-old son of Commando. Ben Brush carried his years well and is still in active service. He is by Bramble, by imp. Bonnie Scotland, who was a son of Queen Mary. Ben Brush won the Kentucky Derby and many other races, and is the sire of Delhi and Broomstick, to mention only two of a long list of successful progeny. In Ben Brush, Broomstick, Whisk Broom and yearlings and foals I saw five generations of this highly successful family. Peter Quince, a good looking chestnut horse, is getting useful stock. Next season there will be a notable addition to the sires at Mr. Camden's stud. By the time this Review is in the hands of its readers the British Bloodstock Agency will have completed the purchase from Lord Derby of Light Brigade (1910), by Picton out of Bridge of Sighs, by Isinglass out of Santa Brigida, the dam of Bridge of Canny. The sale was provisionally arranged some months ago. Light Brigade is a horse of such excellence, no matter from what point of view he is regarded, that he can scarcely fail to be very successful at the stud in America. Certain it is that many English breeders will regret to learn the horse is about to be exported. In sundry ways Mr. Camden is displaying his keen desire to further the welfare of the American thoroughbred. There is no Kentuckian more respected than he, and the turf is safe enough so long as men of his standing and attainments come forward to support and superintend it. For the moment, the chief concern of his many friends is to see Mr. Camden fully restored to health and vigour. Fortunately this is merely a matter of care and time.

"Beaumont" was the next farm I visited. This is where Mr. Price Headley has his stud. I had already come to know Mr. Headley by meeting him each day at the races. He is one of the younger men who are helping to "carry on," but he is not afraid to assume big responsibilities. This stud of his is a large establishment, at which no fewer than five stallions are located. That Mr. Headley stands well with the members of the racing and breeding community is evidenced by the fact that he is the President of the recently-formed Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association, an organization whose aim it will be to safeguard the interests and promote the welfare of all engaged in the propagation of bloodstock. It was my privilege to attend, as a guest, the first annual dinner of the Association, held at the Phoenix Hotel, Lexington, on May 6th. We had witty Judge Charles Kerr in the chair, and were favored with speeches by Governor Stanley, General W. B. Haldeman, of Louisville (a member of the State Racing Commission), Adjutant-General J. Tandy Ellis, and Mr. Shouse, a member of Congress. To my utter astonishment and discomfiture, I was called upon to make a contribution to the proceedings. Otherwise it was a highly successful gathering. It was good to hear the leading men in the State pay handsome, and obviously heartfelt, tributes to the great service horse breeders were rendering to the nation, and to have their assurance that in Kentucky, at any rate, legislation of a hampering character need not be feared. It was announced that several Maryland sportsmen had become members of the new Association. This is as it should be, for it was Maryland alone that helped Kentucky to keep racing going in the dark days that followed the suppression of the sport in New York and other States.

There are 900 acres of paddocks at Beaumont Farm, and 450 more on another farm not far away. Mr. Headley has, therefore, ample accommodation for his congregation of thoroughbreds. Circumstances conspired to make my visit a very short one, and I was merely able to inspect the stallions and a few of the yearling colts, some of which have since been sold privately to Mr. Macomber, the owner of Star Hawk. The stallions at Beaumont, which is two miles out of Lexington, on the Harrodsburg road, are Uncle, by imp. Star Shoot; Cock of the Walk, by imp. Peep O'Day; Buckhorn, by Broomstick; Jack Atkin, by imp. Sain; and Ivan the Terrible, by imp. Pirate of Penzance, a son of Prince Charlie. The pride of the stud is Uncle, a magnificent chestnut horse, with four white socks. He stands just under 15.3, shows great masculine character, has a fine head and neck, and a wonderful hind leg. Bred by Mr. Madden, he was sold as a two-year-old to Mr. Sam Hildreth for £6,000, and was afterwards owned by the late Mr. Kohler, who had him at the stud in France at the time of his death. Asked how the horse was kept in the splendid condition in which I saw him, Mr. Headley replied: "In addition to walking exercise, he is daily cantered twice and galloped twice round a half-mile track in one of our paddocks." The yearlings by Uncle are the first of his get since he returned from France. I brought away with me a vivid mental picture of a superb chestnut colt by Uncle out of Planutess, who was one of the few yearling I had time to see. In Kentucky breeding circles Uncle is regarded as a tower of strength, and easily commands a fee of £100—a very big one in America.

Another day we took a run out to the well-appointed Nursery Stud, owned by Mr. August Belmont. This is where Rock Sand stood when he was in America, where Tracery and Norman III., and the many other horses that have carried Mr. Belmont's colors in England, were bred. For the time being the President of the New York Jockey Club, whom I met at Belmont Park, is turning his attention more closely to American racing. The way in which he and Mr. Whitney are assisting the revival of the sport in the States is greatly appreciated.

The most notable of the younger stallions at the Nursery Stud is Fair Play, by Hastings out of Fairy Gold (by Bend Or), the dam of Golden Measure. A chestnut with a white blaze, he is a remarkably fine individual, revealing a lot of character. The oldest of his stock, among whom are several good winners, are now five years of age. During his first two or three seasons he was given comparatively few mares, but this year he had thirty, and in the near future is pretty sure to take a prominent place in the winning sires' list. Last season he finished tenth from the top with winners of 51 races worth £9,000. I also saw old Hastings himself, looking wonderfully vigorous despite the twenty-four years that have passed over his head. A queer tempered animal, who requires very careful handling, I found him to be a nicely-balanced dark bay horse of medium size. His career as a sire has been a very successful one, but the best of him has been seen. This season only five mares have been mated with him, and last year was a blank one. However, as was shown in the last number of the Review, he has well played his part in maintaining the Melbourne line in America. Trap Rock, a dark chestuut, own brother to Tracery, was also on view. He was a smart performer on the turf. His conformation is somewhat unbalanced by an unduly long back. There were five two-year-old winners by him last season. Curiously enough, half an hour after I had left the Nursery Stud, I saw Hawthorn, by Hastings, win the first race of the day at Lexington, and an hour or so later, Trappoid, a three-year-old filly, by Trap Rock, was also returned a winner. Vulcain, winner of the Prix Gladiateur in France, a big, powerfully-made brown horse; and Watervale, a massive son of Watercress, are also located at Mr. Belmont's stud. There, too, is Danger Rock, the son of Rock Sand and Delusion, who broke down so badly when competing for the Zetland Plate at Newmarket last July. I saw him in a paddock still "favoring" the injured fore leg. He made a start as a sire this year, when he was mated with 18 mares. There are 46 mares at the Nursery Stud, and Mr. Belmont has 30 more in France. We caught sight of some of the yearlings in a paddock near the road as we motored by, but lack of time prevented a close inspection. It had, however, been very agreeable to pay even so hurried a visit to a farm with whose name one had long been familiar.

I now come to the Idle Hour Stud, where, at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bradley, I stayed a night. Here, too, I met Mr. Hammon, who trains Mr. Bradley's horses. Mr. Hammon spent a month in England last autumn, and during that time bought several brood mares and racehorses for his principal. Having assisted him in these purchases, I was naturally interested in seeing how they had fared since their arrival in America. I am glad to be able to report that they have all done well. Two of the mares were bought from Mr. Leopold de Rothschild. They are Presanella, by Cyllene out of Ayah, by Ayrshire, covered by St. Amant; and Macaroon, by Marco out of Rosalia, by St. Frusquin, covered by Buckwheat.

Both now have really good filly foals at foot. Presanella's youngster, well made, and bubbling over with vitality, is particularly promising. Badoura, another of the imported mares, had the misfortune to lose her foal, and Acutissima, a Forfarshire mare, who seemed sure in foal to Matchmaker when she left England, proved barren. Among the horses in training, a two-year-old filly by Dark Ronald and a colt by Desmond, bought at Newmarket, are both shaping very well, and Mr. Bradley is thoroughly satisfied with the way in which his English-bred stock is progressing. It may well be that the fillies out of Presanella and Macaroon will more than recover the whole outlay when the time comes for them to perform on the track.

Mr. Bradley's colors are "white, green hoops and cap." These are reproduced at the stud, because all the posts, rails and gates which surround the paddocks are painted white or whitewashed. The farm, which covers an area of 350 acres, all but 20 acres being under grass, is a self-contained and in every respect a well-appointed establishment. Its perfection has entailed a lavish expenditure, but both Mr. Bradley and his lady find in it their happiest relaxation. Mrs. Bradley is every whit as enthusiastic about the stud as her husband, and takes an active part in furthering its interests.

There are four stallions at the Idle Hour Stud—Cunard, Helmet, Beachcomber and Black Toney. Of these, Cunard is, perhaps, the best known, but there are strong indications that Helmet is destined to become the most prominent. The latter is a handsome dark brown horse by Disguise (son of Domino) out of St. Mildred, by St. Simon out of a Scottish Chief mare. Mr. Bradley gave £1,400 for him at the Keene sale in 1911. Helmet was then three years old. The previous season he had won the Hopeful and Champagne Stakes, and had also the credit of having been placed third to Maskette and Sir Martin in the Futurity. For his new owner he raced two seasons, during which he was initiated into his duties as a sire. In his first three seasons as a stallion he was mated with eight mares. From these six foals were obtained, and they are all winners! Needless to say, Helmet is now getting the chance he deserves, and we may expect to hear great things of him in the years that are to come. In a sense he is still in training, for he is jogged and galloped four miles every day on Mr. Bradley's private training track. During the season he and the other stallions are turned into paddocks in the afternoon, and after the season they spend the entire day out of doors. It is rational treatment, and it is to be hoped that breeders in this country will adopt the American practice, which seems generally to be very successful in preserving the health and good tempers of stallions.

Cunard, by Coldfinch, is a full brother to Star Hawk's dam. He was a good performer on the turf and has sired a host of winners who have for several successive seasons placed him among the twenty leading stallions in America. Beachcomber is a very big horse by Rock Sand out of Fairy Slipper, by St. Serf, and he shows a good deal of St. Serf character. Black Toney is a good-looking son of Peter Pan. Only five years old, he will, when he has fully developed, make a fine picture of a sire. He broke down when in training after showing useful form. Mr. Bradley has ten yearlings—five colts and five fillies. Among the former is a colt by Radium out of Badoura, and the fillies include a sharp one by Mauvezin from Macaroon, and a very promising bay by Helmet out of the dam of Jack Atkin. One of the best of Mr. Bradley's brood mares is Love-not, who ran third in the Futurity, after bolting for half a mile before the race started. Even then she looked like winning until close home. Her owner had a big bet on her that day. There is now at her side a beautiful colt foal by Helmet, which already looks a racehorse. From what I saw at the Idle Hour Farm it was borne in upon me that, successful as the establishment has been already, there are much greater results coming in the near future. In the last ten years Mr. Bradley has been carefully laying a good foundation, and now that he is sure of his ground he can proceed confidently. If a Futurity and a Kentucky Derby winner do not come from these splendid paddocks before very long I shall be much surprised.

Mr. Price McKinney was entertaining a big party of friends when we arrived at the Kingston Stud one fine noon. We were perilously near sitting down thirteen at lunch. Mr. Daingerfield made the discovery just in time and the catastrophe was avoided. What with doing justice to refreshing mint juleps—it was a broiling day—and the careful examination of stallions and yearlings, the pre-luncheon hour was a busy one. Situated on the Russell Cave Pike, within easy distance of Lexington, the Kingston Farm was formerly the property of Mr. Ferguson, who owned St. George and other horses. He was for a time in partnership as a breeder with his son-in-law, Mr. Phil Chinn, who, when in England two years ago, bought for Mr. Jefferson Livingston the Your Majesty colt, Royal II., whom he trained to win last year's Latonia Derby. Mr. Ferguson sold the estate to Mr. R. L. Baker, and it was then leased by Mr. Clarence Mackay, who continued there until he moved his stud to France. About that time the late Major Daingerfield, who had managed for Mr. James R. Keene the famous Castleton Stud, which is only a few miles away, was in want of a farm, and he took over the Kingston Stud shortly before his lamented death. It is one of my greatest regrets that I never met Major Daingerfield, for he was a man who had a profound knowledge of all matters pertaining to the history, breeding and rearing of bloodstock. He did much to shape the American thoroughbred as we know it in modern days, thanks to the resources placed at his command by his brother-in-law, Mr. Keene. It will be remembered that these two worthies died in January, 1913, within a couple of days of each other. Since then the Kingston Stud has been under the very capable management of Miss Elizabeth Daingerfield, who inherited from her father those great natural gifts which are so essential to a proper understanding of the thoroughbred. I esteemed it an honor to make her acquaintance. The Kingston Stud embraces two adjoining farms, one of 500, the other of 300 acres. The bloodstock to be seen in the paddocks all belonging to Mr. McKinney, who is a very virile and genial personality. A man who has amassed a big fortune in mining enterprises, he finds it necessary, to a full enjoyment of life, to retain his hold on business affairs. And so he now has two hobbies—his business and his stud. His home is in Cleveland, Ohio. It is only within the last two or three years that he has participated in the pleasure of breeding and racing thoroughbreds, but he has already acquired a prominent position in this sphere of endeavor, and it is as certain as anything can be that before very long his name will be a household word in American Turf circles. There are now at the Kingston Stud twenty-six yearlings and twenty-seven foals. The brood mares number fifty-six, and I saw five stallions, viz, Ultimus, Colin, Delhi, Hippodrome and Disguise. Their names make it unnecessary to state that Mr. McKinney was a big buyer at the sale at which the Keene Stud was dispersed.

Colin, I am pleased to say, is looking very well and doing splendidly. This is the third season he has had since he returned from England. I noticed that he had filled out considerably since the days when he was located at Newmarket. Disguise, now twenty-one years old, is still flourishing. His reputation as a sire is due chiefly to the excellence of many of his daughters, one of whom is the Futurity winner, Maskette. Delhi was a winner of over £23,000. He was foaled fourteen years ago, and is by Ben Brush. In every way he is a first-rate individual. By Commando out of Dominoes, Hippodrome, it is claimed, has more Glencoe blood in his veins than any other living horse in America. Ultimus is also by Commando. He and Hippodrome are both incestuously inbred to Domino, for they are by his son out of two of his daughters. This was a very daring experiment. It has generally been supposed that while inbreeding in this way may produce a brilliant racehorse, it is unlikely to yield a successful sire. For more than a hundred years there has been no stallion of note bred like Ultimus and Hippodrome. There is, however, proverbially no rule without an exception, and it certainly looks as though Ultimus, at any rate, is one. How he would have turned out as a racing proposition can only be a matter of conjecture, because he broke down when a two-year-old, and never set foot on a racecourse. Neither, by the way, did Hippodrome. But, as a sire, Ultimus has already acquired considerable fame, and he is only ten years old. In Luke McLuke he claims one son of exceptional merit, and there is every reason to believe that in Harry Kelly, the Lexington Futurity winner, he has another. During the greater part of this year Ultimus has been a hospital patient, suffering from a clot of blood in the vein of one of his legs. When I saw him he was on the mend, but was naturally lacking in condition through enforced inactivity. In Miss Daingerfield's opinion there is no stallion in America with more brilliant prospects than those possessed by Ultimus, and for her sake alone I hope the son of Commando and Running Stream will make a speedy and complete recovery. What with Colin, Ultimus and Hippodrome, the Kingston Stud has a large and important share of the Commando blood, the virtues of which are already apparent.

Hamburg Place, on the Lexington-Winchester road, is, I suppose, the largest stud in America. It is Mr. John E. Madden's. When Mr. Hancock and I called there we were once more pressed for time owing to a multiplicity of engagements, and so it came to pass that we had to content ourselves with an inspection of the stallions. How much I missed will be understood when I state that the farm covers 2,300 acres of grass on which there are 150 brood mares and a due proportion of yearlings and foals. I also missed the pleasure of meeting Mr. Madden, for he was away in New York. This gentleman occupies a unique position. He is a great trader, buying and selling on a big scale. Scarcely a week passes in which he does not make some important deal or other, because horses bred at Hamburg Place have a deservedly high reputation. It is a stud to which buyers can go knowing they will have a wide range of choice and get good value for their money. There is a large amount of capital invested in the farm and stock, and any slackening of the effort to uphold the prestige of the establishment would quickly place the whole concern in jeopardy. All who know Mr. Madden are, however, prepared to grant him a first-class certificate for his industry, perspicacity and cleverness in every way. His knowledge of breeding matters is as sound as it is wide; his method of applying that knowledge is never haphazard. English readers will, perhaps, be the more interested in this reference to Hamburg Place when I remind them that it was there Sir Martin was bred and reared, the son of Ogden and Lady Sterling being sold by Mr. Madden to Mr. Winans.

Ogden was one of the half dozen stallions I saw at this stud. There was a reference to him in the last number of the Review, in the "More About Melbourne" article, so that I need not say more than that this son of Kilwarlin, who went to the States as a foal, has been a consistently good sire from the days he began his career at the Bitter Root Stud when he was the property of the late Mr. Marcus Daly. He is now twenty-two years old. Standing only 15.2, he looks nearly as broad as he is high, for he has an enormous barrel and very wide quarters. Year after year he occupies a prominent position in the sires' list. I saw a son of his, The Finn, win the Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park two days before I sailed for Liverpool. It may interest some to know that both Ogden and his son, Sir Martin, were, as two-year-olds, the leading winners of their seasons.

In an adjoining box was poor old Star Shoot, who has been blind for several years. There is no need to dwell on his record as a stallion for it is writ large over the modern history of the American Turf. Despite his infirmity, he looks very fit. Ormondale, by Ormonde, is pretty much the stamp of horse I imagined him to be. We saw several yearlings by him sold at Newmarket a few years ago while he was still in California, and they always gave one the impression that their sire must be a big, robust fellow. And so he is. Hessian, by Watercress, is another big horse. Petaud, by Darley Dale, and Sea King, by Persimmon out of Sea Air, are also at Hamburg Place. Although one would have liked him better were he a bay instead of a chestnut, Sea King has a very impressive appearance. He is three-parts brother to Pietermaritzburg, who was such a wonderful success at the stud in Argentina. Owned by Mr. Thomas F. Ryan, he has until this season been stationed in Virginia, where he begat several useful winners. As he is only eleven years old we are likely to hear a good deal more of him, because Mr. Madden will see to it that he is not starved of opportunities.

At Hamburg Place I saw the biggest barns I came across during my travels. One of these structures is an enormous affair. Sea King's box is at one end of it. Here, too, are scores of magnificent game cocks. Had time permitted us to explore further we should, no doubt, have seen much more that would have made an abiding impression. If ever I pay a second visit to Kentucky, I shall certainly hope to see more of Hamburg Place than it was possible to do on the recent occasion.

The meeting at Oriental Park in Cuba will begin Dec. 7 and continue to March 18.

LOCAL NOTES.

The Lexington fall meeting of ten days' racing, which begins this year on Wednesday, Sept. 6, and concludes on Saturday, Sept. 16, will undoubtedly rank as the greatest fall season of sport ever held at Lexington. It will be a most worthy follower of the very successful spring meeting. The officials of the coming fall meeting will be:—J. N. Camden, President; O. H. Chenault, Vice-President; G. D. Wilson, Secretary and Treasurer; T. J. Clay and G. D. Wilson, Stewards; W. H. Shelley, Racing Secretary; H. Morrissey, Starter; S. K. Hughes, Timer; J. S. Wallace, Entry Clerk and Assistant Secretary; W. H. Laudeman, Supervisor Pari-Mutuels; James P. Ross, Track Superintendant; Dr. C. Cann, Paddock Judge, and J. T. Ireland, Patrol Judge.

The horses in training, the property of the Estate of the late Wood Clay, will be sold by the Kentucky Sales Co. at Tattersalls on the evening of Tuesday, Sept. 12. This dispersal marks the closing chapter of a most succussful racing establishment and will be much regretted by followers and friends of the familiar colors, "Blue, orange sash and cap," which have been borne to victory by such stellar celebrities as the stake winners Roamer, Ocean Bound, Running Water, Buckhorn, Content, Outcome, Lady Errant, and other well-known performers. The horses to be sold are as follows:

Triad (a winner), ch f, 3, by imp. Star Shoot—Thirty-third (dam of Buckhorn), by Sir Dixon.

Chestnut colt, 2, by Ballot—Marie Francis (dam of Magnet and Magneto), by Sir Dixon.

Chestnut gelding, 2, by Magneto—Orange and Blue (half-sister to Sallie McClelland, Bonnie Blue), by imp. Bridgewater.

The well-known and successful breeders J. D. Carr and Thos. Piatt in keeping with their annual custom have listed with the Kentucky Sales Co. fourteen high-class yearlings to be sold on the evening of Tuesday, Sept. 12, at Tattersalls. These yearlings are individually good, and come mostly from producing dams, their sires being such horses as Transvaal, Jack Atkin, Helmet, Toddington, Duke of Ormonde, Sir John Johnson, Plaudit, Bearcatcher and Master Robert. Scarcely a year passes that Messrs. Carr & Piatt do not send out something of high quality to the races, the $12,000 two-year-old of 1916 Frigerio and the crack three-year-old Marion Goosby, having been bred by Mr. Carr and Mr. Piatt familiarized himself with turfmen some years back as the breeder of the very fast horse Donau, a Kentucky Derby winner.

* * *

W. J. Young arrived at the Kentucky Association course Tuesday morning from Saratoga with eleven horses, including Bulse, Leo Ray, The Grader, Water Witch, Midway, Rosewood, Nettie Walcutt and Waterford.

The first-named three are on the shelf and probably will not be raced again this season. Bulse and Leo Ray are receiving treatment for bowed tendons and The Grader is developing a ringbone.

* * *

* * *

The yearlings purchased at the sale Saturday at Saratoga by John W. Schorr, J. C. Milam, Gallaher Bros. and Thomas Piatt, numbering sixteen, arrived in Lexington Monday. All with the exception of those purchased by Mr. Piatt, which were sent to his farm, went to the Kentucky Association track.

J. O. Keene has concluded arrangements to go to Russia and assume management and train the extensive racing establishment owned by Countess Eugenie Lazereff, of Petrograd. The establishment comprises eighty horses, and Keene will have sole charge of the entire band. Eddie Dugan will be the stable jockey. Keene is now conferring with his brother, G. H. Keene, as to the disposition of the horses they have in training, and concerning the eleven yearlings now at Keeneland Farm. In all probability they will decide to dispose of the horses during the Belmont Park meeting. Keeneland Stud will be kept intact, and during J. O. Keene's absence will be looked after by G. H. Keene. Mr. Keene's contract is a lucrative one.

The extension of the grandstand at the Kentucky Association course, authorized at a recent meeting of the board of directors, cannot be made in time for the fall meeting because of the contractor's inability to get the necessary steel girders until after September 16, the last day of the meeting, which is to open September 6. So the building will be deferred until Spring.

Other improvements, however, have been made and are being made so that the historic battle ground for so many of America's foremost racers will afford greater comfort for the old organization's numerous patrons. The depression on the lawn at the left of the stand and in front of the pari-mutuel pavilion, which precluded any save a very tall person from seeing more than the mere passing of the racers through a wee section of the stretch, has been filled and leveled to a degree that now will permit a person of small stature to see the race from start to finish. It has been bricked and drained.

The pari-mutuel offices, heretofore cramped, have been enlarged and an increased number of cashiers will be engaged to afford the public more comfort and less waiting when getting their tickets cashed. The track from the finishing line to the three-quarter post, around the first turn, has been resurfaced and raised about six inches. This will enable the horses to get around the turn with greater speed and safety. A bed of beautiful flowers has been arranged in the infield in front of the stand. The roads and lawns are now being put in tip-top shape. The fences are being whitewashed.

"It may sound a bit stereotyped for me to say that the prospects are excellent for ten days of the greatest racing ever seen here," said Superintendent James P. Ross, "but it is a fact. Not so very long ago any horseman would have given us the laugh had we said the day would come when Lexington could offer ten days of racing in the fall with no purse less than $500 and a daily addition of $4,000 to the purses, but that's exactly what the Kentucky Association is doing and the horses are going to flock here to run for it."

According to John W. Schorr, Harry Kelly will not be raced again this season unless to make one start at Latonia this fall. The entire string owned by Mr. Schorr will be shipped direct from Saratoga to Lexington next Sunday, and they will be raced here. The yearlings that Schorr purchased at the recent sales have been shipped to J. S. Hawkins, who will break them and give them their early lessons.

Following the success of Dodge, Franklin, Berlin and Sedan there will undoubtedly be a great demand for the services of Jim Gaffney, b h, 11, by Golden Garter—Miss Maxim.

* * *

J. B. Respess has purchased of Albert Simons the bay or roan horse Purdey, 4, by Fowling Piece (a son of Carbine and Galinne by Galopin) out of Lady Hamburg II., by Hamburg. Purdey was raced in England by H. P. Whitney. Mr. Respess will retire him to the stud.

Starkey is the name of a large and rangy two-year-old colt, a dark chestnut liberally marked with white, that arrived in New York on the Manchuria this week. He is by Sunstar out of Merry Margot, by Uncle Mac. This colt is consigned to Phil T. Chinn, but it is assumed that he will be added to the Kentucky Stable, like other of Mr. Chinn's importations. He is a good looking colt.

For H. T. Oxnard the Manchuria brought over the five-year-old bay mare Arlette, by Robert le Diable out of Quintessence, by St. Frusquin, and she has a fine bay colt at foot by Catmint.

For A. B. Hancock she brought the nine-year-old bay mare Silent Queen, by Forfarshire out of Sillabub by St. Serf. She has a thrifty looking bay foal colt at foot by Santry.

The Manchuria brought for I. H. Wheatcroft the two-year-old chestnut colt Joyland, by Fairman out of Wavey Belle by Wavelet's Pride.

The three-year-olds Dodge, Franklin and Norvic and the five-year-old Solar Star will be sold at public auction today by the Powers-Hunter Company to dissolve the partnership of Weber & Ward. As the owners have received several alluring offers for Dodge, it is possible that that racer may be sold privately.

Mose Goldblatt wired Superintendent James P. Ross that he will be here from Windsor with twenty-two horses.

A man that has had experience as a stud groom in this country and Europe is advertising for a position in this issue of THE RECORD. If you are in need of a good man, address A. B. C., care THE RECORD.

* * *

R. H. Anderson, Tea's Over Stud, has sold to John Whitlow the yearling brown colt, full brother to Tom Jr., by Dick Finnell—Octavo.

* * *

R. L. Baker has decided to divide his stable. Jack Baker will race some in Kentucky and the others will be raced in Canada in charge of Edward W. Moore.

* * *

John E. Madden, who sells many a good one and then very often buys a good one, made an important purchase when he obtained Nebraska, the two-year-old son of Ballot and Star of the West, from Thomas Hitchcock.

This colt proved his quality recently when he was winner over Harry Payne Whitney's Vivid, a half-brother to Regret and Thunderer. In this race Nebraska came along through the stretch in a manner to suggest that he will develop into a first-class stayer.

There was just a bit of sentiment in the purchase, aside from the idea that he was a good buy, for Madden sold Ballot to the Haggin estate and he was owner of Star of the West, having sold that brood mare to Mr. Hitchcock.

* * *

The filly Katenka, bought out of a selling stake a few days ago for $2,500 by E. A. Burke, has been resold to her former owner, J. O. Keene, for $2,000. The filly has been lame from osselets, so Burke concluded she wasn't a bargain at the price he paid for her.

* * *

J. B. Respess has sold to W. A. Burtschell the bay gelding Christie, 4, by Star Shoot—Chulita, and the bay filly Fruit Cake, 2, by Dick Welles—Parisienne.

* * *

* * *

Catalogs of yearling sales to be held by the Kentucky Sales Co. in this city on the evenings of September 12-13 will be ready for distribution Saturday, September 2, and will be mailed on request.

* * *

From Windsor—J. W. Fuller, A. Baker, J. H. Baker, Keystone Stable, William Martin, Howard Oots and William Perkins.

From Saratoga—J. W. Schorr, J. S. Ward, E. R. Bradley, William Hurley, William Wallace, H. Fink, H. Perkins and H. H. Hewitt.

From Louisville—C. C. Van Meter, Kay Spence, W. J. Weber and W. F. Schulte.

From Chicago—F. Bulse.

* * *

Jessop Bros. want a good jockey to ride at three fairs in Nebraska. They will pay railroad fare, etc. Write or call at THE RECORD office for particulars.

* * *

Fred G. Good has disposed of his interest to R. P. Marshall in the horses that raced at Windsor in the name of the Keystone Stable.

* * *

W. L. Lewis has three very promising yearling fillies in his string out of mares well known to the racing public. They are: Brown filly (sister to John Gund) by Peep O'Day—My Gyps; bay filly by Peep O'Day—Crystal Maid and brown filly by Ormondale—Silk Maid.

* * *

From the present outlook it seems more than likely that fully 600 horses will winter at the two Louisville courses, going into winter quarters at Churchill Downs and Douglas Park for the cold season when the Latonia meeting ends the latter part of the coming October. At any rate there will be more horses wintered at the Louisville tracks in 1916-17 than ever before occupied quarters at the courses there during the cold months of the year.

* * *

M. Goldblatt has received instructions from Jefferson Livingston to reserve eight more stalls at Lexington. Goldblatt has arranged to ship the fourteen racers in his charge. Mr. Livingston has arranged to send a string to Cuba this winter. He will rent a cottage near Marianao and plans to spend most of the winter months there this year.

MORE ENGLISH HORSES ARRIVE.

NEW YORK, August 23.—The Atlantic liner Minnehaha brought over thirty-seven English thoroughbreds on her latest voyage to New York, it was learned today, and taken altogether, they constituted a good looking lot. Seventeen of them were yearlings which A. K. Macomber had bought from the prominent English breeder, J. B. Joel, while a majority of the others was made up a rather nice looking lot of broodmares consigned to Grant Hugh Browne, but as invariably has happened with that gentleman's importations, nobody was at the pier to identify and receive them.

The most important feature of the consignment consisted of the Macomber yearlings. They were as follows:

Brown colt, by Sunstar—All Green, by Greenlawn.
Brown colt, by Sunstar—Bright Cherry, by Ayrshire.
Brown colt, by Sunstar—Marian Hood, by Martagon.
Bay colt, by Sir Goeffrey—Helium, by Sundridge.
Chestnut filly, by Sunflower II.—School-Book, by Wisdom.
Chestnut colt, by Sunder—Sweet Finch, by Goldfinch.
Bay colt, by Sir Geoffrey—Sunshine Girl, by Sundridge.
Bay filly, by Sunstar—St. Olive, by St. Simon.
Bay filly, by Sunstar—Sweet Lassie, by Orme.
Bay colt, by Polymelus—Dreamy, by Persimmon.
Bay colt, by Sunstar—Cannie Lassie, by Ayrshire.
Bay filly, by Sunstar—Waterweed, by Watercress.
Bay filly, by Sunflower II.—Our Girl, by Worcester.
Bay filly, by Sunstar—Eugenia, by Royal Hampton.
Bay colt, by Sunflower II.—Sun Glass, by Isinglass.
Bay colt, by Sunflower II.—Lady Portland, by Bill of Portland.
Brown colt, by Sunstar—Verne, by Bill of Portland.

Sunstar is a son of Sundridge; Sir Geoffrey is by St. Angelo, and Sunder and Sunflower II. are by Sundridge.

As the list shows, these yearlings are fashionably bred, and any one looking them over cannot but be impressed with the idea that they are a highly finished and shapely lot. Some of them might be judged light of bone below the knee by American critics, but all of them are well turned and they have the conformation which often goes with extreme speed.

"Hotspur," the English turf writer, is enthusiastic in praise of these yearlings. He says:

"Having had an opportunity of seeing them, I may note, without qualification of any sort, that an extraordinarily fine lot are leaving us, and that the entry into America of these horses, and the strains of blood they represent, must immensely benefit the breeders generally of that country. Naturally some seem to be better than others. Those which particularly impressed me were the Sunstar—All Green, the Sunflower II.—School-Book, the Sunder—Sweet Finch, the Sunstar—St. Olive, the Sunstar—Cannie Lassie and the Sunstar—Verne.

"The All Green colt is a half-brother to Grassland, which was a nice winning two-year-old last season and then went to South Africa. The School-Book filly is very racing-like indeed, with not quite the big proportions of the general run of Sunflower's progeny. A strong, powerful colt is the chestnut by Sunder—Sweet Finch. There are great possibilities before him and he will specially interest Mr. Macomber, for the reason that he is a half-brother to Star Hawk. I have seen both as yearlings and I prefer this one by Sunder."

All the thoroughbreds which came over on the Minnehaha have shipped wonderfully well. The broodmares which came over are looking well without a single exception, and the foals which some of them have at foot appear to be more than ordinary promising.

Capt. Edward B. Cassatt has decided to sell out his horses in training and temporarily retire from the turf, though he has no intention of severing his connection with the thoroughbred, and he will continue to breed at the Chesterbrook Farm, while he may be seen back in racing before very long. He already has sold Sun God to Herman Brandt and the two-year-old Dirigible to Tom Ward. Others that are on the market are Trial by Jury, Buckboard, the two-year-old brother to Springboard; Spearhead, and the two-year-old Odds and Ends and County Court. Flying Fairy will be retained, and at the end of the season will be retired to Chesterbrook to join the other matrons there.

J. W. Hedrick has sold the platers Ninety Simplex and Doc Meals to C. K. Markham of Providence, R. I.

RACING REVIVED AT SACRAMENTO.

RENO, NEV., August 21.—The last day of the matinee racing that was held here on Saturday, came to a close on August 12. There will be no more held until the autumn meeting, which opens on September 19, and runs for twenty-five days, closing on October 17. During the meeting manager Schas has decided to distribute eleven stakes and handicaps, each with a value of $500, the list of which will be published later.

The California State Fair will see the thoroughbred in action again. The fair will be held at Sacramento from September 2 to 9, with a revival of thoroughbred racing after a lapse of five years. The return of the sport is mainly due to the untiring efforts of the following gentlemen: George W. Wingfield, who is at present the largest breeder of thoroughbreds in the far west; John H. Rossetter, one of the mainstays of the New Golden Gate Thoroughbred Breeders Association; Charles W. Clark, president of the latter association; and Ward E. Hall, a prominent business man of Sacramento. These men are all breeders and impressed the importance of the running horse upon the board of directors and Sacramento will probably have the greatest racing, patrons of the fair have seen, since the attempt to kill the sport five years ago. There will be three running races each day during the seven days and $5,000 will be given to the horsemen.

The following stables will leave here to participate in this renewal of racing: George W. Wingfield will send seven head; Chas. W. Clark, five; John Lowe, five; Wallhauser Bros., five; George Van Gorden, seven; F. Rinehart, six; J. H. Rossetter, three; George Billerman, three; T. Hatfield, four; G. W. Crippen, two; J. M. Henry, Sr., two, and numerous others will also attend. It is expected that quite a number of horses that are in various parts of California will take an active part, probably making a total of over one hundred thoroughbreds to race.

Several purchases have been made during the recent meeting for shipment to Honolulu. Among the buyers were John O'Rourke, formerly of San Francisco. He bought Fair Mary, Lahontan Water and Mary Jay. The other two that were sold were Furlong and Florence Roberts. They were secured by H. M. Ayres, who is the publisher of Town Topics, a weekly review in the islands, and is also the sporting editor of the Honolulu Daily Advertiser. In an interview with Mr. Ayers he stated that racing in its small way is in a flourishing condition there.

They have only twelve days of racing during the year and they are held on holidays. They run from ten to twelve races on these days, including flat racing and steeplechasing. At present there are about 100 thoroughbreds over there. The races are conducted under the auspices of the Hawaiian Polo and Jockey Club. S. S. Paxon is the starter and uses the recall flag system.

Two American riders have signed contracts and went over with the shipment. H. Donvitz and Patsy Phillips are going to try their fortunes against the Kanaka riders. Phillips was considered a fair rider in this country a few years ago.

ULTIMATUM WINS THE ADIRONDACK HANDICAP.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Samuel Ross took down another of the two-year-old fixtures when his good Ultimus colt Ultimatum, was winner of the Adirondack Handicap over August Belmont's Woodtrap and the Oneck Stable's Tragedy. The only others in the field were the Wickliffe Stable's Basil and George J. Long's Hemlock, an added starter.

This race was run in a driving rain and the track was sloppy and slippery. In fact, the downpour was such that no effort was made to catch the fractional time.

Roscoe Troxler was much awake at the barrier, and when he beat the gate he went a long way in helping Ultimatum to victory. He rushed the chestnut out into a good lead, and, then rating him aloug, there, never left the result in doubt. At the end he was still clear of Woodtrap and had something in reserve.

Woodtrap lost little time in going into second place and he never had to surrender that position, though he could never come close enough seriously to threaten the Ross colt.

Tragedy had beaten Woodtrap away, but she did not seem to relish the going and was soon passed by Woodtrap though she had absolutely no trouble in holding Basil and Hemlock perfectly safe.

ELIGIBLES TO THIS YEAR'S FUTURITY.

NEW YORK, August 22.—Nominations remaining eligible for the Futurity, one of the most important races on the American turf, have been announced by officials of the Westchester Racing Association. This rich race will be run at Belmont Park on Saturday, September 2.

The Futurity has been by far the richest stake to be raced for in recent years. It is estimated that the gross value will be nearly $25,000. The entries include nearly all of the best two-year-olds which have been racing around the metropolitan circuit this year, and also a number which have not been seen under colors.

The conditions of the race call for two-year-olds, by subscription of $20 each, or only $10 if the money is sent with the entry, for mares covered in 1913, and a further subscription of $50 each for the produce of such mares unless struck out by November, 1, 1915, or $100 unless struck out by July 15, 1916. Each starter to pay $250 additional, all of which shall go to the second and third horses. The association adds $5,000, of which $1,750 goes to the breeders of the first three horses. The nominators of the winner and the second and third horses—namely, the nominators of the mares—will receive $1,000, $500 and $250 of the added money, respectively, whether they are the owners of the horses when the race takes place or not.

The race is to be over the three-quarter straight course. Last year it was won by Harry Payne Whitney's Thunderer. There were sixteen starters, and the value was $16,590.

The eligibles follow:

Inverbelle, Deer Trap, Top o' the Wave, Believe Me Boys, Little Pat, Lively, Petrograd, Cachet, Philippic, Mirza, Catherine Coolidge, Admiration, Buford, Avis, Jason, Pleasant Dreams, Home Sweet Home, Election Interpose--Carta Blanca colt, Interpose -Bertie Buck: lo filly, Interpose—Guadalupe filly, Lady S., I'll Do, Wild Coon, Posing Dale, Miss Ted, Smart Money, Stargazer, Seminole King, Fell Swoop, Star Master, Starlike, Ticket, America, James F. Cummins, Manhattan, Riverdale, Tragedy, Artemis, The Knocker, Virginia James, Three Leg, Burlingame, Three Cheers, Sunburst—Lightning Flash colt, Achilles, Frank Coleman, Defense, Starfinch, Tumbler, Vivid, Hard Cash, Bonnie Witch, Rickety, Bellringer, Baksheesh, Hwfa, Master McGrath, Vague, Assume, Diverson, Mida, Firing Line, Campfire, Woodtrap, Bally, Ivory Black, Kebo, Mary Powell, Yellow Sally, Maderia Burlesque, Skeptic, Star Maid, Old Eyleres.

SPUR PROVES HIS QUALITY.

SARATOGA, N. Y., August 22.—James Butler's Spur, the three-year-old son of King James and Auntie Mum, proved his quality in the mile and the sixteenth of the Huron Handicap when under the crushing burden of 130 pounds he gave J. S. Ward's Franklin, which war in receipt of twenty-one pounds, a very thorough beating. August Belmont's Tea Caddy, the only other starter, was a badly beaten last.

Tea Caddy was the one to go out in the pace and when he only set a furlong in twelve seconds pace Loftus permitted Spur to rate along behind him. Before the horses had gone a quarter Franklin was already many lengths out of the running.

Through the backstretch Tea Caddy was still well to the good, but Loftus was in no hurry with Spur, and he was going along steadily behind him, while Murphy was beginning to hunch Franklin along to keep him within hailing distance.

Swinging out of the backstretch Spur began to close on Tea Caddy and before the stretch was reached he had raced around him and was showing the way. Franklin was right at the heels of the Belmont colt and he too came around before he reached the straight run through the stretch. Once headed for home, Murphy sat down on Franklin and rode him hard in an effort to catch Spur, but it was no use. The son of King James was striding along well within himself and Loftus had really not called on him. At the end Franklin had reached within two lengths of the Butler colt, but he was done to a turn to be that close, while the final run took him two lengths out before Tea Caddy.

The race was one of the most impressive of the many good performances of Mr. Butler's colt and left no doubt of his high quality.

MATING THE THOROUGHBRED WITH THE TROTTER.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 21.—While August Belmont, The Jockey Club's Chairman, is an ardent admirer of the thoroughbred he is willing to give credit to other families and to none more so than the standard-bred. He has on more than one occasion in public praised the trotter and in his opinion the blending of these types will produce the ideal general purpose horse.

The best results have been obtained by using the thoroughbred sire as a top cross but Mr. Belmont has demonstrated that the thoroughbred dam will produce a trotter of class when mated with a standard bred sire that has the trotting instinct highly developed. Only three three-year-olds by trotting sires and out of thoroughbred dams have as yet appeared and it is significant that Mr. Belmont should have bred one of them in the colt Proof of the Pudding 2:28 3-4 by Peter the Great 2:07 1-4.

"It was something I said in praise of the trotter at the Sportsmans Dinner in New York some years ago," said The Jockey Club's head, "that is responsible for Proof of the Pudding. I like the trotting horse for his many excellent qualities and said so on this occasion speaking of what had been done by using the thoroughbred sire on mares of the trotting type I told them that most of our best hunters and saddlers were bred that way and ventured the opinion that the trotter owed much of his excellence to the presence of more or less warm blood in all of the successful families, especially those from the Palo Alto Stud of the late Senator Stanford of California where champions had come from mating Electioneer with thoroughbred mares notably in the case of Dame Winnie by Planet which produced Palo Alto 2:08 3-4 and Esther by Express which threw the great three-year-old Expressive 2:12 3 4; the greatest campaigner of her age the trotting turf has ever known.

"After the dinner," continued Mr. Belmont, "Mr. W. E. D. Stokes offered me a service for one of my thoroughbred mares to his great trotting stallion Peter the Great 2:07 1-4. I selected Souveraine by Rayon d'Or out of Sultana by Lexington as a fitting mate for the son of Happy Medium. She has thrown a good race horse Gallant and is the dam of the filly Serenes now racing here. The produce of this union was a bay colt which I named Proof of the Pudding. You see I was confident that he could make good my contention. When he was old enough to be trained he was sent to Tommy Murphy at Poughkeepsie, who gave him a record of 2:28 3-4 before going on the Grand Circuit a few weeks ago. Murphy says he could have driven him much faster. It is my intention to breed this colt to an Electioneer mare I own and have already selected a name for the produce, whether it be colt or filly—Proof Positive.

"If the Federal Covernment wants to achieve definite success in its breeding experiments," went on Mr. Belmont, "they can't go wrong if they breed the thoroughbred horse to good trotting mares. The army horse must have stamina. This the trotter already possesses in a superlative degree, and it wouldn't have to be bred into him, as would be the case in almost any other type of mare. Generations of racing has developed great lung power in the trotter and the muscular fibre has been improved in proportion."

John E. Madden, who is a breeder of both thoroughbreds and trotters, thinks Mr. Belmont owns the best yearling trotter in the country in the youngster by Siliko, 2:08 3-5—record made in Europe—out of a mare by Cresceus, 2:02 1-4, the one time American champion and an Electioneer dam. In talking about Mr. Belmont's trotting ventures a few mornings ago, Mr. Madden, who is a great student of pedigrees, said:

"When you think that Senator Stanford bred very many thoroughbred mares to trotting sires and Mr. Belmont bred only one, you must hand it to The Jockey Club Chairman. He has done what he said he would accomplish at the first time of trying. I find that only three three-year-olds out of thoroughbred dams have beaten 2:30. These are Expressive, 2:12 3-4, whose dam was Esther by Express, Annabel, 2:27, by Dawn, out of Pacheco by Hubbard, a son of Planet and Proof of the Pudding, 2:28 3-4, by Peter the Great, 2:07 1-4. How many persons know that five trotters by thoroughbred sires have beaten 2:30? They are Colonel Lane, Gypsy Girl, Lucille, Rigolette and Scotland, while Venture, an absolutely thoroughbred horse, has a record of 2:27 1-4 made in California as long ago as 1877. He was by Williamson's Belmont, dam Miss Mostyn by American Boy, Jr., and the next dam Fanny Mostyn by Medoc."

Mr. Madden has, after two years of hard work, compiled a very valuable book, copies of which will be presented to a few friends. It is called "Pedigrees of Horses Not Well Known That Appear in the Pedigree of Present Day Trotters," and it shows a world of painstaking research on the part of the author.

"A BREEDING PUZZLE."

It is rather curious that so good and well-bred a mare as Donnetta, should have produced only very moderate performers to such successful sires as Ayrshire, St. Frusquin and Cicero, while to Orby, which on his dam's side strains back to unknown sources, she should in turn have thrown Diadumenos and Diadem. Diadumenos was a good winner indeed, among his victorious races being the Kempton Jubilee and the Liverpool Autumn Cup, while Diadem is entitled fo rank as the best filly of the season, and for all we know might be better than Mr. Hulton's excellent colt Knutsford. Donnetta himself is a bay, and it will not have escaped notice that both Diadumenos and Diadem follow their sire in being chestnuts. That, of course, may mean nothing, but the probability exists that Lord D'Abernon's good brood mare, with her wealth of running blood, may have been just suited by the outside strains in Orby's pedigree. She herself is a No. (2) mare, and her maternal grandsire, Wenlock, represents No (4), while her maternal grandam, Traviata, was by another member of the No. (2) line in Cremorne. I notice, by the way, that Donnetta's now yearling, Dionysos, has been entered for the Derby of 1918. This is a chestnut colt by Llangibby, which means inbreeding to Wenlock, which is the maternal grandsire of Lllangibby and as also the maternal grandsire of Donnetta. This augurs well for the future of the yearling, for the blending of Isonomy and Wenlock blood produced not only a winner of the Eclipse Stakes in Lllangibby, but also before him a greater horse in Isinglass.—[Vigilant in London Sportsman.

CRANK WINS ALABANY HANDICAP.

SARATOGA, Aug. 21.—Crank was winner of the Albany Handicap rather handily from August Belmont's Deer Trap, while Gifford A. Cochran's Queen of the Water, an added starter, was third.

There were seven went to the post, Woodtrap being added to the Deer Trap company, while Ultimatum, the stablemate to Crank, was withdrawn. The other starters were Berlin, Yellowstone and Basil.

The start was a good one and Crank and Deer Trap quickly drew out from the others. The Belmont colt was on the rail and Crank was racing closely lapped on him. Tommy McTaggart, evidently fearing he would be shut off in his position, was driving Deer Trap to try to come through in the lead, but it was of no avail. Crank held him in there and was going along with something in reserve.

Leaving the backstretch Troxler permitted Crank to step away from the Belmont colt and the race was as good as over right there. He went into a long lead before the stretch was reached, and when he swung for home he was going strongly. Deer Trap was under a drive and he was responding with gameness, but was not cutting down the lead of the Ross gelding. Then just inside the furlong pole Troxler struck him once with the whip to keep him at his task and he came on home with plenty to spare.

Deer Trap was easily second, and then Queen of the Water landed in third place because she slipped through on the rail at the head of the stretch.

After the finish McTaggart lodged a claim of foul against Troxler, charging the latter had fouled him in the backstretch while riding close on the rail. After hearing him, however, and obtaining the report of Patrol Judge McLaughlin, the stewards could find no reason for disturbing the order of the finish.

John Sanford won half of the day's card, but two of these victories were costly affairs. All told he lost $4,200 in run-up money. Bac was boosted from $1,500 to $3,500 by Harry Fink, but this plater was bought in. Then when St. Isidore won the fifth Fink carried him from $800 to $3,000, but was unable to buy. These two run-ups were the largest registered in any one day on the New York tracks this season.

SALE OF KENTUCKY-BRED YEARLINGS.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, August 19.—Forty-six yearlings, the property of several Kentucky breeders, brought an excellent average of $1,100 when sold in the paddock this afternoon by the Powers-Hunter Company. The entire lot brought a total of $50,625, a figure which proved most pleasing to the various breeders represented and a strong indication of the upward rise in the thoroughbred market.

The star of the sale proved to be a bay or brown son of Peep O'Day and Crazyquilt, which was knocked down to H. K. Knapp for $3,500. This is the first thoroughbred sent to the market by this mare. Mr. Knapp also purchased another promising racing prospect when he obtained a daughter of McGee and Claudia for $2,100. This miss is a half-sister to Prince of Como.

Schuyler Parsons purchased a half-brother to Startling, by Plaudit—Country Fraud, for $2,900, and he also paid $2,700 for the Sweep—Josie Cohan filly and $2,500 for the Peep O'Day—Prairie Belle colt.

SEAGRAM ONE, TWO IN DOUBLE EVENT.

WINDSOR, Aug. 19.—The two-year-old section of the Windsor Double Event was the stake feature of today's racing, and, though it came down to only six starters, of which three carried the colors of Mr. Seagram, it produced a thrilling race. The lightweight of the Waterloo entry, Gala Dress, was the winner by a neck in the last stride, from her stable-companion, Galley Head, with the Brookdale filly, Minnetonka, next.

The last named had been the pacemaker throughout, and was not beaten until just at the finish. The race was worth $1,850 to the first horse, and Mr. Seagram took down also a silver plate and $300 for the second.

Christie's good performance in the Walkerville Handicap, after his failure a few days ago, led to an inquiry from owner and trainer Respess.

F. T. Shortell, who lost Kootenay in a claiming race the other day, replaced him today with Typhoon, which won the second race for J. Lumsden of Ottawa. Open to claim at $600, Typhoon had just 21 claimants, the record number, and Shortell won in the draw.

At today's meeting of the Canadian Racing Associations the suspension of Jockey Ambrose was fixed to terminate at the end of the Windsor meeting. The application of S. A. Clopton for full reinstatement and a trainer's license was laid over until the next meeting, to be held at Montreal.

Wm. Stormont was the successful claimant for Birka after his win yesterday.

WINDSOR'S TWO NEW RACE TRACKS.

It was learned in response to inquiries at the Provincial Treasurer's Department that the operations of the new Kenilworth race course near Windsor, promoted by Messrs. A. M. Orpen, Charles Miller and other Toronto associates, would be conducted under the charter of the Northern Riding and Driving Association, an organization said to be in corporate existence for several years, the charter having been held by Mr. R. R. Gamey, M. P. P., though it has never been operated to the extent of holding a race meeting.

Nothing is known at the department of the alleged intention to establish a third track at Windsor, though Montreal papers say that this will be done by Charlie Henshall and other American promoters who already control the Mount Royal track, near Montreal. What reception would be given an application for a license for a third track was not stated, it being considered time to cross the bridge when it was reached—[Francis Nelson in Toronto Globe.

HOURLESS WINS THE GRAND UNION STAKES.

SARATOGA, August 19.—August Belmont's Hourless was winner of the six furlongs of the Grand Union Hotel Stakes for two-year-olds, and his was a most impressive performance when he carried 125 pounds to victory in 1:12 3-5. His score was an easy one, and in a driving finish Harry Payne Whitney's Rickety just nosed out the Brighton Stable's Tom McTaggart for the place. Hourless was bred by Mr. Belmont at his French stud.

The start was a good one. Rickety and Tom McTaggart jumped to the front, with Rickety down on the rail, but the pair were so closely lapped he readily held his rail position. Hourless was soon in third place and, going to the turn, he was right at the heels of Rickety. Then when the first two swung out far enough Johnny McTaggart shot Hourless through on the inside, and once he had him out in front the race was as good as over.

Going to the stretch turn Rickety seemed well beaten as he dropped back, while Tom McTaggart went on after Hourless. Then making the turn for home Rickety came again under Notter's urging, and before the furlong pole was reached he had caught Tom McTaggart. In the meantime Hourless was clear and was going along strongly to win going away by two and a half lengths.

The other two fought it out right to the end, and in the very last stride Rickety was second by a nose. Tom McTaggart had beaten Nashville, who was fourth, by five lengths, and back of him came Mida, Omar Khayyam and Achilles.

The race run by Omar Khayyam was one of the disappointments of the day. He had worked exceedingly well and many shrewd horsemen had expected him to be the winner. He had no speed at any stage of the journey.

*HOURLESS, Br c, 2. Negofol (Childwick: St. Simon / Plaisanterie; Nebrouze: Hoche / Nebuleuse) — Hour Glass II. (*Rock Sand: Sainfoin / Roquebrune; *Hautesse: Archidic / Hauteur). *Imported.

H. C. Hallenbeck's The Finn, winner of the Champlain Handicap just a week ago, came back and was winner of the Merchants and Citizens Handicap, the mile and three-sixteenths feature of the card. Ed Crump, racing for the first time under the silks of A. K. Macomber, was the one to race to the place, while Andrew Miller's Roamer beat August Belmont's Stromboli for the short end of the purse. The only other starter was Captain Edward B. Cassatt's Flying Fairy.

The start was a good one and Ed Crump at once jumped to the front, but he soon gave way to Roamer and the Miller gelding had a good lead going around the first turn, while Butwell had him under a nice steadying pull. Ed Crump was racing second and for a time Flying Fairy was showing the way to Stromboli, but she went wide and did not last long in that position. The Finn was the one to bring up the rear, but he was well within striking distance and galloping very strongly.

Going into the back stretch Johnny McTaggart rushed Stromboli up after Roamer and he forced the Miller gelding to better his pace. Ed Crump in the meantime had been eased back slightly. Flying Fairy was dropping out of all contention while The Finn was going up on the outside and improving his position with every stride.

Leaving the back stretch The Finn continued to close on the first two and Stromboli was by that time lapped on Roamer, but the son of Knight Errant was still showing the way and Butwell had him under a slight restraint.

Before the stretch was reached Roamer was doing his level best and Stromboli was right with him, while The Finn was drawing up on the outside with a rush that would not be denied. Shortly after swinging for home he came on by and in the run home it was easy for him to draw away and win by three lengths.

The battle of Roamer and Stromboli to keep step with the Hallenbeck colt used them up so badly that in the last furlong Ed Crump, coming on again, beat the pair of them, taking the place handily, while Roamer beat Stromboli home. Flying Fairy was so badly beaten that she was pulled up in the stretch.

A. K. Macomber, the most notable turf recruit of the year, won his first race when Star Master scored in a gallop over a big field of good maidens in the five-furlong dash that was the sixth offering. The immense throng could not have applauded more sincerely or demonstratively had some popular idol just scored in America's richest event. The demonstration was all for A. K. Macomber, who has expended a king's fortune in getting together an extensive racing establishment.

BRIGHTON STABLE SELLS OUT.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 24.—The sale of the Brighton Stable by the Powers-Hunter Company at Saratoga this morning attracted a big gathering. Twenty of the racers from that establishment sold for a total of $40,300, an average of $2,015.

Tom McTaggart was the star of the lot and went to W. S. Kilmer on his bid of $12,500. The seven steeplechasers from Harry La Montaigne's stable also realized well, Distant Shore bringing $4,000. There was spirited bidding on most of the offerings. The sale in detail follows; Yellowstone, Clyles Sawrey, $2,700; Mae Murray, Joseph Marrone, $1,400; Ed Garrison, C. Sawrey, $1,700; Whitney Bell, R. F. Carman, $1,500; Woodward, C. G. Winfrey, $3,600; Stony Brook, Joseph Marrone, $100; Priscilla, Robert A. Smith, $2,000; Marse Henry, Clyles Sawrey, $2,100; Sprint, b f, by Rock Sand—Sprite, A. B. Hancock, $3,500; Tom Mc Taggart, W. S. Kilmer, $12,500; Water Dame, Joseph Marrone, $400; Tomlinson, W. V. Kimball Patterson, who has taken a lively interest in the proposed changes to the selling race rules, has made the following suggestion for a change:

"Winner to be sold at auction. The run-up money to go to the second horse until it reaches the amount of the first money (no entrance money considered). If it exceeds the second money, the third horse to receive the second horse's share of the purse and the fourth to receive the third money.

"All horses liable to be claimed, except the winner, for the entered selling price, plus the first money (entrance money not to be considered) by any one having a starter in the race.

"Any surplus of run-up other than what is given the second horse, is to go to the next open handicap that is closing, or to be added to another selling race. In the event of such a run-up on the last two days of the meeting this surplus will be carried over to the next meeting of the said association and disposed of through handicaps or selling races as above stated."

C. J. Fitzgerald has been appointed judge of the special class for the best yearlings as sired by Breeding Bureau stallions to be exhibited at the Syracuse State fair, Sept. 1. This prize is $500 and is for the best yearling as sired by Breeding Bureau stallions, which were exhibited at argricultural fairs or horse shows in 1915 and were awarded first, second or third prizes. There are twenty-one yearlings by the Breeding Bureau stallions entered and the class should prove an attractive one.

James F. Johnson, owner of the Quincy Stable, has presented to the breeding bureau of the Jockey Club the three-year-old bay colt Tattletale. By Ogden and out of Love Note, his breeding is of the best, and as he is a horse of fine conformation, he should, if crossed properly, sire nothing but good loooking and robust bodied youngsters.

The three-year-old bay gelding Burchon, by Hamburg, out of the great race mare Eugenia Burch, owned by W. P. Reed, had to be destroyed at the Harthill sanitarium for horses in Louisville, last Saturday.

Grant Hugh Browne and Jefferson Livingston's recent purchases at the Newmarket sales have arrived in America. THE RECORD published a full summary of these sales.

BLUE THISTLE WINS AMSTERDAM STAKES.

SARATOGA, N. Y., August 24.—The Amsterdam Stakes at one mile, carrying a guaranteed value of $1 500 featured a somewhat ordinary card this afternoon at Saratoga. It was won by H. C. Hallenbeck's Blue Thistle in handy manner with Sir William Johnson leading the other three starters. The winner was in for $1,500 and Harry Fink advanced his entered price to $2,505 at which figure he was retained.

Fink also paid his respects to Price McKinney's Passing Fancy after she won the opening race. She was in for $1,800 and bid to $2,505 and retained. The filly was much the best in the race as she was practically left at the post. Blue Thistle and Passing Fancy were the only successful choices to score during the afternoon.

In the steeplechase Otto Floto managed to lead for nearly the entire trip and won from Ormead and Racebrook. The last-named pair were favored ones and both fenced badly. After trying for two years Longfellow finally managed to score his American victory when he finished in front of an ordinary band starting in the last race.

W. S. Kilmer, who has been an extensive buyer of horses at fancy prices, finally managed to win a purse when Hussy led her field in the fifth race. It also marked the first winner Henry McDaniel had saddled for his new employer. Track conditions were exactly to Hauberk's liking and he landed the All-Age Handicap cleverly and in downing Kent, spoiled for Jack McGinnis a gigantic coup, Kens having been backed from 30 to 1 to 7 to 1.

DEVONSHIRE PARK DENIED A LICENSE.

WINDSOR, ONT., August 24.—Windsor men interested in Devonshire Park, the third track for this city and which is under construction, were notified at noon today that a license authorizing their proposed race meeting here in September will not be granted. The work of construction was halted upon the receipt of the message.

The mile-and-a-half Grand Prize of Berlin, value £5,000 gross, was run on Sunday, July 9th, and resulted in the victory of the Graditz Stud's four-year-old Aschluss, which beat nine opponents. The winner, whose sister Adresse, recently won the German Oaks, is by the French-bred Nuage out of Antwort, by Ard Patrick out of Alveole, a mare by Crafton out of Ste. Alvere, that was exported to Germany in 1894. Anschluss is a close relation to last year's German Derby winner, Ariel, which was by Ard Patrick from Ibidem, the latter's dam, Bayreuth, being by The Bard out of Alveole.

The American trainer, McCreery, saddled three winners at Berlin-Gruenewald on July 16 for Freiherr, S. A. Von Oppenheim, Archibald, the American jockey, steered two of them, the four-year-old Masher (by William the Third out of Masha) and his two-year-old half-sister Maja (by Caius out of Masha). The third winner, Invicta (by Hannibal), which won the chief race of the day, the Kincsem Rennen (1½ miles; 650 sovs.) was ridden by Wodke, Archibald being on her stable companion, Ariel, which was second.

Francis J. Pons received a request from the Powers-Hunter Company for a price on his entire band of Tony Bonero yearlings. The latter's two-year-olds have done especially well this year. M. Goldblatt has arranged to go to Mr. Pons' farm next week to look the youngsters for Jefferson Livingston, and R. P. Marshall will also send an agent there to examine them.

The three American jockeys who are now riding in Germany finished first, second and third at Hoppegarten out of sixteen starters, where the Logierhaus Handicap was recently run off. Archibald won the race on Herr Haniel's four-year-old Polymelus filly Cresta, Sumter was second on Pares and Korb third on Hercules.

Four two-year-olds owned by B. F. Guthrie, the Shelbyville, Ky., turfman, have arrived at Louisville in charge of Trainer Joe Rogers and are now quartered at the Douglas Park track. They are: Sister Riley, Old Man Crit, James G. and Coraline.

The Southern Railway has issued a very complete booklet containing 31 pages of descriptive matter with illustrations, including maps, etc., regarding places for summer camps in the United States forests in North Carolina.

Copies of this booklet and information with regard to round trip fares, etc., will be gladly furnished on application to B. H. Todd, D. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

BIG RACING STRINGS FOR LOUISVILLE.

LOUISVILLE, KY., August 22.—The nineteen horses in the stable of Kay Spence, now quartered at the Douglas Park track, which are being fitted for the racing on the Kentucky circuit tracks this autumn, are all doing nicely in their preparation and fifteen of the number are at present of a racing age.

Spence has only four yearlings under his care. One is a chestnut filly by Cunard, out of Redlight, by Tammany, while the balance are by Ivan the Terrible, and are as follows:

Chestnut colt out of Miss Crawford, by Tenny.
Bay colt out of Skeptical, by Himyar.

The older horses in the string are Hodge, Red Cloud, Egmont, Joe Blair, Money Maker, Commauretta, Blarney, High Gear, Lady Worthington, Waremore, Margaret D., Hocnir, Carrie Orme and Miladi Ann.

Seven of the number Spence will ship to Lexington about September 4 to race at the coming meeting there, which begins on Wednesday, September 6, and continues until Saturday, September 16, this meeting marking the opening of the autumn season of sport in Kentucky.

Hodge is going along nicely in his slow work, but will do no racing to amount to anything until the close of the Douglas Park meeting. Spence has entered him in the Falls City Handicap, the feature race of the opening day of the Downs meeting. He will endeavor to fit him for this six furlong event and then race him at intervals with the hope of getting him ready to run in the Latonia Cup, the big race of the autumn season of sport at that track. On account of Hodge going wrong last spring and being so long out of training, Spence only entered him in the Latonia Cup of the long-distance races on the big tracks this fall, as he figured at best he could only hope for him to fill an engagement in a race at this distance by the last of October. Last season Hodge won the Louisville Cup, two miles, at Douglas Park, and ran second in the St. Leger, two and one-fourth miles, at Churchill Downs. Had he not gone wrong last spring he would have been a factor in all of these long-distance races again this autumn. Spence has faith that he will stand training with proper care this fall and run many good races before he goes into winter quarters after October is ended.

All of the horses owned by A. K. Macomber, embracing the racing string of this turfman, which is in charge of Trainer Walter Jennings, will be shipped to the Downs track at the close of the present Saratoga meetting, and what racing the big string does this fall will be on the tracks at Douglas Park, Churchill Downs and Latonia. The Macomber horses will winter here this year and Trainer Jennings has engaged two big stables at the Downs track in which to quarter this big aggregation, not only during the Kentucky fall meeting, but throughout the coming winter. The California turfman has made liberal entries in all the stakes here this autumn.

All of the horses owned by J. Livingston will also be in Kentucky this autumn. Louis Tauber will keep at Douglas Park the twenty head owned by this turfman, which he now has in his charge, while the string H. R. Brandt has at Saratoga, which belong to Livingston, will be shipped to Lexington in the next two weeks. The bulk of the Livingston stable, now more than forty horses strong, will also winter here in the quarters Trainer Tauber has at present selected for the string.

The last of the studs I went to while in the Blue Grass region was that known as Keeneland, which is on the Versailles road, six or seven miles from Lexington. There I received a hearty greeting from Mr. Jack Keene, whom I had already come to regard as a friend, even though I believe he was responsible for my being called upon to speak at the Horsemen's Dinner. It is only recently that Mr. Keene has launched out as a breeder of thoroughbreds, but for many years he trained them with conspicuous success. For some time he was private trainer to M. Lazareff, in Russia, where he almost got tired of winning, like a certain English owner in days long gone by. Had he so desired, Mr. Keene could have returned to Muscovy to train for M. Mantascheff, but for the time being he is quite content to remain at home. The land which the Keenes own hereabouts has been in possession of the family for several generations. It was given to the first of the tribe as a reward for services rendered to the commonwealth during the revolutionary wars. The house is of historic interest, for General Lafayette stayed there on one occasion, and the tree is pointed out under which he addressed a gathering of local patriots. The great-great grandfather of Mr. Keene was one of the directors of the Lexington racecourse when it was instituted.

The "feature" of the Keeneland Stud is the stallion Luke McLuke. This good and handsome brown horse is by Ultimus out of imp. Midge, by Trenton from Sandfly, by Isonomy out of Sandiway. His racing life was a short one, but he made the most of his opportunities. When he won the Kentucky Handicap of £2,000, he covered ten furlongs in the fastest time ever recorded on a Western track. He was also successful in other good races, and one way and another did sufficient to earn a place among the champions. He is a horse of commanding size, and with a conformation it is practically impossible to fault. His constitution is all that could be desired, and he is given the character of being sensible. Mr. Keene owns him in partnership with Mr. J. W. Schorr. This was Luke McLuke's first season at the stud. Breeders rushed to secure nominations at £40. Thirty-five mares were booked and forty were turned away. I asked Mr. Keene to procure me a photograph of his horse and it reached me shortly after I returned to London. Several pictures promised in other quarters have not yet come to hand and so the "gallery" presented in these pages is not quite as complete as was intended.

We will now, if you please move on to Louisville, with Mr. and Mrs. Hancock alternately at the steering wheel of our car during the spin of a hundred miles or so through a delightfully diversified country. I believe I have omitted to say anything about the road surfaces in Kentucky. Well, they are the envy of Virginians, and often really first-rate. They would probably be beyond reproach if a harder "metal" than limestone were procurable locally. But anyhow, I want to pay a tribute to the authorities who obviously strive to keep the roads in good order, hoping that they will be encouraged to improve on what they have already accomplished.

There was a great gathering at Louisville for the Kentucky Derby, run the opening day of the meeting at Churchill Downs, which is on the outskirts of the City. The course presented a remarkable spectacle when the scene was fully set for the Derby. Stands and enclosures were crowded to the very corners. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed. The story of the big race is told elsewhere in this number and I will only say here that but for stumbling at the start, and taking in consequence a long time to get thoroughly balanced, the English horse, Star Hawk (bought last autumn from Mr. J. J. Joel by Mr. A. K. Macomber), would in all probability have won instead of enduring defeat by a neck. Racing began that afternoon at half-past two. The fifth race on the card—the Derby—started at 5:15. The seventh and last race was decided at 6:40, by which time "the shades of night were falling fast." The American public who support racing get tremendous value for their money.

The following day, Sunday, I travelled on to Pittsburgh, a journey of fifteen hours. A visit to the little town of Meadville, in the north-west corner of Pennsylvania, followed, and then came a flying visit to the Niagara Falls, for who could go all the way to America and not see that amazing cascade? Then another long jump to Albany, the capital of New York State. All the while I was there, and especially when the Capitol was in sight, I was obsessed by the thought that it was here Governor Hughes, now the Republican party's candidate for the Presidency, wrought so much mischief by his anti-betting legislation.

And now another Sunday had come—my last before sailing for home. I spent the greater part of it at Amsterdam, a thriving little manufacturing town in the spacious valley of the Mohawk, about thirty miles north-west of Albany, and perhaps twenty from Saratoga. There it is that Mr. Sanford has his stud, and there it is that Spearmint's The Curragh, has found a new home. It is known as the Hurricana Stud, and lies up on the hills behind the town, 1,200 feet above sea level. Magnificent are the views obtained from many of the paddocks. The town and the valley, though so close, might be non-existent, for the eye catches only the crest of the ridge beyond them. Away to the north-east are the faintly-outlined Adirondacks. It is lovely scenery and intoxicating air that you get up there. But what of the stud? Mr. Sanford labors under no illusions. "I know," he told me when I afterwards met him at Belmont Park—he was not at Amsterdam at the time of my visit—"I know that I should have a better chance of success if I moved my stud to Kentucky or Virginia, where there is a more genial climate. But what amusement should I get out of it then? My business and my home are at Amsterdam, and I like to be able to see my breeding stock and the yearlings and foals whenever I have a mind to. But I'll tell you what I am proposing to do———." At that moment somebody came up and interrupted our conversation, and Mr. Sanford never got me told what his scheme is. That dash is really most tantalizing. When Mr. Sanford sees it, I hope he will think it worth while to send me the end of the story.

There is bleak weather up on those hills in winter and early spring. The snow at times lies deep and long. Snugly housed are the brood mares and their youngsters, but the season is often well advanced before they can be given a continuous spell on the grass. But this sort of thing has been going on at the Hurricana Stud for years. It was Mr. Stephen Sanford, the father of Mr. John, who established the farm, and a tremendous amount of enjoyment he derived from it, by following one inflexible rule. He never allowed one of his two-year-olds to race before the Saratoga meeting in August. By that time they had made up the ground lost during the winter months and were ready to meet their contemporaries on fair fighting terms. What was more, because of their not being forced in the days of babyhood, they generally stood hard training for a period long beyond the average. After all, as a private breeder, Mr. Sanford, like his father before him, is in the happy position of being able to do as he pleases. There was, however, a series of years, ending about 1900, when the late Mr. Sanford (who died in 1913, aged 87) sold his output of yearlings in New York, but thereafter, until his death, he always raced the products of his stud before parting with them to make room for the next batch of yearlings.

Mr. John Sanford has not confined his racing and breeding enterprises within the same narrow grooves that his father adopted. While anxious to maintain the stud and stable at Amsterdam on its old basis, he has gone further afield. Not only does he patronize the sport in Kentucky and other southern centres, to say nothing of the New York tracks, but we find him with an important breeding stud in France, and with horses in training at Newmarket. When I met him at Louisville, the night before the Kentucky Derby, I got from him the news that the Two Thousand Guineas, run nine days previously, was won by Clarissimus, and the further information that his own horse Nassovian, had finished a good third. For a week I had been trying to glean information about that race. No mention of it was made in any American paper, although the result of the One Thousand was duly chronicled without delay. When I saw Mr. Sanford at Belmont Park he eagerly discussed the prospects of his colt in the New Derby and told me of his having engaged O'Neill to ride the horse. I hoped we should get tidings of the race by wireless while crossing the Atlantic, but none came through, and it was not until I reached Liverpool the following Sunday that I found out that Fifinella had won and that Nassovian was again third.

Mr. Sanford, then, is a sportsman of international renown. He follows the fortunes of his horses, wherever they may be, with a keen delight, and rejoices unfeignedly when they prove themselves worthy to carry his colors. The Turf of any country is fortunate in having the patronage of a man of his standing and inclinations. For the time being his activities, so far as racing in France is concerned, are at an end. Last January half a dozen two-year-olds arrived in New York from his French stud, and several yearlings of fashionable lineage will cross the Atlantic this summer. These importations will greatly strengthen his American stable and assist in fostering the interest and excitement that is sure to be created when the rivalry between British and American-bred horses develops, as it will do this summer or autumn.

The Hurricana Stud and Stable is a splendidly-equipped establishment. In the lifetime of Mr. Stephen Sanford it grew, like the huge carpet works from which the wherewithal is obtained, from a very small beginning. Under the guidance of Mr. Sealey, the secretary of Mr. Sanford's Company, I spent a whole afternoon within the boundaries of the farm, and then did not see all there was to see by any means. But what did come under my notice impressed me with the fact that everything is well ordered. The stallions are under the care of Charles Cunningham, who showed me The Curragh, looking fresh and hearty, with a satisfactory season nearly completed; Clifford (by Bramble), now twenty-six years old, but a winner in his day of forty-two of his sixty-two races and only twice unplaced; Isidor, by Amphion out of Isis; Rockton, by Meddler; Chuctanunda, by Laureate; and Mohawk II., by Rockton. Voter is at Mr. Sanford's Stud in France. He was bought at the break-up sale of the late Mr. Keene's stud in 1914.

The mares, foals and yearlings are under the superintendence of William Lawson, an Englishman, who has been many years in American studs. His father was employed at the Middle Park Stud, and there, as a boy, Lawson was initiated into the duties that devolve upon a stud groom. He has been with Mr. Sanford three years, and before that was at Brookdale, New Jersey. He showed us the yearlings and all the foals and their dams. Their condition did him great credit. There is a training track six furlongs in circumference at the Hurricana Stud, and also a covered exercise ground with a furlong circuit. In Mr. Stephen Sanford's time, a series of two year-old trials took place one afternoon each July. The occasion partook of the nature of a race meeting and the attendance ran into thousands, the firm's workpeople, who number 3,000, being allowed a holiday. And so it comes to pass that Amsterdam has long been noted for its horses as well as its carpets.

I must just mention that Mr. W. H. Cooper, a native of Lancashire, who is the vice-president of Mr. Sanford's Company, takes an active interest in the management of the Hurricana Stud. I had the pleasure of meeting him at Louisville and again at Belmont Park, but he happened to be away from home the day I was at Amsterdam.

A sail down the glorious Hudson River from Albany, brought me back to New York and its skyscrapers. Before boarding the St. Louis the following Saturday, there were calls to be made, au revoirs to be said. I sought out Mr. Theodore Cook, to report that while at Lexington I had seen the youngsters his trainer, Mr. Howard Oots, bought for him at Newmarket last autumn. When I inspected them none had run, but they were about to be dispatched to Canada for the Toronto meeting, and I have since ascertained that the first to start finished a good second. There are many potential winners among them, and Mr. Cook told me that he has from the first been thoroughly satisfied with them. Luncheon with Mr. Oxnard at the top of one of these heavenward soaring buildings "down town" was another engagement duly fulfilled. Then there was a dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Powers and their family in their up-town home, and another chat with Mr. Rowe at the Jockey Club. Mr. Rowe is a walking encyclopædia of racing and breeding lore, and it is a joy to listen to his expositions and reminiscences. And, of course, I had to see a baseball match. It was one between New York and Boston. A great game I can assure you. Why it has never taken root in England is a mystery.

Lastly, I must make allusion to the afternoon I spent at Belmont Park, the opening day of the season there. It was an inspiring occasion. Although betting has to be conducted within very restricted limits, and without any parade of the traffic, there was an attendance of 23,000 people. Through the kind offices of Mr. Powers, some photographs of the course, stands and enclosures were taken specially for me, and the reproductions here presented cannot fail to be of interest to English and Australian readers of the Review. They seem to me to serve as a tribute to the manner in which New York sportsmen have valiantly surmounted the obstacles with which they were suddenly confronted eight years ago. It may be some time yet before racing on the Metropolitan tracks is restored to its former prosperity, but the movement now in progress is an augury of even greater achievements than are at present possible, and all concerned, Mr. August Belmont and his co-adjutors, are sincerely to be congratulated on their bold enterprise.

All the while I was in the States I was warned not to miss a day's racing at Belmont Park. After I had been there I understood the meaning of that injunction. It is an admirable and a most picturesque racecourse. In many ways it reminds one of Ascot. The main grand stand at Belmont Park is a stupendous structure. I was told that it provides seating accommodation for 8,000 people, and there is a smaller stand with seats for 4,000 more. If at any time the management of any of our large courses contemplate the reconstruction of their stands, it is to be hoped that they will send their architect to inspect the one at Belmont Park before he makes his plans. I saw two British-bred horses win the day I was there. Jack Mount, a colt by Amadis out of Catana, imported by Mr. W. R. Coe, won a race for maiden two-year-olds, and Marcellinus scored a ready victory in the New York Steeplechase.

And so, at long last, I have come to what must be the end of my story. It has assumed portentous dimensions. If I have wearied my readers I crave their pardon. While writing I have more than once been tempted to stop and hold the remainder of my essay over to the next number of the Review. But I was forced to the conclusion that it was advisable for many reasons to complete it now. Much that I wanted to say has had to be omitted. No doubt opportunities for imparting the information which I have withheld will from time to time present themselves. Finally, let me once again express my heartfelt thanks to the many friends I made in the course of my tour for the generous and self-sacrificing way in which they helped me along. I shall never forget their kindness.

FOXHALL.

OCEANPORT, N. J., Aug. 29.

EDITOR THOROUGHBRED RECORD:

In "The Renaissance of the Thoroughbred in America," in your issue of the 26th instant, is the statement of Henry Overton to Mr. Moorhouse regarding the conversation between Overton and the late Mr. Charles W. Bathgate in 1879 about the purchase of Foxhall when he was a yearling, I think the aged Overton is wrong when he stated Col. S. D. Bruce bid in the son of Jamaica for the late Mr. James R. Keene. I know Mr. Bathgate was Mr. Keene's agent for several years, and he saw Foxhall in his three-year-old form win the Cesarewitch and the Cambridgeshire Handicaps. He related to me in his home at Jerome Park the cablegrams to and from Mr. Keene regarding securing a jockey for the colt for the above races. He stated that he offered the late George Fordham three thousand pounds sterling to ride Foxhall in both races. Fordham regrettedly declined to ride him, and the disappointment he felt, he knew Mr. Keene would have in his refusing this princely sum of fifteen thousand dollars, because he had made a vow never to ride a horse again that Mr. Day trained. It transpired that Fordham rode a great favorite of the public and in the betting, in, I think, Lady Elizabeth, which finished last in the Derby, if my memory is correct.

Foxhall as a yearling (I saw at Mr. Kenney's farm, adjoining M. H. Sanford's Preakness Stud, now in the Haggin estate) was in a class by himself—alone, compared to the form of the others there, and Henry Overton was right. At the request of the late Mr. Thos. Puryear, who then was training Spendthrift and Miser for Mr. Keene, to look the yearlings over and give him a list of them as they stood in my opinion, and I placed the Jamaica colt clearly above any other of the group collected.

Mr. Bathgate related to me, that "Mr. Day informed him, that Foxhall was a wonderful colt and that he expected to win both handicaps."

There is no denying the fact that there is a scarcity of thoroughbred yearlings this season. Up to the present time, Sept. 1, there have been not more than 250 yearlings offered at auction. The writer has a fairly accurate knowledge of what will be sold between now and the close of 1916 and can say that, all told, the year 1916 will not see more than 400 yearlings offered at auction. True, some have been imported and several owners breed for their own racing material, but this does not alter the fact that the juvenile racers of 1917 will be materially reduced. The next big sale of yearlings will take place at Lexington, Sept. 12th, under the management of The Kentucky Sales Co., and the catalog for this sale, which has just come from the press, shows a trifle over sixty yearlings, representing the get of nearly every sire of prominence in America. It certainly behooves all men in the racing end of the business to "look to their guns" as far as yearlings are concerned and get the material for their coming two-year-old racing division. That a fair two-year-old next season will be worth more money than ever in the history of racing in this country is almost certain and the man who has the right one in his stable will have no difficulty in securing a snug sum for a likely racing tool. The meet at Lexington opens Sept. 6th and the Kentucky fall season is composed of 45 racing days. The yearling sale mentioned occurs on the 12th. Racing men had better have their "lamps filled and burning" for this event will about exhaust the yearling crop.

O. H. Chenault and J. O. Keene left here Thursday morning for New York with twenty-four yearlings that are to be sold Tuesday at Durland's by the Powers-Hunter Company. The pick of the Chenault shipment probably is a brown colt by Jack Atkin—Africa and the best of the fillies is the bay daughter of Ballot—Phida, dam of Toiler, a winner in England. The brown colt by Jack Atkin—Lady Clara is a splendid individual. A beautiful filly is the bay daughter of Sain and Missy (dam of Val Jean and Jerome.)

The smartest looking one of Keene's shipment of eight is the chestnut colt by Peter Quince—Phebe G.

"I think he is the greatest of the get of Peter Quince," said Keene when they were loading.

The sister to Jacoba, a black filly by Jack Atkin—Agnes Virginia, is a good one, likewise the bay filly by Watervale—Souriante, dam of seven winners. The Ogden—Zahra colt is another good one and one of the best bred youngsters in the country is the brown filly by Star Shoot—Mildred Shults, Others in the shipment are chestnut colt by Ballot—Micaela, dam of Petrovna, chestnut colt by Trap Rock—Twilight Queen, and bay colt by Jack Atkin—Winnecook.

The Racing Commission will meet Friday, Sept. 1, at Spring Hill, the home of Johnson N. Camden, chairman of the commission.

John I. Smith, manager of H. H. Hewitt's breeding interests in Kentucky, thinks Skeptic, bred and raised at The Meadows, has a great chance of winning the Futurity today. Mr. Smith will race Meditation and Mission Bell in Kentucky this fall. Cantara, Star Maid and Avis will be turned out until next spring. Mr. Hewitt will have nine or ten to race in Kentucky next year. Pan Maid will be retired and bred next season.

J. A. Gibson, prominent Detroit contractor and builder, who also is the owner of several thoroughbred horses, writing to a friend in Lexington, says that the movement for the revival of racing in Michigan and the building of a fine plant near Detroit by the Detroit Business Men's Racing Association, is progressing splendidly and that the track will be ready by July 1, 1917, when it is planned to open a fourteen-day meeting. "Everybody, it seems to me, wants the runners back in Detroit," said he. "Why send thhe money to Canada for our sport?"

Dragoman, a son of Rock Sand recently sold by August Belmont to Matt Byrnes, will be shipped to Eatontown, N. J., where he is to enter the stud.

Hal Price Headley, Beaumont Farm, shipped three yearlings this week to New York to Frederick Johnson. They are a bay colt by Uncle—Ballymena; bay colt by Jack Atkin—Private Flag, and a chestnut filly by Uncle—Privateer.

Two important additions have been made to the already strong string of thoroughbreds which is being trained by Louis Feustel. These are the two Star Shoot two-year-olds purchased from John E. Madden, Defence and Starfinch. Both these colts might be pronounced typical Star Shoots. Neither is anything like overgrown, but both have plenty of size and substance. They are of the regular Star Shoot chestnut and they show much of the grace of outline and smoothness of finish which their famous sire stamps upon a majority of his get; but Defence is without doubt the superior of his handsome stablemtte in the matter of conformation. He has more rangy and oblique shoulders, greater lung space and more powerful quarters than has Starfinch. Both are remarkably good-looking colts, but Defence is the more attractive of the two.—[New York Telegraph.

A. J. Gorey has decided to quit breeding thoroughbred horses and has consigned Transvaal and his mares and weanlings to the Kentucky Sales Company's winter sale. The mares are by Meddler, Sir Dixon, Peep O'Day, and St. Hilaire. The weanlings are by Transvaal.

The racing firm of Williams Bros., which has eighteen yearlings now in training at Douglas Park has decided to sell these colts and fillies during the coming meeting at Churchill Downs. The Kentucky Sales Co. will hold the sale on Saturday, September 30. G. D. Wilson and George J. Long will also dispose of their yearlings in this sale.

Cosmic has been turned out at Beaumont Farm.

A. J. Joyner is advertising for a stud groom in this week's issue of THE RECORD. See ad.

Thomas Piatt has sold to J. C. Milam two yearling bay colts. One is by Dick Welles—Sweet Nell, by Esher, and the other is by Toddington—Lemco, by Ducat.

Any one knowing the address of the owner of Shiloah, ten years old, by Mizzoura—Cora T., will confer a great favor by sending it to Shiloah, care of THE RECORD. See ad.

J. S. Barbee has sold to J. C. Milam the yearling bay colt Harry Burgoyne, by Peep O'Day—Farley (half-sister to Skeer Face), by Frankfort.

James P. Ross has purchased of Dr. J. D. Neet, Kindergarten Stud, Versailles, the yearling chestnut colt (brother to Peter Stalwart), by Stalwart, dam Aralia, by Handsome.

F. Mera, who has been for the last two years associated with a Baltimore, Md., piano firm, has accepted a position with the E. C. Christian Co. Previous to entering the piano field, Mr. Mera was a well-known character among the horsemen of Kentucky and has a large acquaintance among those engaged in promoting the interests of the Kentucky thoroughbred. Mr. Mera motored from Baltimore to Lexington, averaging 25 miles an hour for the 1080 miles.

CAMPFIRE WINS HOPEFUL STAKES.

SARATOGA, SPRINGS Aug. 26.—Campfire, Richard T. Wilson's great two-year-old son of Olambala and Nightfall, won the Hopeful Stakes, of which the winner's share was $18,850, from a field of an even dozen picked youngsters here this afternoon. C. K. G. Billings' Omar Khayyam was second and A. K. Macomber's Star Master was third.

August Belmont's Friar Rock was winner of the Saratoga Cup over the mile and six furlongs route from Andrew Miller's Roamer and H. C. Hallenbeck's The Finn, there being but these three in the race.

Gwyn Tompkins added another stake to the credit of E. M. Weld, when he added Mr. Weld's great jumper Weldship in the Beverwyck Handicap and defeated Harry Sage's Martian and Pebeto and the Northwood Stable's Bill Dudley.

And when the curtain had fallen on the midsummer season of racing it had been demonstrated that in Campfire Mr. Wilson holds the season's champion juvenile. Following his victories in the Saratoga Special and the Sanford Memorial, this son of Olambala proved his class by picking up the heavy tax of 130 pounds, running from behind on the inside of his field, and then winning handily. Not only was Campfire carrying top weight, but it was weight so big he was giving away from twenty to twenty-three pounds to every other starter in the race with the exception of Harry Payne Whitney's Rickety, which had 119 pounds to carry, or eleven pounds less than the winner.

Not only did Mr. Wilson have placed to his credit the richest stake of the American turf, but there was something that was far more gratifying to him and that was that he had bred and brought his star to the races. Olambala, always a favorite with his owner, was made more dear to him by the great showing of one of his get. By running second, Omar Khayyam, an imported son of Marco and Lisma, earned $3,000, while Star Master, the son of Star Shoot and The Lady in Blue, made $1,500 by running into third place.

It scarcely would be fair to so great a colt as Campfire to say that, with better racing luck, either Omar Khayyam or Star Master might have beaten him, although these two undoubtedly were sufferers from mishaps that are apt to happen during the running of any race. And what was worse for Omar, it became known after the race that Jockey Buxton had ridden him while suffering from a broken wrist.

The start was a good one, but both Vivid and Rickety, the Whitney pair, were off slowly, while Omar Khayyam was the last to leave. As was expected, Sedan jumped to the front, and he was closely followed by Star Master and Julialeon. The others followed in close order and Campfire was not far away, while Rickety and Vivid were under a drive to keep up with the pace.

Sedan did not lest long in the pace when Julialeon raced by him and went into a good lead. Sedan was sticking to second place and Star Master was a good third, while on the outside Campfire and Rickety continued to draw up on the leaders.

At the head of the stretch Julialeon was still showing the way, and there Campfire loomed up dangerously on the outside, while alongside of him came Rickety. Omar Khayyam was circling around, but he was still so far away he was not seriously considered.

Nearing the furlong pole Campfire shook off Rickety and at the same time he raced to Julialeon, and the filly began to weaken. Sedan was through, but Star Master was hanging on with good courage, and Rickety was also coming along under the vigorous handling of Notter. In the last sixteenth Campfire drew away, but just as he had the others beaten, Omar Khayyam dashed up on the outside with a rush that was just one stride short of victory.

August Belmont's Friar Rock was rather an easy winner of the mile and six furlongs of the Saratoga Cup when he led home Andrew Miller's Roamer and H. C. Hallenbeck's The Finn. There were only three starters and at the end of the journey the son of Rock Sand and Fairy Gold had readily proven his superiority.

There was little pace for the first seven furlongs, with Roamer showing the way under double wraps.

The Finn was galloping along in second place, and Johnny McTaggart had Friar Rock well out from the rail and he was also under a strong pull.

Shortly after passing the stand the first time, The Finn went to Roamer and, still under wraps, he was showing the way when the backstretch was reached. Roamer had been taken back by Butwell, and McTaggart was sitting still on Friar Rock and having no trouble in placing him back of the other two.

At the far turn The Finn was still showing the way, but there Friar Rock had moved up and he was in second place, close to the black colt. At this time Butwell was taking Roamer back, and he did not have a great deal of trouble in placing the son of Knight Errant. The Finn was being urged, and it was evident long before the stretch was reached that he would not do.

Friar Rock drew away readily going to the stretch turn, but there Butwell shook up Roamer again, and the little gelding raced along in a fashion that suggested a possible victory. He was catching Friar Rock at every jump, but the three-year-old still had plenty left, and in the last furlong he came away until at the end he had three lengths to spare.

Roamer had run one fast furlong in an effort to catch the winner and he was through, while The Finn was beaten before the stretch was reached.

Mr. Wilson, who is president of the Saratoga Association, had other cause than the winning of Campfire for congratulation, for it was the windup of the greatest season of racing that Saratoga has ever seen. There was a threat of rain just as the crowd began to gather at the track, but the clouds passed away and stayed away until after all had finished the day of sport and had ample time to get back to cover. And then the downpour came.

The course once more was crowded to overflowing and hundreds watched the running of the races from the infield, while every place from which a race could be seen about the stand was packed. The clubhouse was full, as were the grandstand, the field stand and the lawn and field enclosures. And Captain Duhane of the Pinkerton police reported it to be as orderly a gathering as any he has ever seen. In fact, he declared the whole meeting had been freer of complaint than any he has had to do with during the season.

President Wilson was kept busy shaking hands with his friends after Campfire's remarkable performance, but he had time to say a few words about the meeting which came to such a brilliant close.

"The Saratoga management," said he, "wants to express its grateful appreciation to all those who have honored us with their presence during our meeting, which has not only been the best since racing has come back into favor, but the most successful of the entire history of the sport at this point. Judging by the quality of the attendance, the turf is making new and desirable friends daily. The personnel of the crowds which have taxed our accommodations to the utmost, has been very high, and we want to see all of them back in 1917, when it will be our aim to have a renewal of the many splendid contests which have featured this month of August in Saratoga."

When asked what he had to say about Campfire's victory, Mr. Wilson said:

"I have always known that I had a good colt, but today's performance set the seal on his greatness. He should race on and go any distance of ground as a three-year-old. The fact he is of Olambala's first crop of two-year olds and Nightfall's first foal, is encouraging. Every one of Olambala's get but one has now won races. Men breed for years to get one race horse, but I have been fortunate enough to get not only a good racehorse, but a potential sire as well at the very outset of my efforts."

Herman Brandt announces that his connection as trainer for the Jefferson Livingston stable has practically been severed, but that he will bring the horses to Lexington, where he will turn them over to any one Mr. Livingston designates as his successor. Mr. Brandt will campaign several racers of his own hereafter.

Three young women, stable hands, are at the present time employed at R. Marsh's Egerton House Stables, Newmarket. They "do" their horses in the stables and ride out at exercise just as the ordinary stable lads.—[London Sportsman.

SARATOGA SEASON FIXES THE CLASS.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, August 27.—With the closing of the most successful season that has ever been enjoyed by the Saratoga Association in its history, the names of five horses stand out as champions of the August racing. These are Richard T. Wilson's Campfire, James Butler's Spur, August Belmont's Friar Rock, A. K. Macomber's Dodge and E. M. Weld's Weldship.

Campfire by his victories in the Saratoga Special, the Sanford Memorial and the Hopeful Stakes proved himself by long odds the best two-year-old that performed. Spur earned the stamp of greatness in the running of the Huron Handicap. Friar Rock proved his real worth by his easy victory in the Saratoga Cup, and Dodge, while racing for J. S. Ward, when he defeated Spur, at a pull in the weights, verified his Western victories in both the Latonia and the American Derby.

Weldship was the one steeplechaser that stood out alone over the others. He was unbeaten in his three starts, and his last victory yesterday when he took up 169 pounds and won the Beverwyck Steeplechase left absolutely no doubt of his supremacy. His other victories were in the North American Handicap, under 162 pounds, and in the Shillelah Steeplechase, in which he took up 155 pounds. As a matter of fact, this very remarkable son of Seahorse II. and Moon-daisy has not lost a battle through the Saratoga field in two years.

There are several others in every age division that are well worthy of mention, but the five named stand out prominently. It is significant that three of them are three year-olds, and if this had been written after the racing Friday H. C. Hallenbeck's The Finn would have a place in the list, but he was very thoroughly defeated in the Saratoga Cup, and so thoroughly defeated that, while he is a wonderfully good four-year-old, the three three-year-olds named here have it on him decisively.

The conviction is forced that the older division this year is not up to the usual standard. This is either the case or else Spur, Friar Rock and Dodge are remarkable three-year-olds. Andrew Miller's Roamer was tried very thoroughly in the Cup and found wanting. The son of Knight Errant and Rose Tree II. was a very sick horse last winter and, though he has been doing just about all that A. J. Goldsborough has been asking of him in his trials; he has lost the stamina and vitality that made him the champion for two seasons. The remarkable gelding is still a very popular idol and it was disappointing to have him beaten in the Cup, even though as sterling a colt as Friar Rock was the winner, but it is doubtful if he will come back this fall season to anything approaching his brilliant form of last year.

The two-year-olds, with the exception of Campfire, were disappointing, with the possible exception of Ultimatum, the Samuel Ross juvenile. He was sent to the race the first time in the Saratoga season when he was palpably short and he was beaten. But since that race he has proven himself and there are many good judges who are of opinion that he is well able to keep Campfire busy. Crank, from the same stable, is another that belongs in the front division, but the others have not yet accomplished much.

Omar Khayyam, the imported colt that races for C. K. G. Billings, ran a truly remarkable race in the Hopeful and it is possible that he will go on to better things before the end of the year. Bellringer, Vivid and Rickety each showed a deal of class, but of them all Campfire, with his courage and ability to take up weight, is the master.

The Saratoga Association did exceedingly well with the sport and the fact that most of the big stakes were guaranteed events in which the subscribed money, frequently ran over the amount promised, made it a cheap meeting as far as outlay was concerned. In this connection it might be said that probably for the 1917 racing at the Springs there will be a much larger percentage of added money fixtures. The racing has come back sufficiently to warrant such offerings.

With the running of the last race yesterday there was a race for New York and today the little city in the foothills of the Adirondacks is already deserted, while the few stragglers that are left will leave to-morrow. All are eager to be back to Broadway and Belmont Park, which is to open Tuesday and there is general regret that it is only Belmont Park that will offer a season of fall racing.

Samuel Ross, of Washington, D. C., has received from England two yearlings, as follows: Bay colt, by Grey Leg—Marie Claire, and grey filly, by Grey Leg—Princess Caprice.

SARATOGA RACING STATISTICS.

During the twenty-four days of the Saratoga Association's summer meeting, which opened July 31 and came to a close August 26, 145 races were decided and $176,035 was distributed in stakes and purses, representing a daily average of $7,334.58. LEXINGTON, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1916.

KENTUCKY ASSOCIATION MEETING.

The fall meeting of the Kentucky Association opens on Wednesday, Sept. 6, and promises to be the best fall meeting ever held in Lexington. More good horses will be on hand than ever before and the program is so arranged as to make each contest interesting. The directors have spared no expense to make this the banner meeting and Secretary Shelley has done his part in the way of arranging the program so as to bring all the good horses together. This meeting is the first of the Kentucky fall racing season of forty-five days, and everything is in readiness for a big, enjoyable meeting. The first day's program follows:

First Race—Purse $700; for three-year-olds and upward. 7 lbs. below the scale. Winners of six or more races in 1916, three stakes in 1915 or 1916, to carry 3 lbs. extra. Others: Non-winners of five races in 1916, if such have not won $2,000 in 1916, allowed 3 lbs; three races of $450 in 1916, 5 lbs.; two races of $450 this year, 8 lbs. Selling purses not considered in the conditions of this race. Six furlongs.

Second Race—The Idle Hour Purse. Purse $600; for two-year-olds. Winners of $2,000 twice, 4 lbs. extra; $2,000 three times, 7 lbs. extra; others, 3 lbs. below the scale; if such have not won $2,500 allowed 3 lbs.; three races of $450, 6 lbs.; two races of $400, 8 lbs.; a race of $400, 10 lbs. Selling races of any kind not considered in the conditions of this race. Entrance $10. Five and one-half furlongs.

Third Race—The Tea's Over Selling. Purse $600; for three-year-olds and upward. The winner to be sold by auction for $2,000, if for less 1 lb. allowed for each $100 to $900. Non-winners of three races since May 12, allowed 3 lbs.; two races since then, 5 lbs. Entrance $10. Six furlongs.

Fourth Race—Phoenix Hotel Handicap. Purse $800; for three-year-olds and upward. Entries Monday September 4; weights and acceptances Tuesday, September 5th. One mile and a furlong.

Fifth Race—The Nursery Purse. Purse $600; for maiden fillies two years old. Weight 112 lbs. Entrance $10. Five furlongs.

Sixth Race—The Reed Hotel Purse. Purse $600; for three-year-olds and upward, which have not won $450 twice since April 26, other than selling purse, nor a stakes of any kind since then, 7 lbs. below the scale; non-winners of $450 this year other than selling purse, allowed 3 lbs.; two races of any kind this year, 5 lbs.; a race in 1916, 8 lbs. One mile.

Seventh Race—The Savoy Hotel Selling. Purse $600; for three-year-olds and upward. The winner to be sold by auction for $1,800, if for less 1 lb. allowed for each $100 to $800; non-winners of two races since June 13, allowed 3 lbs.; two races since May 26, 5 lbs. One mile and a sixteenth.

SALE OF SANFORD HORSES IN TRAINING.

Following the old custom of retiring their horses after the Saratoga meeting, Mr. John Sanford will not race any more this year and has instructed The Powers-Hunter Company to sell twelve of his race horses at Belmont Park on Thursday, September 7th, as follows:

Affection, ch f, 2, by Isidor—One-I-Love.
Bac, ch g, 5, by Cunard—Bandello.
Brumley, ch c, 5, by Isidor—Adriutha.
Gunrock, ch c, 2, by Rock Sand—Gunfire.
Kilkenny, ch c, 2, by Celt—Fairy Sprite.
Leochares, b g, 6, by Broomstick—Leayona: a.
Lucius, ch c, 2, by Isidor—Roxane.

Tyrant, b c, 2, by Radium—Oppression.
Grand Opera.

POWERS-HUNTER CO.'S SALES.

The Powers-Hunter Co. will hold two sales on Tuesday, Sept. 5. The Napa Stock Farm yearlings, property of A. B. Spreckels, will be sold at Belmont Park at 12:30 p. m. and the Spendthrift Stud yearlings, property of O. H. Chenault, at Durland's at 8:30 p. m. There are twenty-one head from the Spreckels farm by Dr. Leggo, Voorhees, and Solitaire II., while Mr. Chenault will sell twenty-five head by Ballot, Sain, Jack Atkin, Ben Trovato, Magneto, and Celt. Send for catalogues to the Powers-Hunter Co., 569 Fifth Avenue, New York.

THE FUTURITY.

Present indications are that there will not be more than ten starters in the Futurity, to be run today. R. T. Wilson's Campfire, with 125 pounds up and Johnny McTaggart in his saddle, will be favorite. H. P. Whitney will start three—Tumbler, 122; Hwfa, 117, and Rickety, 122. Notter will ride Hwfa; Keogh, Tumbler, and Robinson is coming from Canada to pilot Rickety. August Belmont will be represented by Deer Trap, 125, carrying Tommy McTaggart. H. Hewitt's Skeptic, 122, which will be ridden by Butwell, is by many considered a formidable candidate.

Ticket, which was expected to give Campfire a real contest, is laid up with a bad pastern and the A. K. Macomber candidates, Stargazer and Star Master, are coughing.

BRITISH SPORTSMEN'S AMBULANCE FUND.

Mr. Edward Moorhouse, who has recently returned from the United States, has received an interesting letter, accompanied by a handsome check, from Mr. John Sanford, the popular American sportsman. In the course of the letter Mr. Sanford says:

"I take pleasure in sending you herewith a draft on London, payable to your order, for £250, which I desire you to pass over to the British Sportsmen's Motor Ambulance Fund. I make this slight contribution as I take much interest in this fund, and have much pleasure in supporting it."

Mr. Moorhouse has accordingly forwarded the check to us, and, needless to say, Lord Lonsdale and his committee are delighted to receive such a splendid contribution towards a fund in which we are all so greatly interested. The fact that the donor is an American, is not the least gratifying feature, testifying as it does to the good feelings of our cousins across the Atlantic, and their sympathy with the Allies in their fight against the aggression of the Central Powers.—[London Sporting Life, August 11.

It is with the object of assisting to keep the Ambulance Transport up to the requisite standard of strength and efficiency that the British Sportsmen's Ambulance Fund has been formed. The committee hope to be able to provide a fleet of at least 100 Ambulance Cars at a cost approximately £400 each car. Already something like £10,000 have been subscribed. It is hoped that Mr. Sanford's example will be followed by other American sportsmen. Subscriptions mailed to W. S. Morley-Brown, editor of the London Sporting Life, and also one of the committee, will be turned over to the treasurer of the fund.

The big feature race of the autumn meeting at Latonia is the rich Latonia Cup which will be something like an $8,000 event this season, as Manager John Hachmeister has increased the added money in this event to $5,000. The Latonia Cup is two miles and a quarter. There will be nineteen days racing at Latonia this fall, beginning on Saturday, Oct. 7.

BROWN PURCHASES CITY PARK TRACK.

When the fact became known Monday that H. D. "Curly" Brown, had obtained an option upon the City Park racetrack at New Orleans, by paying down $15,000 of the $350,000 which is asked for the property, many there were who wondered as to what would become of Oriental Park, which Brown has operated in Cuba during the past two seasons.

It is said that the New Orleans deal was consummated more than a week ago. J. L. Onorato, a New Orleans real estate agent, acted for Samuel T. Woodring and James W. Gardner, the owners of the property. The details of the deal will not be known for at least ten days. It is said though that under the terms of the sale Brown is to pay $50,000 cash—$35,000 more than he has put up—immediately upon his return to New Orleans. Then there are to be four annual instalments of $75,000 each, with interest at six per cent. per annum, the new owner to pay the taxes for the present year.

As a result of the announcement of the sale the Business Men's Racing Association, which had been considering the purchase of the property, will give up all idea of buying it.

It is not known whether Brown will operate in opposition or after the Fair Grounds meeting closes. The Business Men's Association have made it known that they will not divide their dates and will go ahead with their plans just as if the City Park matter had never come up.

FAST MILES IN ENGLAND.

The time-test seems to be of more interest than usual at present. Everyone is aware that downhill tracks like Epsom and Brighton make for fast time, but apart from the mile record being held by Caiman, which covered the mile at Lingfield in 1:33 1-5, it may be well to point out that the next best time over the distance was that of the Irish-bred horse, Cigar, which won over a mile at Derby in 1:34 3-5, this being only 1 2-5 seconds slower than Caiman's record.—[London Sporting Life.

Caiman's record was made in a race at Lingfield, July 13, 1900. He was a four-year-old and had up 128 pounds. Caiman was foaled in New Jersey at the Rancocas Stud, being by Locohatchee (a son of Onondaga and Sophronia by Ten Broeck) out of Happy Day.

"Saratoga had a wonderful meeting," remarked John Hachmeister on his return from the Eastern track. "I have witnessed many meetings at the Eastern springs, but the one this year was better than ever. They had a daily attendance of from 5,000 to 7,000, and on Saturdays it ran up to 10,000. There was not a vacant room in any hotel in the little city. New Yorkers came up for the week-end, and I saw three hundred who had to return to the big city because they could not secure sleeping accommodations. Any kind of a room commanded $10 a night. It looks as though they were racing crazy around New York, and more persons with money are getting into the racing end of it than ever before. The Kentuckians did not make a very favorable impression with their horses. Most of the owners blamed track conditions, for the Saratoga track is quite sandy, and mudders have a great chance on it. This was shown by the good work of Dodge, a pronounced mudder. But the Kentucky contingent should not be discouraged. The Easterners have the money, and having that they can go out and buy the best in the market, which they invariably do. Then, again, some of the bigger stables, like Whitney's do not race their two-year-olds until the Saratoga meeting, and as a result the choicest of this grade is ready to meet the colts which have been going it all summer. This makes a big difference." Mr. Hachmeister said that he had secured many entries there, including those from the Macomber and the Corrigan and McKinney stables. Both of these big establishments will race in Kentucky, and the noted horse Star Hawk, an unlucky critter, will probably be seen in the cup races. "I don't see hardly how it is possible to have bigger meetings in Kentucky this fall than we did in the spring, but I think it is likely," was his answer when asked regarding the fall prospects.

The Louisville Cup, with the $2,500 added to it by the Douglas Park Jockey Club, will likely be richer in value this season than at any time previous, since it has been the big feature race of the autumn meeting at Douglas Park. Douglas Park opens the Louisville racing season on Monday, September 18, and covers a period of eight racing days, winding up on Tuesday, September 26, which will be the date of the running of the big cup race, which is an event of two miles in distance.

The autumn meeting at Churchill Downs, which closes the fall racing season at Louisville, begins this year Wednesday, September 27. The historic St. Leger Handicap, which is over the full cup course of two miles and one-quarter, is the feature of the coming autumn meeting at the Downs, and is one of the most popular of races among the fixed events annually raced for on any American track.

The Southern Railway has issued a very complete booklet containing 31 pages of descriptive matter with illustrations, including maps, etc., regarding places for summer camps in the United States forests in North Carolina.

Copies of this booklet and information with regard to round trip fares, etc., will be gladly furnished on application to B. H. Todd, D. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

HORSES IN TRAINING BRING GOOD PRICES.

Twenty racers, the property of the Brighton Stable, were sold in the paddock at Saratoga on Thursday, August 24, by the Powers-Hunter Company for $43,000, an exellent average of $2,150 a head. In addition to these racers, eighteen thoroughbreds, the property of several horsemen, were sold. The entire sale totaled $55,825, and this was an average of $1,469.

The good juvenile, Tom McTaggart, easily the star of the vendue, was finally purchased by Willis Sharpe Kilmer for $12,500 after some spirited bidding. The second highest price was paid for Woodward, which went to G. C. Winfrey for $3,600. Sprint was purchased by A. B. Hancock for $3,500 and it is presumed this filly was desired chiefly for breeding purposes.

Distant Shore brought the best price of the Harry La Montagne racers, when he was knocked down to R. Wallach for $4,000. The latter made several purchases of cross-country material. Two of the Cassatt two-year-olds and three Sanford yearlings passed under the hammer.

A full summary of the sales follows:

DATES SET FOR DOUGLAS PARK STAKES.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Aug. 28.—Manager John Hachmeister, of the Douglas Park Jockey Club, has set the stake dates for the coming big race meeting at this course, which begins this fall on Monday, September 18, and concludes on Tuesday, September 26, a racing period of eight days. They are as follows:

Monday, September 18.—The Douglas Park Inaugural Handicap, with $2,000 added, for three-year-olds and upward, one mile and one-sixteenth.

Saturday, September 23.—The Louisville Cup, with $2,500 added, for three-year-olds and upward, two miles.

Tuesday, September 26.—The Beechmont Stakes, with $1,500 added for two-year-olds, five and one half furlongs.

On the latter day, which is the closing afternoon of the meeting at Douglas Park, Manager Hachmeister has decided as the annual autumn Ladies' Day, and on this date all ladies accompanied by an escort will be admitted to the grounds and grand stand of the Douglas Park Jockey Club free.

Heretofore it has been the rule to run off a Louisville Cup on the closing day of the meeting, which has generally occurred on a day other than Saturday of the week. After the meeting last fall Manager Hachmeister received a number of communications from prominent people expressing their regrets as being unable to see the Louisville Cup run off on the day it had been set, whereas if it had been run off on Saturday, they could have enjoyed the sport that afternoon. There are so many stores and business houses that now close on Saturday that it has caused the management of Douglas Park to set the big race for that afternoon, coupled with the communications Manager Hachmeister received at the close of the meeting last autumn, that indicated that such an arrangement as to this big event would be a most popular one.

The stake this autumn, from the brilliant array of entries, bids fair to be one of the greatest races ever run in this state over a distance of ground, and now that it has been set for the afternoon of the most popular of all amusement days of the week, it is certain to draw a record attendance this season.

A. K. MACOMBER BUYS DODGE FOR $17,500.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, August 26.—Dodge (winner of the Latonia and American Derbies and conqueror of Spur), b c, 3, by Jim Gaffney—Flora Willoughby, by Florist, was sold in the paddock this afternoon to A. K. Macomber for $17,500 to dissolve the partnership of Weber & Ward. Samuel Ross, of Washington, acted as the bidder for Mr. Macomber. John W. Schorr and J. W. May carried the three-year-old to $10,000 and there Willis Sharpe Kilmer took up the running. His last bid was $17,000 and then the buying bid was made by Mr. Ross.

All told four racers were sold by the Powers-Hunter Company, and Franklin, ch c, 3, by Jim Gaffney—Gliding By, by Argyle, brought the second highest figure when knocked down to J. S. Ward for $8,500. This three-year-old is highly considered by that horseman, but has failed to show his true form of late.

Solar Star, a six-year-old chestnut son of Star Shoot and Sardine, by Bassetlaw, was purchased by Ral Parr for $1,300. The other racer in the vendue, Norvic, a three-year-old bay gelding by Sempronius—Gliding Belle, by Belle's Commoner, went to J. S. Ward for $800.

The Russian Derby, which came off on July 9th, was won by M. Mantacheff's Macbeth, a son of Macdonald II., from five other three-year-olds. J. Winkfield rode a fine race on the winner.

P. A. Clark's recent importation consists of the bay mare, Springfain, 8, by Sainfoin—Combe. She has a foal at foot by Lemberg, and is in foal to Polymelus.

STROMBOLI WINS AUTUMN HANDICAP.

NEW YORK, August 29.—As large a crowd as visited Belmont Park any day during the spring meeting was there today to see August Belmont's good chestnut gelding, Stromboli, win the Belmont Park Autumn Handicap for the second time. It was this same son of Fair Play and St. Priscilla, which won the inaugural running of this stake last year when he beat Trial by Jury, The Finn and other good ones and made a track record for the mile and a furlong on the main track by doing the distance in 1:51.

In his race last year Stromboli carried 118 pounds, while today he had 122 pounds to pack when he defeated James Butler's Capra, the Oneck Stable's Frizzle and Emil Herz's Short Grass. Also it was the second winning of this stake for Johnny McTaggart, for this jockey had the mount in today's win, and it was he who rode the same horse first past the winning post at last year's fall meeting.

Today's win was an easy one and the time was 1:52, or just a second slower than the record set in the first running of the stake. The victory was a popular one with the patrons of the course and pleasing to Mr. Belmont, who had come from Newport especially to see his good little handicap horse make his second effort for the stake.

From a good start Capra went out to make the pace, with Frizzle racing second and Stromboli third, while, as usual, Short Grass was slow to find his racing legs.

Tommy Davies had Frizzle under double wraps and was sending him along on the rail, while both Capra and Stromboli chose a wider route. Going to the first turn Frizzle moved up on the filly without having Davies loosen his good hold of the horse's head.

At the same time Johnny McTaggart made a move with Stromboli and the way the son of Fair Play was racing made certain that he would be the one to be considered when the stretch was reached. Short Grass in the meantime was still a distant trailer, and, though the pace had been moderate, he had not closed on the leaders.

Capra held to her lead around the bend and into the stretch, but by that time Stromboli had closed on the outside until he was close on her heels. Davies still had a good hold of Frizzle and was evidently waiting for a rush through the stretch. He had saved ground all the way and had his mount down on the rail.

Three-sixteenths from the finish McTaggart shook up Stromboli and he very readily went to Capra. In a dozen more strides he was clear to come on and win by three lengths.

When Davies sat down on Frizzle for that final rush, the foreigner was not there, though he saved third from Short Grass, which failed utterly to show his brilliant run through the stretch that was so confi dently expected.

*Imported.

John Sanfords's great sprinter, Leochares, ran true to form, but had to be ridden out to win the opening dash of six furlongs over the straightaway from Bub May's Bayberry Candle, L. Wood's imported Mont d'Or, II., and three others. There was cheering when the bugle brought them upon the track and more applause when the popular favorite had won. Also the crowd was pleased to note that the old custom at Belmont of weighing the jockeys in the paddock after the race had been done away with, and there was further approbation shown for this sensible change in the order of things.

In the second event of the afternoon a mild surprise was sprung when H. H. Hewitt's Skeptic won a five and a half furlong dash for maiden two-year-olds over the straight course. Harry Payne Whitney's Vivid, half-brother to Regret, disgraced himself by quitting in the final sixteenth instead of fighting it out as a colt of his supposed class was expected to do. It is true that Skeptic ran on top of Vivid for a sixteenth of a mile, but even after the winner drew clear Notter was unable to make the Whitney colt run and he was quitting badly at the end. There was a chance for Notter to claim a foul against the winner, but the matter was allowed to go by without action. A. K. Macomber's Kittenish was coming fast at the finish and took third money from the other twelve starters.

There were only three starters in the Broadhollow Steeplechase Handicap, which was won by H. W. Sage's Martian, which was added on the original entry card, Northwood from the Northwood Stable having been scratched. The finish in this race was one of the most exciting seen over the jumps during the season, when Martian and L. Wood's Skibbereen fought it out almost on even terms tor the last eighth of a mile.

Gifford A. Cochran's Phantom turned the tables on R. T. Wilson's Fantam Bala when it came to the final number on the card. This time there was a difference in weights to help the Cochran filly, and she won by five lengths, after running out badly through the stretch. Ralph D. Earle's Mirza was second, while Fantam Bala had all she could do to last it out and take third money from Aimee T. by a head.

Friar Rock to be Retired to Hamburg Place.

PEARCE RESIGNS SECRETARYSHIP.

Stating that he had been offered a more attractive and lucrative place, and as his continuance in the position of racing secretary threatened friction in racing circles, that he had rather seemingly surrender to his enemies than lead his friends into a conflict that would do harm to the sport, Walter H. Pearce formally resigned his office at the meeting of the Kentucky Racing Commission held at the country residence of former Senator J. N. Camden, in Woodford county last Friday.

All of the members of the commission attended the meeting, which extended from about noon until nearly 5 o'clock. All of this time, however, was not devoted to business, the other members of the board taking luncheon with Senator Camden and spending a portion of the afternoon in inspecting the Camden stud and looking over the beautiful country estate.

In addition to the action on Mr. Pearce's resignation the commission transacted other important turf legislation. Edward Jasper's appointment as racing secretary and handicapper for Churchill Downs was approved, as was the appointment of J. B. Campbell to the same position for the Douglas Park and Latonia tracks. The resolution requiring employees of the tracks to be Kentuckians was repealed.

A radical innovation regarding selling races was adopted. Under the new regulation the old auction bidding will be abolished and for fifteen minutes after the race sealed bids will be received from any person in good standing, and the winning horse's owner shall have the privilege of bidding $5 over the highest offer and retaining his horse. An amendment was offered to this providing that any person could put in a sealed bid for a horse, the bid aggregating the horse's entered price plus first money in the purse. Under this amendment, which under the rules lies over until the next meeting, the horse's owner cannot protect his entry.

A rule was adopted forbidding any purse of less than $800 at Louisville and Latonia and $600 at Lexington. Upon complaint of Jos. S. Hawkins, an order was issued prohibiting use of whip by starter and assistant. T. J. Brown was permitted to withdraw a statement made by him.

The official report of the meeting, prepared by Secretary Sam Nuckols, is as follows:

Minutes of the meeting of the Kentucky State Racing Commission held pursuant to the call of the chairman at Senator Camden's home, Woodford county, Kentucky, this day at noon. Present, Senator J. N. Camden, Judge Allie W. Young, Charles F. Grainger, Gen. W. B. Haldeman and T. H. Talbot. Meeting called to order by the chairman.

The following communication was taken up:

"Hon. J. N. Camden, Chairman, and Members of State Racing Commission—Having been offered a more attractive and lucrative position, and realizing that my continuance as racing secretary bids fair to bring about serious friction that might ultimately endanger the sport in Kentucky, I would rather seemingly surrender to my enemies than lead my friends into a conflict that could have no other end than disruption of the game, which lies closest to my heart and for which I have given my best energies. Thanking you and each member of the commission for the confidence you have imposed in me by appointing me racing secretary, I desire now to tender you my resignation as such. Respectfully yours,

WALTER H. PEARCE.

Upon motion duly seconded and carried, Walter H. Pearce, having tendered his resignatian as racing secretary upon the tracks in Kentucky, it is now ordered that the same be accepted, not on account of the fight and charges that have been made against him, which have met with no response from a majority of the commission, but on account of the fact that he himself desires to quit, and in the interest of peace and harmony on the turf.

On motion duly seconded and carried, the appointment of J. B. Campbell as racing secretary and handicapper was approved for Douglas Park Jockey Club and Latonia Agricultural Association.

On motion duly seconded and carried, the appointment of Edward Jasper as racing secretary and handi capper was approved for the New Louisville Jockey Club.

On motion duly seconded and carried, the following resolution was rescinded:

"Resolved, That all the associations racing under a license from the Kentucky State Racing Commission shall employ Kentuckians only as helpers to racing in conducting the race meetings in Kentucky."

On motion duly seconded and carried, the following amendment to rule No. 158 was passed:

In all selling races the winner will not be sold at public auction. At any time within fifteen minutes after the official board has been displayed any person in good standing may put in a sealed bid for the winner with the Racing Secretary. Money must accompany the bid unless the person bidding has sufficient funds in the office to cover the amount. Bids may be made only in unit of $100, failure to place the proper amount in the envelope will not vacate the bid, but it will be considered in force to the amount of even $100 under the fraction of $100, that might be placed in the envelope. Thus for example, if there should be $725 in the envelope, the bid will be accepted at $700. When the envelopes are opened the owner of the horse will be notified and will have the option of protecting the horse for the customary $5 or letting it go to the highest bidder to whom an order for the horse will be given. Should there be two bids for the same amount, those bidding will draw lots for the horse. The owner must protect his horse within five minutes of the time the bids are opened or the horse will go by default to the bidder.

All other rules in conflict with this rule are hereby repealed to the extent of the conflict.

On motion duly seconded the following amendment was offered to the above rule:

In all selling races the winner will not be sold at public auction. At any time within fifteen minutes after the official board has been displayed any person in good standing may put in a sealed bid with the clerk of the scales for any horse starting in a selling race for the selling price, plus the net value of the race to the winner, see rule No. 48. Money must accompany the bid unless the person bidding has sufficient funds in the office to cover the amount. Bids may be made only in unit of $100. Failure to place the proper amount in the envelope will not vacate the bid, but it will be considered in force to the amount of the even $100. Under the fraction of $100, that might be placed in the envelope thus for example, if there should be $725 in the envelope the bid will be accepted as $700. Should there be two bids at the same amount, those so bidding will draw lots for the horse.

All other rules in conflict with this rule are hereby repealed to the extent of the conflict.

On motion duly seconded and carried all licenses recommended by the License Committee were approved.

On motion duly seconded and carried the following new rules were passed:

That no purse less than $800 shall be given by any racetrack within ten miles of a city of 200,000 population, or $600 by any other racetrack for races run by horses at a meeting held under the authority of this commission.

The commission received a complaint from J. S. Hawkins, of the city of Lexington, Ky., that one of the assistant starters employed for the different tracks in Kentucky had insisted repeatedly upon mistreating his horses when they were at the post in different races that they were started in during the spring meetings of the Kentucky circuit.

On motion duly seconded and carried the secretary of the Kentucky State Racing Commission was instructed to send a copy of Mr. Hawkins' communication to the starter and the assistant starters of the different racing associations in Kentucky, and inform them that hereafter the use of whips by the starter or his assistant shall be prohibited.

Senator Webster Helm, of Newport, Ky., appeared before the commission as attorney for T. J. Brown and asked for Mr. Brown that the commission return to him a written statement made on June 12, 1915, to Messrs. J. T. Ireland, Charles F. Price and Edward Hopper, stewards appointed by this commission, in which he attempted to recite certain facts relating to charges made against him in connection with a race at the Douglas Park Jockey Club, Louisville.

On motion duly seconded and carried the secretary was instructed to return this statement to Mr. Helm.

On motion duly seconded and carried the commission adjourned to meet subject to the call of the chairman.

S. A. Clopton has purchased from James Rowe (acting for Harry Payne Whitney) the Brookdale-bred two-year-olds Greentree, Cherry Ripe and Kascett.

CAMPFIRE'S FUTURITY VICTORY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Richard T. Wilson's Campfire clinched his right to the two-year-old crown when he was winner of the six furlongs of the Futurity over Harry Payne Whitney's Rickety, while H. H. Hewitt's Skeptic was the one to finish third. At the end Campfire was going away, though Johnny McTaggart had to hit him once or twice after he had been headed by Rickety when inside the last furlong pole. It was the most impressive race of his brilliant career. Vivid and Tumbler, the other two of the Whitney trio to go out after this rich prize of the American turf, were fourth and fifth respectively, while August Belmont's Deer Trap finished in sixth place, with Frederick Johnson's Pleasant Dreams seventh, Gifford A. Cochran's Madeira and Burlesque eighth and ninth and the Sunset Stable's Starfinch tenth and last of those to finish.

Ten went to the post and there was a delay of four minutes owing to the turning and twisting in an effort to be off well. Campfire had the outside position of the company and he was the best behaved one of the lot, though Vivid, which was alongside of him, frequently bolted in front of him while jockeying for position.

Notter was not ready with Tumbler when the barrier rose, but the others left in excellent alignment, with Campfire just showing the way to Madeira, one of the Cochran starters. Vivid was showing the way to the others and Pleasant Dreams left in a good position. Skeptic was in rather close quarters and he was not as prompt to be under way as some of the others.

As Campfire left he bore over from the outside position, where the going is always a trifle deep, and he had foot enough to steer that course without interfering with the others in the field. Madeira was right in the front division and at one time was in the lead, and Rickety was stepping along in a most impressive way.

Madeira found that she was a bit over her head in the matter of class before the dash was very old, but Rickety was coming along in gallant fashion. Trainer Rowe had equipped him with blinkers for the running and it made a marked difference to him, improving his form.

A quarter of a mile from the finish it was apparent that if Campfire was to be beaten Rickety was the one that would accomplish that feat. Madeira had been shaken off. Skeptic was not close enough to be seriously considered and the others were struggling along back of the son of Olambala in a futile fashion that gave them no chance to hope he would be caught.

Rickety was not so easily discouraged and he was giving the Wilson colt a close chase. He ran along on the outside of the son of Olambala and was closely lapped on him and going so strongly that for an instant he looked a winner. But Johnny McTaggart was riding a confident race on Campfire and he had not called on the chestnut.

Rickety continued to close until a furlong from home his head was showing in front. It was then that McTaggart stung Campfire with the whip. He only hit him once or twice and it was all that was necessary. It roused him to the work at hand and he forged to the front again, but Rickety hung on with such determination that at the end Campfire's margin of victory was a scant half-length.

Two lengths back of them Skeptic saved third from Vivid and the others of the company were pretty well strung out.

With his winning Campfire brought to Mr. Wilson, his owner, the second largest turf prize of the year to be added to the greatest of all which he already had won when he took the Hopeful Stakes at Saratoga on the closing day of that midsummer meeting. The portion of the purse that went to the winner was $17,340, while Rickety got $2,366 for running second and Skeptic earned $1,133 by taking third place.

Aside from the portion of the purse that went with Campfire's winning his owner receives $1,000 which is the fixed sum that is paid from the Futurity to the breeder and nominator of the winner. But it is safe to say that far more pleasure came to Mr. Wilson with the thought that he won the most famous of races for juveniles with a colt of his own breeding than the possession of the pecuniary prize that went with it all. Mr. Whitney received $500 as the nominator of the second and Mr. Hewitt $250 as the nominator of the third horse.

It was the first time that a Futurity has come to the Wilson family, and the winning was a fitting reward for a man who stuck by the sport through its blackest days in New York and lent his time and efforts and money to upholding and rehabilitating the thoroughbred race horse.

The only excuse that remains to be made for any horse in the race is one for Mr. Whitney's Tumbler, which ran a great race but only finished in fifth place. His excuse is that he was the one to suffer at the start and practically was left at the post, after which he ran with commendable gameness and was picking up the field in resolute fashion at the finish.

The time of the Futurity was 1:13 4-5 which is not fast by any means, but the track was not of the best, although the rain that came in the morning had not mudded it as much as had been expected. The real deterrent to speed was a hard gale of wind that was blowing directly against the horses as they came down the track.

After the race Mr. Wilson was kept busy in the clubhouse enclosure receiving the congratulations of his friends and acquaintances, while Mr. Belmont failed to show any sign of disappointment over the running of his colt, Deer Trap.

While the crowd at the course was of goodly proportions it undoubtedly would have been much larger had there not been the rainstorm that fell in the city at noontime, just when many might have been preparing to take their Saturday afternoon holiday at the track.

James Butler's Spur gave further evidence of his greatness when he was winner of the mile of the Jerome Handicap. At the end he was pretty well straightened out to beat Ral Parr's French three-year-old, Crimper, which was in receipt of ten pounds. Third went to the lightly-weighted Air Man from the Cochran stable.

Water Belle and Kilmer were withdrawn, and when Kings Oak was added it brought the field up to eight starters, and it was a thoroughly representative one.

There was only a short delay at the post when the field was sent away in good alignment, and while Hendrie actually broke in front, he almost at once gave way to the lightly weighted Kings Oak, while Dorcas, another light-weight, went after him. Malachite was racing third and Crimper was just showing the way to Spur, which has never been famous for his early speed.

When Hendrie dropped out of it he was well out from the rail, and he was not racing within pounds of the form he had shown at Saratoga when he took the measure of Crimper.

Loftus was riding a perfect race on Spur, and he was induced to send the son of King James after the pace that was set by the lightweights. Instead he dropped him down on the rail and gradually worked his way up. In this fashion he was in excellent position at the turn for home, and setting his mount down for one fast sixteenth saw him safely in the lead.

In the meantime Butwell had chosen the outer course with Crimper, and the French horse was circling around in gallant fashion. Air Man as well went to the outside to find his racing room and he, too, was closing very resolutely. Daddy's Choice, which was badly outrun all through the backstretch, was also picking up his field, and it was very apparent that the lightly weighted pace makers were in for a thorough beating.

After Loftus had stolen through with Spur the Butler colt showed well in front, where he was going strongly, and he looked all over a winner. But Crimper was just beginning to run in earnest, and though he had to travel a much longer route, he was coming to Spur in such a fashion that long before the finish Loftus was using all his skill to hold his lead. Right to the end Crimper continued to close, but Spur lasted long enough, and at the end he had an advantage of a neck.

Air Man saved third, but he, too, was doing his level best to withstand the great rush of Daddy's Choice. Malachite beat Hendrie home, and Dorcas and Kings Oak, the early pacemaker, were the ones to bring up the rear.

The showing of Hendrie was a disappointment of the running, and it emphasized the fact that he had no business beating Crimper when they met at Saratoga. It also demonstrated that Crimper is a truly high-class colt and one that must be considered in the running of the Lawrence Realization next Saturday.

FRIAR ROCK TO ENTER STUD AT HAMBURG PLACE.

John E. Madden, with characteristic enterprise has purchased Friar Rock from August Belmont for $50,000. This sale, the biggest since the return of racing to something approaching its former standing, aroused widespread interest in Lexington and was discussed on all sides.

Many good judges expressed the opinion that the good three-year-old, which ranks with James Butler's Spur as the best of his age in training, was worth every penny of the price paid.

Mr. Belmont at first refused the fattering offer, but on second thought decided to let him go, and Mr. Madden was warmly congratulated for his boldness in paying such a big price, with the thought only of improving the blood lines of his breeding farm.

The Chairman of The Jockey Club explained that he had plenty of Rock Sand and Fairy Gold blood in his stud, and parted with the colt largely in the interest of breeding.

Racegoers have seen the last of the brilliant three-year-old Friar Rock, that is under the silks. Though it was thought that he would be seen in the Realization Saturday, Mr. Madden has announced that the son of Rock Sand had run his last race. "It is not through any fear that he would be defeated," said Mr. Madden. "He has met and vanished every entrant to the big race, but I do not want to take a chance on having him injured. I have arrived at this conclusion after giving the matter a lot of thought. He is as sound as a bell of brass and I am going to retire him that way. He will be gradually thrown out of training, and sent to Kentucky within the month." Madden handed Sam Hildreth a check for an amount far in excess of what the trainer's percentage would have figured in the event that Friar Rock had started and won the three-year-old classic.

Friar Rock is by Rock Sand-Fairy Gold, and consequently carries the best blood of the English turf. The colt is a half-brother of Fair Play and Golden View, the dam of Rock View, Fairy Gold also is a full sister of Dame d'Or, dam of All Gold, that royally bred English stallion which is now standing at H. P. Whitney's stud.

Rock Sand, which died last year, was third biggest money winner in the history of the English turf, his earnings being $250,848. He was surpassed only in this respect by Isinglass with $280,675, and Donovan with $275,812. Rock Sand was purchased by Mr. Belmont several years ago for $125,000 and stayed in this country for several seasons. When racing came into unfortunate days Mr. Belmont sold him back for $150,000. His blood has been remarkably potent and Friar Rock on the side of both his sire and dam, as the following pedigree shows, can be said to be bred in the purple.

In this connection it may be recalled that Mr. Belmont refused an offer of $200,000 by Lady Douglas for Tracery, another son of Rock Sand, which raced with much distinction in England three or four years ago.

Sam Hildreth, Mr. Belmont's trainer, was sorry to part with the horse and was rather surprised when the offer was accepted. He had no hesitancy in saying:

"Friar Rock is not only the best horse I have ever trained over a distance of ground, but the best I have ever seen. I do not think that there is a horse in this country which can beat him at even weights at a mile or over. He is a colt of fine conformation, perfectly sound and with a fine disposition, which makes him easy to handle. I am sorry to lose him out of the stable."

When Mr. Hildreth called Friar Rock the best horse over a distance he had ever seen, he did not except the great Fitz Herbert, which he owned himself; Ben Holladay, Ethelbert, Imp, Firenze, Longstreet and others which have made turf history in this country. He is not given to extravagant remarks, either, about the horses he trains, so that his flat statement, without even an exception, carried much weight.

Friar Rock developed slowly last year, but has established himself this season as a truly great horse. He had started nine times, winning four races, finishing third twice, and three times unplaced. He won such turf classics as the Belmont Stakes, the Brooklyn Handicap, the Suburban Handicap and the Saratoga Cup, and stands fourth among the big money winning horses of the year with $15,275 to his credit. In speaking of his purchase, Mr. Madden said:

"I am sorry to take such a good horse away from racing, but I need him for stock purposes and in the long run the turf of this country will be the gainer. I feel confident that the blood of Rock Sand will nick well with the mares on my farm, and Friar Rock is, such a splendid individual that I feel no hesitancy in taking the chance that he will prove to be a success in the stud."

Only seven horses have been sold in this country for a price better than $50,000, as follows: Rock Sand, $150,000; St. Blaise, $100,000; Meddler, $72,500; Watercress, $71,000; Hamburg, $70,000; Hermis, $60,000, and Sir Martin, $55,000.

Hamburg was sold a second time for $60,000 and Meddler for $55,000, while the late William C. Whitney paid $50,000 for Nasturtium. Fitz Herbert changed hands for $45,000 and later for $40,000.

Mr. Belmont, speaking of the sale of Friar Rock, said:

"I first said 'No' to Mr. Hildreth, but finally agreed to part with my good horse.

"I felt that the record of a sale like this would be the best possible indorsement of the general feeling of the turf today and that I ought to let the record be made.

"Racing helps keep our breeding farms going. I look at racing from a very serious point of view. It is a deplorable fact that the light horse is threatened with practical extinction in this country.

"Foreign buyers for the European armies have been unable to secure any substantial number of cavalry horses. They can only buy transport and artillery horses, and none too many of them.

"We ourselves have the greatest difficulty in mounting the few cavalry troops which we have in the service.

"If we, in the case of emergency, could not mount our sons and brothers properly, we would be committing the same crime as though we were placing an inferior rifle in their hands.

"I hope Mr. Madden will derive as much pleasure and success from Friar Rock as was in store for me."

W. H. Rowe, the Jockey Club's registrar, in commenting on the sale remarked:—

"Friar Rock is a grandly bred great race horse. His equal is not likely to be obtained by men who are trying to buy horses in England for $75,000 to $100,000."

LOCAL NOTES.

A distinct acquisition to the blood stock interests of America was made this week, when Kenneth D. Alexander consummated a transaction by which he becomes owner of the beautifully bred horse, Trevisco, one of the best two-year-olds in England this season. Mr. Alexander expects to race him and later retire him to Woodburn Stud, the home of so many famous horses in the past. The horse will be trained with the Kentucky Derby particularly in view, and judging from the many favorable reports of the press abroad, if all goes well, he will prove a formidable candidate.

Trevisco stands 16 hands high, on the best of legs and feet. He is very good looking, big, strong horse, with much quality. He is a rich chestnut, with a white stripe on his face and nose, a little white on his near fore coronet and on his near hind white nearly to the his fetlock. As will be seen from his pedigree, he leaves nothing to be desired in the way of bloodlines.

As to Trevisco, it was the manner in which he won the Baldoyle Foal Stakes. The colt did his work in handsome manner and although beating King Michael by only a neck, actually he won in a canter, for at no stage of the race was he going more than a sharp gallop while he had the others well strung out quite two furlongs from home. His rider eased him a long way from the winning, post, and it was clear that the margin of a neck was capable of very considerable expansion. The performance was good the more so as the colt is nothing like his best yet, and I shall be greatly surprised if his owner has not in him, a two-year-old that will make a high mark. His fine size and raking type suggest that in his three-year-old days he will achieve the best results, which however is not to say he will not prove his capabilities among those of his age the present season.—[London Sporting Life.

A fine colt. If Trevisco which won the Foal Stakes does not turn out a topsawyer I shall be greatly surprised. He may not have had much to beat on this occasion, but he performed his task like a workman and a high-class youngster, which he looks no matter what way you take him. Indeed, one does not often come across a more truly moulded two-year-old possessing such muscular power.—[The Dublin Sport.

The Foal Stakes at Baldoyle was won by a very fine colt, Trevisco, as good looking youngster as we have seen this season, for he has power, size and reach and gained success in an effortless manner. He is only now coming to himself and he should fashion into a high-class three-year-old. Which is the best of our juveniles? I should take Certosa di Pavia and Trevisco as the leaders.—[The London Sportsman.

Corrigan & McKinney, Wickliffe Stud, purchased this week from Charles W. Moore, Mere Hill Stud, the fourteen-year-old brown mare, Intrigue by Kingston out of Pink Domino (dam of Sweep) by Domino. Intrique was bred by the late James R. Keene, and is the dam of Schemer, and other good winners. She is now in foal to McGee and will be bred next year to Ultimus.

Western buyers will have their first opportunity to purchase yearlings at auction next Tuesday evening, when the Kentucky Sales Co. will conduct their annual sale at Lexington. The scarcity of yearlings should bring a large crowd to the sale, as there are only about sixty-five in the catalogue and but few to follow in subsequent sales.

A yearling gelding by Sain, out of a winner and sister to stake winners, is advertised for sale in this issue. See ad.

"The Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association," said President Hal Price Headley, "is well satisfied with the result of the meeting of the State Racing Commission. The two objects for which it had striven since early June were obtained—the elimination of Walter H. Pearce as a racing official and an increase in the minimum sum to be added to purse races. It is immaterial to the Thoroughbred Horse Association how Mr. Pearce resigned. The fact that he is out is sufficient."

The sale at Tattersalls Tuesday night will be the first sale of yearlings in the West this year. About sixty-five yearlings are catalogued, together with a few mares, the stallion Horron and several horses in training, including the two-year-olds property of the estate of the late Wood Clay. All the horses catalogued will be offered for sale on Tuesday evening.

John E. Madden has bought another Rock Sand colt from August Belmont, which he will send to Kentucky for stud purposes. This is the brown colt Lord Rock Vale, 3, by Rock Sand out of the great brood mare, Lady Violet by The Ill-Used. While Rock Vale has been a winner, it was mainly on account of his rich breeding that Mr. Madden bought him. His dam, Lady Violet, was a daughter of Lady Rosebery, by Kingfisher, and her second dam was Lady Blessington, by Eclipse. She has been a prolific brood mare, her best son being that very fast racehorse, Watervale, by Watercress.

It is very seldom that anyone gets a chance to buy shares in the Kentucky Association. Five shares are advertised for sale in this issue. See ad.

Manager John Hachmeister has arrived at Douglas Park and taken up his duties there to complete the preparations for the coming autumn racing season at that course, which begins on Monday, September 18, and ends on Tuesday, September 26, after eight days' racing.

J. C. Milam has purchased of Dr. J. D. Neet the chestnut yearling colt by Stalwart—St. Andres, by Quicklime.

H. P. Headley's two-year-old Buford sent back from New York with sore ankles, was turned out at Beau mont Farm Wednesday.

E. R. Bradley stated that he had offered John E. Madden a profit over what he paid August Belmont for Friar Rock.

Always it has been a difference of opinion between men that has helped to make the racing of horses the grandest and most thrilling of all sports. And now because Andrew Miller, owner of that good horse, Roamer, still is of the opinion that his horse is better than August Belmont's Stromboli, which beat him in the Municipal Handicap at Belmont Park last Monday, there is to be another match race between the two that will be worth going many miles to witness. A race has been arranged for today that is intended to bring the two rivals together once more. The conditions of the race are as follows: "Special sweepstakes, three-year-olds and over, by subscription of $10, starters to pay $1,000 additional, with $2,000 added, all to the winner; special weights; weather clear, track good; one mile and a half." Frizzle will probably be named in the overnight entries and later withdrawn, in order to conform to the rule concerning match races. Loftus will ride Roamer.

Yearlings, the property of Messrs. Williams Bros. and George J. Long will be sold at Louisville Sept. 30. These are the get of Hilarious, Martinet, Alvescot, Sir Huon, Sempronius, etc. The Kentucky Sales Co. announce that they can accept a few more for this event.

Hon. Johnson N. Camden, chairman of the Kentucky State Racing Commission, was unable to attend the opening of the fall race meeting here Wednesday owing to poor health. Mr. Camden left Tuesday for New York, where he will be placed under the care of a specialist. He was accompanied by Mrs. Camden.

Campfire has now won a total of $50,035. This is a greater sum than has fallen to the portion of any horse in American racing since 1910. That year another fine and fast two-year-old, Novelty, won $72,630 for Samuel C. Hildreth and headed the list of money winners of the year.

For the first six months of the year Jim Gaffney had the best average for his winners in the leading stallion list. He had only five performers which won $28,926, an average of $5,785. He was eleventh on the list.

Mr. G. D. Wilson and Mr. A. J. Gorey have advised the Kentucky Sales Company that they will dispose of their entire studs at their annual sale, the latter part of November. Several other breeders will also be contributors to the sale, which should make it a very attractive one. It will be composed largely of breeding material, and the prices obtained for yearlings this season, should be an incentive for people in a position to care for mares to invest in them.

James Corrigan and Price McKinney, who own the Wickliffe Stud and stable under the title of Corrigan & McKinney, arrived in Lexington from Cleveland to spend the rest of the week at the local meeting. They are accompanied by W. C. Clancy, trainer for the Wickliffe stables. The Corrigan & McKinney string is training at Louisville.

* * *

Bulse, J. W. Parrish's crack three-year-old, which showed such good form last year, but has not been in racing trim for some time, has been turned over to Mike Bowerman for handling during the fall and winter. Bowerman will work him out over the pikes and endeavor to get him in shape for campaigning at the spring meetings.

* * *

Othello and Leo Ray, two well-known horses, are on the list of cripples at the local track. Both raced in the opening program Wednesday and both sustained the same sort of injury, being disabled by bowed tendons.

* * *

Maurice A. Wells, exercise boy for his uncle, Howard Oots, died Monday night from injuries received when his horse collided with another at the track Monday morning. He was taken to the St. Joseph's hospital but never regained consciousness. Wells was seventeen years old and was working for Mr. Oots during the school holidays. He intended to reenter school next week. He is survived by his mother and one small brother. His home was at 727 West Main street.

* * *

The horses composing the Wickliffe Stable, property of Corrigan & McKinney, will be shipped to Lexington from Louisville, Monday, to race here during the remainder of the meeting. The string includes the winners Vague, Diversion, Passing Fancy, Mida, Basil, and Felicidad.

Secretary G. D. Wilson, of the Kentucky Association, announced that the thirty-two races for purses less than $600 in the book for the Lexington meeting will have an additional value of $100 each to conform to the action of the State Racing Commission, which fixed a minimum of $600 for Lexington and $800 for Louisville and Latonia.

* * *

The horses finishing first, second and third in the Futurity were bred and nominated by their respective owners.

GOOD PRICES FOR KENTUCKY YEARLINGS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Twenty-four thoroughbred yearlings were sold at Durland's tonight by the Powers-Hunter Company for a total of $28,525, another convincing evidence of the health of racing and the widespread interest in the improvement of the breed of horses. These were consigned by O. H. Chenault from his Spendthrift Stud at Lexington and by J. O. and G. H. Keene from the Keeneland Farm, near Lexington.

Mr. Chenault offered seventeen for a total of $10,025, while the seven that were sent into the ring by the Keenes brought $18,500. This was a sale average of $1,188, but the Keene average was $2,644, a remarkably good showing.

Schuyler L. Parsons was the biggest buyer and he paid the top price of the auction when he obtained a chestnut colt by Trap Rock—Twilight Queen for $4,000. He also paid $3,600 for a chestnut son of Ballot and Micaela and $3,500 for a brown or black filly by Jack Atkin—Agnes Virginia, an own sister to Jacoba, winner of the Spinaway of last year for Mr. Keene.

BELMONT PARK STAKE DATES.

Saturday, September 9—Lawrence Realization, three years old, 1 1-2 miles, and Corinthian Steeplechase, three years old and up, about two and a half miles.

Monday, September 11—The Nursery Handicap, two years old, six furlongs.

F. Housman, one of the latest recruits to the ranks of owners, has purchased the three-year-old Polroma from B. Garson for a price not made public. This is an imported colt by Polymelus out of Lacroma, which was claimed from Jefferson Livingston during the Saratoga meeting. Jules Garson will continue to train the racer.

It is at first sight curious that while the bloodstock market in this country has been very depressed, the prices fetched by yearlings in Germany this season are showing marked improvement on those for a number of years before the war. In "Deutscher Sport," for example, of Aug. 13 appears a return of the sale of the Harzburg Stud yearlings. Seventeen yearlings fetched a total of 3,875 sovs , which yields the respectable average of roughly 228 sovs. per head. The stud in question had no sales last year or in 1914 owing to the war, but from 1902 to 1913 the aggregate and also the average sum realized only on one occasion exceeded this year's. Our contemporary is so overjoyed at the apparently unexpectedly good outcome of the present sale that it regards it as as "a sign of a coming time of golden prosperity for the German thoroughbred industry."—[London Sportsman.

ARGENTINE RACING.

We note from "El Jockey," the official organ of the Jockey Club at Buenos Aires, that, as was also the case last year and in 1914, Diamond Jubilee is out by himself in the leading stallions, his stock having won (up to July 19) fifty races of the value of 297,480 pesos The native-bred Old Man (by the Eclipse Stakes winner, Orbit), which was second to Diamond Jubilee in 1915, is again the latter's nearest attendant with 31 races to his credit (worth 187,000 pesos), while Greenan has moved up from ninth into third place. St. Wolf is another on the up-line, standing fourth. At the close of last year Cyllene was third, but for the time being he has dropped back to seventh place, with Your Majesty ninth. Jardy (son of Flying Fox) is fourth, but Flying Fox's other son, Val d'Or, which was fourth last season, is now not in the first dozen. Among the jockeys, D. Torterolo again holds pride of place with 54 winners, and the leading stable is that of Senor Correas, the owner of Diamond Jubilee, who has won twenty-two races, worth about 121,000 pesos. Our contemporary records the victory in the classics "Maipu" of Petite Chose (by Greenan), which covered the six furlongs in 1:10 4-5, good enough time even when compared with Master Willie's record over the fast Epsom track in England of 1:07 1-5, and Iron Mask's record at Juarez of 1:09 3-5. A more important classic, the Premio Saavedra (one mile, 22,030 pesos to the winner), was won by the Mon Reve Stable's Arenales (by Diamond Jubilee), which beat a dozen others in the hands of D. Englander, who is third among the winning jockeys, with 47 victories.

William McGee, a two-year-old chestnut colt by McGee—Fleeing Venus, owned by James Fitzsimmons, dropped dead on the training track at Belmont Park after working Saturday morning. This youngster was a half-brother to Skeer Face, which has always displayed an erratic and flighty disposition.

The Southern Railway has issued a very complete booklet containing 31 pages of descriptive matter with illustrations, including maps, etc., regarding places for summer camps in the United States forests in North Carolina.

Copies of this booklet and information with regard to round trip fares, etc., will be gladly furnished on application to B. H. Todd, D. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

Established in 1875.

KILMER PURCHASES MAGIC.

After negotiations that extended over practically a year Willis Sharpe Kilmer has purchased the English stallion Magic, a chestnut horse foaled in 1907, by Martagon, out of Sesame, she by St. Simon out of Maize, while the latter is by Hampton out of Palmflower by The Palmer. Magic's greatest feat probably was his defeat of the brilliant Bayardo in the running of the Goodwood Cup which is over a journey of about two mile and five furlongs.

Magic's full brother, Buckwheat, won the Brighton Cup, Duke of York Stakes and Prince Edward Handicap, while his third dam, Palmflower, proved herself one of the greatest stud matrons in the history of the turf, for among her produce was St. Florian (the sire of Ard Patrick) Siphonia (the dam of Symington) and Musa, a winner of The Oaks, the latter the dam of Mirska, which also accounted for The Oaks. Mr. Kilmer has also purchased two yearlings by Magic, these being a bay or brown colt out of Djama and a chestnut filly out of Greyshot. The former is by Mackintosh, while the latter is by Grey Leg. Magic and the yearlings will be brought across within the next few weeks and then shipped to the farm of their owner near Binghamton, N. Y.

VIRGINIA STATE FAIR RACES.

Racing Secretary W. Conway Saunders announces in THE RECORD this week a full list of the running races to be run at the Virginia State Fair on October 10, 11, 12 and 13. Entries to these races close on Tuesday, October 3. See the announcement for full conditions of races.

OISEAU DOING WELL IN CANADA.

MONTREAL, Sept. 6.—Oiseau, sire of Silk Bird, winner of the Quebec King's Plate, is rapidly making a good reputation for himself, and so well he should, for besides being in his day one of the champion race horses of America, his pedigree bristles with the best blood of America and England.

He is by Ornus, son of the immortal Bend Or, progenitor of the stallion line to which Ormonde, Orme, Flying Fox, Golden Garter, Orby, Goldfinch, Olambala and Ostrich belong, and his dam Kitty Gunn was a daughter of Virgil, sire of Hindoo, grandsire of Hanover and great-grandsire of Hamburg, Halma, Buck Massie, Ben Holladay Handspring, Yankee and Compute.

English breeders claim that the Bend Or strain when transmitted through the male line is the best obtainable, and American breeders swear by the blood of Glencoe, Vandal, Virgil, Hindoo and Hanover, no matter how a horse comes by it.

Olambala winner of the Suburban, Commonwealth, Brighton, Saratoga and Champlain Handicaps, and just now famous as the sire of Campfire, winner of the Futurity is a very close relation of Oiseau. Both are by Ornus and both out of mares by Virgil. And if Olambala retired with a great racing record, so did Oiseau with this difference that Oiseau was famous in 1904-05, when rivalry was keener than at any other time in American turf history. The only horse that could take Oiseau's measure in those years was the late James R. Keene's Sysonby. Sysonby beat him in the $50,000 Great Republic at Saratoga and in the Annual Champion at Sheepshead Bay.

Oiseau was bred by J. H. Warner, of Davidson County, Tennessee, and after beating everything from Louisville to Fort Erie was brought to New York by John Greener of Nashville. This was in 1904 when he was a two-year-old. He won the Prospect Handicap at Gravesend with 132 pounds up and going from there to Morris Park beat Tradition in the famous Champagne Stakes. After that race he was sold to James B. Brady, of New York, for $27,500. As a three-year-old he beat nearly everything but Sysonby. In the Spendthrift Handicap at Sheepshead Bay in 1905 he beat Cairngorm and in the Second Special at Gravesend he defeated the famous Caughnawaga at the latter's favorite distance, a mile and a half. Oiseau ran the distance in 2:33 1-5 and this was when Gravesend was not a very fast track.

Oiseau was brought to Canada by John F. Ryan, Managing Director of The Canadian National Bureau of Breeding, and was stationed in Montreal to take the place of Masterman when that horse died. That he is a worthy successor of that son of Hastings is now well proven. Last year the first of his get beat all the other province-bred youngsters and this year the King's Plate went to his son. Another of his get, The Lost Bird, owned by Dr. Charles McEachran, of Montreal, is considered the best two-year-old province-bred at the track and will probably win the stake this week. Before being brought to Canada Oiseau was bred to a few mares in Kentucky and one of them threw Gay Bird, a first rate handicap horse. Billy Frew, another son of Oiseau, was much fancied for this year's King's Plate and performed even better in trials than Silk Bird, but unfortunately the colt died of lung fever a couple of weeks prior to the race.

NOTABLE ENTRIES IN LAUREL STAKES.

A list of the subscribers and horses nominated to the stakes for the coming meeting at Laurel has been issued by General Manager M. J. Winn. All the big events have filled unusually well and it is of interest to the general turf world to note that practically every big stable in the East will be represented during the October session at the course of the Maryland State Fair Association.

James Butler has named Spur, High Noon and many of his best juveniles in the various events and these racers will be forced to face the sternest sort of opposition. Stromboli, Malachite, Fernrock and Hourless will sport the silks of August Belmont, while Harry Payne Whitney will be represented by a strong delegation in charge of Albert Simons. Then there will be the large string of Gifford A. Cochran in charge of William Midgley and Tom Healy will be on hand with the racers of R. T. Wilson.

Crimper, which is owned by a Washington sportsman, has been nominated in several of the stellar events and it appears certain that he will race. The names of Roamer and Short Grass also appear on the list and this pair will undoubtedly clash in many of the big events over a distance of ground. All told racing at the Laurel course will have a most metropolitan aspect with the pick of the Eastern horses contesting for the rich prizes offered.

The list of nominators includes the following:

W. J. Anderson—Yankee Notions, Sir William Johnson.

Mrs. E. Arlington—Scarpia II., Republican, Longfellow.

Mrs. James Arthur—Bondage, Water Lady.

James Arthur—Sable, Prohibition.

Archibald Barklie—Blankenburg, Holiday.

James Barry—Lord Fitz Herbert, Wiseman, Thornhill.

H. G. Bedwell—Early Light, Blue Grass Belle, Manokin, Anita, Golden List, Sir Edgar, Brave Cunarder.

August Belmont—Friar Rock, Stromboli, Hourless, Deer Trap, Woodtrap, Deck Mate, Fernrock, Tea Caddy, Delancey, Malachite.

Beverwyck Stable—Lena Misha, Ima Frank.

C. K. G. Billings—Moratorium, Grundy, Omar Khayam.

E. R. Bradley—Believe Me Boys, Blind Baggage, Black Coffee.

R. L. Bressler—Sky, Merchant.

Brighton Stable—Yellowstone, Tom McTaggart, Marse Henry, Ed Garrison, Sprint, Underwood.

Grant Hugh Browne—Mair Mc, Crepuscule, King Herod, Gun Bearer.

E. T. Zollicoffer—Fruit Cake, All Smiles, Christie.

BIG ENTRY IN FALLS CITY HANDICAP.

Secretary H. C. Applegate, of the New Louisville Jockey Club, has made public the entries to the Falls City Handicap, the feature race of the initial day at the coming autumn meeting at the oldest of Louisville's racing tracks, which opens this fall on Wednesday, September 27.

The Falls City Handicap was first run off at the Downs in 1910, and was that year a six furlong event, the same as this season. The very fast mare, Melisande, ridden by T. Koerner, won the inaugural of that stake, with Jack Atkin second, and Ocean Bound third. She covered this distance in 1:12, which is still the race record of the event at six furlongs. In 1911 the distance was increased to a mile and an eighth and then restored to six furlongs in 1912. The winners since have been Buckhorn, Wilhite, Leochares and Prince Hermis, the noted High Private capturing the stake the year it was run over a mile and an eighth course.

There is one more entry in the Falls City Handicap this season than in 1915, and the nominations this fall are in class perhaps more brilliant than ever and embrace many of the speed marvels of the present racing year. The weights to this stake this season will be announced three days before the event is run off. The entries in full for the event follow:

The Falls City Handicap, for three-year-olds and upward, with $2,000 added; six furlongs.

Two of the four stakes to be run off at Churchill Downs have exceeded in number of entries the same events of last season, while the nominations for the big race of the meeting, the St. Leger Handicap, to be run on Thursday, October 5, in high class of performers exceed that of any other year in the history of this stake since it has been an event for three-year-olds and upward. The other races of the stake variety to be run at the Downs this autumn, the entries in which will be made public in a short time, are the Golden Rod Stakes, to be run on Saturday, September 30, and the Cherokee, to be run on Wednesday, October 4.

Every prospect points to a most brilliant autumn racing season at the Downs. A number of Eastern stables, as well as the bulk of the Kentucky-owned and western strings, will participate in the eight days of racing at this great plant. Manager M. J. Winn, who is now in the East, reports that many horses from that section now racing at Belmont Park will come this way, and as the Canadian racing season is about over on the date the Downs racing is run many strings will come from the Dominion here this autumn.

THE LEADING STALLIONS IN ENGLAND.

As there will be no more racing for some time we give below the list of winning sires corrected to date. Polymelus has slightly increased his advantage, but is confronted by a new rival in Chaucer, which has displaced Radium, and now takes second position. Among the remainder Bayardo and Tredennis have done well. The list includes all racing in England, and that in Ireland up to the date of the last Irish "Calendar."

GOOD START AT LEXINGTON.

September 6,

Running in front all the way and showing a sparkling performance, E. R. Bradley's Irish-bred brown mare, Killanna, saddled by Cliff Hammon and ridden by King Lapaille, won the Phoenix Hotel Handicap at one mile and a furlong, which featured the card of seven races for the inauguration this afternoon of the Kentucky autumn racing season, and the opening of the Kentucky Association's meeting of ten days. The time 1:51 3-5 is within two-fifths of a second of the track record, jointly held by Governor Gray and Franklin. Jockey Lapaille put up a good ride on the Bradley mare and kept her running hard all the way. She is a rail runner and saves a lot of ground on the turns. McAdoo was closest to her all the way, but he was not near good enough. Aldebaran showed some early speed, but weakened after turning off the backstretch, which enabled Water Witch to beat him for third money. The form players selected Water Witch as the one most likely to turn the trick and she was at odds of 3 to 2, while Killanna paid $9.50 for a $2 straight ticket.

The fall racing season on the Kentucky circuit was ushered in in grand fashion with a good crowd and weather and track conditions ideal for the sport. The fields were small, but well-matched horses contested in a majority of the races. Fast time was the order of the day, there being two six-furlong races run in better than 1:13.

Route racing featured the opening day's programme, as four of the seven races were at a mile or further, and they all proved good contests. Only one race was given over to the two-year-olds, that being the Nursery Purse, the fifth on the card, which went to The Baroness.

For the first time sealed bids to run up the winners of selling races were used in Kentucky, and it did not stop the bidders to any extent. It looked as though the selling war which was carried on last spring will again go on this fall on the Blue Grass circuit. Dimitri, winner of the first race, was advanced from $1,000 to $1,605, and retained, and Marjorie D., which won the second race, was boosted from $400 to $805. Harry Fink did the bidding on both horses. After Hocnir was beaten in the third race Joe Goodman claimed him for Kay Spence for $1,600.

Jockey C. Tudor, who rode Mars Cassidy to victory in the third race, graduated from the maiden ranks with his first mount of his career. He has been galloping horses for C. R. Anderson, but today was the first time he had ever ridden in a race. He put up an excellent ride on Mars Cassidy.

Dimitri, under a rousing ride at the hands of Jockey King Lapaille, won the opening race of the meeting by four lengths from Anna Kruter, which beat Uncle Hart two lengths for the place. The winner broke in front and was never in serious danger. Anna Kruter was always in closest pursuit of the leader, but she was not good enough. Uncle Hart closed strongly. Othello was installed favorite for the race, but he never was a contender, and his poor performance was a hard blow to the form players. Corsican's effort was by no means his best, and he will show to better advantage before long.

The long shot players reaped their second harvest when Marjorie D., owned by N. F. Dortch, of Louisville, won the second event on the card, and paid $42.30 for a $2 straight ticket. This race which was at a mile and seventy yards, was hard fought all the way, with Camellia having a slight advantage most of the journey. In the stretch Rapids managed to get her nose in front for an instant, but she was not good enough to stick it out. Marjorie D. came with a good rush toward the end and was drawing away at the finish. Booker Bill was always a serious contender. Injury was never prominent. The latter was the favorite.

Mars Cassidy scored in the third race by a length over Hocnir, with Deliver third. The winner kept close to Hawthorn, the early pacemaker, until after turning for home, and then he went to the front. He was put to a hard drive, however, to stall off Hocnir's rush at the end. The latter was on his worst behavior at the post, and used himself up considerably. Deliver came fast towards the end. Hawthorn weakened to nothing after setting a fast early pace. Primero and Sleeth was always outpaced. Hawthorn was the favorite, but Hocnir also came in for a good play.

The Baroness, owned by Jefferson Livington, managed to beat the barrier by a good margain in the fifth race, and she held a safe lead all the way to win by two lengths from Lady Kathern. The Baroness is a sister to Chalmers, and she has a lot of early foot. Lady Kathern ran like a good filly, and stood a hard drive through the stretch to stall off Saffron Girl. The latter closed fast. Hester Smith was never prominent. Twelve two-year-old fought it out in this race, and the start was a straggling one. There were the usual number of "good things" in it, and speculation was fairly well divided. Saffron Girl was the favorite.

Colonel Vennie made it a double for the Livingston establishment when he won the sixth race in easy fashion from Bob Hensley, which in turn beat Manager Waite half a length for the place. Colonel Vennie was restrained off the early pace, which was set by Manager Waite and Bob Hensley, but when Jockey Roy Urquhart called on him he moved up rapidly and soon drew away from his field. Dorothy Dean, a slow beginner always, was coming strong at the end. Bell Boy did not show the form expected of him, and he can do better. This also was a good race from a wagering standpoint, but again the form players went down in defeat, as the winner paid odds of better than 5 to 1. Bell Boy was the choice.

The form players got their first break of the day when Yenghee won the closing race by a big margin from Tokay. Yenghee went to the front right away, and he made every post a winning one. Tokay ran a good race all the way, but was not good enough for the winner today. Irish Gentleman also ran well and had no trouble holding third place safe. Leo Ray, which on class looked to stand out over this field, is in a bad way, due to leg trouble, and he pulled up lame. Yenghee paid $4.70 for $2 straight ticket, and he was the first short-priced horse of the day to win.

September 7.

The good racing offered the first day was continued today. The attendance also held well, there being no appreciable falling off from the first day, as is sometimes the case.

One of the big features of the afternoon was the riding of Jockey Roscoe Goose, who, out of six times at the post, landed home three winners and two seconds. Beginning with the third race, with Lady Rotha, he followed up his victories with winning mounts on his namesake, Roscoe Goose, and Sansyming. Goose now leads the riders, with four winning mounts; King Lapaille is second, with three, and Murphy third, with two. No other boy has gotten home more than one winner, Hunt, Tudor, Urquhart, Kederis and Andress each having one.

Possibly the most interesting race of the card was the third race, in which the heavily played Lady Rotha came home first. The talent bet on her like the race was all over, and proved that they were right, for the little mare went to the front and never was in danger of being headed during the entire race. The aged mare, Star Jasmine, was second, having to put forth quite an effort to beat the good filly Embroidery, that made a stiff challenge in the stretch, and it was only after a stiff argument that the McDowell mare landed the place.

Langhorne was considerably the best of the field in the first race, the principal opposition being offered by Miss Kruter, with the veteran Cash on Delivery in third place.

Sleeper had to stand a stiff drive to outfinish J. Rufus in the second round, with Dr. Barlow a good comfortable third. None of the rest of the field was very dangerous.

Roscoe Goose had considerable difficulty in landing the fourth race, the Cedar Grove Purse, from Filigree and Kinney. The place was a close one, Filigree getting the decision by a neck.

Sansyming, going into an early lead, was forced to put forth his best efforts in the stretch to stall off the bid of Solid Rock, while Amulet was a bang-up third. Sansyming, however, had enough left to make another effort and drew away a half length in the last few strides.

The Balgowan Purse, for two-year-olds, came sixth on the program, and was won by E. R. Bradley's Believe Me Boys, with Midway in second place and the favorite, Blaise, third.

Waterproof, laying off the early pace, outfooted Galaway in the stretch in the seventh race and won rather handily, with Galaway a tired second. White Crown landed the show money.

Mack Garner, who rode Filigree in the fourth race today, was set down for five days by the association stewards for his ride in that event. On the turn he carried Kinney wide, letting Roscoe Goose through on the rail to win the race.

JAVATO WINS THE NURSERY STAKES.

MONTREAL, QUEBEC, Sept. 7.—J. Whyte furnished the winner of today's feature race at Blue Bonnets, the Provincial Nursery Stakes, when Javato, ch f, 2, by Ben Trovato—Jaffa, galloped home an easy winner from The Lost Bird. The Provincial Nursery is one of the important stakes run on the Canadian circuit for Canadian-bred two-year-olds. The Montreal Jockey Club adds a purse of $1,000 to the stake and the Government of the Province of Quebec awards $500, which is distributed among the breeders of the first four horses. In today's race D. Raymond's Recorder started out with a rush and drew away into a commanding lead, but entering the homestretch Javato overhauled him and assumed an easy lead in the last furlong, winning by half a dozen lengths.

WINNER OF BEST MILE AND A QUARTER EVER RUN OVER THE KENTUCKY ASSOCIATION TRACK, EQUALING THE TRACK RECORD 2:03 4-5, WITH 9 POUNDS MORE WEIGHT THAN THE PREVIOUS RECORD HOLDER, INDOLENCE.

THE RACING AT LEXINGTON.

September 8.

Under a masterful ride at the hands of Jockey Roscoe Goose, Colonel Vennie, Jefferson Livingston's three-year-old son of Picton—Shy Missie, won the Spendthrift Purse, the feature of today's racing card at the Kentucky Association course. He was one of four winners ridden by the star jockey. There were only four starters in the race, which was at a mile and one-sixteenth, for three-year-olds, the others being Jane Straith, King Gorin and Milestone, and they finished in the order named. The winner was an odds-on favorite, paying $3.50 for a $2 straight ticket. Three races were won by the Livingston horses, and Mose Goldblatt saddled another.

Colonel Vennie was in last place most of the way while King Gorin was setting the pace. The latter was only a small margin in front of Jane Straith, and the Strang mare finally got to the front after turning for home. She had a rough journey, however, as she was knocked about considerably in the early running. When straightened away for the wire Jockey Goose let out on Colonel Vennie and he responded like a good horse His margin at the end was a length and a half, while Jane Straith was two lengths in front of King Gorin.

Racing Secretary Will Shelley arranged another good card for today, and as a result the attendance again showed an increase. The weather was threatening and some rain fell in the morning, but not enough to affect the going, which was fast. There were only three selling races on the programme, the others being purse and condition affairs. The sprinters had a big inning, as there were only two route races decided.

The next race in point of interest to the Spendthrift Purse was the fourth on the programme, the Sister Mary Farm Purse. This was for three-year-old fillies at six furlongs, and it brought out a good field, including Jefferson Livingston's Julia L., which beat Bayberry Candle in her previous effort at Saratoga. Only five horses contested for this event, but all had a chance.

The Livingston stable made it a double in this race when Julia L. was returned an easy winner over Sister Susie, beating her three lengths. Biddy was third, beaten a length for the place. Sister Susie set the early pace, closely attended by Mission Bell, but neither of them could stand it when Julia L. charged on them. Biddy was slow to get going, but when she did she came with a good rush. Mission Bell weakened badly. When Julia L. won it marked the first victory for Trainer Louis Tauber since he recently became connected with the Livingston stable.

The opening event on the card which was for maiden three-year-olds and up fell to Beautiful Girl. She was slow to get going, but in the stretch she came fast and was drawing away at the end. Southern League finished second after running a good race all the way. Turco came with a rush toward the end. J. C. Stone was off poorly and had scant chance on this account. Pierce W. showed a high flight of early speed and got to the front once, but could not stick it out. Ill Savin also weakened.

For a change, the Baker boys got a good price against one of their horses when Mary Belle won the second event by four lengths from Rosabel and paid $13.80 for a $2 straight ticket. The winner was kept off the early pace which was set by Rosabel, but when Jockey Roscoe Goose called on her she took command and at the finish was only galloping. Diamond, which was at a long price, finished third. Nettie Walcutt was well up in the early running, but weakened badly toward the end. Paramount also showed to good advantage. The others were outrun all the way.

Trainer Mose Goldblatt, who handles a branch of the Livingston horses, kept up his winning streak when Matin, which runs in his own interest, won the fifth race by a length from Rhyme. The latter was the best horse, but he had a lot of bad racing luck. Matin was lucky to escape crowding at the start in the big field and held the lead all the way. Milbrey was the closest to the pacemaker, but she weakened toward the finish. James ran a wonderful race after getting off last and finished fourth. County Court was well up in the early running, but he stopped.

It was another case of Jockey Roscoe Goose in the sixth race when he outrode Jockey Jack Brown and got the verdict with Droll by a head over Liberator. Droll was slow to get going as usual, but she finished with a terrific rush. Liberator was always a contender, and after losing the lead he came again in the final running. Anna Kruter was in front part of the way, but she weakened badly. Kootenay showed some early speed, but stopped. He can and will do much better as today's race helped him. Egmont broke fast but dropped back and could never get up again.

The Livingston-Goldblatt combination kept up the good work in the seventh race, Mandy Hamilton beating Camellia by the margin of a nose. Jockey King Lapaille put up a rousing finish on the winner and fairly lifted her under the wire. Camellia set the pace nearly all the way, but she was not quite good enough. Commauretta closed with her usual fast rush. Rapids was shut off several times and dropped back to last place in the run through the stretch. The winner was the favorite.

After the finish of the sixth race Martin Casca dropped dead just after passing the wire. Jockey Albert Mott luckily managed to get his feet out of the stirrups and was thrown clear of him.

After Droll's victory she was advanced from her entered price of $1,000 to $2,000 by Harry Fink and Owner F. Fogg let her go at that figure. Egmont was claimed out of the same race for $1,510 by B. Nestlehouse, who owned Martin Casca.

Racing Secretary Shelley announced that Galaway, which had finished second in the last race yesterday, had been deprived of second money through the fact that his rider, Nerger, was not entitled to an apprentice allowance which had been claimed by the owner. The ruling did not affect the betting since Galaway carried the weight allotted. Second money out of the purse was paid to White Crown and third to Colonel Marchmont.

Outbreaking his field and leading all the way, Manager Waite, T. C. McDowell's four-year-old son of Watercress—La Venganza, won the Ashland Handicap, named after his owner's farm, the feature of today's racing card at the local track. Only four horses contested for the event, which was worth $700, and it resulted in a driving finish, the winner getting the verdict by half a length over Aldebaran, and the latter beating Hanovia a neck for the place. Dorothy Dean was the other starter. The time for the race, which was over the route of a mile and one-sixteenth, was 1:45 1-5, and this was within four-fifths of a second of the track record. Manager Waite set a fast pace all the way, running the first quarter in :23 4-5, the half-mile in :48, the six furlongs in 1:12 4-5 and the mile in 1:38 4-5.

The best crowd of the meeting to date was on hand for today's racing and the card arranged by Racing Secretary Will Shelley was a good one. Weather and track conditions were of the best variety, and the various fields were well matched. Several of the races were made up of such small fields that there could be no show betting on them, but they all proved good contests. The form players continued in their winning streak, as the first five favorites won and with the exception of one race they got fair prices for their money.

The Mount Brilliant Handicap, a six furlong affair for three-year-olds and upward, which was the third race on the card, was the next best race of the day, and this also was a four-horse affair, with the Baker Bros. represented by an entry, Bringhurst and Amazon. Bringhurst was returned the winner by a length and a half over John Jr., with Vogue third. John Jr., set the pace most of the way, but his lead was never by much of a margin, and, turning into the stretch, Bringhurst grabbed him. The latter had to be driven hard the greater part of the run through the stretch, but toward the finish he drew away.

Another close finish came with the running of the seventh race, in which Booker Bill beat First Degree by the margin of a head. The tables might have been turned had not Jockey Frank Murphy, who rode Booker Bill, carried First Degree wide. Galaway set the pace most of the way, but Booker Bill took command turning into the stretch and stood a hard drive to win. First Degree did all of his running in the final quarter of a mile. Howdy Howdy, odds on favorite, ran as though he might have needed a race or two.

John W. Klein, winner of the first race, was bid up from $500 to $905 by Roy Martin, but Owner John W. Schorr kept him. J. A. Gibson bid up Spring Wheat from $500 to $905, but he was kept by Owner Will Perkins. Gibson also bid up Booker Bill from $400 to $805 and Perkins retained him.

John W. Klein had to be much the best horse to win the opening race, as he was off poorly and was far back in the early running, but he managed to get up fast enough in the stretch to beat Miss Kruter half a length. Charmeuse was third, a length behind the place horse. Blanchita essayed to set the early pace but she weakened and then Morristown and Miss Kruter took turns at getting to the front. Neither could stand it, however, when John W. Klein made his move. Morristown weakened badly. The others were outpaced all the way. There were plenty of money for the winner, and as a result he went to the post the choice.

There was nothing to the second race but J. Rufus all the way and at the end he was three lengths in front of Monotony, with Philemon third. Jockey Walter Taylor rushed J. Rufus into a good lead and kept whipping him until he had the race sewed up. Monotony came with a good rush at the end. Philemon was well up throughout. Elizabeth Thompson displayed good early speed but weakened in the final running. Precious was a contender throughout, but fell back in the stretch. Schedule went well until making the turn for home when he weakened.

Cash on Delivery added another purse to Jeff Livingston's collection when he won the fifth race, but with riders reversed it is probable that Luzzi, which finished second, would have been returned the winner. Jockey Roscoe Goose piloted Cash on Delivery and he put up a wonderful ride, fairly lifting the horse under the wire in front. He got through on the rail and saved a lot of ground, and this gave him the race. Ha' Penny set the early pace and then Luzzi got to the front, but Cash on Delivery could not be denied when Goose made his move with him. The race was between the three placed horses all the way.

Spring Wheat just galloped home with a lead of eight lengths in the sixth race, after running away a short distance while going to the post. Bessanta went out in front at the rise of the barrier, but she could not stick it out, and, turning into the stretch, Spring Wheat took command and easily drew away. Deckhand was coming strong at the end, but he prefers a longer distance. Bessanta had no trouble holding the show position safe. Bingen had an in and out journey and finished fast. Helmet's Daughter was off poorly and had scant chance. Bessanta was the favorite.

September 11.

In the fastest run race of the meeting to date, and equaling the track record for a mile and seventy yards, 1:42 1-5, Jane Straith, George Strang's three-year-old Dalhousie—Tickle filly, won the Wickliffe Purse, the feature of today's racing card at the Kentucky Association track. The filly was in front all the way and at the finish she was six lengths in advance of such a good mare as Star Jasmine. She ran the distance in sizzling fractional time, running the first quarter in :23, the half mile in :46 2-5, the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5 and the mile in 1:37 4-5. Six horses started in the race, and King Gorin finished third, beaten a head for the place. Jockey Frank Murphy carried off the riding honors with four winners and two thirds.

When the barrier went up in the feature Murphy made no mistakes with Jane Straith, which is a wonderfully improved mare since she raced on the Kentucky circuit last spring. He had her winging, and passing the six-furlong pole she had a lead of two lengths on her closest opponent and was running strongly. King Gorin was the one trying to catch her, but it was plain to be seen that he was not equal to the occasion. Star Jasmine was far back and did not get to running until after turning for home. Then she came with a good rush, but just did manage to beat out King Gorin. Bob Hensley went well until making the turn for home, when he weakened badly. Tokay and Indolence, the other two starters were outpaced all the way.

George Strang won himself another purse when Deliver captured the fourth race. She was lucky to get the best of a bad start, and, although Sister Susie outran her the first part, she easily drew away in the final running and won by five lengths. Kinney took down the place money, beating Biddy a length and a half. Sister Susie was well up until the final three sixteenths of a mile, when she weakened. Sansyming showed early speed, but he wants a longer route. Milestone and Mikifula were practically left at the post, and this killed their chances. Kinney was the favorite at odds of 11 to 10.

Luzzi took the track soon after the break in the opening race and she led her field all the way, winning by a length and a half from Busy Joe. Rapids was third, being beaten two lengths for the place. Jockey Frank Murphy kept Luzzi running hard all the way and Busy Joe was never very far from her. Rapids wants a longer route, but she closed fast. Busy Alice, a full sister to Bradley's Choice, showed a lot of early speed, but she could not stick it out. The others were outrun all the way.

A driving finish attended the second race, which was for maiden two-year-old fillies at five and one-half furlongs, Bird Lore getting up in the last jump to beat Pollyanna, an extreme outsider in the betting by the margin of a head. Pollyanna dominated the running most of the way, while Bird Lore was having rough sailing, but after Jockey King Lapaille got the latter clear in the stretch she came through with a good rush. Queen's Park, which was third, ran a good race all the way. Ruth Wehle showed a good flash of early speed, but weakened. Snowdrift ran a good race. Jockey L. Gray fell off Flashlight during the running of the race, but he was unhurt.

Peachie managed to get a neck verdict over Jocular in the fifth race, chiefly due to the energetic ride which Jockey Frank Murphy put up on her. She was always well up while George C. Love was setting the early pace, and in the last furlong she managed to get to the front. Jocular finished fast to get the place. George C. Love weakened a trifle near the end and had to be content with the show position. Opportunity was as good as left at the post and he ran the best race of any, being beaten less than a length for all the money.

Amulet accounted for the sixth race, which was at a mile and a quarter, and he negotiated the distance in 2:05 3-5. He was kept off the early pace, which was set by Booker Bill, and in the stretch he was forced to stand a hard drive to beat Injury. The latter came with a good rush toward the end, but fell short by half a length. Booker Bill weakened in the stretch. First Degree dropped back in the first stages and could not get up again. Marjorie D. went well in the early running, but stopped badly.

Mars Cassidy ran right back to his previous winning effort and scored again in the seventh race. He beat Blackie Daw by two lengths, and the latter beat Skiles Knob a nose for the place. Skiles Knob set the pace most of the way, but when Mars Cassidy moved up on him he quit. Blackie Daw was off none too well, but he came fast in the final quarter. Hawthorn, the favorite, went well until making the turn for home and then he quit to a walk. Anna Kruter never could get untracked.

After Amulet's victory he was advanced from his entered price of $500 to $805. John Gallaher protected him.

September 12.

In track record time, a mile and one-quarter in 2:03 4-5, Embroidery, Arthur B. Hancock's four-year-old Celt-Network mare, won the Hartland Handicap, a $1,000 purse affair, the feature of to-day's racing card at the Kentucky Association track. The mare was cleverly ridden by Jockey Frank Murphy, and at the finish she was only a scant head in advance of McAdoo, which beat Killanna four lengths for the place.

Only four horses started in the feature race, Water Witch being the other one. Killanna dashed to the front as usual and led most of the way, but she could not last it out. She set a fast pace as far as she went, running the first quarter of a mile in :24, the half mile in :47 2-5, the six furlongs in 1:12 3-5 and the mile in 1:38 4-5. While she was out winging Jockey Murphy was carefully nursing Embroidery along, and when he made his move with the mare she was there with plenty of speed. McAdoo also came like a whirlwind at the end and just missed getting up. Water Witch was outrun all of the way.

Though the fields were small the racing this afternoon was highly entertaining, several of the finishes being exceedingly close. The closest was in the last race, where the judges gave Waterproof the decision by a nose, though many persons in the stand and on the ground were of the opinion that Camellia outstayed "Bud" Hamilton's gelding.

Another close finish was that in the race won by Morristown from Colonel Marchmont and Cash on Delivery, and in the opening race Dimitri hung on to win by half a length from Droll, a head better than the favorite, Hocnir, which got third only by a nose from Uncle Hart. The Baroness won her race by a length in a drive with Bessanta. Commauretta was so much the best that it was a shame to take the money.

Henry Fink ran up Commauretta $500 over her entered price of $500. She was retained by W. J. Weber. Walter H. Pearce ran up Morristown $300 over his entered price of $500. He was retained by R. D. Williams.

September 13.

The biggest upset of the Kentucky Association's meeting came with the running of today's feature race, a mile handicap, in which W. H. Baker's Lady Rotha ruled a prohibitive favorite and was outpaced by Mrs. J. C. Yeager's Huntress to the finish. Huntress showed a keen flight of speed for the entire race and held the favorite safe at all points, going the distance in 1:38 1-5. An added source of vexation for the backers of Lady Rotha was the fact that she paid as much for place as she would have done had she landed in advance of Huntress. Contention for Lady Rotha was expected from Hanovia, but that filly, after racing forwardly for three-quarters, retired and had all she could do to outstay the fast-coming Dorothy Dean.

The two-year-old dash at five and a half furlongs also brought an upset when J. W. Schorr's Cudgel, showing a suddenly improved performance as compared with his last previous one, won in easy fashion from good opposition, that included the Wickliffe Stable's Basil, making his first start at the track. The finish in this race for the minor positions was spectacular, noses separating Basil, Judge Young and Rosabel. The latter quit badly in the stretch racing after enjoying a substantial lead.

The talent began auspiciously when Kootenay, which was whispered about as the "best thing of the meeting," won the opening event. Margaret N. set the pace most of the way, but when Jockey Hugh Shilling let Kootenay out the affair was as good as over. Langhorne came with a belated rush in the stretch, but fell short by three lengths. He beat Billy Joe the same margin for second money. Margaret N. weakened to nothing. Busy Alice finished well. Blarney ran away six furlongs after the finish.

Galaway led his field all the way in the third race, which was a maiden affair at one and one-sixteenth miles for three-year-olds and upward. At the finish he was a length and a half in front of J. C. Stone, which beat Winnie O'Day six lengths for the place.

Solid Rock, a 17 to 20 chance, won the fifth race in a gallop from Injury, beating him a length and a half. Injury beat Rapids eight lengths for the place. Louise Stone opened up a big gap in the early running, but she is not of much account. Solid Rock took up the running when Louise Stone weakened. Injury closed with his customary rush. Rapids also came fast at the end.

Tokay was returned the winner in the sixth race by three lengths over Yenghee, with Aldebaran, the favorite, third. The winner was kept off the early pace, which was set by Irish Gentleman and Yenghee in turn, and in the stretch running he went to the front and easily drew away. Yenghee hung on gamely, but he was no match for the winner today. Irish Gentleman weakened badly after leading part of the way.

After Solid Rock's victory he was bid up from $600 to $1,005 and retained by Trainer Tom Hayes.

September 14.

Four local horses were returned winners at the eighth day of the Kentucky Association meeting today. The track was muddy for the first time during the meeting and this seemed to be just the thing the Lexington horses were looking for. Favorite players had about an even break, winning three of the seven races. Local horses started things in the second when Ross and Looney's Waterford won from a field of eight maiden colts and geldings, followed up by W. L. Lewis & Co.'s John, Jr., in the third, R. L. Baker & Co.'s King Gorin in the fourth, and William Woodard's Opportunity in the sixth.

The feature races were supposed to be the Hinata Handicap, which came third on the card and in which John Jr., running back to his good form of his last race when he gave Bringhurst a lot of trouble to handle him, beat Conning Tower and Amazon, the latter being never in the fight, and the Leland Hotel Handicap, at a mile and a sixteenth won by King Gorin, trained by Auval (Jack) Baker. The imported colt, Colonel Vennie, winner of his two previous starts here, was the principal contender, but the son of Transvaal was best today and had something left at the end. However, the feature performance of the afternoon was put up by the two-year-old Waterford, that graduated from the maiden ranks in the second race. He got away "winging" and won as far from the rest as he pleased in 1:15 2-5, for the six furlongs while the older horses ran the distance from 1:16 1-5 to 1:18 4-5 over the muddy track.

Jockey Roscoe Goose secured the riding honors today, piloting two winners, Waterford and Sleeth, while Murphy had the leg up on John Jr. This now leaves Goose one mount behind Murphy, Goose having thirteen wins and Murphy fourteen. The friendly contest between the two boys is occupying much interest among the spectators as the two are very popular with the crowds.

Morristown accounted for the first race handily. He was at home in the going and the next best, John W. Klein, was not able to make him extend himself. Hawthorn quit badly during the last stages of the race, after being second most all of the way and dropped out of the money. The show went to Anthony's Lass.

Waterford was far the best of the maidens that started in the second race. He went into a long lead at the rise of the barrier and just breezed along all of the way to the stand. Goose was looking round in the stretch, with nothing close, Penrod being second best.

John Jr. upset the talent in the third race by beating Conning Tower and Amazon rather handily. John was away well and drew away in the stretch, having plenty to spare at the finish. The favorite, Conning Tower, was second and Amazon a good distance back.

King Gorin and Colonel Vennie made a pretty race all of the way in the fourth. The former won with something to spare, drawing away at the finish. Colonel Vennie ran a good race and was close up all the time. Capt. Rees was lost in the going and dropped back, being far out of it.

Sleeth, running well, managed to stave off the stretch challenge of Hocnir without much difficulty. Nephthys was third.

Opportunity and Matin had a stiff stretch battle in the sixth event with the first named having the better of the argument and drawing off some at the finish. Bessanta landed third place.

Filigree proved best of the field in the seventh, though the finish was a close one. Blackie Daw, coming fast, snatched the place from Skiles Knob right at the wire.

The steamship Mongolia, which arrived in New York Wednesday evening, brought over only a few thoroughbreds. Dr. McCully was the consignee, but the animals are destined for H. T. Oxnard and Willis Sharpe Kilmer.

Mr. Oxnard's importation is the fashionably-bred four-year-old brown filly Autumn, by St. Frusquin out of Cornfield by Isinglass. She is in foal to the royally-bred and successful racehorse and sire, Adam Bede, by Adam, son of Flying Fox.

Mr. Kilmer's importations consisted of the bay broodmare, Carisbrooke Castle, eight-years-old, by King's Messenger out of Squint II. by Hagiscope. This mare is in foal to Willonyx, and is said to be a fine individual, to say nothing of her fashionable breeding. Another of Willis Sharpe Kilmer's importations by the Mongolia is a fine filly foal which Carisbrooke Castle has at foot. This youngster is by Corcyra (son of Polymelus).

The third of Mr. Kilmer's importations is White Dinah, a fine-looking bay filly, yearling, by The White Knight (son of Desmond) out of Dark Dinah by Tarporley.

Mr. Croker has informed our Irish correspondent that as he is proceeding to America he is selling off his stud of horses and mares. It was said that Mr. Croker intended retaining his breeding stud, consisting of the sires Orby and Josh, the brood mares, their foals, and yearlings, but our Irish correspondent has learned that these will be included in the sale, which will also embrace his highly-bred breed of cows. Mr. Croker has had some eye trouble, and the visit to the States is for the purpose of undergoing an operation to the muscles of his eyes. He will return to Ireland.

Mr. Croker has chiefly raced in the Emerald Isle, though the Yale blue jacket is not unknown in England. His most important success, of course, was that of Orby in the Derby in 1907, which the son of Orme won from Wool Winder and the odds-on favorite, Slieve Gallion.—[London Sporting Life.

LOCAL NOTES.

Friar Rock, John E. Madden's recent $50,000 purchase is still holder of the five and a half furlong record over the straight course at Belmont Park. This record was made July 17, 1915, when a two-year-old with 106 pounds up in 1:03 4-5.

* * *

H. Price Headley sold this week to Walter Jennings, acting for A. K. Macomber, two high-priced youngsters in the yearling chestnut colt (half-brother to Bulse) by Uncle out of Nethersole, by Tournament; and the yearling bay colt by Uncle out of Tehera (dam of Batouch) by Nasturtium. Mr. Macomber purchased seven yearlings by Uncle from Mr. Headley in May.

* * *

J. C. Milam has purchased of E. L. Davis the yearling bay colt by Bryn Mawr—Anne Evans, by Rossington.

* * *

J. C. Milam a few days ago shipped the yearling bay colt by Sweep—Ellangowan (dam of three winners) to New York for the inspection of George W. Loft and Trainer Max Hirsch, subject to a contract that Loft would pay $5,000 for the colt if he liked him and $500 for the option if he did not like him. Milam received a telegram saying Loft had bought the colt and was sending the money. Milam bought the colt a month ago from Messrs. T. J. and G. H. Clay for $3,500.

* * *

R. D. Williams has purchased Kootenay from B. Williams of Detroit.

* * *

J. G. Wagnon has purchased Corsican from H. Fink and will take him to Havre de Grace.

* * *

John Whitlow expects to start Westy Hogan during the Douglas Park meeting. The colt is training nicely.

* * *

A well-known turfman says:—

"I've a suggestion to make that will stop the gyps from operating in selling races.

"Let every horse in the race be subject to a run-up. Let the basis for purchase be the price at which he is entered, plus the purse, all bids to be sealed. Give the owner the same right to protect as is given the owner of the winner now. Give none of the surplus to any horse, but put it all into a fund to be pro rated at the close of the meeting to the owners of the winners of the selling races run during the meeting. That would stop the fellows who have engaged in a cheap brokerage in horses and it would stop spitework. It would make the races more interesting to the public, more profitable to the association and likewise more profitable to the owners of the winners."

* * *

J. E. Madden has purchased the two-year-old filly Affection, by Isidor—One I Love, from William P. Orr, and will use her as a broodmare. Mr. Orr bought the filly at the Sanford sale last week at Belmont Park.

* * *

Jockey E. Martin will not be seen in the saddle again this year. Saturday morning his right leg was broken above the ankle. The mishap followed America's canter of three-quarters of a mile. Martin brought the filly to a standstill and was allowing her a breathing spell. Brown Velvet, with the exercise boy H. Lunsford up, a Covington boy, going at full tilt, crashed into the McDowell filly before Martin could get her out of the way. The collision threw both horse and rider. Lunsford escaped injury but Martin, in addition to the broken leg, had several cuts about the head.

* * *

Ed Crump, of the Macomber stable, has been alloted top weight in the Douglas Park Inaugural Handicap with 126 pounds. Hodge comes second with 121, while four Macomber horses are next as follows: Dodge 120, Star Hawk 118, Hank O'Day 115, Dick Williams 113. Of those which apparently are fortunate in the award of inpost, Franklin with 112, Lady Rotha with 113 and Manager Waite with 111, seem especially favored.

* * *

George J. Long, the only turfman who ever reared and raced in his own colors two winners of the classic Kentucky Derby, in reviewing the great racing stars of the present day and of other days, said the other day that Longfellow was by odds the highest type of a thoroughbred race horse that he had ever seen. Said Mr. Long: "He is the only horse I ever saw that could be standing with a collection of a hundred or more high-type thoroughbred horses and would have all the crowd around him. That he was the one phenomenon of the American thoroughbred breeding world is fully illustrated to my mind by the fact that since his day breeders have employed everything known to the art of study of pedigree lines and high conformation and his counterpart has never as yet been reproduced."

FOXHALL.

Claresholm, Alta., Canada.

EDITOR THOROUGHBRED RECORD:

Referring to Mr. McCreery's letter in your issue of 2nd inst., it would seem that Mr. Moorhouse had not previously heard of Mr. Bathgate. In "Turf Celebrities I Have Known", by William Day, published in 1891, the last chapter, entitled "Types of Foreigners", is mainly taken up with the grievances which Mr. Day felt he had against Mr. Bathgate and his advisers for mismanagement of "Foxhall". Mr. Day complained that there was no necessity for Mr. Keene and other American owners appointing managers like Mr. Bathgate, claiming that implicit trust should have been placed in the trainers. He gave instances of Mr. Bathgate's bad management stating that he was influenced by Mr. Ten Broeck. That Mr. Day ever informed Mr. Bathgate "that Foxhall was a wonderful colt and that he expected to win both handicaps" is not borne out by Mr. Day's statements, extracts from which are as follows;

"In vindicating my own conduct I may here say in the first place I begged of Mr. Bathgate to get a trial horse, and even selected one, for the purpose of trying Foxhall, which Mr. Keene would not agree to purchase, at least this was the reason Mr. Bathgate gave me for not doing so. Had this been done and Foxhall and Don Fulano's respective merits been ascertained, the former two and a quarter miles, and Don Fulano one and a quarter miles (the Grand Duke Michael Stakes course), which was nothing but business, Mr. Keene might have won £10,000 on him over it, and £70,000 or £80,000 over the Cesarewitch on Foxhall, and at a good price too, as the horse would not have run in public and been exposed before then; and double the amount might have been won on him for the Cambridgeshire without exaggeration, for with nine stone on him few would have backed him beside the stable. Don Fulano would have remained favorite till the last on public form, as the winner of the Grand Duke Michael Stakes in a canter. But Mr. Bathgate insisted that they should both run, the sad result of which we all know. With different tactics, Mr. Keene might and most likely would have won over £200,000 on the three races. As it was, nothing was won on the first race by Mr. Keene, Mr. Bathgate or myself, and £4,000 was all that Mr. Keene won on him for the second (Cesarewitch), the rest of us only a "bagatelle," for we knew nothing of his merits over that course, and though we won on him for the last race, it was only Mr. Keene that could afford to put down £4,000, all his former winnings on him for the Cambridgeshire.

There is no doubt Mr. Ten Broeck thought Don Fulano would win the Cambridgeshire. Mr. Bathgate was equally sanguine of success and they commenced backing him immediately after the Grand Duke Michael.

Mr. Day narrates that unaware of who was backing Don Fulano he went to London to see Mr. Bathgate and was amazed to hear that he and his friends were. Mr. Day informed him that the horse was not doing any work, not having got over the effects of making the running for Foxhall in the Grand Duke Michael and expressed the definite opinion that Foxhall would win the Cambridgeshire.

"I was never told until the Friday before the Cambridgeshire which of the two horses would run, or whether either or both would be absentees for the memorable race. But it is a fact that can now be clearly seen that, unless I had gone to London in order to enquire who was backing Don Fulano for so much money, he alone would have run and Foxhall would have been kept in the stable."

Whatever Mr. Bathgate's version of the story was, Mr. Day's is a mournful narrative of "what might have been" in connection with the tremendous victories of Foxhall.

The following is the calendar account of placed horses in the three races referred to:—

Newmarket, Sept. 29, 1881, Grand Duke Michael Stakes, for three-year-olds, one mile, two furlongs and seventy-three yards.

Foxhall 9 st 3 lbs.....Cannon 1
Don Fulano 8 st 10 lbs.....Weston 2
Ishmael 8 st 10 lbs.....Osborne 3
Maskelyne 8 st 10 lbs.....Goater 4

5 to 1 against Ishmael, 6 to 4 Foxhall, 6 to 1 Maskelyne.

STAR HAWK WINS REALIZATION.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—When A. K. Macomber's imported Star Hawk had lead a field of five picked three-year-olds around the track and won the Lawrence Realization at Belmont Park this afternoon the monster crowd that had gathered to see the last holiday's racing on the New York tracks forgot all the disappointment that had come through the announcement that the great match race between Stromboli and Roamer had been called off.

The start was a good one and Spur was the first to show his head out of the bunch, with Crimper second, Kilmer third, Star Hawk fourth and Air Man last to leave.

Crimper had the inside position going to the first turn, when he had beaten Air Man away, and going to the first turn Loftus on Spur rode him close, but there was no actual interference, and when the corner was reached Loftus took Spur out far enough to give the Parr colt ample room.

It was just after rounding this turn that Phillips circled around on the outside with Star Hawk, and before the backstretch was reached he was showing the way and going along under a nice restraint. Air Man for an instant was showing Crimper the way and Spur followed a length and a half further back and well before Kilmer.

In the run through the long straight of the back stretch Air Man and Kilmer were both well beaten when Johnny McTaggart moved with Crimper and Loftus quickened his pace with Spur. This took the pair of them to the heels of the Macomber colt, but he was still going very strongly and Phillips was sitting still like a veteran and apparenty in no sense stage-struck over the importance of the race.

All the way to the stretch turn both Crimper and Spur continued to close, but it was only because they were being hurried and Star Hawk was not being urged.

Phillips made an excellent turn into the straight and both Crimper and Spur went outside of him. Once headed for home McTaggart called on Crimper, but the son of Maintenon was doing his best and he could not respond. Then Loftus fairly lifted Spur along, and for a few strides it seemed certain that he would come along with one of his magnificent stretch dashes and save the day. But he had a good colt in front of him in the Realization and a colt that was fit. It was only for an instant that the son of King James closed, and at the last furlong pole it was very apparent that Star Hawk would be a handy winner.

In the last desperate struggle Spur gamely raced to a length of Star Hawk, but the Macomber colt had not been urged and his victory was a comparatively easy one. Right at the end Spur was four lengths before the thoroughly beaten Crimper, while the other two starters were beaten off fifteen lengths.

The race was a good one and, while Spur was beaten, he was giving Star Hawk nine pounds and his was a surprisingly good race even in defeat.

Sweet Finch was bred by James B. Haggin in 1903 and was exported to England in 1904. Lucania was also bred by James B Haggin. School Girl was bred by A. J. Alexander.

There was a great gathering at the racecourse today, and undoubtedly the majority of those present had gone with the expectation of seeing August Belmont's Stromboli and Andrew Miller's Roamer meet in a match race at a mile. With a perfect day overhead and a track that gave every promise of being good, if not fast, under the brisk wind and sunshine, there were many murmurs of disappointment when the announcement came directly after the running of the first race that the big event had been called off.

Word came that while Mr. Miller was perfectly willing, and in fact eager, to go on with the battle, that Trainer Sam Hildreth had declined to start Stromboli because of the known dislike of Mr. Belmont's horse for anything other than a fast track.

"My horse cannot extend himself on any other than a fast track," said Hildreth when asked why he had called off the race. "I do not think I would be doing justice to my employer or the public if I started him today, and the conditions are such that I could not give him satisfactory work for a race of this kind to be run Monday, so the race is off for good. My gelding is a delicate fellow and you can't use the same methods with him as with a more robust thoroughbred. I'm sorry, but there will be no race between the two this season."

At any rate, there was a day of racing worth the trip to the course.

DOUGLAS PARK NEXT WEEK.

Manager John Hachmeister has everything right up to the minute in preparation for the big opening next Monday at Douglas Park and he is more than confident that a new record in autumn racing at this great plant will be set this fall. The stables are filled with horses and there will not be a class of sport in the racing line at Douglas Park this autumn that will not be of the very first order and the two-year-olds events especially will draw out better fields than marked any of the juveniles events of the spring and summer racing at any of the Kentucky tracks this year.

Indications are that the field will be large and classy in the Inaugural Handicap, the feature race Monday, and the event is of great interest this season as a number of the starters will also more than likely go in the Louisville Cup Race, two miles, the big event of the autumn season at Douglas Park, which will be run on Saturday, September 23. The entries in full follow:

The Douglas Park Inaugural Handicap with $2,000 added, for three-year-olds and upward, one mile and a sixteenth.

YEARLING SALE AT LOUISVILLE.

The next yearling sale will take place in the paddock at Churchill Downs, Saturday, Sept. 30th. The principal contributors to this sale are Williams Bros., George J. Long and F. J. Pons. It is a well recognized fact that the Williams Bros. have in their establishment some of the choisest mares in the country and their entire crop of yearlings, seventeen in number, will be sold in this sale. They are from the dams of such performers as Gainer, Hauberk, Gallop, Hectograph, Jocular, Safe Home, Innovation, Intention, James, Farraud, Helio, Eastman, Industry, Immune, etc., and all are by the two successful stallions imp. Martinet and Hilarious.

Mr. George J. Long's contributions consist of the get of imp. Alvescot, imp. Sempronius, Sir Huon and Free Lance, from such mares as the dams of Hortense, Madelle, Dalston, Rodondo, Exemplar, Katahdin, Civita, Dundreary, Weyanoke, Nicias, Valletta, Fels, etc.

Mr. Pons is offering, for the first time, the get of the two stallions Tony Bonero and Judge Wright. Tony Bonero has sent two crops of foals to the races and every one has been returned a winner. These yearlings are out of such race mares as Grace Mc, Agnes May, Lady McGee, Abrasion (27 wins), Dolly Bultman, Edna Collins, May Lutz, etc., and include brothers or sisters to such performers as Meddling Miss, Lily Heavens, Swift Fox, Blue Grass Belle, Eddie Graney, Great Dolly, etc.

The catalog for this sale will come from the press today and copy of same will be mailed to any address upon application to The Kentucky Sales Co. at Lexington. This sale will afford about the last opportunity to secure racing material for the two-year-old events of 1917 and owners who have not provided themselves with yearlings would do well to inspect these yearlings and be in attendance at the sale.

IMPORTANT TO BREEDERS.

EDITOR THOROUGHBRED RECORD:

It is apparent to every breeder that our present sales arrangements for yearlings are woefully deficient and unsatisfactory. After interviewing many of the prominent breeders at Saratoga, they all agree that Saratoga is the logical place, and August the proper time to sell all marketable yearlings; for the reasons that the East, West, and Canada are all represented by the best stables, and that yearlings naturally do better there than any other place; besides being an ideal place to break same.

The idea is to establish a permanent sales mart, with capacity to accommodate all marketable yearlings at the same time. Catalogue all in one catalogue; sandwich each consignment in pro rata proportion. Begin sale at 8:30 each evening by electric light and continue until all are disposed of.

Powers-Hunter Company are in perfect accord with this idea, and assure us that with the co-operation of the breeders in agreeing to consign all their marketable yearlings, that the plan will be consummated for the next season.

M. W. WILLIAMS.

SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING OF THOROUGHBRED ASSOCIATION.

Having assumed national instead of sectional scope, the Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association will hereafter be known as the Thoroughbred Horse Association, the word "Kentucky" being eliminated, and women as well as men will be eligible to membership. These amendments were among several changes ordered at the semi-annual meeting of the association, held at the Phoenix Hotel last Saturday night. Following the change made in the name of the organization, Secretary Cromwell was directed to have the articles of incorporation amended accordingly.

President Hal Price Headley presided and Secretary Thomas B. Cromwell was on hand to keep a record of the minutes. The secretary read the minutes of the meeting held at Saratoga; also, a financial statement of the association.

It was further voted that the articles of incorporation be amended to do away with proxies, confining the annual election of directors to the members present and voting.

Heretofore women were not eligible to membership. The by-laws were so amended to permit women who are interested in the improvement of the thoroughbred horse and the sport of racing to become members. The sentiment in favor of "equal rights" was more than four to one.

It was voted that members of the association on and after January 1, 1917, will wear a button, to be of gold, to cost not over $2 and to be furnished at the expense of the association. A committee appointed for the purpose made selection of a design from among a number submitted by competing jewelers. The button will be round and will have a thoroughbred horse's head in the center with the name of the association in an enameled circle.

The question of conflict in racing dates and excessive racing at New Orleans or elsewhere brought out quite a difference of opinion. Some contended that competition was the life of trade and the New Orleans dates should be divided, and some thought the association at New Orleans last year should have given the horsemen more money. However, the majority was against a conflict in racing dates and against excessive racing at New Orleans or elsewhere and the directors were instructed to make more certain the meaning of the horsemen than was conveyed in the expression of sentiment at Saratoga.

It was moved and carried that the State Racing Commission be requested to so amend its rules as to prevent what is known as "gyping" in selling races, by specifying that a horse bought or claimed out of a selling race will not be eligible to race in any ownership other than that of the buyer or claimer until sixty days shall have expired.

A difference of opinion on the above "request" was expressed by a number of those present in short talks.

For instance, the following is what Mr. E. R. Bradley, Idle Hour Stock Farm, thinks of the selling race rule:

"A change of the present rules is necessary, but too many of us are so self-interested, that we cannot consider the other fellows, and it brings about a lot of silly suggestions. You will hear horsemen discuss and condemn the rich owner for imposing on the poor man, and the hue and cry is that the 'gyp' imposes on every one.

"Without the man of means, our breeding industry would be in a bankrupt condition. Without the 'gyp' the poor man would never realize the value of his platers. So let us give both a chance. A slight conservative change and the sealed bid, now in vogue, will help to solve the problem.

"When a rich owner runs a horse below his value and wins a race, he imposes on three owners, namely, those who finish second, third and fourth. Then provide for them by dividing the surplus or 'run-up' money as follows: To the second horse, give 70 per cent. of one-half the 'run-up' money; to the third horse, 20 per cent. of one-half of the 'run-up' money, and the fourth horse, 10 per cent. of one-half of the 'run-up' money. The other half of the 'run-up' money to be added pro rata to all the races the following day, that is, providing the owner retains his horse. If sold, the original owner is to receive the entered price, plus the purse or less. The rich owner has had his thrill by winning; the 'gyp' has made him pay for it. The owners who finished among the also rans, have no complaint. Therefore, extend no privileges to them, by allowing only the owners of the first four horses to

"Discussion and practical experience will suggest rules that will correct all abuses. All racing associations are incorporated for the purpose of inproving the breed of the thoroughbred, so let us promote rather than restrain exchange in horses. Without contests it would be impossible for the survival of the fittest. Like begets like, and by breeding the best, we can produce the best, so by barter and trade, we can arrive at the intrinsic value of the plater and compel the rich and poor owner alike to enter their horses in their class."

A motion to give protection to owners of losing horses in selling races similar to that accorded owners of winners failed to carry.

A letter from Dr. Williams, of Hopkinsville, suggesting a permanent sales mart at Saratoga was directed to be placed before a meeting of the members of this association who are breeders of thoroughbreds for their attention.

The directors, at a meeting which followed the membership meeting, authorized the president to write a friendly letter to the owner of the City Park track at New Orleans, calling his attention to the danger of a conflict in dates with the Fair Grounds track and declaring this association's disapproval of any movement having a tendency to create strife and cause a loss of ground gained for racing in Louisiana, and advising him that this association stands ready to aid him in every possible manner in the protection of his track and the upbuilding of the sport of racing at Havana, expressing the hope that he will withdraw any idea he may have, if he has such idea, of racing on conflicting dates at New Orleens or of prolonging racing there to the detriment of the sport.

RISH-BRED HORSES COMING TO AMERICA.

The annual sales of bloodstock at Dublin by Messrs. Goff are always notable for the number of horses sold and for the real bargains picked up cheaply. At the sale of this year, late in August, lower prices than usual prevailed. The Irish Bloodstock Agency was an active buyer and, since it was stated, its purchases were mainly for export to this country, its list of yearlings, broodmares and horses fit for racing is here given, together with prices paid:

KENTUCKY SALES COMPANY'S ANNUAL SALE.

Under the auspices of the Kentucky Sales Company Tuesday night George A. Bain disposed of inside of two hours 68 thoroughbred horses in training, yearlings and weanlings for $25,840, an average of $380. Of the number sold 55 were yearlings, and they brought $19,760, an average of $359. Six weanlings brought $2,280, an average of $380, and seven horses in training brought $3,800, an average of $543. The highest prices were paid by Edward McBride, of New York. Three of the yearlings, those out of Suzanne Rocamora, False Sight and Chestnut Belle, knocked down to Jack Baker, were purchased for Colonel Milton Young, who also bought Horron for $1,000. The summary:

SANFORD HORSES BRING GOOD PRICES.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Twelve of John Sanford's horses in training were sold in the Belmont Park paddock just before the racing began today. The sale, which was conducted by the Powers-Hunter Company, with George A. Bain as auctioneer, was well attended and very generally pronounced a satisfactory and successful one. The generally expressed opinion among the horsemen present was that the result was a good omen for the future of racing.

Preston Burch, manager for Mr. Sanford, when asked why that gentleman was offering so many really good and useful racehorses from his stable, replied that the owner of Hurricana had decided to race no more during the current season, and that he desired to make room for the big bunch of forty or more thoroughbreds which he will have in training during the coming season.

Twelve thoroughbreds were offered and sold, and the sale was in no sense a "weeding" one, for among those sold were Leochares, St. Isidore, Bac, Quartz and Gunrock, the richly bred imported chestnut colt by Rock Sand out of Gunfire.

Bac, ch g, 5, by Cunard—Bandello; L. Carey, manager of the Beverwyck Stable	$2,500
Brumley, ch h, 5, by Isidor—Adriutha; A. B. Blakely	2,000
Tyrant, b c, 2, by Radium—Oppression	1,400
St. Isidore, ch g, 3, by Isidor—Onaga; Walter Jennings	4,300
Affection, ch f, 2, by Isidor—One-I-Love; W. P. Orr	950
Kilkenny, ch c, 2, by Celt—Fairy Sprite; H. O. Holland	850
Leochares, b g, 6, by Broomstick—Leayonara; W. P. Orr	4,600
Grand Opera, ch c, 2, by Santry—Light Opera; J. E. Davis	500
Lucius, ch c, 2, by Isidor—Roxane; N. Byer	1,300
Gunrock, ch c, 2, by Rock Sand—Gunfire; J. E. Davis	1,700

The twelve horses from the Sanford stable brought a total of $24,325, making an average of a fraction over $2,027 each.

After the catalogued horses had been sold Two Royals, b g, 4, by Mazagan—Domino Whist, was sold to Ernest Calgerry for $150, and the bay two-year-old filly Katherine to M. A. Silvers for $110.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING AT HAVRE DE GRACE.

BALTIMORE, MD., Sept. 12.—With an attendance of goodly proportions and a display of enthusiasm, such as always greets the return of the thoroughbred in these parts, the fall racing season in Maryland was officially opened today when the Havre de Grace course entered upon its seventeen days' fall meeting.

The enormous Baltimore and Philadelphia patronage was augmented by delegations from New York, Canada and the Maryland half-mile tracks. All expressed approval and were delighted with the aspect the course presented, as a result of the many noticeable improvements which have been installed, of which the train approach and the mutuel machines were the most noticeable.

The new mutuel machines recently installed are of the same type as those at Laurel, which were used last spring, and the manner in which this department was conducted gave great satisfaction to the big crowd. In fact the entire plant now presents a much-improved appearance and, with the track in first class condition, excellent racing can be looked forward to. The course itself has always been popular with the horsemen. Additional stables have been built and everything treated to a fresh coat of paint.

The racing today, while not attracting horses of the high rank, furnished good sport throughout. The feature race, a handicap at one mile and seventy yards, was productive of an easy victory by the sterling mare Bayberry Candle, which responded quickly when called on to win as her rider pleased. Her victory makes her a formidable candidate for the Chesterbrook Handicap, to be run Saturday.

Murphy, after winning the opening race, was advanced from $1,000 to $2,000 by J. W. Hedrick and sold to that horseman.

Daddy Long Legs was much the best in the third, for after getting knocked back to fifth position far behind the leaders on the far turn, he came fast under urging and was up in time to score a sensational victory.

Steve Judge was an arrival from Canada with King Stalwart and several other horses the property of E. J. McGraw. A division of the Bedwell stable and three of G. R. Bryson's string are also here, having come from Detroit.

J. W. Coffroth and Harry Monahan, the former president and general manager of the Tijuana track, were visitors in the interest of the meeting there next winter.

The Kentucky Stable horses, in charge of W. F. Martin, have arrived safely from Saratoga. Kimball Patterson is an arrival from the same place with several racers.

Frank Shannon was among the arrivals from Detroit. He reported the meeting at Kenilworth as being wonderfully successful.

Clarence Buxton has Old Broom, Dervish and Sasin here for G. W. Glick and will endeavor to secure a few more horses for winter racing.

United States Senator Ollie James, J. L. Rhinock, J. J. Mahon and J. J. Mahon, Jr., were among those who mingled with the crowd on the lawn and in the clubhouse. The latter was well filled with a representative crowd.

J. T. Ireland is making his first trip here and was well pleased with the course and the racing.

C. J. Fitz Gerald leaves tonight for Syracuse, N. Y., where he will judge the Breeding Bureau's yearling half-breds by the Bureau thoroughbred sires. He will be back Thursday and Algernon Daingerfield will officiate in his stead in the stewards' stand during his absence.

NEW YORK RACING SEASON ENDS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The New York racing season of 1916 was brought to a close at Belmont Park today, so far as the big circuit is concerned. There remain to be held the usual fall meetings of a day or two each under Hunt Club auspices. It is generally conceded that the season has been by far the most successful since the passage of the Hart-Agnew law in 1908. All of the metropolitan tracks have had larger crowds, more valuable stakes and better racing than at any time since racing "came back" in 1913, after a two years' suspension. Saratoga, too, had a wonderfully successful meeting, perhaps in many ways the most remarkable ever held at the Spa. It seemed as though every day during the season just closed gained new patrons for the turf and they continued to increase until Labor Day, when they gathered by the thousands at Belmont Park and filled that huge course to overflowing. Their presence wrote turf history, for it will be recorded that more persons saw the races on that day, than have attended a race meeting in nearly a decade. And judging from the enthusiasm displayed, it was a crowd that will support the sport in the future. They seemed thrilled by the racing and gave vent to their feelings with round after round of applause.

The Stewards of the Jockey Club, headed by August Belmont, chairman of the turf governing organization, under whose direction racing has been restored to a solid and substantial basis, are well pleased with the racing season's showing and will continue their efforts along the same lines, to make the sport even more popular in future years.

The running of the Nursery Stakes was marked by a disqualification, when August Belmont's Hourless, after finishing first, was set back. Straight Forward was placed first, Vivid second and Koh-i-Noor third. The race was featured by a sensational finish, the four starters racing heads apart when passing the judges. While opposite the eighth post all four horses crowded towards the inside rail, when it appeared to be still an open race. Hourless got up first at the finish on the outside by a head over Straight Forward. All three riders lodged claims of foul against Buxton, who rode Hourless, and, after brief deliberation, the result was changed as above stated. Hourless was, without a doubt, the best horse, as he was off none too well and was carried out midway of the stretch, and outgamed his opponens in the final strides.

HURRY ON'S SEPTEMBER STAKES VICTORY.

LONDON, ENG., Sept. 13.—At Newmarket today the September Stakes for three-year-olds at a mile and three-quarters, being the war-time substitute for the Doncaster St. Leger, was won by J. Buchanan's chestnut colt Hurry On, by Marcovil—Tout Suite, with Lord Falmouth's chestnut colt Clarissimus, by Radium—Quintessence, second, and E. Hulton's bay colt Atheling, by Desmond–Wood Daisy, third. Only five started.

Jerome B. Respess is reported to have disposed of his entire holdings in the New Louisville Jockey Club, Churchill Downs, amounting to $90,000, to Jacob Greenberg, proprietor of the Galt House at Louisville.

BELMONT RACING STATISTICS.

WOODBINE'S HIGHLY ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM.

TORONTO, ONT., September 11.—The final meeting of the Canadian Racing Associations' circuit for the 1916 season will take place at the Woodbine track, September 23 to September 30, for which Secretary Fraser of the Ontario Jockey Club has prepared a fine lot of stakes and overnight races. So attractive is the list that the greatest fall gathering in the histery of racing at the Woodbine course is confidently predicted.

Long distance races will feature the meeting and a steeplechase will be run every day. The famous Toronto Autumn Cup, one mile and a quarter, is among the stakes to be decided. This race carries $2,500 in added money. Another important race to be run is the Hendrie Steeplechase, a jumping event at two and a half miles.

The Ontario Jockey Club Cup, $2,500 added, two miles and a quarter, should result in a great race, for this year's renewal of this important event will undoubtedly draw a good-sized field to the post. The Durham Cup, one mile and three-quarters, is among the other long-distance races to be decided.

RACING DATES FOR 1916.

Kentucky Association, Lexington, Ky., September 6 to September 16—10 days.
Douglas Park Jockey Club, Douglas Park, Louisville, Ky., September 18 to September 26—8 days.
New Louisville Jockey Club, Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky., September 27 to October 5—8 days.
Latonia Jockey Club, Latonia, Ky., October 7 to October 28—19 days.
Ontario Jockey Club, Woodbine Park, Toronto, Ont., September 23 to September 30—7 days.
Metropolitan Racing Association, Dufferin, Park, Toronto, Ont., September 9 to September 16—7 days.
Dorval Park Jockey Club, Montreal Que., September 13 to September 20—7 days.
Rumson Hunt Association, Rumson, N. J., September 16—1 day.
Back River Jockey Club, Mount Royal Park, Montreal, Que., September 23 to September 30—7 days.
Toronto Driving Club, Hillcrest Park, Toronto, Ont., October 3 to October 10—7 days.
Kenilworth Racing Association, Windsor, Ont., October 14 to October 21—7 days.

T. J. Shaw has presented to the breeding bureau of The Jockey Club the brown horse Al Bloch, by Voorhees out of Georgia IV. He will probably be sent to the Genesee Valley region of the State. Al Bloch was a very fair racehorse and is a splendid individual. He should make an ideal sire of hunters and cavalry remounts.

THE THOROUGHBRED RECORD

FORMERLY "THE LIVE STOCK RECORD"

A WEEKLY THOROUGHBRED JOURNAL PUBLISHED BY THE THOROUGHBRED RECORD COMPANY (Incorporated).

Vol. 84, No. 13. LEXINGTON, KY., SEPTEMBER 23, 1916. Whole No. 2173

AMERICAN THOROUGHBREDS IN SOUTH AFRICA HAVE WON MANY IMPORTANT EVENTS. KENTUCKIANS AMONG RECENT WINNERS.

By J. Tyrrell Wallace ("Qrius").

In a leisure hour when recently looking through the racing returns it occurred to the writer that the thousands who read the "THOROUGHBRED RECORD" each week would be interested to learn that American exportations brought to this country are holding their own with the Colonials, and with the oversea importations from the British Isles. In former years South Africa relied for some of its supply on the Argentine and Australasia, but always the bulk came from the colder north.

Since the Boer War, and for a few years following, Australian and Argentine stock has been almost a rarity, importations from the latter country ceasing with Batt's rather small sized son Baluarte brought over "in his teens" with his dam and a select shipment that included a high-class brood mare in Miss Rose (late Miss Elyett) by the exported English sire St. Mirin out of Miss Rovel by Paladin.

Of the thoroughbreds imported from South America, the majority were good class performers, and up to the best standard seen in South Africa, but, unfortunately, one is inclined to deprecate their value having regard to the class of the opposition then available in this country, with a few exceptions, moderates. Camp Fire II., a son of Pearl Diver, and his blood relative Peerless by the same sire could be rated as two of the best South Africans. Charcot by Gay Hermit would be classified with Camp Fire II.

Curiously enough both after proving successful racers were sent to England, where they held their own against the highest handicap class, while stranger still they were eventually repatriated Charcot to Natal, and Camp Fire to the Orange Free State, where he is now located. The dead Charcot a great stayer, left a line of good sprinters, notably Physician, the fastest galloway for his height in the Southern Hemisphere. Camp Fire also endowed his stock with rare speed, yet I hardly consider he was up to the same mark as the Argentine horse, Charcot proving the most versa tile.

These two contemporary giants have been mentioned merely because the best horse raced here in the last ten years can compare with them. The honor thus bestowed on Gondolier does not exaggerate his merit. This son of Watercress is now at stud at Colesberg where the millionaire knight, Sir Abe Bailey K. C. M. G., has an extensive ranch comprising four studs, at which some thirty sires and two hundred brood mares are located.

Gondolier was foaled at the Elmendorf Stud, at Lexington, Ky., where his dam La Venganza is domiciled, according to the latest issue of the American Stud Book. This mare was exported from Australia, one would say by her breeding, for she is by Abercorn (Eng.) the great track rival of Carbine, out of Colonial by Trenton, but I believe what really was the case entitles the distinction of breeding her to remain a matter of doubt, for she was being carried in utero by Colonial when the latter was shipped, and Colonial foaled down at Elmendorf.

Thus Gondolier but for the accident of birth that made Wellington and Kitchener both Irish, might be regarded as Anglo-Australian, if we were to go strictly by parentage. Despite that, Gondolier is regarded as American, and rightly, when referred to by South African authorities. I have pleasant recollections of his sire Watercress when raced by the philanthropic Baron Hirsch, owner of that great filly La Fleche, and a few other good horses like Windgall. Watercress a brilliant miler was endowed with sufficient stamina to get ten furlongs, which was not surprising in a son of Springfield out of a Hermit mare.

Gondolier could claim the same ability as his performances in winning all the chief handicaps on the Rand indisputably proved, conceding big weights and winning the majority of his engagements with a facility that stamped him first class. His former trainer W. L. Randall, who was then controlling the Nancefield Stable for the late Sir G. Farrar D. S. O., accidentally killed when on active service in German South West, contended in a recent discussion that Gondolier was absolutely the best horse he had ever handled, as he had tried him thirty pounds better than Rhanleigh the year the latter won the big Durban July Handicap, and incidentally a small fortune for the stable connections.

Hence we can accept Gondolier as a champion without fear of contradiction. This horse was bred by the late James Ben Ali Haggin, and to the same breeder must be credited two other big winners in The Jay, son of Goldfinch—Clara J., quite an invincible horse on the Durban course last season, and Alluvial, a daughter of Waterboy—Gold. At the big Winter Carnival held at Durban during July, The Jay was backed down to second favorite for the chief event in which he made no show whatever. This unaccountable failure is explained by the fact that he was nearly brought down on one of the sharp turns after covering two furlongs. A big rather ungainly type with massive sboulders and body, short legs in front and great power behind, he sprawls in the getaway and is not extended until he settles down. That his form was false was shown as late as this week when he won the valuable Natal Handicap (1¼ miles) in a canter although the judge made it a close thing at the chair. This event was the principal item on the holiday programme the second day of the August Carnival.

During July, Alluvial beaten for stamina in the ten furlongs event, the big handicap of the meeting, made a bold showing into the straight, and there failed to stay. Three days later she was unluckily beaten a short head in a sprint, and on the concluding day of the meeting, made amends by securing the big event of the day, the Merchants Handicap (six furlongs) after a great finish.

The Jay claims blood relationship to Gondolier since his sire Goldfinch was a son of Ormonde out of Thistle by Scottish Chief, aristocratic breeding indeed, but it is from his dam that The Jay has similar strains to Gondolier, as his dam Clara J. was by the same sire Watercress. Alluvial by Waterboy (a son of Watercress out of Zealandia by Sir Modred) can also be cited as a family connection, and her dam Gold by Golden Garter is a further link with The Jay, for Golden Garter a son of Bend Or (grandsire of Goldfinch) shows cousinship of some degree. Golden Garter should have proved a big stud success as befits the half-brother to such a sire as the sire of Rock Sand.

Alluvial too, claims connection with another high-class American performer sent to this country in Toddington's son Flitwick out of La Fleur by Maxim, as the latter is the sire of Miss Maxim the dam of Gold. Flitwick established record for six furlongs and proved a big stake winner in Natal, where he is now at stud; his racing career was confined to that colony. Hitchy Koo a big chestnut mare that was unfortunate enough to contract biliary fever in Natal three seasons since, has also won many races although not a very brilliant performer, and Starrapark hitherto a rank disappointment when raced on the Rand where the going is adamantine in the winter, appears to have found his real form at Port Elizabeth, where this week he had a double win to enhance recent successes at the same venue. A smart galloway in Brilla Mac, a bright chestnut, has likewise earned her keep, and this article would not be complete without mention of The Siren, a fast but erratic daughter of Broomstick, a good winner from five furlongs to nine.

There are many others of lesser note, and it may be worth stating that one of the best stayers in training is a gelding named Tactician by imported Damocles out of Intact by Wisdom—Tact, the last named mare the grandam of that beautifully-bred stallion Assagai, at stud in Tennessee. Another relative is Tactics by Carbine—Intact died last year in her fourth season at stud; she was probably the best stayer of her sex ever seen in South Africa, and proved a big winner. Her son Jellicoe a well named colt by Stormbound is one of the best of last year's crop that have now arrived at the stage when the authorities permit them to start racing and it will be surprising if on his make and shape he is a racing failure.

Gondolier is not the only representative of America to figure in the S. A. Stud Book, as I notice Greenwood (bay) by Greenan—Salver by Golden Dawn, but this stallion so far has not produced a winner. One of the most successful however, is Perseus III. by Persimmon out of Urania by Hanover, claiming descent from Lexington through his dam. All the Perseus stock come early to hand and he has had this last season the high honor of the best three-year-old in Athens a black colt by Perseus III. out of Tooks by that sire of good stayers Santoi.

Another American stallion of no account as yet from the thoroughbred standpoint, is Sidney Lucas by Top Gallant—Addie C. II. by Kosciusko, but he may one day get mated with a well-bred mare and produce something! For the nonce his services have been relegated to the ignoble utility class, the remounts. It was only when going through the list of brood mares that I recalled Adamstein by Adam—Rabenstein by Ravensbury, but for an accident probably one of the best of her sex raced here; imported with the draft that included Flitwick she won several engagements with few opportunities, included amongst her victories being the most valuable of our distance races. Her first produce Cain by Greatorex was my pick of the draft from the Dwarsvlei Stud and he is now in training at Durban. Cain claims the famous No. 1 family, which may have accounted in part for the excellence of Adamstein.

Tompkins by Diakka—Charmer, a versatile performer at any distance and a big winner his successes including a Goldfields (1½ miles) worth £600 and the Natal Handicap of £500 (1¼ miles) is now a has been used as a hack, but for rare courage his indomitable run at the end of a race was worth going a long way to see. There was another gelding Greenlor by Greenan raced a few seasons ago with profit at the Durban fixtures, a useful sort from five to a mile.

As an instance of the care displayed in the compilation of imported stock in the South African Stud Book, it will surprise enthusiasts to find the following as a sample entry:—New Deal (brown) U. S. A. S. B. Vol.....? bred in 1906, by Hastings out of Souveraine.

This excellently-bred mare, an own sister to Sumach, raced in England if I remember right by her owner-breeder, Mr. A. Belmont, is one of the best pedigreed matrons doing stud duty at Dwarsvlei where the sires are Greatorex (Carbine—Mrs. Butterwick by St. Simon) Minor Forfeit (Minting—Maibaum by Scottish Chief), etc. Souveraine is not such an unknown quantity that the South African authorities could not find something more of her parentage for publication in the official volume; her sire Rayon d'Or and dam Sultana by Lexington out of Mildred by Glencoe, which has shed such lustre on the American thoroughbred, demanded something more than the scurvy notice cited.

Under the banner of the "unregistered" which is without the pale of the S. A. Jockey Club there are now a number of Americans racing, but opportuity to refer to them must be deferred, only temporarily it is to be hoped, as several won some good stakes last season. When about to pass this communication to the post I learned of the death at Durban, rather suddenly after a very brief illness of Mr. Andrew Dunsterville, for whom I imported a few years ago, that well-known sprinter Firewood by Scintillant II—Jessie Woodson, now at stud in the Cape Province.

Johannesburg, South Africa, August 9th, 1916.

P. S.—Hitchey Koo, by Watercress—Lychee Nut, bred by late J. B. Haggin, Ky. Starrapark, by Goldfinch—Lela T., bred by late J. B. Haggin, Ky. Brilla Mac, by Peep O'Day—Miss Kingston, bred by Lee Smitha, Ky. Brilla Mac is the name employed here, but this mare according to the latest edition U. S. A. Stud Book was registered as Brilla Mae.

The thoroughbred stallion Markie M., the property of the Field Stables, died on Thursday night last at Guanapo. Needless to say that the loss of this stallion will be a severe blow to breeding interests of the Colony. He was a big horse with lots of bone and having given a good account of himself whilst on the turf was just the right proposition for the successful breeding of our creoles. Markie M. was highly bred by Gerolstein out of Lady Cushman, and the following taken from that excellent publication, "THE THOROUGHBRED RECORD," at the time of his purchase, will, we are sure, be read with great interest by all true lovers of the turf. We may add that this sire has left some exceedingly promising sprinters out of the best dams in the Colony, and we have no doubt their future career on the local turf will give full satisfaction to their owners.—[Port of Spain Gazette, Sept. 2.

The Americans have just concluded a deal in connection with the stallion Huon II., which has been purchased by Mr. R. Trimble, treasurer of the United States Steel Corporation, the price being £1,000. Huon II. is by Ard Patrick (winner ot the Derby) out of Hyeres by Isonomy out of St. Marguerite (winner of the One Thousand, and dam of Seabreeze, Le Var, Roquebrune, Tredennis, etc.) by Hermit. He won many good races in Germany, and about £8,000 in stakes, while Hyeres has also proved herself a successful matron by producing other good racers. The horse stood in Ireland, and was sold in March last under the Trading With the Enemy Act, he being then the property of Baron von Schmieder, for 290 guineas.—[London Horse & Hound.

DODGE WINS INAUGURAL HANDICAP.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 18.—Running for the first time in the colors and interest of his new owner, A. K. Macomber, Dodge, three-year-old son of Jim Gaffney—Flora Willoughby, added another laurel to his already long list of stake wins when he annexed the Douglas Park Inaugural Handicap, the feature of the opening day of the fall racing season in this city today at the Beechmont course. With the exception of Hodge, a five-year-old gelding, Dodge carried the heaviest impost, 120 pounds, and Hodge carried only 121. The victory of the Macomber crack was a well-earned one and stamps him as the great horse which his new owner figured him to be when he gave $17,500 for him during the recent Saratoga meeting.

Second to Dodge, and only a length behind him, was his former stablemate Franklin, and Lady Rotha was third, beaten the same margin for the place. There were eight starters in the race, T. C. McDowell being represented by an entry, Star Jasmine and Manager Waite. Hodge, Faux-Col and Jane Straith were the other three. The event was worth $2,205 to the winner, $350 to the second, $150 to the third, and the fourth horse, which was Star Jasmine, saved nomination and starting fees, amounting to $65.

The race was highly interesting throughout, as three different horses assumed the lead at various times, and at the seventy yards' pole the issue was still in doubt, as it looked as though Franklin might overhaul Dodge. The winner was too game a horse however, and he stood the urging that Jockey H. H. Phillips gave him. Jockey Frank Murphy, who won the Latonia Derby and the American Derby at Chicago with Dodge, was astride Franklin today and he put up a powerful finish, but his horse could not make it. At that Franklin's race was an excellent one, as he was last at one stage of the journey, and he had to be a good horse to get up to second place and within a length of the leader.

Faux-Col was the first to show when the barrier went up for the mile and one-sixteenth journey and he immediately opened up a big gap, being four lengths in front at one time. Dodge was second to him and when Faux-Col started to fly the distress signal on the backstretch the Macomber colt moved up rapidly. At the same time Jockey Roscoe Goose sent Lady Rotha forward at a fast clip and she got in front by a slight margin. She was still on top turning into the front stretch, and then Dodge charged on her. He could not be denied, and once he got in the van he showed his field the way home. In the meanwhile Franklin was fairly running over horses, and he finished with a great rush on the outside. Lady Rotha was on the rail at the end, but she had run her race. Star Jasmine came strongly at the finish, but she was no match for the first three horses. Hodge, making his first start since last spring at the same course, evidently was not fit for a bruising race. Jane Straith, of which much was expected, was never a contender.

The form players centered their activities on Dodge, but every horse in the race came in for some attention. Dodge paid $5.10 for a $2 straight ticket, and this was a very good price against him in view of his class. The time for the race was not fast, 1:46, the track record being 1:43 4-5.

Despite cool weather a large crowd was on hand for the opening of the season, and Racing Secretary Jack Campbell provided a good card. The course never looked prettier, and General Manager John Hachmeister was complimented upon all sides for its appearance. The fields were small, but the contestants in the races figured pretty close together, and this resulted in a heavy volume of speculation. The form players got off to a good start, a majority of the winners being favorites and they got good prices.

A. K. Macomber's horses made their debut on the Kentucky circuit in good style, Dodge and Hollister winning and Kittenish and St. Isidore finishing second. The imported horses in this stable that started today, Hollister and Kittenish, showed to especially good advantage. The Macomber stable also has a rider of class in Jockey H. H. Phillips. Mr. Macomber gave a handsome price for his contract, and from the way he rode today it looked like he is a good investment. He can ride at 98½ pounds.

The fifth race on the card, which was a purse affair at six furlongs, for three-year-olds and upward, was next best to the stake affair, and it fell to Kathleen, owned by George J. Long, of this city. The good mare led her field all the way and won by a length and one-half from St. Isidore. The latter was four lengths in front of Julia L. There were only four starters in this race, Bringhurst being the other one. He was a 11 to 10 favorite, and he was wagered on like the race was over. He showed some speed in the early running, when he set sail after Kathleen, but he soon found out that he could not catch her. St. Isidore came fast making the stretch bend and tried hard to get up. Julia L. just outgamed Bringhurst for the third position in the final few strides.

Hollister, A. K. Macomber's imported two-year old Sunstar—Our Lassie colt, won the opening event of the meeting by half a length from Latonia, with Hemlock third. The winner had a slight advantage all the way over the five and a half furlong route, but was forced to a hard drive to win. Latonia closed fast and ran like a good filly. She raced six furlongs Saturday, was shipped Sunday and raced today. Hemlock also closed fast. Sir Wellons was well up until after making the turn for home, when he weakened. The others were outrun all the way. The form players made Hollister an odds-on favorite on the strength of his good races in the East.

Form was shattered in the second race when John W. Klein, which paid $51.10 for a $2 straight ticket, scampered home in front by a length and a half over Liberator, which beat J. J. Murdock a length for the place. The winner was far back in the early running, but he came with a good rush at the end, and was drawing away when he passed under the wire. Liberator also closed fast from a slow beginning. J. J. Murdock raced almost head and head with Deliver until after turning into the stretch, when both weakened. The others were badly outrun at all stages of the race. J. J. Murdock was the favorite at odds of 17 to 20.

Midway had no trouble taking down the long end of the purse in the third race, winning eased up by three lengths from Kittenish, another one of A. K. Macomber's imported horses. Fan G. was third, a scant neck behind the place horse. Fan G. set the early pace, but making the turn Midway moved up and disposed of her, and from then on the race was as good as over. Kittenish was always well up and she finished fast to outstay Fan G. Waremore showed some early speed, but quit to nothing. Cudgel ran far from his best effort, and he can be looked for to repeat his Lexington performance of upsetting form. The winner was the favorite.

Yenghee, at a short price, accounted for the sixth race from a small field of horses over the route of one and one-sixteenth miles, but had Typhoon been able to get through on the rail the result might have been different. Yenghee led all the way, but he had to be hard urged at the end. Jockey Tommy Hunt was substituted for H. H. Phillips at the last minute on Typhoon. He allowed the horse to trail until just before turning for home and then he took to the rail and could not get through. Sleeth, which was closest to Yenghee most of the way, weakened in the final drive. Guide Post went well part of the way. The winner was favorite by five cents on the dollar over Sleeth.

Waterproof made it four consecutive victories when he took the seventh race race today by a length from Beauty Shop. Miss Fannie was third, beaten a lengh for second money. Beauty Shop led until a short distance from the wire, where she weakened. Miss Fannie ran by far the best race of any, getting off far back of her field and being forced to go wide all the way. With any kind of racing luck she would have won. Syrian showed a lot of speed part of the way, but weakened in the latter stages. Irish Gentleman also went well in the early running.

PLEASED AT ACTION OF HORSEMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18.—Dr. Geo. A. MacDiarmid, president of the New Orleans Business Men's Racing Association, has issued the following statement:

"The action of the Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association at Lexington in instructing its members to participate in no racing in the Parish of Orleans, or parishes adjacent thereto, except as is conducted by the Business Men's Racing Association, was very gratifying to all of our directors and stockholders. It further insures that racing will not be destroyed in New Orleans by any socalled race track war.

"The policy of the association has been to aid rather than injure rival associations. All that it has ever asked for was to be let alone to work out the problem of reviving racing in New Orleans on lines that would perpetuate it. It has been a consistent booster for Havana, Juarez and Tia Juana, and still is such.

"It has done everything possible to ameliorate the conditions of the horsemen. Has given purses and stakes to the amount that it could afford; has taken the burden of expense off the horsemen as far as possible; has provided competent officials, and the quick response and endorsement of the horsemen is, to say the least, gratifying.

"When we announced two years ago that we would race, many people laughed. We were told that we would not have 100 horses, would not race, a week and would leave a lot of horsemen stranded. History shows that we have had over four hundred horses, raced forty days, the time announced, and finished voluntarily raising our purses to none less than $400. Last year we had seven hundred and fifty horses and finished voluntarily raising our purses to none less than $500. This year our officials notify us that it will be necessary to increase our stable room to take care of the horses. I have notified Mr. Murphy, our racing manager, to refuse no one stalls who is considered desirable by him and his associates, and the directors will provide the means to take care of them. As to the purses and stakes, I can only say that we owe a lot to the horsemen, and they will not be disappointed when the announcement is made, which will be as soon as Mr. Murphy comes South, after the close of the Canadian season. New Orleans does not need two tracks, and we are gratified that the horsemen have taken the same view of the situation."

THE WINNERS OF BREEDING BUREAU PRIZE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The first competition for the Jockey Club's Breeding Bureau prize of $400 for yearlings by a thoroughbred sire was held at the State Fair at Syracuse on Wednesday last and was a signal success, nine good specimens from different parts of the State answering the call of the bugle.

The competition was the outcome of a desire on the part of the Jockey Club which has for years given prizes of $50 for the best foals by their Breeding Bureau sires at the various county fairs, to still greater stimulate the horse-breeding industry in New York State. Mr. Frank K. Sturgis, the active head of the Bureau, arranged to have the competition at the State Fair, and all foals that had been awarded first, second, or third prizes in 1915 were eligible.

The class was judged in front of the grand stand, where thousand of farmers had a good view of the quality of the entrants at close hand. In the ring were such experts as Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, the President of the Genesee Valley Horse Breeders' Association, an organization which has done splendid work in the region around Mount Morris, Geneseo, and Avon; Lady Beck, who is to judge saddle horses at Madison Square Garden in November; Sir Adam Beck, whose Canadian hunters have won championships on two continents; William Littauer, James W. and Henry Colt, of the "Valley"; Fletcher Harper, of Millbrook; F. Ambrose Clark, of Cooperstown; Louis Waring and S. W. Taylor, of New York; G. L. Stryker, of Derby, and Pierre Lorillard Jr., and W. Averill Harriman, of Goshen.

The premier award of $250 was won by an unnamed bay filly by Wonder Boy, a son of imported Watercress out of Donna de Oro by Rayon d'Or, loaned to the Bureau by August Belmont and in the stud at "Ashantee," Avon. This filly, which is owned by C. F. Flynn, of East Avon, is 15 hands high and weighs 800 pounds at 15 months. Her dam is a granddaughter of Electioneer, and in her the farmer saw a splendid example of the thoroughbred trotting cross. The second prize of $100 went to Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth's chestnut filly Hallali, by Hippodrome out of a mare by Otai, and the next dam by Barrett, a son of Bonnie Scotland. This filly exemplified the three-quarter thoroughbred type, while the third prize-winner, Pattern, by Fashion Plate out of a daughter of General Stanton, owned by W. H. Barr, of Derby, was another good example of the thoroughbred-standard bred cross.

There wasn't a really poor yearling in the lot, and Messrs. Lorillard and Harriman were so greatly impressed with the general excellence of the class that they will make application for a Breeding Bureau sire to stand at Goshen. There are so many good standard-bred dams in Orange County, "the cradle of the trotting horse," that the very best results would be obtained in that region. As a greater number of mares than ever before were bred during 1915 the future for this competition at Syracuse seems exceedingly bright.

YEARLING SALE AT LOUISVILLE.

The next yearling sale will take place in the paddock at Churchill Downs, Saturday, Sept. 30th. The principal contributors to this sale are Williams Bros., George J. Long and F. J. Pons. It is a well recognized fact that the Williams Bros. have in their establishment some of the choisest mares in the country and their entire crop of yearlings, seventeen in number, will be sold in this sale. They are from the dams of such performers as Gainer, Hauberk, Gallop, Hectograph, Jocular, Safe Home, Innovation, Intention, James, Farraud, Helio, Eastman, Industry, Immune, etc., and all are by the two successful stallions imp. Martinet and Hilarious.

Mr. George J. Long's contributions consist of the get of imp. Alvescot, imp. Sempronius, Sir Huon and Free Lance, from such mares as the dams of Hortense, Madelle, Dalston, Rodondo, Exemplar, Katahdin, Civita, Dundreary, Weyanoke, Nicias, Valletta, Fels, etc.

Mr. Pons is offering, for the first time, the get of the two stallions Tony Bonero and Judge Wright. Tony Bonero has sent two crops of foals to the races and every one has been returned a winner. These yearlings are out of such race mares as Grace Mc, Agnes May, Lady McGee, Abrasion (27 wins), Dolly Bultman, Edna Collins, May Lutz, etc., and include brothers or sisters to such performers as Meddling Miss, Lily Heavens, Swift Fox, Blue Grass Belle, Eddie Graney, Great Dolly, etc.

The catalog for this sale will come from the press today and copy of same will be mailed to any address upon application to The Kentucky Sales Co. at Lexington. This sale will afford about the last opportunity to secure racing material for the two-year-old events of 1917 and owners who have not provided themselves with yearlings would do well to inspect these yearlings and be in attendance at the sale.

LOCAL NOTES.

Giltner Brothers, of Eminence, Ky., have just consummated a deal by which they have secured from Irving H. Wheatcroft five beautifully-bred imported mares and a weanling chestnut filly by Fitz Grafton for A. W. Carter, of Honolulu. These mares have been quartered at Walter O. Parmer's Edenwold Stud in Tennessee, and John S. Barbee, of Glen-Helen Stud, who has just returned from Edenwold, where he went to inspect them before they were bought, pronounces them as extraordinarily fine individuals and in splendid condition. They will be shipped at once to Mr. Carter's stud in Honolulu.

The list of mares follows:

Hidden Star, brown mare, 1908, by Sidus (son of St. Simon)—Retrench (dam of the good winner Foragida) by Rightaway.

Shine, bay mare, 1905, by Rays Cross—St. Ita (dam of Prince Victor, Gultarious, St. Werburgh, etc.), by St. Jude.

Barricade, chestnut mare, 1904, by Stoccado (best three-year-old of his year in Australia)—Ca Ira II., (bred in Australia, winner of the Leopardstown Grand Prize) by Abercorn.

Chestnut filly, weanling, by Fitz Grafton—Barricade.

Dr. J. D. Neet, Kindergarten Stud, sold last week to R. T. Wilson the following five weanlings:

Chestnut colt by Olambala—Glass Slipper (full sister to Hastings) by Spendthrift.

Chestnut colt by Olambala—Doreen by Uncas.

Chestnut filly by Olambala—Dancing Wave (dam of Redwine) by Top Gallant.

Chestnut filly by Olambala—Aralia by Handsome.

Bay filly by Olambala—San Andres by Quicklime.

Dr. Neet bred the above mares to Olambala in 1915 under a contract by which Mr. Wilson was given an option on the colts and fillies at a stated price on September 15th, when weanlings, and Mr. Wilson very promptly exercised this option on the date stated by accepting all five of them. Dr. Neet says he never says a more uniform or better-looking bunch of weanlings in his long experience as a breeder.

* * *

A yearling filly by Sweep recently went a quarter with 128 pounds up in :23 2-5 at the local course. This filly is the property of J. C. Rodgers, Midway, and is a half-sister to the Canadian Derby winner, Dr. Samuel.

* * *

J. C. Milam has purchased of Thomas B. Jones the bay colt, weanling, by Handsel—Santa Lucia, by St. Florian, and the chestnut colt, weanling, by Handsel—Merry Blue, by Blues.

Catesby Woodford has purchased of Thomas B. Jones the weanling chestnut colt by Ballot—Janice (dam of Statesman), by Midlothian, for a reported price of $2,500.

* * *

Walter H. Pearce, former racing secretary, has been placed in charge of the forfeit department of the Douglas Park and Latonia tracks by Manager John Hachmeister. It is believed that he will also occupy that position at Churchill Downs.

The place, it is said, carries a larger salary than Mr. Pearce received as racing secretary. Mr. Pearce plans a number of improvements in the conduct of his office and believes that high efficiency will be obtained under the system he will put into practice.

* * *

J. N. Camden had the misfortune to lose the suckling brother to Helios.

* * *

Thomas B. Jones, Caveland Stud, advertises for sale in this issue a yearling and three weanlings. See ad.

* * *

Tito and Dora Collins have been turned out by R. J. Austin at J. D. Carr's farm.

* * *

When he shipped to Louisville last Saturday R. D. Williams left January in a veterinary hospital here.

E. B. Elkins has purchased from W. L. Lewis the chestnut filly Diamond, 2, by Dick Finnell—Annie Williams.

Insurgent, owned by A. L. Kirby, dropped dead Wednesday morning at Douglas Park.

* * *

Arthur Betz is advertising for sale in this issue two mares and foals and a four-year-gelding. See ad.

* * *

LOUISVILLE CUP WEIGHTS.

Handicapper J. C. Campbell, of the Douglas Park Jockey Club, has announced the weights for the Louisville Cup, $2,500 added, two miles, the feature of today's card. The adjustment shows that he has made a careful study of the merits and performances of the twenty-four high-class eligibles to the event, and every indication now points to a most thrilling contest.

Manager Hachmeister sets great store by this event and has gone to a big expense and a lot of trouble to secure a valuable and handsome trophy to go to the owner of the winner, it being an eight-piece set of solid silver lined with gold and so constructed as to cause it to be one of the most attractive decorations on the sideboard of any turfman who is fortunate enough to win the big race today.

The Macomber candidates are allotted the top weights in the Louisville Cup. Dodge is given 122 pounds, Star Hawk 120 and Hank O'Day 110. Fairmac is to carry 118 and Franklin 112. Those in especially well are Embroidery, 108, and Killanna, 107. The weights follow:

Dodge	122
Star Hawk	120
Hank O'Day	115
Fairmac	115
Franklin	112
Star Jasmine	112
Leo Skolny	110
Embroidery	108
Killanna	107
Manager Waite	106
Water Witch	105
Shyness	104
Hendrie	103
Faux-Col	103
Capt. Rees	102
Hanovia	102
Big Smoke	100
Ellison	100
Disillusion	97
Rifle Shooter	94
The Cock	94
Alfadir	90
Mandy Hamilton	87
Margaret E	84

Penalties accrue from Wednesday, September 20, 1916, at 10:30 a. m.

James W. Coffroth, president of the Lower California Jockey Club, has lined up a number of stables for his Tijuana meeting, and is looking forward to a banner opening of the hundred-day or more meeting on November 11. The program of stake events has been completed, and proved attractive to Easterners. There will be the Coffroth Handicap, valued at $5,000, at a mile and a quarter; San Diego Business Men's Handicap, $2,500, 1 1-16 miles; All Age Handicap, $1,500, one mile; Los Angeles High Weight Handicap, $1,500, six furlongs; Tijuana Selling Stakes, $1,500, six furlongs, and the Coronado Selling Stakes, $1,500, 1 1-16 miles. No purse of less than $400 will be offered, which should insure some high-class entries.

THE FINN PROVES HIS HIGH QUALITY.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 16.—Under a cloudless sky and with the temperature perfect for racing, over a good track which had dried out overnight, a record crowd at Havre de Grace this afternoon saw H. C. Hallenbeck's The Finn, a black son of Ogden and Livonia, beat Andrew Miller's Roamer, August Belmont's Stromboli and five others of the best handicap horses of the year. The race The Finn won was the Chesterbrook Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth, and it had a net value of $3,200 to the winner.

Inasmuch as it had practically all the stars of the year in competition, the Chesterbrook was by long odds the greatest race that has been put on at any track during this season of sport, and could New Yorkers have been assured they would see the field as sent out go to the post, no doubt there would have been hundreds who would have made the journey to see this great contest.

It was a race that was truly run, with no excuse for any horse with the possible exception of Stromboli, which had slightly the worst of the start, as compared with the two which beat him, and in addition Mr. Belmont's horse was interfered with and pinched off on two occasions when he was making a move toward the front. Johnny McTaggart, who rode Stromboli, however, can be blamed for some of this hindrance, for he showed he was afraid to take a chance on fighting his way through a tight fit, preferring the overland route and safety first.

When the field of eight paraded to the post the entire plant seemed packed from field stand to clubhouse, with spectators standing almost on top of one another to get a glimpse of what was going on. There had been cheers for each one of the candidates as they warmed up through the stretch prior to the race, and of these preliminary gallops that of The Finn beyond any question was the most impressive.

Bayberry Candle also seemed to be at her very best as she warmed up and made a good impression, while Roamer did not make so good an impression upon the wiser ones, who detected the slightest indication of soreness in Mr. Miller's great gelding. Harry Payne Whitney's Borrow came in for much admiration, as did Short Grass, while even James Butler's Capra and Daddy's Choice, stablemate to Short Grass, each had something of a following.

While they were at the post Bayberry Candle made a lot of trouble and was lunging and kicking. There was a shout from the stand when she was seen to land on The Finn and for a moment it looked as if the chances for this one were gone when Jockey Andy Schuttinger was seen to show signs of being hurt. He was helped from his horse and his leg examined, where one of the heels of the mare had bruised his left leg badly. The Dutchman was game, however, and remounted, upon which he came in for cheers.

After this slight delay they were sent away to a fair start for all except Stromboli and Short Grass, which were a bit slow in leaving. McTaggart rushed the Belmont horse away, however, and was in the midst of the bunch as they shot around the first turn.

Capra was the one to take the lead before they passed the stand, with Bayberry Candle closest in pursuit, and Roamer next, with The Finn close upon him. They went around the turn and straightened out in the long run through the backstretch, with Capra showing the way ahead of Bayberry Candle, and the others bunched in behind.

When they started around the last turn The Finn had left the bunch of rear runners and joined Capra and Bayberry Candle. Before the turn was made he had taken the lead and came around on the rail, where the going, which had been rolled and packed down, was of the best.

It was the black coat of The Finn glistening in the sunlight that canght the eye of every one as they straightened out for the run home, but there were cries for Roamer, Stromboli and Short Grass, all of which were seen to be making a great effort to get up, while Capra was through and Bayberry Candle also dropping back.

Down through the stretch the game black whirlwind sped ahead of the wind, while at the last eighth a real race was going on between Roamer and Stromboli, which had come up to challenge. Behind them Short Grass was coming with his usual belated run. Never for a second wavering, however, The Finn came on and won by two lengths, while Roamer running a great race under Jockey Loftus, was as easily second in front of Stromboli.

Short Grass never could get up and was fourth, with Bayberry Candle fifth, Daddy's Choice sixth, Borrow seventh, and Capra, which had set all the early pace, had at the end died away to a miserable last.

The race was run in 1:45 3-5 on a track which probably was nearly a second slower than its best condition, but at that the time was within a fifth of a second of the record made by P. M. Walker's five-year-old Oakhurst with 111 pounds just four years ago.

NEW ORLEANS TO HAVE NO CONFLIGT.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Sept. 18.—That there will be racing on two tracks at New Orleans this winter, beginning Thanksgiving Day, without conflict of dates, was the positive assertion made here this afternoon by H. D. Brown, who recently purchased the New City Park track

"I have no fear that the Business Men's Association will take the entire dates to suit themselves," was the announcement of the owner of City Park. "Mayor Behrman already has expressed himself fully as to his attitude, and he feels that there is no reason why all the racing should be at one track when there are two tracks in existence in the Crescent City.

"I have been called a destroyer of racing, but there are some still who believe that I have done things to help the sport. They will tell you that purses were increased after I entered the field here in Maryland, and it also is of record that there was better racing and better purses after I entered New Orleans in the old days.

"I have proposed to the city of New Orleans that if racing is allowed to go on unmolested for the next fifteen years that I will deed over to the city all of City Park plant, and in the meantime the city may use the plant for park or whatever purpose they may see fit at any time except during the period of racing.

"Mayor Behrman is a man of his word, and he has said that if the two rival associations cannot get together in New Orleans that he will appoint a racing commission to allot dates and to take charge of all racing. This will be perfectly satisfactory to me, as I already have proposed that we toss a coin to see which plant shall open first with the understanding that the one that is last this year shall be first next year, and the days split into alternate weeks, or as may be decided upon if we can get together.

"There would have been racing at the City Park plant even if I never had entered the field, as the owners of the track from whom I purchased were preparing to enter the field. Racing is my business, and I feel that there will be enough with me to insure against any one association monopolizing racing on one plant in New Orleans when there is another racing property there ready to present the sport."

DIVISION OF RACING DATES INDICATED.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., September 18.—While making no exact announcement as yet, Mayor Martin Behrman indicated today that the Business Men's Racing Association must divide dates with H. D. "Curly" Brown at the City Park race track or not conduct a meeting. Mayor Behrman said that he had promised Brown a square deal and that will mean a division of the racing dates. Dr. George A. MacDiarmid, president of the Business Men's Racing Association, refused to discuss the mayor's statement. He said that it would be answered officially.

WANT ONLY ONE RACE MEET.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19.—The New Orleans city council late today adopted a resolution in support of Mayor Behrman's announcement yesterday that rival race track officials would not be allowed to conduct meetings on conflicting dates or extend racing into the Lenton season. The resolution was introduced following the reading of a special message from the mayor, outlining his stand on racing, as informally announced yesterday.

The Irish Bloodstock Agency has purchased, in behalf of a Canadian breeder, the sire Bachelor's Beau, by Tredennis out of Bachelor's Beauty, the latter an own sister to Bachelor's Button, by Winkfield out of Milady. Bachelor's Beau, which in seven years old, stood in Ireland at Mr. C. T. Lewis' stud Moyfeigher, Co. Meath.

FOXHALL.

OCEANPORT, N. J., Sept. 19.

EDITOR THOROUGHBRED RECORD:

When I attempted to set turf history correct regarding Henry Overton's statement about the horse Foxhall, and what Mr. Bathgate related to me, as quoted in my letter of 29th ult., I did not then anticipated being taken to task, or entering into an argument over a matter I still claim, that Mr. Bathgate said, notwithstanding the disbelief of "Craignorth," or what he reprints from William Day's book, in your issue of 16th inst., and Day's opinion of American agents of racing stables.

The frigid truth then was that the late Mr. James R. Keene "would not trust absolutely any man," and it seems, not even Day, and it's also plain, per Day's book, that Bathgate entertained the same opinion as did Jockey Fordham, too, notwithstanding his crippled finances of that period of his life, in his refusing to ride a horse which was trained by William Day, even at a fabulous offer. This alone distinctly shows the high opinion entertained of the racing form of Foxhall, even with no trial horse, and Day must have known this, before Bathgate to cause him, by Mr. Keene's orders, to offer a small fortune to secure Fordham to ride, and if "Craignorth" in his eagerness to laud and defend Trainer Day, and also help Day to lower the character of Bathgate, as he quoted from Day's book, will but turn back to English turf history of about one hundred years ago, he will there find a more interesting chapter of what occurred to a Day of that period, than to one of the turf history of five and thirty years ago.

JAMES H. MCCREERY.

A GREAT HORSE.

The Southcourt Stud also shelters Mr. Belmont's famous horse, Tracery, which won the St. Leger, and would probably have added the Ascot Gold Cup to his record had he not been thrown down by a madman. He was of distinctly superior class as a racehorse to his sire, Rock Sand, although the latter won the Triple Crown, and he was one of the rare instances in which fine speed was combined with splended stamina, another being his grandam, Plaisanterie, of Cesarewitch and Cambridgeshire renown. His covering fee is 200 guineas for next season only, and as his subscription list is certain to fill at that figure we may look for its increase shortly. Next year we shall see his first crop of two-year-olds, and though the number will necessarily be limited, it will be strange if there are not some good ones among them. He had a fair show of foals last season, among them being colts from Abbot's Anne, Countess Zia, Luscinia, Princess Sonia, and Sainte Adresse, and fillies from Desdesheiner, Lady Portland, Mandola, Rolandine, Stolen Kiss, and Veneration II., the dam of Craganour and Nassovian, of which the latter unfortunately is not entered for the September Stakes, but will doubtless be afforded an opportunity of distinguishing himself in the Jockey Club Stakes, and perhaps also the Cesarewitch, but, strange to say, his name is missing from the Cambridgeshire.—[Vigilant in London Sportsman.

With only about thirty thoroughbreds on the grounds at Sacramento during the State Fair last week, it was not an easy job to make up races that would result in good contests, especially as there were three running races each day for seven days, but there were enough starters in every event to make a respectable race of it and there were a number of close finishes during the week. It is very hard to get running horse owners to race their horses for purses where there is no chance to wager on them, and the surprise of the meeting was that there were any running races at all under the circumstances. That the large crowds present enjoyed the runs was very evident as there was always a rush toward the fence when the runners were called. It is to be hoped that the California State Agricultural Society will see its way to provide for the thoroughbreds at future fairs, and in this State where there is a large number of thoroughbred breeders it should not be difficult to inaugurate stake races for colts, fillies and aged horses what would do much to encourage the further breeding of thoroughbreds. All county and district fairs should give races for the runners and if there could be concert of action by these associations a circuit could be announced early every year that would make summer racing in California as great an attraction for the fairs as it was years ago before continuous running meetings in this State led to the drastic laws now on the statutes that prevent all wagering on races.—[San Francisco Breeder & Sportsman.

LEXINGTON RACING STATISTICS.

The second and final meeting of 1916 of the Kentucky Association, which opened September 6 and came to a close September 16, embraced ten racing days, during which time sixty-nine races were decided and $44,950 was distributed in purses, representing a daily average of $4,495. Of the seventy-two owners, who shared in this distribution, the following were winners of $450 or more:

MANY IMPROVEMENTS AT LAUREL.

BALTIMORE, MD., Sept. 17.—When the gates of the Maryland State Fair track at Laurel Park are thrown open two weeks from tomorrow for the annual October racing session, over $50,000 will have been expended for improvements on the plant, which is now one of the most complete in this country. These improvements are in line with the progressive policy assumed by General Manager M. J. Winn, when he took over the Southern Maryland plant from H. D. Brown five years ago. During the four years of his service as general manager of the Maryland State Fair no less than $150,000 has been spent by Mr. Winn to round the Laurel track into one of the finest in the country.

No sooner than last fall's meeting closed work was started immediately on the improvements to the course, and visitors at Laurel this fall will be agreeably surprised at the general condition of the plant. It will not take one long to figure how $50,000 has been laid out in the improvement of the course, and those who have not seen the thoroughbreds perform during the last three years will certainly be astonished should they travel to Laurel next month.

Not a single item has been overlooked to place Laurel Park on a par with the best equipped homes of thoroughbred racing in America. New buildings have been erected, namely the paddock, secretary and jockey rooms. The pari-mutuel plant has been enlarged and four hundred or more new stables constructed, while the track itself has been rounded into perfect shape. Through the stretch it has been raised two and a half feet and on the backstretch and far turn it is three and a half feet higher than last year. No longer does the unsightly hill loom up around the turn leading into the homestretch. This has been graded and in the background new stables of modern pattern built.

Finishing touches are now being put on the new steeplechase course, which has been patterned after that at Pimlico, which is considered one of the finest in the country. The Liverpool has been built at the eighth pole and the water jump near the five and a half furlong post. In order that the jumping course could be made as nearly perfect as possible, there were no steeplechases run at Laurel Park last fall. The course was raked thoroughly and sewed with grass seed. As a result it has an excellent cushion before which it was as hard as asphalt and many of the owners and trainers declined to race over it. If the events which will be carded through the field at Laurel in October do not fill, it will not be due to lack of interest in this branch of racing on the part of the management.

Already there are a number of steeplechase establishments quartered at the track awaiting the opening, and it is not thought there will be any scarcity of leppers when the meeting is launched on Monday afternoon, October 2, to continue for twenty-six racing days. The jumps will be sixty-five feet wide, and when the flags are placed at the jumps the infield will present a pretty picture, for at present it is solid green, the big oak trees here and there giving it a beautiful setting. The finishes will be on the turf and not on the track as heretofore. The hill and the tree which stood opposite the grandstand have been removed and supplanted by a variety of plants.

The old secretary's office and jockey room, which was just north of the grandstand, has been torn down and the new one is to the north of the paddock. Both the paddock and the new secretary and jockey room are of the latest type. The paddock, which has been enclosed, is of a Western style, in double alignment accommodating sixteen horses, and on all four sides are fenced-in walks which will safeguard against injury to the patrons of the paddock,

The new secretary and jockey room is one that will appeal to the visitor. The office of the clerk of the scales adjoins the jockeys' quarters, in which there are many lockers and a shower.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad is co-operating with General Manager Winn in his effort to promote the sport on the highest plane possible, and work is being rushed on another tunnel leading from the trains and running under the tracks. This move will be appreciated by the followers of the thoroughbreds, for it will relieve the slow progress made from the trains.

Although there will be 1,150 stalls at the disposal of the horsemen, the demand for stabling two weeks in advance of the opening day indicates there will be quite an overflow, and arrangements will be made to take care of as many horses as possible at Laurel, while others will have to seek accommodation at Benning, as has been the custom at previous meetings at the Maryland State Fair.

That Laurel Park will be a magnet for the turfmen can be readily explained. During the twenty-six days of racing approximately $150,000 will be distributed in stakes and purses. Nineteen stakes are to be decided, and each fixture is under the added money conditions, the values ranging from $1,000 to $2,500 added. Increased purses will be in vogue, for no race of less than $700 will be run. The stakes have filled well and all of the leading lights of the turf will be seen under the silks of America's foremost owners during the month of October at Laurel.

RACING DATES FOR 1916.

Douglas Park Jockey Club, Douglas Park, Louisville, Ky., September 18 to September 26—8 days.
New Louisville Jockey Club, Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky., September 27 to October 5—8 days.
Ontario Jockey Club, Woodbine Park, Toronto, Ont., September 23 to September 30—7 days.
Back River Jockey Club, Mount Royal Park, Montreal, Que., September 23 to September 30—7 days.
Toronto Driving Club, Hillcrest Park, Toronto, Ont., October 3 to October 10—7 days.
Kenilworth Racing Association, Windsor, Ont., October 14 to October 21—7 days.

Rosey, ch f, 3, by Frontenac—Rosefinch, ran like the good, honest race mare we know her to be, and did all that was asked of her. Her condition left nothing to be desired and she was trained to the hour. She won her three starts on the opening day in great style and and was judiciously ridden by Elias Downs. On the second day she failed to give Lady Finnell 14 pounds and succumbed to her rival after running a game race. In the Forced Handicap, at the request, we understand, of their respective owners both fillies were allotted even weights, viz: 126 pounds each, and a very fine race was the result. Rosey certainly got a very bad start and although she made up some ground, never got on terms or made much of an impression on the slashing daughter of Dick Finnell, Marcell on the latter won with something up his sleeve. It is very doubtful whether Rosey could have won and the result has left the future meeting between these fillies in a most interesting stage.—[Port of Spain Gazette, Sept. 5.

Emil Herz has presented Devil Fish to the New York State Breeding Bureau, and George Odom also has made the bureau a present of Marse Henry. Devil Fish is an imported son of Robert le Diable and Water Nymph blood lines that should make him a first-class stock horse. Marse Henry, on the other hand, is by the American sire, Ben Brush, out of Nun's Cloth, an imported Melton mare.

The Southern Railway has issued a very complete booklet containing 31 pages of descriptive matter with illustrations, including maps, etc., regarding places for summer camps in the United States forests in North Carolina.

Much of the data contained in this booklet is furnished by the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

Copies of this booklet and information with regard to round trip fares, etc., will be gladly furnished on application to B. H. Todd, D. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

DOUGLAS PARK GOSSIP.

Fine weather, good attendance and a big volume of speculation so far at Douglas, but there are not as many horses as was hoped for.

Unsettled conditions as to the selling race situation and as to certain officials are to blame, and the late decision of the Racing Commission to increase purses, and appointing the racing secretaries at the tracks came after the horsemen at the Eastern tracks had made their plans to race in Maryland and Canada.

The Baker boys have had rough sledding during this meeting, Sleeth and Mary Belle especially, proving big disappointments to their big clientele.

Manager Waite pulled up very lame after his race in the Inaugural and is probably out of contention for the balance of the season.

Will Wallace has shipped Big Smoke back to the farm to be fired and the chances are the colt will be gelded.

The great Harry Kelly will not face the gate again this year, as the colt stepped on a stone at Empire, and Trainer Land had to let up on him altogether. He is in grand shape bodily and is expected to come back next year a whirlwind.

Shinstone, the Baker boys' Handsel—Miss Eddie colt, broke down completely in his race Wednesday.

Will Young has let up on Bulse altogether for this year, but hopes to get the big colt back to the races next year.

The grandest looking bunch of yearlings probably, ever under one ownership in Kentucky are the twenty-six under the care of Walter Jennings, Trainer for A. K. Macomber.

Seventeen of these youngsters are the recent importation from England, the get of Sunstar, Sunflower II., Sunder and Sundridge.

The pick of the lot on looks is the brown colt by Sunstar—All Green.

As good as the foreigners appear, it must be said that the nine yearlings by Price Headley's great stallion Uncle, outlook them all, especially the bay Princess Orna colt, the bay Xarco colt, and the star of all the yearlings at the Louisville tracks, a chestnut out of Planutess. The latter colt is simply perfection in conformation and balance and is as level headed as a pet pony.

The Macomber string occupies three barns at the Downs course, and the fine condition of all the racing material, is mute testimony to the painstaking care and ability of Trainer Jennings, as his horses have won their every start but one at this meeting and finished second in that instance.

How things do change in this great old racing game. Hank O'Day 123, Hodge 116! Who would imagine such a handicap last spring at this track?

Hank was one of the worst post actors in Kentucky a few months ago, but today is as quiet at the barrier as the famous Hermis was in his day.

These youngsters have plenty of bone and beef, but are hardly the equal of the Macomber yearlings in finish.

They are by Polymelus, William the Third and other famous English sires, and give one the impression that they were picked with a view to getting power and substance rather than quality and finish.

George Land has nine nice yearlings at the Schorr barn, the apparent star of the lot being a fine bay colt by Ivan the Terrible out of Niaxus. Mr. Schorr did not buy any Star Shoot youngsters this season, as has been his custom in recent years, most of his purchases so far being from the Parmer sale of Tennessee-bred youngsters. Mr. Schorr also has the two yearling half-brothers to Dodge and Franklin, by King Olympian, purchased this summer from W. F. Schulte. Mr. Schulte, by the way, has sent Flora Willoughby and Gliding By back to Jim Gaffney this season.

ALVES.

D. W. McCoun, the veteran turfman and owner of Loantaka, when the black stallion was winner of the Suburban Handicap in 1891, died Tuesday night at his home, 41 Humphrey Avenue, Bayonne, N. J. Mr. McCoun was long intimately associated with the American turf, and in addition to having developed Loantaka, he at one time trained for August Belmont and for the late General Stephen Sanford.

At the sale of the late J. C. Yeager's horses, held in the Douglas Park paddock before the racing Thursday afternoon, Huntress brought $3,200 and was bought by W. Perkins. Luzzi went to Frazier and Farris for $1,100; Ginger Quill to C. E. Hamilton for $450; Pluto to W. E. Applegate for $650 and Charlie Ed to G. Grant for $50.

THE BELMONT AND WILSON YEARLINGS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—A brother to Campfire and a brother to Stromboli were the distinguishing features of the two lots of yearlings which arrived at Belmont Park Friday for R. T. Wilson and August Belmont, respectively.

They all came from Saratoga, where they have been spending the latter part of the summer in early training. There were seventeen in the Belmont shipment and nine were for Mr. Wilson, making twenty-six in all to be added to the equine population of Belmont Park.

The seventeen colts and fillies belonging to Mr. Belmont were bred at the Nursery, near Lexington, Ky., and are mainly by his own sires, Trap Rock, Hastings and Fair Play, one being by Uncle and two by Watervale. The complete list is as follows:

Luck Penny, b or br c, by Trap Rock—Lucky Lass.
Pecksniff, ch c, by Trap Rock—Peccadillo.
Sir Oracle, b c, by Trap Rock—Souveraine.
Cockle, ch c, by Trap Rock—Crossways.
Princeps, ch c, by Fair Play—St. Priscilla.
High Olympus, ch c, by Hastings—Olympia.
Drastic, b c, by Hastings—Dragnet.
Fragonard, ch c, by Hastings—Ferment.
Uncle Sand, b c, by Uncle—Golden Sand.
Destine, ch f, by Trap Rock—Delusion.
Wood Violet, ch f, by Trap Rock—Woodvine.
Magda, ch f, by Fair Play—Mahubah.
Tea Party, b f, by Watervale—Toggery.
Belvale, b f, by Watervale—Beldame.
High Vale, b f, by Hastings—Sand Vale.
Ruche, b or br f, by Hastings—Haute Roche.
Turban, b f, by Hastings—Turquoise.

Taken as a whole, these are a nice lot of youngsters; but for the present, at least, Princeps, the own brother to Stromboli, is the most noteworthy individual, taking both conformation and breeding into consideration. He is a large colt for his age, and looks like one which would grow into a big and powerful racehorse. In general outline and finish he bears a striking resemblance to his distinguished elder brother, but even now, as a yearling, he is of a more robust type. He has the long neck, sloping shoulders, graceful withers and highly finished forehand of the famous gelding which so often has carried the Belmont colors to the front at the end of a fast and hard-fought race, and his color, even to the flaxen tendency in the mane and tail, resembles that of Stromboli, but the yearling is decidedly the more sturdy and masculine looking of the two, although his neck is long, fine and bloodlike, closely like that of his famous elder brother.

It is a far cry from a yearling in September to a matured racehorse five years old, with such a brilliant record as Stromboli's to his credit, but as far as conformation goes Princeps has nothing to stamp him as in any way inferior to his wonderful elder brother. He is now fifteen hands an inch and a quarter high, has fine length from ears to tail and his long barrel is relative thicker than that of Stromboli.

Belvale, the daughter of the great Beldame, and by Watervale, is a large and massive bay filly, rather coarse in general outline, although possessed of fairly good racing angles, but one of her hocks is badly blemished and more than possibly unsound, although horses have been returned frequent winners which were similarly affected.

One of the best looking colts in the lot is Drastic, a good-sized and splendidly formed bay colt by Hastings out of Dragnet, being an own brother to Deckmate. This is a racy looking and powerful colt of a sturdy masculine order and liberally endowed with bone and muscle everywhere.

High Olympus, by Hastings out of Olympia, is a grand looking chestnut colt, fully fifteen hands high, smoothly turned and impressively proportioned.

Fragonard, a chestnut colt by Hastings out of Ferment and a half-brother to that good horse Fernrock, is a neatly turned colt of fair size and moderate substance, but he looks like a real racehorse and is big enough for one.

The nine colts and fillies shipped to R. T. Wilson are an admirable lot one and all, but of course the brother to Campfire (by Olambala out of Nightfall by Voter) commands the lion's share of the attention of visitors. This youngster bears a close resemblance to his distinguished brother, and as they are standing only a few stalls apart in Trainer Thomas Healey's big training stable at Belmont Park, it is not difficult to compare them. Those who have looked over the famous winner of both the Hopeful and the Futurity, have not failed to observe the peculiarly smooth and graceful outlines of his forehand, including his long lean and bloodlike neck, his thin, fine withers beautifully sloping both forward and backward, his deep lung space, well sprung back ribs, powerful loin and rangy, muscular quarters.

All these distinguishing features are repeated in this younger brother of the two-year-old hero of 1916, and they are as pronounced in this yearling as they were in the makeup of Campfire at this time last year; but at that time Olambala was an unknown sire, and Campfire was not as critically examined as his younger brother is apt to be just now.

A yearling in September is not at his best or anywhere near it for critical inspection. Being fitted for races and running in them will bring out features which will pass unnoticed in the slightly trained and only partially developed yearling. Good horsemen who looked over Campfire as a yearling and who have examined this young brother, insist that the youngster is the more attractive yearling. Possibly he is, but these critics must remember that in examining Campfire as a yearling they regarded him as the son of a great racehorse by an unproved sire, while in looking over his young brother they never for a moment forget that he is an own brother to the winner of the Hopeful and the Futurity as well as earlier and less important races.

Taking into consideration the inevitable difference which must exist between a yearling and a successfully campaigned two-year-old, this youngster looks like an accurate reproduction of Campfire, but in one point the two-year-old has an advantage which his young brother may not overcome. Campfire's stifle points are set just a shade wider apart than are those of the yearling, which, however, are well spread.

Another really grand colt in R. T. Wilson's fine lot of yearlings is the chestnut colt by Olambala out of Mexoana. This is an own brother to Hanobala, and he looks nearly as large as his two-year-old brother even now. He has the good points of the Olambalas about as strongly accentuated as has Campfire himself, and he is in all respects a grand looking colt. Not quite so smooth and graceful in the forehand as either Campfire or his young brother, he is nevertheless highly finished and racy looking forward, while his quarters and his driving powers are his especially strong points.

Bay filly by Astronomer—Genesta, by Broomstick.
Chestnut filly by Olambala—Lady Navarre, by Pirate of Penzance.
Brown filly by Olambala—Madchen (dam of Montresor, Ormesdale, etc.).
Chestnut filly by Olambala—Fantasque, by Disguise (own sister to Fantam Bala).
Bay colt by Olambala—L'Alouette, by Kinglike.
Chestnut colt by Olambala—Nightfall, by Voter (own brother to Campfire).
Bay colt by Duke of Ormonde—Reticella, by Heywood.
Brown colt by Helmet—Roman Gold, by Brutus.
Chestnut colt by Olambala—Mexoana, by Mexican (own brother to Hanobala).

SYDNEY PAGET DIES IN LONDON.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—News of the death of Sydney Paget in London was received in New York today. Mr. Paget had been in ill health for a long time and the end was not unexpected. He was 59 years of age, and his widow is the daughter of William P. Dolan of Philadelphia.

Mr. Paget was widely known to the turf on both sides of the Atlantic, and until the adverse legislation against the sport in this conntry he was a familiar figure of the Eastern sport. At one time he managed the extensive racing establishment of the late Colonel William C. Whitney, and from time to time he showed his own colors.

Hamburg Belle won the Futurity of 1903 under the Paget silks, and in the following year his filly Tradition beat Sysonby when she was second to H. B. Duryea's Artful in the running of the same rich prize.

When racing was harassed in New York by reason of adverse laws Mr. Paget sold out his stable and he had since lived in England.

Mr. Paget's health had been impaired since the Boer War, in which he was wounded. Incidental to that wound, he suffered an illness in London in 1909, which was so severe his friends feared for a time he would not survive it.

HANK O'DAY WINS FEATURE.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 19.—A. K. Macomber's success continues, and his Hank O'Day, the only starter from this pretentious racing establishment accounted for the Douglas Park feature this afternoon, a handicap at six furlongs, which brought out a speedy band. Blackie Daw just managed to get up in the last stride to overhaul Fleetabelle for second place. Hank O'Day's effort was a sparkling one, for he was badly outplaced in the early stages, and lost a good bit of ground when he went wide at the last turn. He finished in game style, and wrested the lead seventy yards from the finish and won by a scant length. Amazon was regarded with high favor in the race, but after showing fine speed until the stretch bend was reached gave way completely and finished for in the rear.

The good card and ideal conditions were factors in bringing out another big attendance.

The players did not fare so well during the afternoon, for many of their selections were keeled over. They began well when Zamora beat home a band of ordinary ones in the opener, but Busy Joe's and Morristown's failure in the next gave them a set-back. Morristown's race was particularly bad, and in the main due to the weird handling that Shilling gave him. Tokay, because of his good race at Lexington, was considered good enough to win in the third race, but he wound up a bad last, Bob Hensely leading all the way and winning well in hand.

A tiresome delay came in the fifth race, due to the bad post actions of Ethel Welles and Charmeuse, and when they were dispatched it was to a ragged start, with the most serious offender left at the post. Miss Kruter managed to win out after a drive to shake off Charmeuse, Important heading the others.

Diamond, which E. B. Elkins recently acquired, won for him at the first asking, when she got up in time to overhaul Rhyme and Saffron Girl after a hard stretch drive. The closing number found Rifle Shooter an overwhelming favorite, due to the weight of Baker Bros.' money. He made good, but only after Goose had to put up his best effort to down Alfadir by a nose, Rapids being a like margin in back of the pair. Sansyming was regarded with good favor on this, but after going six furlongs he dropped out of it.

The stewards did not like the ride that Shilling put up on Morristown in the second race and interrogated the rider at length, and later interviewed Owner Williams. The latter stated he did not like the ride, and Shilling claimed his failure to get to the front was due to interference. Patrol Judge Phillips said that Shilling was the one who had resorted to the rough tactics, and the stewards suspended him for five days for this offense, and took the matter of his weird ride under further consideration.

NEW STEEPLECHASE COURSE AT GOSHEN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Up in the foothills of the Adirondacks, the most picturesque part of New York, there is to be another racecourse that when completed will be the best piece of natural racing country in all the broad land. This new course, which is already under construction, is on Grant Hugh Browne's Brownleigh Park estate at Goshen, and it is proposed to have it ready for a meeting next season.

Mr. Browne is no stranger to racing and he has always had a leaning to the cross-conntry end of the sport, though his stable of flat runners will always be remembered. It was Mr. Browne who imported that sterling jumper, John M. P., as well as Desert Chief and others of lesser note. This season he has come back to the races with a particularly strong stable, and while his silks have not yet played a very important part in the making of turf history this year, no American racing establishment has a more promising lot of imported yearlings with which to come to the races in 1917.

On his magnificent Goshen estate, Mr. Browne at present is having a steeplechase course laid out that for natural beauty has no equal in any country.

A broad, level valley affords the opportunity to have a course that will be full two miles around when constructed in a slight saddle bags shape, and it is possible to lay out the course in a manner to offer every test that is asked of a steeplechaser.

So much for the course itself. This valley in which the course is being constructed, has for its one boundary a gently sloping hill that affords a natural grand stand, while there has already been constructed at its crest a commodious club house, from which a view for twenty miles is possible. On the other side of the valley and circling the upper end of the course are gently undulating green fields, backed by the heavily wooded hills that seem to melt into one another in massive waves of foliage. It is a veritable fairy dell, with the distant mountains, in all their grandeur, standing guard over its virgin beauty.

William A. Gorman, builder of both Morris Park and Belmont Park, has been engaged to construct the steeplechase course, and inside of it there will be a flat course that will be a mile oval, both broad and level with excellent room for wide, easy turns.

The clubhouse, which has already been constructed, has a broad piazza that overlooks the racing ground, while, as has already been told, the hill on which it is built affords a natural grand stand of such a pitch that a vast throng would have a perfect view of the racing. All that remains to be done here is the cutting away of some few bushes and trees that screen a part of the view.

All of this work will be completed in ample time for racing next season, and it is the intention to give at least one sporting meeting on the delightful grounds. Mr. Browne is already planning some truly important prizes, and it is his ultimate intention to make his course as famous in this country as is the Liverpool Grand National course in England. He will hang up a prize that will attract the very best of the cross-country horses and the test over his racing ground will be the last word in cross-country racing.

FORTY ENTRIES RECEIVED FOR RICH LATONIA CUP EVENT.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 26.—What is sure to be the most brilliant and spectacular autumn race meeting at Latonia will begin this year on Saturday, October 7, and continue for a racing period of nineteen days, closing on Saturday, October 28.

In the long history of racing in Kentucky there has never been an autumn meeting quite as pretentious as the one scheduled to come off at this beautiful course this autumn. There are four great stakes to be decided, none of them with added money of less than $1,500, two of them having $2,000 and one of them $5,000 in added money. There will also be a special race at a mile for two-year-olds, designed to bring together the brilliant youngsters that will figure in the Derby and Oaks races next season, and this event also has $1,500 in added money. During the other fourteen days of the meeting there will be every afternoon a race on the card with $1,000 added, and, of course, throughout the entire meeting there will be no purse run off of less than $800 in added money.

The only thing that has caused any disappointment to Manager John Hachmeister this season in his conducting of the great race meetings at Douglas Park and Latonia has been the backwardness of horsemen in entering the members of their stables in the long-distance races programmed. This autumn he doubled the added money to the Latonia Cup, two miles and a quarter, the race that he has set his heart on making the big feature event of all fall meetings at this great course, and, surprising to note, the owners of racing stables throughout America patronized this rich event more sparsely than last season, and allowed it to close with a total of forty entries, while they made fifty entries in a race like the Autumn Stakes, at a mile, which only carries $1,500 in added money.

Before the spring meetings opened last season the breeders held a meeting here, and were represented at the meeting then held in this city by the Kentucky State Racing Commission. They asked the commission for a rule requiring a certain number of races at a mile or over each day on the program, and that body, heeding their request, recommended to the racing associations that each afternoon such events be put on the program. There was considerable talk at the time about a Gold Cup race at two miles and a quarter, but the programing of this event this fall was postponed after the three big tracks each put on their usual long-distance stake.

It seems from the experience this year of racing secretaries in securing an attractive program daily that, while the breeders of the thoroughbred desire long-distance races, the owners and trainers of racing stables of the present time are not in favor of racing the horses they control over long courses. All spring and summer the racing secretaries of these tracks were almost daily compelled to substitute shorter races for the long events on the card in purses and handicaps, which failed to fill, or, if they still substituted another race at over a mile, they were compelled to condition it for the cheapest classes of selling platers. So far this fall they have met with the same difficulty. Manager Hachmeister has determined at last to made a stand on this point. Now that the big tracks of Kentucky are compelled to program no race of less than $800 in added money, they have surely a right to have such events conditioned so as to bring out the best horses in training and make a program as a result that is attractive to the racing public, who are the people upon whose patronage the success of the race meeting depends. If the horsemen that control the stables racing on the turf at present don't want long-distance races, then he proposes to program events at future meetings which suit the horses available at such meetings, and have events daily on the card that will be liberally filled with entries instead of purses and overnight handicaps that for lack of patronage in entries have to be declared off and races substituted in their place that have to be filled on the spur of the moment.

Several years ago horsemen even then showed they failed to favor long-distance races as after the Churchill Downs track had added as high as $10,000 to the Endurance Stakes, four miles, the subscription to the event was very limited and the field exceedingly small. So far as trainers and owners of racing stables now operating on the courses at the present time are concerned the nomination made in the two miles and a quarter Latonia Cup with its $5,000 in added money, proves conclusively that such races are by no means as popular with them as events at a shorter distance. Under these circumstances it seems there is nothing left for the tracks to do but to condition stakes and races at a distance to suit these stables. The breeders of Kentucky and throughout America are furnishing the horses to be developed for racing, but they have no management over such performers after they pass out of their hands in their younger form. Where there is one horse bred today capable of covering a cup course there are twenty others unable even when they are thoroughly trained to go a creditable mile race in winning form. Breeders have overlooked the fact that they are in a measure to blame for these conditions, as the tendency in this line in the last forty years has been for speed alone. Except the Kentucky Endurance Stakes, there has been no long-distance race run off in Kentucky in more than fifty years that has carried the added money donated by Manager John Hachmeister to the Latonia Cup this autumn and still it even falls short of the entries made in the event in other years.

BRILLIANT OPENING AT WOODBINE.

TORONTO, CAN., Sept. 23.—The brief season of autumn racing at Woodbine opened today under most satisfactory conditions. The weather was fine most of the day, and only threatening at the worst; the track was in good order in spite of last night's rain, and the big fields of good horses provided keen racing contention. The attendance was sufficient to occupy the available accommodation, and no untoward event occurred to mar the pleasure of the afternoon. Woodbine was beautiful in its autumn dress, and its turf retains the freshness and attractiveness of spring. The display of flowers bordering the lawns made a fine setting, and the humming-birds were more numerous than usual among the long rows of scarlet sage.

The event of the day that carried the most "class" in its competitors was the fifteenth running of the Toronto Autumn Cup, a mile and a quarter, with $2,500 of added money. It had eight starters, Prohibition being added to those on the card, and resulted in a fourth victory for Mr. George M. Hendrie, whose Rancher came home half a length in front of Prince Hermis, with Pif, Jr., third. Rancher had won the same race last year, and his stable companion, Great Britain, was the winner in 1913 and 1914. The finish was fairly close, but Rancher was evidently the best horse in the race, though a lucky one. Jockey Obert allowed most of the field to get by him going to the top of the back stretch, but was fortunate enough to find the narrowest kind of an opening on the rail as they swung around the bend. He got Rancher through by almost a miracle, and nailed Prince Hermis in the stretch run.

This was the second victory of the day for Mr. Hendrie, and his second cup win. His colors were carried home in front by Sands of Pleasure in the Rothschild Cup, a handicap for Canadian-owned horses. The Montreal colt, Wise Man, just out of the maiden class, almost got up when Jockey Lykes eased up Sands of Pleasure at the finish.

Mr. Giddings' Hearts of Oak took the lead away from Collector early in the steeplechase, and was not headed again, though Robert Oliver had him driving his hardest at the finish. The vicissitudes of the turf are illustrated by the fact that this was only the second success this season for the Giddings stable, which very lately completely dominated the situation among Canadian-breds.

The dozen Canadian-breds in the Zetland Plate made a capital race, with the eventual winner, Kathleen H., not looming up until after it looked as if Hampton Dame would break her streak of bad luck. The Windsor mare came along after Hampton Dame had disposed of the other opposition, and beat her home pretty handily, with Exmer third and Amphion fourth. Her success gave Jockey Lykes his second win, and he was the only rider to score a double.

Yorkville led all the way in the opening race and Arravan took the front position in the second race at the head of the stretch. The latter was the only winner Jockey Robinson had during the day, and he was in the money on only one other horse. Robinson's services during the coming Laurel meeting in Maryland will be under first call from the stable of Harry Payne Whitney.

Only two of the horses on the day's program failed to go to the post, and there was one added starter, Prohibition, by Voter—Goody Good, in the Autumn Cup. The name, and the fact that his rider was Lykes constituted a "hunch" for some speculators, but it was not a lucky one. Prohibition showed a lot of speed, and was in front in the early stages, but lacked staying power, and finished last of the eight runners.

Three horses bled during their races today, and failed to give a good performance on that account. They were Grey Socks, Tropaeolum and Batwa.

LOCAL NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Belmont left Lexington Thursday for New York, after spending several days at the Nursery Farm, Mr. Belmont's father's splendid estate. Both Mr. and Mrs. Belmont are enthusiastic about the thoroughbred for cross-country and hunting purposes and while here spent considerable time looking over the field for suitable material. They secured a slashing, big bay seven-year-old son of Cesarion and Laura Ethel, by Bramble; second dam Lady Wayward by Virgil, next dam Lady Way by imp. Eclipse, and when this horse is gotten into shape, Mr. Belmont expects him to be a topnotcher.

Mrs. Belmont, who before her marriage, was Miss Carolyn Hulbert of Middleburg, Va., is an expert judge of horses and regarded as one of the best horsewomen in the South. She maintains her own stable and rides to hounds at almost every meet in Virginia. Her horse Aquilla, one of the best hunters in the section, has brought her into prominence recently at the Virginia horse shows by carrying off several blues.

Mr. Belmont has also attained considerable success as a rider, having ridden his horse Top Hat, which by the way is a half-brother to the great Tracery, being by Hastings out of imp. Topiary, to a well-earned victory in the Suffolk Plate, at one and one-sixteenth miles, during the Piping Rock meeting in June.

Dr. J. S. Tyree of Washington, D. C., who has been a good buyer of Kentucky yearlings for several seasons, has recently purchased seven youngsters from Charles W. Moore, Mere Hill Stud, and G. D. Wilson, Iroquois Stock Farm, as follows:

From C. W. Moore.

Brown filly by Sweep—Sweet Charlotte by Ingoldsby.

Bay colt by McGee—Boony Doon by Prince of Melbourne.

Chestnut filly by McGee—Sanfara (dam of Kewessa) by Ingoldsby.

From G. D. Wilson.

Chestnut colt by Stalwart—Torrid (dam of Promoter, etc.) by Sir Modred.

Chestnut colt by Stalwart—Northumbria (dam of Crisco, Borrower, etc.) by Ben Strome.

These yearlings were shipped to Benning Thursday and along in the same car John S. Barbee, Glen-Helen Stud, sent to R. J. Walden the yearling bay filly by Peep O'Day, out of Ursula Emma, by Broomstick.

Howard Oots returned to Lexington this week from England. He made a number of purchases at the yearling sales, a summary of which appears in another column.

For the past seven years A. L. Hamilton has raised at Kirklevington Farm all of the horses bred by R. T. Wilson and has shipped them to him at New York in their yearling form.

At Kirklevington there is a weanling full brother to Campfire (Olambala—Nightfall), and Mr. Wilson has there ten other mares with foals this year by Olambala. They are Lady of Navarre, Roman Gold, Fantasque, Madchen, Maha, Mauviette, Mexoana, Montrosa, L'Alouette and Reticule. Campfire is Nightfall's first foal to be trained, and he likewise is one of the first of the get of his sire. Nightfall's first foal came in 1913 and died. Campfire is her second.

Oscar Brown is in charge of Olambala and the mares. Oscar received his instructions from Milton Young and is a graduate from McGrathiana. Kirklevington contains 500 acres, nearly all in grass, and through every field there is running water from seven springs. The mares and their foals have plenty of range, because the place is not overcrowded with horses.

Olambala is a very gentle horse and none of his get has as yet displayed bad temper. A thirteen year old boy rides him every day. Mr. Hamilton probably was as proud of Campfire's success this season as Mr. Wilson, his owner.

The Douglas Park Jockey Club filed suit Thursday, in the Circuit Court to test the right of the Kentucky Racing Commission to fix a minimum value of $800 for purses to be offered at the race meeting held by the club.

Star Hawk, winner of the Louisville Cup, is a colt of much quality and of high form in racing conformation, of typical English type. He was purchased in England by Trainer W. B. Jennings for his present owner, A. K. Macomber from the successful English turfman, J. B. Joel, in whose colors his sire, Sunstar, won the Derby in 1911. He was bought with a number of other English-bred horses for a lump sum which totaled more than $60,000, he being regarded the star of the collection.

His first start in his new owner's colors was in the Kentucky Derby last spring at Churchill Downs, when he was beaten a head by George Smith, after having all the bad luck of that famous race. Before running in the Louisville Cup Star Hawk raced brilliantly in the East, his last start there being in the Lawrence Realization Stakes, which he cleverly won. He is entered this autumn in the historic St. Leger Handicap at the fall meeting at Churchill Downs and in the Latonia Cup next month at the Milldale course, both of which events are races of two miles and a quarter in distance.

Unless Friar Rock is his master, Star Hawk is the best long-distance performer developed among the three-year-olds in this country this season. One thing that may count against him as he grows older is his nervous temperament, he being an unusually highly strung colt. Saturday he was so unmanageable that the big floral decorations he so gallantly won could not be strung around him.

Star Hawk is of the happy cross of a great English horse mated with a mare strong in American blood lines. His dam, Sweet Finch, was bred by James B. Haggin in 1903 and was exported to England in 1904. Lucania, his second dam, was also bred by James B. Haggin, while School Girl, his third dam, was bred by A. J. Alexander. It is such a blend that produced the English Derby winner, Orby, and many other good horses. He comes on the dam side from the family of the Kentucky Derby winner, Old Rosebud, Troubadour and Go Between, both Suburban Handicap winners; Cunard, Ida Pickwick, Ten Booker, a Kentucky St. Leger winner; Sister Mary, Virginius, Lizzie Krepps, Lismony, Patron, Windrush, Keenan, Pupil, Miss Cody, Harry of the West and other stake winners.

A. B. Hancock, purchased this week in England, Gallice, bay mare, 6, by Gallinule out of St. Cecilia by St. Serf; next dam Melody (dam of Winifreda, winner of One Thousand Guineas) by Tynedale. Gallice is in foal to Corcyra, son of Polymelus and Pearmain by Persimmon.

Hon. J. N. Camden was operated on by Dr. Fuller at the Post Graduate Hospital, New York, Monday. His condition is reported as very favorable.

J. O. Keene has given up the idea of going to Russia to train and will sail today for England to purchase a number of weanlings for a syndicate. It is the intention of the syndicate to sell these weanlings next year at Saratoga at public auction.

The Board of Directors of the Business Men's Racing Association of New Orleans adopted resolutions opposing the splitting of dates or entering into an agreement with H. D. Brown. Mayor Behrman has declared that if the B. M. R. A. refuses to divide dates with H. D. Brown's race track the result will be that both tracks will stay closed.

CHURCHILL DOWNS OPENING A GOOD ONE.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 27.—Showing her heels all the way to twelve of the highest class sprinters in these parts, Kathleen, owned by George J. Long, of this city, won the Falls City Handicap, the chief event on the opening day's card at Churchill Downs this afternoon. The affair was at six furlongs, and the time, 1:13, is unusually slow for the class of horses which started in it, but this was because of a high wind which swept across the course. Kathleen had to be driven to the limit to stall off Bringhurst, and at the finish she was only a length in front of him. Vogue was third. The surprise of the race was Bringhurst, which in his recent efforts was unable to beat horses of far less class than those which he defeated today. He showed no inclination to chuck it up in the stake race, and ran like he did when he made track records over the same course where he performed today.

The race had a net value of $2,170, and the second and third horses received $500 and $250, respectively. The field of thirteen starters was the largest which has contested for a stake event on the Kentucky circuit in a long while.

The race was between the three placed horses all of the way. Kathleen dashed into the lead soon after the barrier was released, and she held sway throughout, but she never could get farther than a length in front of Bringhurst. She maintained this advantage to the end, while Bringhurst beat Vogue two lengths for the place. Hodge, which finished fourth, ran a good race, and bids fair to make himself troublesome in route races in any kind of company around here from now on.

A. K. Macomber was represehted by an entry, Hank O'Day and Ed Crump, but neither was a contender at any stage of the race. Jockey H. H. Phillips, who rode Hank O'Day, found out that he cannot take the overland route and beat horses like raced against Hank O'Day today, as his mount was not that much the best. Hank O'Day was always up closer than Ed Crump, but in his efforts to find a spot on the outside, where he could run unmolested, he managed to keep the horse out of the money.

Conning Tower and Coquette went well in tne early running, but they could not improve their positions to any extent. Bayberry Candle did not get off to her usual flying start, and as a result she got nothing.

CAPT. CASSATT OFFERS NEW SELLING RACE RULES.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Captain Edward B. Cassatt, who brought about an amendment to the racing of two-year-olds last winter, has proposed a most elaborate and complicated amendment to the rules governing selling races.

It is his proposal to wipe out the present rules from 127 to 132, inclusive, and in their place substitute his offering. That is to do away entirely with the present regulations that govern selling races.

As a substitute for Rule 127 Captain Cassatt at great length has followed along the lines of the French rule which permits the claiming of a horse before post time.

The proposed new rule reads in part:

"Any person who wishes to buy a horse before the race must submit to the stewards or to the clerk of the scales a written bid containing the offer of an amount which may not be less than that for which the horse is entered to be sold. The purchaser will have to pay in addition to the amount written in his submitted bid the value of the race to the winner increased, according to circumstances, by the entrance fee or by the highest forfeit.

"The horse thus claimed may not start. But if payment for him is not made immediately to the clerk of the course or guaranteed to the satisfaction of the stewards the claim is void and the horse may start.

"At the time of the signal for beginning the operation of weighing out, which shall be thirty minutes before the time fixed for the race, the letters are opened and any horse entered to be claimed belongs to the person who has made the highest bid."

It will be observed that Captain Cassatt would make the claiming, as the auctions, open to all and not confined to those having starters in the same race.

There are various sections of the rule as to the time of reporting a horse, and it is provided that the program numbers of the horses present in the paddock are reported for the race, shall be posted on a bulletin board provided for that purpose. Any horse starting in a race without fulfilling these requirements shall be disqualified under the new measure.

Then the claiming is safeguarded by many regulations and two of them are:

"The owner has a right only to the amount for which he has entered his horse to be sold, increased by the value of the race to the winner and, according to the case, by the amount of his entrance fee or that of the highest forfeit, and any surplus goes to the race fund.

"In case of the purchase being void by failure to pay for the horse, the signer of the bid remains responsible for the difference between his offer and that of the person to whom the horse is allotted or if there has been no other bid than his, for the surplus resulting from his bid. No horse owned wholly or partially by him or entered in his name may start until this surplus has been paid."

Rule 129 deals with claims made after the running of the race, and it provides that these claims shall be made in writing within fifteen minutes after the completion of the weighing in. If the claim be for the winner the bidder need pay nothing more than the amount written on the bid submitted. If it be a horse which has run a divided dead heat, or if it be a horse entitled to place money, or if it be a horse unplaced i the race, the purchaser will have to pay, in additi to the claiming figure named in the bid he has ubmitted, the sum necessary to indemnify or to assure t the seller the integral value of the race to the winner increased by the entrance fee.

"The owner has a right only to the amount for whic he has entered his horse to be sold, increased by hi entrance fee and, according to circumstances, by the value of the race to the winner or by the value of the race to the winner less any place or other money the horse may have won, and the surplus goes to the race fund."

Like Rule 127 there are numerous regulations as to payment of the bids submitted and the legal procedure in the transfer of the horse.

Rule 129 requires that the horses must remain in the paddock until the result of the sale is known. The penalty for a violation of this rule is a fine of $200.

Under this regulation it would become necessary to keep every horse that started in either a selling or a claiming race in the paddock until fifteen minutes after the finish of the race.

Some changes are suggested in the auction clause, but Captain Cassatt retains the auction instead of the sealed bids. He would have the surplus over the entered selling price go to the Race Fund and no provision is made for any other starter sharing in the advance over the selling price.

This rule also provides that "In auction selling races all the horses may be claimed before the race and if it is not specified in the conditions that only the winner is subject to sale horses other than the winner may be claimed after the race as prescribed for the various cases by the selling race rules."

In Rule 131 Captain Cassatt makes possible the purchase of a horse that has been disqualified.

This section reads: "Any horse disqualified before the signal indicating the completion of weighing in after the race can be bought nevertheless, even though he be disqualified from first place in a race whose conditions require that only the winner shall be for sale. The purchaser will have to pay in addition to an amount at least equal to the price at which that horse has been entered to be sold the sum necessary to assure to the vendor the value of the race to the winner plus the entrance fee.

"When, before the race, a horse is adjudged by the stewards to be ineligible or when, after the race, and after being sold, he is disqualified or adjudged ineligible, his purchaser has the choice of agreeing or of refusing either to accept delivery or to keep him.

"If he decides to accept delivery or to keep the horse he must pay, in addition to the claiming figure, the value of the race to the winner and, according to circumstances, of the entrance fee or of the highest forfeit. If he refuses delivery or sends the horse back the sale and its effects are void; the cost of the sale are due from the seller."

The selling race rules have been very freely discussed all through the season that is drawing to a close and it is imperative that there be some changes to wipe out many abuses. Whether or not the rules as offered by Captain Cassatt prevail will not be known until they are thoroughly threshed out by the stewards of The Jockey Club. Captain Cassatt has devoted much time and energy on his proposed changes, there are many he suggests that will be popular with the horsemen, but there are others that will unquestionably meet with opposition.

The fact remains that the selling race rule will not be permitted to slumber through the winter months and it is safe to predict that the rules for such racing in 1917 will be more in keeping with the very idea of the selling race than have been the 1916 rules.

DISPERSAL SALE OF HORSES IN TRAINING.

Foxhall P. Keene has decided to have a sale of his horses in training, and an auction will be held of them by the Powers-Hunter Company, at 1 p. m., on October 9, at the Laurel race course, Laurel, Md. Those that go under the hammer are Churchill, Lorac, Indian Chant, Landslide, Tipperary and Queen Mab. It is not the intention of Mr. Keene to retire from the turf, but he will go into breeding, and proposes to race horses of his own breeding, as his father before him did so successfully. Puss in Boots has already been sent to the stud and other fillies have been reserved as matrons.

LOUISVILLE GOSSIP.

Westy Hogan has come back to the races a real good sort after his summer let-up. Although palpably short and high in flesh, he made all the pace in his race and was beaten an inch by Felicidad, only because of Jockey Lloyd Gentry throwing the race away at the wire. Westy, Midway and Berlin look to be the best of the colts this fall, since Harry Kelly and Green Jones are on the shelf.

Midway has won his two starts at the meeting with ease, and Berlin came from a long way back and ran over his field in the stretch.

Clubs holds the two-mile record at Douglas, three and three-fifths seconds faster than the great English colt Star Hawk ran the distance on Saturday.

Monday Clubs was in a race at a mile and three-sixteenths with as poor a bunch of "goats" as could be culled out of a race track, and Trainer Will Perkins offered to sell the horse for $200 five minutes before the race, but the old horse finished second at that and beat the two choices.

"Middle of the Track" Phillips is riding in great form nowadays, not only on the Macomber horses, but on outside mounts as well. He rides extremely wide on the home turn, but keeps his mounts in their stride always and escapes jostling and interference, and although strictly a hand-rider, his mounts seem to give him "all they have got" through that last hard quarter of a mile. Phillips' rides on Kittenish and John W. Klein on Tuesday, were sparkling.

"Ex-Jockey Goose" on the other hand, seems to be going back fast, his mounts having to be pounds the best to get any part of the purse. Roscoe performed like a stable boy on Sleeth in the last race Tuesday, making no effort to get a position on the first turn and riding into a pocket on the backstretch, which he couldn't get out of until too late to catch Miss Fannie.

The stewards were not satisfied with Nobleman's showing Saturday, when he finished out of the money to Mars Cassidy and Stout Heart, and Jockey Murphy did not accept any mounts Tuesday. Mars Cassidy has always been one of the best of sprinters in the plater division, and Stout Heart's win Tuesday over Converse and Roscoe Goose, puts a better complexion on the Nobleman race—but—Roscoe Goose's effort on his namesake in the latter race, was a pitiful exhibition to put the thing in its kindest light. At the eighth pole the three horses were heads apart, but Roscoe finished standing in his stirrups, watching Stout Heart head Converse out of the money.

"It's not so much what's done, as who does it," as Mr. Dooley says.

Standing in the next stall to Milestone in Al Austin's barn, is a yearling full brother to that great three-year-old of a few seasons back, Horron. This colt right now is a bigger and heavier horse than his three-year-old stablemate and is a grand type of a young race horse, and has shown Trainer Austin some fine moves.

Star Hawk's Louisville Cup was a great effort, considering that the great English-bred three-year-old was conceding 22 lbs. by the scale to as good a four-year-old mare as Embroidery, and that he mare all his own pace with twenty pounds of lead under his saddle. The colt came again with rare gameness after Embroidery had taken the track from him on the home turn, and he was going away at the finish.

Contracts have been let for a $7,000 seweage system at Douglas Park and the work will commence at once. This will bring the total for improvements this year at Douglas Park to nearly $25,000.

Owner Macomber wired Trainer Jennings Wednesday morning to declare Star Hawk from the St. Leger to be run at Churchill Downs next Thursday. The stable did not fancy the impost of 128 lbs. on their great three-year-old in a race of two miles and a quarter. Mr. Macomber was anxious to run his colt in all three of Kentucky's long distance events this fall and would have stood for a couple of pounds increase on Star Hawk and a corresponding drop on the contenders, but didn't care to take a chance on injuring the colt's future by asking him to perform the task assigned him in the St. Leger by Handicapper Jasper.

Trainer Jennings left for Lexington Thursday morning to look over the yearling colt by Jim Gaffney at the Jones farm near Winchester, with a view to adding the yearling to the extensive Macomber establishment.

Westy Hogan again showed his ability to run a fast half and back up the last eighth just as fast, when on Wednesday the imported filly Sunbonnet, came from four lengths back at the eighth pole and beat him four lengths at the finish. A real hustling ride might have kept the grand looking, but faint-hearted Westy going long enough to win, but Lloyd Gentry was of no help to the colt, and he barely managed to keep the fast-coming Sunflash out of the place.

Star Jasmine has about shown that she is a light of other days. Mr. McDowell's once good old mare was in a good position at the top of the stretch in her race Wednesday, but tailed off badly through the last eighth, and Hanovia and Money Maker both beat her to the wire. It is not so long ago that Star Jasmine was taking Roamer, Stromboli and the other cracks into camp at Saratoga.

Mr. George Long's good three-year old filly Kathleen, showed a classy performance when she led a big field of the best sprinters in Kentucky to the wire in the Falls City Handicap on Wednesday. The handsome daughter of Sempronius won all the way and apparently well within herself. Kathleen has won her last three starts, each time against better horses and picking up more weight.

STATISTICS OF AUSTRALIAN RACING.

The list of winning owners and successful sires compiled for the Australasian Turf Register makes interesting reading, and a lady had the pleasure of owning the biggest prize-winner. This was Mrs. E. A. Widdis, whom Patrobas credited with $68,400—a splendid return on the part of a colt costing 300 guineas as a yearling. Three New South Wales owners followed Mrs. Widdis. They were Messrs. D. U. Seaton, $51,985; G. Barnett, $43,720, and W. Dalley, $36,590.

The owner credited with most wins was A. H. W. Cunningham of Queensland, who, with fourteen difference horses, scored 421 races. Unluckily for him the stakes accounted for were small, the total being $7,110.

The list of winners of over $17,000 is as follows:

Wallace has occupied a prominent position in the winning stallions' list for many years, but this season was the first in which he actually finished on top, Patroba doing most on his behalf. Linacre has made rapid strides as a sire, while in regard to number of winners Bobadil and Malster were again prolific, only three separating them. However, Pistol has the greatest number of wins, 132, so that he, as well as Wallace, kept Carbine to the fore. The progeny of another Carbine horse, Carbinier, recorded 74½ wins, while other sons of the old Australian favorite scored as follows: George Frederick, 37½ wins; Spearmint, 4; Flintlock, 19; Mousqueton, 31½; Bundook, 22; Nevada, 7; Ballistite, 24; Mural, 14; Metford, 19½; Fucile, 24½, and Amberite, 20. The season's twenty leading stallions were:

STAR HAWK WINS LOUISVILLE CUP.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 23.—Charging down the stretch with giant strides, Star Hawk, A. K. Macomber's three-year-old imported son of Sunstar—Sweet Finch, won the Louisville Cup race at Douglas Park this afternoon. At his saddle girth was Embroidery, weary and faltering from a supreme effort to capture this coveted turf fixture. Six lengths behind, Killanna, an Irish mare, struggled to the wire, and in her wake was Water Witch.

Only once in the long contest did Star Hawk give his supporters cause to worry. As the field swept along the backstretch on the final lap, Embroidery dashed to the front. Many believed Jockey Phillips had tossed away the race when he yielded the lead without an effort. Others gained comfort in the thought that he was waiting to make his drive in the stretch. Embroidery strove to gain the most from her spurt, and had it come latter, it might have beaten the English-bred horse. But Star Hawk was too good. He closed with a rush into the final straightaway and foot by foot cut down the lead of his rival. He had only galloped the first mile and a half and even the great weight he was conceding his opponents could not bridge the gap in class. His one real endeavor in the whole race carried him past the wire a winner. He was not even a tired horse when he returned to the stand to meet the plaudits of the big crowd.

The four sleek thoroughbreds were delayed at the barrier a few moments by the antics of the Macomber colt, but soon were sent away with Star Hawk in the van. Phillips took a snug hold of his mount and he stroked along in front of his field with Killanna in second place. Embroidery followed with Water Witch in the rear. All four continued under restraint and the first mile was covered in 1:46 3 5.

As the quartet neared the half-mile pole on the second journey Killanna and Embroidery made their bids. The Hancock mare took the lead and, turning off the backstretch, increased her advantage to a length and a half. But, rounding the final bend, Phillips began to urge Star Hawk and the big horse responded willingly. Between the eighth pole and the sixteenth he breasted the mare, and from there to the wire increased his advantage. Killanna dropped back beaten after her drive on the backstretch. Water Witch could never cope with the field.

The victor was given a big ovation when he returned to the judges' stand. The thousands present realized that they looked upon a great race horse. As Jockey Phillips jumped from the back of his charge he was greeted by A. K. Macomber, and the owner was all smiles. He had come from the East to witness this race and said that he was confident at all times that his good colt would be returned the winner.

Mr. Macomber witnessed the race from the judges' stand. With him were three members of the Kentucky State Racing Commission, Gen. W. B. Haldeman, Charles F. Grainger and Judge Allie W. Young. They were the first to congratulate the Eastern sportsman on his splendid triumph.

The cup race brought out the best attendance of the meeting, and a large crowd gathered around the judges' stand when Mr. Macomber was presented with the solid silver trophy, which went to the winner. Weather and track condition were of the best sort and Racing Secretary Campbell had arranged a card of the highest order, there being two handicaps on it in addition to the stake race. One of these, the Clermont Handicap, was for three-year-olds and upward at six furlongs, and the other, the Okolona Handicap, was for two-year-olds at the same distance.

The Clermont Handicap fell to Kathleen, owned by George J. Long, of this city, and she ran as though much the best, winning by three lengths. She broke on top and was never in serious danger. Bringhurst took a run at her on the backstretch and then Fleetabelle tried to catch her, but both were unable to even worry her. St. Isidore moved up turning for home, but he also had no chance to catch the Long mare. He did manage to finish second a length in front of Coquette. The latter closed with a good rush. Fleetabelle weakened in the last sixteenth of a mile after showing high speed all the way. Bringhurst quit to nothing. John J., was never a contender. Blackie Daw got off last and had no chance to get up. The winner was made the favorite on the strength of her recent winning effort, and she showed the form players all of the way that they made no mistake when they centered on her chances.

Midway had no trouble taking down the long end of the purse in the Okolona Handicap. He won by four lengths from Auriga, which ran a vastly different race with Jockey Frank Murphy up instead of L. Gentry, who rode her in a previous effort. Sol Gilsey was third. The winner went to the front at the break and led all the way. Auriga got close to him in the first part of the race, but he soon shook her off and went on about his business. Auriga likewise was never in trouble for the place position. Sol Gilsey came from behind to get show money. Mary Belle showed some early speed, but quit. The winner was the favorite.

The opening race was a thriller, as half of the field was bunched heads apart at the eighth pole, and Bullion got up in time to beat Jackstraw, the "good thing," by the narrowest of margins. Square Dealer was third, an "inch" behind the place horse. Jockey J. McCabe broke Sir Wellons off on top and he remained there the greater part of the way, but weakened right at the end. At that he was beaten less than a length for all of the money. Jockey Roy Urquhart put up a rousing finish on the winner and brought him from far back to finish right in the middle of the bunch. Hemlock weakened in the final drive. He was the favorite.

Another thrilling finish came with the running of the second race, when Mars Cassidy outgamed Stout Heart in a gruelling stretch drive to win by half a length. Droll was third. The winner was kept off the early pace, which was set by Hawthorn, but turning into the stretch Jockey C. Tudor got him up fast and he responded like a good horse. Stout Heart showed a sparkling performance, coming from last place, and just did fall short of getting up. Droll also closed with a rush. Hawthorn weakened after getting straightened away for home. Nobleman had a bad attack of the "slows" and ran far below his true form. He was an odds-on favorite.

Samuel R. Meyer, which should have been a logical 20-to-1 chance on his recent races, was made a 6-to-5 chance, and he ran like he should have been 1 to 5. He took the track early and led his field all the way. Louise Paul was closest to him, but she never worried him much. Polly H. began slowly, as usual, and finished fast, but had to be content with third position, Louise Paul beating her a neck for the place. George Roesch showed to good advantage in the first stages of the event, but he dropped back and quit to nothing. Transportation came fast through the stretch from a slow beginning. First Degree again could not outrun a fat man at any stage of the journey.

Beauty Shop took the closing event of the card by half a length from Rapids, which beat Alfadir the same margin for the place. The winner was in front most of the way, but Rapids headed her by a slight margin near the three-eighths pole. In the stretch, however, Jockey H. H. Phillips got her up fast and she stood a hard drive to win. Alfadir, the favorite, also closed fast. Rifle Shooter was never a contender and although he beat Alfadir the last time they met she beat him by five lengths today. Louise Stone quit to nothing. Mandy Hamilton could never get up.

Jockey Walter Andress was suspended for the remainder of the meeting by Starter Harry Morrissey. His alleged offense was committed in the first race.

There are several American commissions, after all, and Mr. Welsh is once more buying—I presume—for Mr. Widener. I myself bought the Sunstar colt for G. H. Browne, who tried to secure him in July last. Put in at three hundred guineas it became necessary to slightly exceed the commission before the colt was knocked down for six hundred and twenty guineas. He traces to sister to Glencoe, and when he has done racing will make a first-class mate for many American mares, especially those by Hanover, which have such excellent lines of Glencoe blood.—[W. Allison in London Sportsman.

The yearling by Spearmint out of Veneration II. (a half-brother to Nassovian), purchased out of the Sledmere batch for John Sanford, the well-known American sportsman, for four thousand guineas will be trained for his engagements next year by J. Butters at Newmarket.—[London Sportsman.

THE FINN WINS HAVRE DE GRACE HANDICAP.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Sept. 23.—Once more is the name of H. C. Hallenbeck's The Finn written down among the stake winners, for the game little black son of Ogden and Livonia repeated his performance of a week ago when he won the Chesterbrook, and today captured the Havre de Grace Handicap.

Picking up 129 pounds today's winner ran a game and true race on a track to his liking by last night's rain and was ridden out at ths end to win from James Butler's Spur, Harry Payne Whitney's Borrow, August Belmont's Stromboli, Andrew Miller's Roamer, J. W. May's Bayberry Candle and Emil Herz's Short Grass and Daddy's Choice in the order named.

The Havre de Grace was a great race and the time of 1:52 1-5 over a slow track makes it look certain that if the track had been as fast as that of yesterday before the rain, a new world's record might have been made, for those others in the race made the black whirlwind live up to his name and go some to win.

The Chesterbrook run last Saturday and won by this same horse, was the greatest race seen on an Eastern racetrack during this year, but today's event was better, for in addition to all the good ones that started a week ago, there was Spur in this afternoon's event to add to the class and the contention.

And Spur ran a great race. It would not be fair to throw any shadow on the winning of so great a horse as The Finn, for it is always possible that he might have done even better had he been pressed harder at the end, but it is necessary to say that Mr. Butler's great three-year-old, which came in second, had practically all the hard luck of the race. And next to the winner he unquestionably was the best horse on such a track and at the weights and distance.

Whitney's Borrow ran a great race, but was unable to live up to the terrific pace he set. Stromboli, too, ran surprisingly well on a track that was considered against him, and he also suffered some bad racing luck in being tangled up at times where he was unable to get through, and in addition he had Johnny McTaggart to guide him, and Johnny never is known to take a chance these days. Roamer was close up through all the early running. Bayberry Candle had plenty of foot for the better part of the first mile, but simply was out of her class, as was Daddy's Choice and seemingly Short Grass.

Spur, which has been mentioned as running such a great race, met with bad luck directly after Starter Milton had sent them away to a mighty fine start. Joe Notter on Borrow, threw his mount against the three-year-old and almost knocked him to his knees. It put Spur out of his stride and while Borrow flew out into the lead, the Butler horse lost his stride and floundered back. And even when he got going as they passed the stand he met with interference as they rounded the first turn.

It was Borrow which led into the backstretch, closely pursued by Bayberry Candle, with Stromboli and Roamer next in order. They went through the long run in this order, and at the four and a half furlong pole Schuttinger began to shake up The Finn and send him along after the leaders on the outside. It was not until they were near the far turn that Loftus seemed to be able to get Spur going at full speed, and then he also showed that he was going to be where the money was.

Still running on the outside, The Finn mowed down his horses as they rounded the turn, and when they were straightened out for the run home he took command. Borrow was still running well and gamely, but had to give way to the oncoming rush of the black horse, while Bayberry Candle, which also had been close up, began to tire of the terrific pace.

Then came Spur fighting and winning his way stride by stride past Stromboli and Roamer and on to challenge Borrow, which still was second. These two chased The Finn in a vain effort, but so close were they that they made Schuttinger and the leader work in unison for all they had to give, and they were chased home in a drive, while Spur, still after the leader, got past Borrow and took second place by a close call.

It was a crowd that filled the stand, lawn and overflowed into the infield that cheered the winner of the handicap, and then cheered some more when the time was hung up, showing that even with the condition of the track The Finn had come within a second of the Havre de Grace record. Captain Duhaine, head of the Pinkerton force, said there were about as many persons out as there were last Saturday, which was a banner day, and that there were more automobiles in the enclosure today than ever had been on the track.

THE APPRENTICE JOCKEY PROBLEM.

The lack of good riding material stood out conspicuously during the past season on the race courses in the East and there have been many opinions expressed as to the solution of a problem which has vexed the turf solons for a long time. The disappearance of the old time task master of the type of Father Bill Daly, who brought out more famous jockeys than anybody else, has been deplored, and something must be done in the immediate future if a new supply of desirable material for the saddle is to be forthcoming.

Thomas J. Healey, who trains the horses of R. T. Wilson and who had the champion two-year-old Campfire in his charge the past season, has some ideas on the subject that are sound.

"No boy should be entrusted with a mount," said he a few days ago, "until he has had two years' experience as an exercise boy, and when he does get a chance if he shows a performance which is not up to the standard he should be kept in retirement for a specified time before given another opportunity. There should be two races a week at a mile or over for apprentices exclusively. This would give the boys a chance to learn something about pace, for without that no rider can hope to become a first-class horseman. Short races, which are a mere dash from the moment the barrier is lifted, do not call for the judgment a longer contest would demand.

"I would favor the establishment of a rule which would not annul a boy's apprentice allowance until he had ridden twenty-five winners, whether it took him two years to accomplish it or one year, as the rule now calls for. Some of the best apprentices we have had of recent years have not ridden twenty-five winners before their year is up, and a boy in a big stable would have a great advantage over a youngster where there would be some very good mounts available.

"While a boy will learn much from contact with the older jockeys," went on Mr. Healey, "he would get more confidence by the actual winning of races, and this situation will come the more quickly if he is pitted with beginners like himself. With the minimum age limit at sixteen years we should get results all the more quickly, as lads of greater intelligence will be available. Our boys have it easy in comparison with the exercise lads abroad. An English boy has to help rub as well as ride and walk his charges, while here in the United States a boy is not asked to 'do up' an animal. In some of the larger stables the education of the lads is looked after, and before racing was stopped at Sheepshead Bay the Coney Island Jockey Club maintained a school, at which attendance was compulsory. This was a pet scheme of the late J. H. Bradford, who took a particular interest in the welfare of the boys at the course of which he was the active head.

"There is no occupation that brings quicker or larger returns for young men of small station than that of a jockey," said Mr. Healey in conclusion, "and I believe if these chances were widely known we would have a higher degree of intelligence in the saddle and better riders as a natural consequence."

It might be mentioned that the most promising apprentice seen on the Eastern courses this season is the lad Warscher, popularly known as "Biscuits," who is an inmate of the stable of William H. Karrick. Warscher has been exercising horses for seven years and only rode a few races last fall. During the present season in Maryland he has won several good races and has displayed enough ability to warrant the belief that he will be a star lightweight in 1917.

The stewards of The Jockey Club will no doubt find a means to grapple with the apprentice jockey problem that will be satisfying to all and produce at the same time the best results.

The Irish Bloodstock Agency has purchased from J. P. Hogan the two-year-old colt Manister Toi, by The White Knight out of Heriot, by Wildfowler, on behalf of an American owner, and the colt goes to America immediately.—London Sportman.

W. R. Coe has shipped the stallion Harmonicon and sixteen broodmares to his Wyoming farm, where he has been gathering together a thoroughbred breeding establishment of some importance.

OWNERS AND HORSES TO BE OUTLAWED.

TORONTO, ONTARIO, September 26.—Horsmen who contemplated racing at the new Devonshire track, which is scheduled to open at Windsor on Saturday, will in the majority of cases likely change their minds now that the track has been outlawed by no less than seven clubs.

The Hamilton Jockey Club, the Niagara Racing Association, Ft. Erie and the Windsor Jockey Club, Windsor, today gave out the following announcement:

"Realizing that increasing the number of race tracks will be a menace to racing in Ontario, we hereby notify all persons that participate in the forthcoming advertised meeting of the so-called Devonshire track, Windsor, that those persons and horses so participating will be denied any and all privileges at meetings hereafter to be given by the foregoing three mentioned members of the Canadian Racing Association."

It is understood that the Ontario Jockey Club, Toronto, will at its next meeting fall in line with Hamilton, Ft. Erie and Windsor regarding Devonshire.

The Metropolitan Racing Association, Dufferin Park, Toronto; the Toronto Riding and Driving Club, Hillcrest Park, Toronto, and the Northern Riding and Driving Club, Kenilworth Park, Windsor, have announced themselves as follows:

"Inasmuch as racing in Ontario is threatened with additional tracks, and believing that such increase will be detrimental to thoroughbred racing in general, notice is hereby given that all persons and horses participating in the proposed Devonshire meeting at Windsor will be refused entry at all of the foregoing tracks."

A mild sensation was caused at the publication of the statement regarding Mr. Croker's horses. The majority took it for granted from the paragraphs which appeared in the dailies, Irish and English, that Mr. Croker had decided to sever his connection with the Irish turf. Such a decision, particularly in view of the successes his animals have achieved this season, naturally took the racing world by surprise; and, despite the unpromising outlook where breeders of bloodstock are concerned, it could scarcely be believed that the entire Glencairn Stud would be submitted for auction.

Such I learn will not be the case. It is true that Mr. Croker is about to indulge in a "weeding out" process, which is only following the example of many other stud proprietors. He has a penchant for buying any horse or mare that takes his fancy, and, being such a large purchaser, it would be more than surprising if everything he acquired should turn out a champion. The truth of the matter is that there are many, too many, animals at Glencairn for present requirements, and in reducing the number prior to his departure for America, where he generally goes for the winter, Mr. Croker is only adopting a sensible attitude.

Orby will, of course, be retained, and the majority of the horses in training. By the way, Mr. Croker is rapidly recovering from the effects of the operation which was so successfully performed last Tuesday by Dr. Gogarty.—[Irish Life.

All season long there has been a dearth of exercise boys and it would seem that many of them have been stolen away from their employers. No fewer than half a dozen trainers have complained to The Jockey Club that their boys have run away. H. G. Bedwell has lost A. Campbell, Captain Edward B. Cassatt complains that Frederick Smith has left his employ without permission, Grant Hugh Browne has lost J. Petz, W. C. Clancy, trainer for the Wickliffe Stable complains that Milton Lilley has run away from him, James Rowe is looking for O. Barrett and he has also reported that William Henry Lokey has left his employ after having signed a contract. All of these runaways have been reported and other trainers have been cautioned not to harbor or employ any one of the boys published.

THE THOROUGHBRED RECORD

THE PASSING OF DAVID WEEKS M'COUN.

In the death of the late Mr. D. W. McCoun on the 21st ult., in his eighty-eighth year, has passed one of the best characters of the old school of trainers that graced the American turf. Therefore, he needs more than a brief notice, as was in a late New York daily, containing several errors.

Born Nov. 8, 1829, at Oyster Bay, Long Island, and reared in the atmosphere of his father's business of training racehorses, he began riding them in his eleventh year. On the death of his father, he was placed in the care of Mr. William Gibbons (who maintained a breeding and training establishment at "Sandy Hill Farm," Madison, N. J., and there he bred, Bonnets O' Blue, Fashion and other high-class racehorses), who sent him to his trainer Mr. Samuel Laird at Colts Neck, Monmouth Co., N. J.

On the death of Mr. Gibbons in 1847, his son William H. placed McCoun in full charge as trainer of his father's racehorses when he was but eighteen years of age. Probably this event was, and is still, the first instance of a number of racehorses being trained by a youth of his age on the American turf. His first winner was Philo, and he also trained Nannie Lewis, Rube, Nicholas I., and others of note. When the Civil War broke out he was in the South on Mr. Gibbons' plantation "The Roost," near Savannah, Ga. The military forces seized his racehorses and pressed McCoun into the army and held him therein for nearly four years when Mr. Gibbons secured his release, and General Benj. Butler passed him North.

In 1865, I met him at the Saratoga track, training for Mr. Reed of Ohio. The following year he trained for the late Mr. M. H. Sanford, "Preakness Farm," near Paterson, N. J., handling Loadstone, King Lear, Nannie Butler, Dot, and Earring. In the following year he only trained Earring, which won a 1¾ mile race at Jerome Park, and Mr. Sanford bet and won heavily over it.

In 1869 and '70, he trained for Gov. Odin Bowie, of Maryland. His best horse was Legatee, which won the four mile heat race on old Monmouth Park in 1870. Later he trained for Mr. Davis, of Virginia. Fadladeen was his frequent winner.

During later years he trained some horses of no merit. Then assumed a position with the late Mr. P. Lorillard at his Rancocas Stock Farm, Jobstown, N. J.

In the fall of 1889, at the Clifton race track in New Jersey he secured an option on the dark brown colt Ugly Duckling, three years old, by Sensation, out of imp. Peggy Dawdle, bred by the late Mr. George L. Lorillard at The Locusts, near old Monmouth Park race track, New Jersey. On the expiration of the option, he had to be persuaded to accept his bargain, as I was so informed, by Mrs. Lorillard's trainer, Robert Murray.

Thus, it is shown by what a narrow margin a future fortune came near slipping by a comparatively poor man, as, then was McCoun, when he secured his unknown and hidden prize in "Ugly Duckling," for $300, which he renamed "Loantaka," from a valley in Morris Co., N. J. and he won eleven races out of twenty-three, including the Suburban Handicap in 1891. His total winnings were over $23,000, netted within three years, to a man who had previously struggled for thirty years —about half of his latter life—his reward was well earned, as he lived to enjoy its fruits for twenty-five years, and thence to follow his cherished "Loantaka" to beneath the turf, and both acted well their part thereon, and left it without a shadow of suspicion as a trainer and owner during a career of over half a century.

Fifty years ago I found in him an excellent employer, so very kind and so thoughtful towards one's interest, this treatment alone, sealed a life friendship between us. This qualifications as a trainer were excellent however placed, and true manhood lodged within the breast of him, my departed friend, David Weeks McCoun.

JAMES H. MCCREERY.

HOURLESS WINS EASTERN SHORE HANDICAP.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Sept. 30.—August Belmont's imported Hourless, a brown son of Negofol and Hour Glass II., this afternoon won the Eastern Shore Handicap, the feature of the closing day at Havre de Grace in a romp. And that was not all for the Chairman of the Jockey Club, as his Woodtrap, a chestnut son of Trap Rock and Woodvine, was second, with James Butler's Wistful, a chestnut filly by Star Shoot out of Witfull, third.

It was a great race that Hourless won, for he traveled the six furlongs, running on the outside of his field until the final furlong, and doing the route in one minute and fourteen seconds. In the field of an even dozen Gifford A. Cochran's Jock Scot was fourth, after having set the early pace, and the Oneck Stable's Tragedy was fifth.

Harry Payne Whitney's Bonnie Witch showed a lot of speed in the first half mile of the running, but died away and finished next to last. Hourless proved his superior class by picking up top weight of 127 pounds and winning his way on a track which his trainer feared would not be to his liking.

All day Friday, all last night, and all this morning, Sam Hildreth, trainer of Hourless and Woodtrap, fretted and worried because of the rain that had fallen and made a bad track, when he wanted a fast one. Friday he felt practically certain that Hourless would not start. This morning he was a bit in doubt, because a stiff wind during the night and all through the morning had helped to dry out the going. At two o'clock he was considering adding Deer Trap and scratching Hourless, but after the second race had been run, he made up his mind that he would be game and start the star two-year-old of his stable.

He was afraid early in the day to start Hourless because he hated to have the colt beaten, and was in doubt about how he would take to the slow track with his top weight. Jockey Butwell, who rode Hourless, never made a mistake. He had the outside position and was off none too well. He persevered and was urging his mount from the very start to such good effect that when the turn was reached he had moved up to the front and had Jock Scot and Bonnie Witch raced into submission. All through the stretch it could be seen that nothing was going to beat Hourless, but the great surprise came when Woodtrap, which had been last away from the post, came on with a rush and headed all the others to take second place.

The fact that the Belmont stable ran first and second made the mutuels pay more for the place than for winning, the price being $2.10 to $1 to win and $3.10 to $1 for the place, while the price for third was the same as to win.

There was another good race on the card, although there were only three starters, these being Sand Marsh, which won; Anita, which was second, and Pesky, last. Sand Marsh was so much the best that after he had been pocketed behind two horses on the turn for home he was able to pull up and go around to the outside wide into the stretch and then come away and win easily. Pesky cut out all the early running of the six furlongs of the handicap, with Anita close up and Sand Marsh last until he made his final run.

A. R. Joplin's Ponce de Leon got a better ride from Troxler than on his last outing, and won the opening event for maiden two-year-olds at five furlongs going away. D. S. Dryer's Flare beat Melting Moments for the place.

In the jumping race, which was second on the card, A. Henry's Tom Horn got up in time to win handily after having run in second place from the start. Golden Vale, which set the pace, almost put Tom Horn into the fence as they came onto the main track for the finish, and then quit in the final struggle and only got third place, while Meshach, which was not really running until the fourth, was up to take second money.

C. K. Moore's Ninety Simplex won a jumbled up selling handicap which was third on the card from Little Nearer, Goldcrest Boy, Corsican, St. Charlcote. Goldcrest Boy again started under the Hedrick colors, that owner having repurchased him from Max Hirsch which took him out of a selling race on Thusday. It was not Goldcrest Boy's day to show his speed, however, and he got a very apathetic ride from Anderson.

St. Charlcote set the early pace and then died before the stretch run was reached.

Corsican, which also had been close up throughout, quit in the final run, while Ninety Simplex came from last place to be first, and Little Nearer also came from next to last to be second.

In the sixth race, at a mile and seventy yards, L. Becker's Stellarina took the lead at flagfall and opened up a wide gap in front of the others before the backstretch was reached. Bob Redfield was closest in pursuit, but at the far turn Schuttinger moved up with Juliet, the warm favorite, and began to look like a winner when she had left the bunch and challenged the leader. Stellarina kept going, however, and drew away again under a drive in the final sixteenth and won handily. Juliet took second place and Hedrick's Day Day was third. The last race of the day was won by Thesieres, with Striker second and Palanquin third.

There was a tremendous crowd out for the closing of the Havre de Grace meeting, and the weather was perfect for racing, with a cool wind.

Oscar Lewisohn has announced his intention of shipping Boots to Kentucky to run in the Latonia Cup.

Goldcrest Boy was repurchased by J. M. Hedrick from Max Hirsch at the reported price of $2,500.

S. Louis and M. Hirsch were responsible for a $400 advance over the entered price of $2,000 on Ninety Simplex after he won the third race today.

BROWNLEIGH PARK YEARLINGS.

GOSHEN, N. Y., Sept. 30.—In his large and perfectly appointed stables at Brownleigh Park Grant Hugh Browne has as likely a lot of thoroughbred yearlings, most of them imported, as may be found in this country. Then he has some by the sterling racehorse King Cobalt, which is in the stud at the farm and a very picture of robust health. Then he has Magnet, the handsome big son of Star Shoot and Marie Frances, to say nothing of a small but select band of broodmares that includes Miss Dooley, Beckon, Tender and True and Lady Rosalie and some English matrons of very rich blood lines.

An idea is had of the extent of the racing establishment in the list of yearlings. In addition to them there are the horses that are in training this season, as well as some that have not yet been brought to the post.

The yearlings are:

Col. Cluff, ch c, by Galloping Simon—Amitie.
Simon Pure, b g, by Simon Square—Catherine B.
They're Off, ch c, by William Rufus—Diamond Cut Diamond.
Sir Sam, b g, by Henry the First—Cynane.
Simon the Jester, br c, by Simon Square—Mons Meg.
Best Man, b c, by Henry the First—Bridal.
Boy Blue, gr c, by Grey Leg—Cissy Brown.
Tommie Tee, ch c, by Grey Leg—Augusta Victoria.
Bit of Fluff, gr f, by Grey Leg—Helen of Troy.
Lightfoot Lill, b f, by Flotsam—Lily Underfoot.
Babbling Brook, b f, by St. Amant—Lavetta.
Sunshade, gr f, by Grey Leg—Sundrella.
Brown filly, by Procope—Marcha Real.
Chestnut colt, by Quebec—Or.
Bay filly, by Quebec—Simon Queen.
The Floater, b c, by Flotsam—Orsino.
Denis Tansey, b c, by Flotsam—Tangle.
Decoration, br f, by Declare—Velotte.
Land Lubber, b c, by Juggernaut—Masthead.
Rainsbrook, b c, by Juggernaut—Flo's Folly.
Bay colt, by Juggernaut—Mrs. Grundy.
Chestnut colt, by Cocksure II.—The White Lady.
Bay colt, by Winstanley—Talavera.
Bay colt, by Javelin—African Slave.
Bay colt, by Orpiment—Soligena.
Bay colt, by Heliotrope—Norma.
Chestnut colt, by Poussin—Gentian.
Bay filly, by Poussin—Cnoc Buidhe.
Chestnut filly, by Santry—Rustic Queen.
Chestnut filly, by Llangibby—Elevation.
Mr. Dooley, b c, by King Cobalt—Miss Dooley.
Bay colt, by King Cobalt—Beckon.
Brown colt, by King Cobalt—Tender and True.
French, b g, by King Cobalt—Furieuse.
Brown filly, by King Cobalt—Lady Rosalie.

Little has been done with any of these yearlings beyond permitting them to become acclimated, but within a short time they will be going along in slow exercise and shaping up for next year. R. D. McDaniel will try them out before long and from the lot will be selected the best to race for the prizes that are offered in 1917.

No attempt will be made to describe these various yearlings, but they are a uniformly good looking lot and it is readily seen that they have every breeding reason to make good on the track.

It is Mrs. Browne's intention to race her own string next season, selected from the yearlings, and the master of Brownleigh Park will have to look to his laurels. Already racing silks have been registered. They are Yale blue with a gold sash and cap.

Thomas M. Murphy, of Waldeck Farm, has bought of F. J. Kelley, a three-year-old filly, Lady of Lynn, as an addition to his brood mare ranks at Waldeck Stud. Lady of Lynn is a nice type of a brood mare and is by Voter, out of Lydia II. She will be mated in the spring to Golden Maxim.

H. L. Rogers, the Western turfman, who has a string of horses quartered at Churchill Downs, has bought of the Missouri turfman, Ben A. Jones, the yearling bay colt by Blues, out of Errant Lady, by Knight Errant, and the youngster has been shipped to join the Rogers string.

BAYBERRY CANDLE AND TYPHOON RUN DEAD HEAT.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 30.—Incidents out of the ordinary, including an injury to a jockey while the horses were at the post in the stake race, which delayed the start twenty-three minutes, and a dead heat, attended the running off of the programme at Churchill Downs this afternoon. Jockey Claude Hunt, who was astride Milbrey in the Golden Rod Selling Stakes, was the rider who was hurt when he was kicked on the ankle by Phocion, and the dead heat was run between Typhoon and Bayberry Candle. After Hunt received his injury he was carried to the jockeys' room on a stretcher and Jockey John Callahan was substituted for him on Milbrey. The filly finished second, being beaten only half a length by Fan G.

The running of the stake event and an all-around good racing card drew out the largest crowd of the meeting to the Downs course, but none expected all of the excitement that was crowded into one afternoon's sport. There were seven horses in the stake race and as soon as the field got to the post Phocion, owned by George J. Long, of this city, which figured to have an excellent chance to win, began rearing and plunging and aiming his heels at everything near him. He finally succeeded in kicking Milbrey and her rider at the same time, and the assistant starters had to lift Hunt out of the saddle. Then Phocion kicked three planks off the fence. Milbrey was brought back to the paddock and Callahan was put on her.

When the barrier went up Fan G. was the first away, but Opportunity soon took command and held sway most of the six furlongs journey. Fan G. was in the second position, however, and when nearing the eighth pole she moved up and got in front by a slight margin. Then Milbrey came with a rush and it was all that Fan G. could do to stall her off. Opportunity lasted long enough to take down the show end of the purse. Geo. C. Love, which finished fourth, closed fast, but he made his move too late. Phocion used himself up so much at the barrier that he had no chance and he pulled up in last place.

The race was worth $1,400 to the winner, $250 to the second, and $150 to the third horse. It marked the second stake victory for Fan G., during the past week, she having won the Beechmont Selling Stakes at Douglas Park last Tuesday. Her victories cost her owner, Harry Fink, $600 apiece, as she was boosted this amount each time she won. Nat Dortch and H. Perkins both bid on her today and the same men bid on her when she won the stakes at Douglas Park. She was the favorite for today's race, but she paid a fair price at that, 33 to 20.

Jockey Hunt's injury was found to consist only of a bruised ankle, and he will not be out of the saddle long.

The dead heat between Typhoon and Bayberry Candle was one of the prettiest races ever witnessed at Churchill Downs. From the head of the stretch to the wire the two horses ran as a team, and it was apparent to most of the spectators in the grandstand that the placing judges were going to be unable to separate them at the finish. The decision of a dead heat met with popular favor. Typhoon was in front most of the way, but he was running against a high-class mare, and the latter demonstrated this when she got straightened away for home. This race was a handicap at a mile and seventy yards and Bayberry Candle was the favorite for it. After the finish Trainer J. W. May, who has Bayberry Candle in charge, and Owner Bert Brannon, in whose name and interest Typhoon runs, agreed to split the purse instead of running it off. As a result of the dead heat the prices paid were peculiar, Bayberry Candle paying more to place and show than she did for first money.

The form players got a few breaks today, three of the choices winning, but they received a severe drubbing when Reno and Samuel R. Meyer, both odds-on choices, went down in defeat. Distance racing featured the programme, as four of the seven races were route affairs.

The run-up men were also an active lot. In addition to the two bids which were put in Fan G., Turco was boosted from $500 to $1,005 by Harry Fink, and Manasseh was raised from $500 to $905 by Johnny Henry. Both horses were protected by their respective owners.

Nettie Walcutt, that J. M. Henry, Jr., claimed yesterday for $1,400, was sold by him to E. B. Elkins at an advance over the price he paid for her.

LOCAL NOTES.

Dr. J. Lionel Shannon, Government Veterinary Surgeon, of St. Kitts, British West Indies, who has been in Lexington several days looking for a suitable horse to take back with him, purchased this week from Bradley and Bowman Bearcatcher, brown horse, 1901, by St. George out of Sallie McAllister (dam of Silver Brush, Spike, Courtmaid, Miss Ames, etc.) by Zorilla; second dam Palmetto by Virgil, next dam Squeeze'em by Lexington, and thence to the famous Magnolia by Glencoe.

Bearcatcher was a very fast horse and a good winner. He won four races at two and was a stake winner at both three and four years old. Considering his limited opportunities in the stud, he has made a remarkably good showing, being the sire of J. C. Welch, M. Bert Thurman, Susan B., Behest, Oakland, La Cazadora, Wild Bear, Frank Ruhstaller, etc. Bearcatcher should prove a fortunate buy for Dr. Shannon as he is well qualified to make good in his new home. The horse was shipped from Lexington on Wednesday.

Mr. Arthur B. Hancock has purchased from Mr. P. J. Millett Amaranth (dam of Solid Rock) by Sir Dixon out of Kentucky Belle II. (a full-sister to Hanover, and dam of Kentucky Beau and Bourbon Beau), by Hindoo, with her suckling filly by Celt. She was bred to Celt in 1916. Mr. Hancock also bought the weanling filly by Peep O'Day out of Miss Doyle (dam of Fan G., that has been a stake winner and a consistent two-year-old winner this season) by The Commoner.

The famous old mare Pastorella, dam of Colin, changed ownership again this week, when she became the property of R. T. Wilson, Jr., who purchased her while in Lexington looking over his horses at Kirklevington, along with the Voter mare Spin, from John E. Madden, Hamburg Place. Both mares are in foal to Hessian and will, of course, be bred to Olambala next year.

Pastorella, which, by the way, is now twenty-four, was brought to this country by the late Marcus Daly, and secured by James R. Keene at the dispersal sale of the Bitter Root Stud in 1901, for $10,000. She was then in foal to Hamburg, the resultant foal being the bay colt, Strephon. Pastorella remained in Mr. Keene's ownership until the dispersal of the Castleton Stud in September 1913. She was purchased then by E. R. Bradley, Idle Hour Stud, for $2,000, it being doubtful whether or not she was in foal. This buy proved a fortunate one for Mr. Bradley, because the next spring Pastorella foaled a colt by Voter, and shortly afterward he sold the mare and foal to Mr. Madden for a price greatly in excess of what he paid for her. Should Mr. Wilson be fortunate enough to secure a foal from Pastorella, by Olambala, the breeding will be on similar lines to that of his great colt Campfire, whose dam Nightfall, is out of the Springfield mare Sundown, while Pastorella is of course by Springfield.

Spin, the other mare secured by by Mr. Wilson, is a chestnut, foaled in 1908, by Voter out of Gingham, dam of several high-class horses, by Domino; second dam imported Calico by Hampton; next dam imported Dimity by Galopin.

Picric, ch f, 2, by Voter out of Gingham by Domino, of the Wickliffe Stable, has been taken out of training and sent back to Kingston Farm.

J. W. Parrish has during the past week received two very flattering offers for his great Ballot two-year-old Midway. One of $15,000 from a prominent Eastern owner, after Midway's sensational race on Wednesday at Churchill Downs, in which he carried 124 pounds, and another of $20,000 from Jack Adkins, former owner and trainer of Buckhorn, half-brother to Midway. Both offers were declined, because Mr. Parrish thinks he has in Midway a second Ballot.

Harry Payne Whitney has made arrangements with Charles H. Berryman to keep one stallion and twenty broodmares for him at Mr. Berryman's farm. They will be shipped shortly from Mr. Whitney's Brookdale Farm in New Jersey.

T. B. Jones, Caveland Stud, Winchester, Ky., sold this week to John E. Madden the weanling chestnut colt by Ogden, out of Grace Navarre by Henry of Navarre, next dam by Hanover.

At the recent yearling sales at Newmarket, England, 287 were sold for 86,863 guineas, an average of 302 guineas (over $1,500).

At the recent English yearling sales, Jack Point, out of a half-sister, Popinjay, to Wrack's dam, sold for 1,600 guineas or about $8,000. The bay colt by Royal Realm—Lady Lightfoot, by Isinglass (sire of Wrack's dam) and from the same family as Wrack, sold for 1,500 guineas. A bay filly by Neil Gow, half-brother to Wrack's dam, sold for 1,350 guineas. A bay colt by Bridge of Earn, out of Skyscraper, half-sister to Wrack's dam, sold for 1,100 guineas.

Little Flower, the dam of Boots, has been booked to Wrack next season. Victoria M., dam of the good two-year-old Arnold, has also been booked to him.

Bob R., a bay stallion, nine years old, sixteen and a half hands high and weighing 1,200 pounds, is offered for sale. He is a half-brother to several good race horses, namely, Red Hook, Joe Clark, J. H. C., Judge Quigley and four others. His sire, Alan-a-Dale, was by Hanover's good son Halma and out of Sudie McNairy (dam of Batten and Maid Marian) by Bonnie Scotland. His dam, Lilly B., dropped eight winners, and was by Bulwark, son of Bonnie Scotland and Evadne by Lexington.

Bob R., a stake winner, won twenty-four races from such horses as Plate Glass, Bonnie Kelso, Montgomery, Dorante, Prince Ahmed, Hilarious, Duke of Ormonde, Beaucoup, May Davis, Martin W. Littleton and other well-known race horses at distances up to one mile and a quarter. He can be seen at the farm of Mr. J. S. Wiggins, Hutchison Station, Bourbon county, Kentucky. See the ad. in this issue of THE RECORD.

John E. Madden's Friar Rock, the stallion he recently purchased from August Belmont, arrived here from New York early this week and is now in comfortable quarters at Hamburg Place.

EMBROIDERY WON ST. LEGER STAKES.

LOUISVILLE, KY., October 5.—A. B. Hancock's Embroidery accounted for the St. Leger Handicap of two miles and one quarter in hollow style with Killanna many lengths in front of Hanovia, the only other starter. Embroidery was kept under hard restraint for the entire trip and passed out Killanna on call after the Bradley mare had shown the way for the first mile and three-quarters. Embroidery, because of her good second to Star Hawk in the Louisville Cup, was made an overwhelming favorite for today's event. The race had a net value of $1,510, and as a spectacle did not call for much.

Racing on Louisville tracks came to a close this afternoon with an immense attendance on hand to view the sport and attending incidents.

The autumn session at Churchill Downs has come up to the expectations of the management, but it is doubtful if there will be a profit to speak of.

The additional operating expense and the increased purses will cut an inroad on receipts. In the matter of attendance and volume of speculation this season has witnessed an increase.

Close finishes developed in most of the races this afternoon. That in the third was particularly so. Rosco Goose was the winner in it by a nose over Uncle Hart, not because the Baker horse was the best, but his victory was in the main due to Connolly's delaying tactics that kept Uncle Hart out of it until Roscoe Goose had practically taken on a winning lead. When Connolly did start his drive Uncle Hart came with such terrific speed that it landed him only a nose in back at the finish and one stride beyond he was a full half length in front.

The all-aged handicap at six furlongs, was another rattling affair, Bayberry Candle getting up in the last stride to overhaul Vogue. At one stage Bayberry Candle appeared hopelessly out of it, being a distant last. She came around the others in the stretch and finished with a sensational rush.

The Smart Set started off in good style when they centered on Basilius in the opening dash, and that Keene-owned youngster made good handily under Connolly's strong urging, wearing down Pierce W., the early pace-maker in the stretch.

Connolly's good ride on Samuel R. Meyer, another favorite, which won out in the last race, was responsible for that horse's victory. Meyer showed high speed in the running, but likewise an inclination to stop, which the rider would not allow him to do. Commauretta, a well-backed one, got up in the last stride to take the place over Surpassing.

Jocular gave a fine exhibition in the sixth race, and won out over Lytle after a hard effort, with Dr. Tuck in third place. Dr. Tuck might have been the winner but for some interference he suffered at the lower turn.

JOCKEY CLUB STAKES.

LONDON, October 5.—The Jockey Club Stakes for three-year-olds and upward was run at Newmarket today and won by Cannobie, br c, 3, by Polymelus—La Roche. Sanctum, ch c, 4, by Santoi—La Croisette, was second, and Kwang Su, b c, 3, by Cicero—Galicia, was third. The distance was one mile and three quarters. Twelve horses started.

Charles F. Hill has the four valuable three-year-olds imported by Clarence F. Mackay from France in Stable No. 1 at Belmont Park. This is the stable formerly occupied by John Sanford's horses. The Mackay three-year-olds will not be seen under colors this season, as they have been taken out of training. They are said to be doing nicely, and Mr. Hill hopes to see them make a good showing next season.

CHURCHILL DOWNS GOSSIP.

Jack Weaver reports his good mare Gowell has proved to be in foal to A. B. Hancock's imported horse Wrack.

A. K. Macomber's Franco-English bred two-year-old filly, Kittenish proved unable to concede the chunks of weight asked of her in the two-year-old handicap on Thursday. She evidently did not fancy the wet going and finished out of the money, Jake Marklein's Plaudit—Dixoletta colt Sol Gilsey winning handily at the finish in 1:08 flat for the five and a half furlongs, faster than some fair two-year-olds have run the distance in fast going.

Dodge was beaten in the mud by Hodge on Friday, the Macomber crack being unable to concede the older horse two years in age and ten pounds. Dodge was in on the rail in the deepest going the entire journey, while Hodge with his pull in the weight and finding better footing through the stretch lasted to beat the fast coming Leo Skolny, the latter horse running all around his field and going fastest of all at the end.

The Cock, a French-bred three-year-old in the Macomber barn, of which great things were expected, will not go to the post again this year. The colt was kicked on the stifle joint at the in his last start at Saratoga, and by the time he had recovered from the injury, was taken sick. Trainer Jennings has great confidence in this colt eventually proving a real good horse if he can shake the "jinx" that has hung to him so far.

Pete Coyne, who trains Mr. Geo. J. Long's string, of Bashford Manor-bred horses, is usually regarded as a wise and careful trainer, but he made one very costly mistake last Saturday. Phocion which was highly regarded for the Golden Rod Stakes went to the post equipped for the first time with cut-down boots behind.

The colt reared and kicked in an endeavor to rid himself of the strangs appendages and before he finished his tantrums had kicked Claude Hunt off Milbrey's back, and three boards off of the high board fence at the head of the chute. Jockey Hunt was carried to the jockey room on a stretcher and the track physician's examination showed the boy's leg to be badly bruised but no bones broken. Callahan was substituted for Hunt and Milbrey eventually finished a good second to Fan G. in the race, Phocion naturally finished a bad last.

Sol Gilsey showed a smart performance on Monday when he picked up 108 pounds and ran the six furlongs in 1:13 2-5 winning easily and beating among others Berlin and Langden. This colt seems to be one of the best Plaudit has sent to the races in the lastthree years.

Midway demonstrated Wednesday in the mile handicap for two-year-olds that he is the best of his age in Kentucky when he picked up 124 pounds conceding Sol Gilsey twelve and Cudgel fourteen pounds, made all the pace and won handily enough at the finish. Midway's favored son Mr. Parrish is certainly lucky to have bought two colts in successive years of the calibre of Bulse and Midway, and while it seems now as though the best that can be hoped for Bulse is that he may develop into a first-class sprinter, Midway is almost certain to develop into a Derby prospect as he not only has speed, but can stay a distance.

The first two-year-old race at a mile to be run this fall resulted in a close finish between two of Ben Trovato's get, May W. and Hester Smith, and it is a noticeable fact that most of this stallion's youngsters have shown a desire to go on in the five or five and one-half furlong races run during the earlier part of the season.

Kathleen surely proved her class when on Tuesday she won the Old Inn Handicap at 5½ furlongs. Any three-year-old filly that can pick up 124 pounds, conceding chunks of weight to all her opposition, break last in a field of eight horses and steadily make up ground when the pace is :23, :47, 1:00 flat, then stand a drive for three-sixteenths of a mile, to get up and win, is entitled to be classed with the best mares of turf history, and Mr. Long has good cause to be congratulated that he should have been the breeder of one of her kind.

Ben Jones, of Parnell, Mo., has arrived at Douglas Park with seventeen yearlings of his own breeding, the get of Harrigan, Blues, Waldo and Seth. Mr. Jones states that these youngsters have all been broken and tried, and that he will winter them in Louisville, entering them extensively in the two-year-old stakes to be decided in Kentucky during the 1917 season.

Mr. Jones is probably best known as the breeder of the good filly Julia L., but unfortunately the two foals to follow that filly out of Princess Tulane, died as sucklings. The mare, however, is again in foal to Harrigan.

The youngsters are an exceptionally good looking lot, especially a bay roan, with a wealth of Bonnie Scotland blood in her veins, being by Harrigan (Plaudit, Himyar, Bramble, Bonnie Scotland) out of a full-sister to Housemaid (Broomstick, Ben Brush, Himyar, Bramble, Bonnie Scotland), and a chestnut colt by Harrigan out of Sharp, by The Sharper.

It develops that the stock bought by Jake Greenberg, the proprietor of the Galt House, in the Churchill Downs track and property, from J. B. Respess, was for Mr. Greenberg's own account and not for Mr. George Long or for Ed Alvey, as was rumored in Lexington at the time of the sale. Mr. Greenberg paid $87,000 in cash for 600 shares, a little less than $150 a share for Mr. Respess' holdings, and becomes, thereby, the largest individual shareholder in the plant.

Mr. Greenberg held open house Wednesday night at the Galt House to the horsemen, their friends, and as Jake put it. "to all the friends of racing." Music, dancing, all kinds of refreshments (except water) were there in abundance until the small hours.

The "debut party" of the new boss of Churchill Downs, was sure a success.

At the yearling sale last Saturday at the Downs, Cal Milam bought a nice filly from Williams Bros. & Holland. This one is a full sister to Gainer, and Mr. Milam says she was such a good looker that he broke a resolution he had made not to buy any fillies this season. This one cost Mr. Milam $2,000.

Mose Goldblatt bought a filly out of the Pons consignment for $1,300, a chestnut by Tony Bonero—Busy Miss. The balance of both the Pons and Williams consignments, it is said, will revert to the consignors.

Mr. Long's consignment of seven fillies were sold outright, however, the top price being $525.

The record of John Bright for a mile and fifty yards of 1:42½, which has stood for sixteen years, was broken Wednesday by that good horse Hodge. Weber and Spence's great gelding had to step the last quarter for all he was worth to get down in front of the three-year-old Jack Atkin gelding Typhoon, which repeated his good effort of last Saturday when he ran Bayberry Candle to a dead heat. ALVES.

A. J. Joyner, after having seen Mr. Coe's imported colt, Jack Mount, making a good showing among the two-year-olds of 1916, quietly sent over the water and bought his dam, Catana, eight years old, by Galeazzo, and it is expected that the mare will arrive in this country shortly. It was Joyner who bought and imported Jack Mount early in his yearling form and afterward sold him to Mr. Coe, so that he knew just where to look for his dam when he wanted her. She has been mated to the high priced Prince Palatine, but it is considered doubtful if she in foal.

Vivid, the son of All Gold and Jersey Lightning, which raced under the silks of Harry Payne Whitney, is dead at the Brookdale Farm in New Jersey. This two-year-old could not be considered altogether a success in a racing way, but in seven starts he was only twice outside the money. His best race was in the running of the Nursery at Belmont Park, when he was just nosed out by Hourless and Straight Forward. It will be remembered that Hourless was disqualified in that running, placing Vivid second.

"Camping on Mount Mitchell."

The Southern Railway has issued a very complete booklet containing 31 pages of descriptive matter with illustrations, including maps, etc., regarding places for summer camps in the United States forests in North Carolina.

Much of the data contained in this booklet is furnished by the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

Copies of this booklet and information with regard to round trip fares, etc., will be gladly furnished on application to B. H. Todd, D. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

MAGIC ARRIVES IN AMERICA.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The steamship Manchuria docked at the Atlantic Transport Company's pier 58, North River, bringing a large cargo of live stock, yesterday, but there was only one thoroughbred horse on board, although he appears to be of sufficient importance to the breeding interests in this country to fully atone for the limitations of the shipment. The horse in question was none other than the thoroughbred sire Magic, imported by Willis Sharpe Kilmer for his stock farm at Binghamton, N. Y.

Magic is a big, powerful looking horse, distinctly of the Bend Or type, being both rangy and massive, while at the same time he is highly finished and bloodlike everywhere. He has a rather small head for a horse of his range and substance, and while he is an upstanding fellow, he is even more remarkable for his length and weight of body and quarters than for his height.

In the matter of finish his forehand is especially good, while his quarters are rangy and heavy, with deep, thick stifles well let down, and wide, muscular gaskins. His hips, though wide, are smoothly finished and are coupled to his big, cylindrical barrel with such a broad and thickly muscled loin that the casual observer would be inclined to underestimate them; but while his hip-points are not high, they are wide apart and massively coated with long and gracefully curved muscle. He has the high croup and buttocks which mark the real stayer and the backward slope of his withers (not especially high) reaches right back to the broad convex curve of his loins.

Magic has an ideal racehorse neck, long, handsomely crested and masculine, without a suspicion of grossness, and being exquisitely curved at the throttle which is cleanly laid between well spread and muscular jowls, while the arch from his broad throat to his deep, roomy chest is an ideal one. His knees and hocks are close to the ground, due to short cannon bones, for his pasterns are of good length and elastic. In short, Magic's conformation is that of a grand big horse, combined with a quality of finish and desirability in detail which are rarely found in big horses. He is a rich golden chestnut, marked with those black spots which almost invariably go with the chestnut progeny of Bend Or, and which he has inherited from Glencoe, through Pocahontas, Stockwell and Doncaster. He is marked with a pronounced blaze, and white feet on the near side.

Magic was foaled in 1907 and was bred by the late Douglas Baird. Magic raced in the "orange, chocolate sleeves" of H. E. Beddington, for whom he won as a three-year-old the Goodwood Cup, two and a half miles, carrying 100 pounds, and defeating Bayardo, which was then a four-year-old and carried 136 pounds.

The overthrow of Bayardo created a sensation, but, while quite unexpected by the general public, the success of Magic was confidently anticipated by his owner and trainer, who did not believe that Bayardo could concede their colt so much weight. Magic, displaying the utmost gameness, won by a neck. The same season Magic was a close second—beaten only a head—for the Wood Ditten Stakes (one mile) at Newmarket, won by Rock Lane, a son of Rock Sand. Magic was also second that year to Charlemont for the Gatwick Stakes (one mile and a half) at Gatwick, beaten a length.

Magic is by Martagon out of Sesame, she by St. Simon out of Maize, she by Hampton out of Palmflower by The Palmer. Magic's sire, Martagon, was a brother-in-blood to Ormonde, being by Bend Or out of Tiger Lily, she by Macaroni out of Polly Agnes, by The Cure.

Martagon's turf victories included the Ascot Vase and the Goodwood Cup, and he sired a host of winners, including Woolwinder (St. Leger), Musa, Mintagon, Wutfy, Champ de Mars, Mazagan (a sire in America), Jaquemart, Buckwheat, etc., etc. Buckwheat, full brother to Magic, won the Brighton Cup, Prince Edward Handicap, Duke of York Stakes, etc.

Magic's third dam, Palmflower, was one of the greatest broodmares of all time. Her produce included St. Florian (sire of Ard Patrick), Musa (winner of the Oaks, and dam of Mirska, which also won the Oaks), Siphonia (dam of Symington, a successful English sire), Santa Maura, Simylla, Santa Palma, etc. This is also the immediate family of imp. Martinet, sire of Gainer, etc., for imp. Martinet is by Martagon out of Silene, she by St. Simon out of Palmflower.

Magic obviously represents the best English blood on both sides of his pedigree, and he should be a great acquisition to the American thoroughbred industry.

YEARLING SALE AT LATONIA.

The annual fall sale of yearlings, under the management of The Kentucky Sales Company, will be held in the paddock of the Latonia Jockey Club on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 24 and 25. The contributors to this event include such well known breeders as John D. Carr, Thomas Piatt, T. Collins, S. K. Nichols, Gorham Bros., F. R. Hitchcock, O. H. Chenault, C. C. Patrick, Charlton Alexander, Col. Milton Young and others. Some of the best sires in America will be represented in the catalogue, including such as imp. Peep O'Day, imp. McGee, imp. Marathon, Dick Welles, Cunard, Jim Gaffney, Sweep, Transvaal, Ben Trovato, imp. Sain, Master Robert, Bryn Mawr, Dr. Boots, Plaudit, Sir John Johnson, Froglegs, Rapid Water, Bourbon Beau and others. The estate of Frank Clarkson will sell in this sale the useful horses W. W. Clark and Talleyrand. A few more yearlings and horses in training will be accepted for this sale if data is sent in at once to The Kentucky Sales Company, Lexington, Ky.

IMPORTATIONS WILL HELP THOROUGHBRED SUPPLY.

Figures in the possession of Walter S. Vosburgh, the official handicapper of the Jockey Club, give some idea of the shrinkage in the production of the thoroughbred in the United States during the past decade. This official has a minute record of his labors for the twenty-seven years he has been adjusting the weights, and from them it is gleaned that the high water mark for the racing of thoroughbreds in this country was reached in 1903, when he handicapped no fewer than 9,200 individual horses.

When it is remembered that there are other thousands of horses that did not race on the Jockey Club courses—Mr. Vosburgh's jurisdiction not extending to any of the courses in Canada, California, Kentucky, Louisiana or other distant points—some idea of the magnitude of the thoroughbred breeding industry may be obtained. The number varied from the maximum in 1902 down to less than 3,000 in 1914, while to date this year 4,600 different horses have come up for official consideration. By the close of the Maryland season perhaps the total will reach 5,000.

The brighter days which have come for the turf will no doubt see a very material increase for 1917. The foal registrations in the Jockey Club's Stud Book for the current year are better than in 1915, but the total is not as great as many would think, much of our brood mare stock having been sold overseas or put to menial uses, many good mares having become producers of mules instead of race horses.

It is from the extensive importations of English and French stock that this new material will be recruited. Already more than 400 head of yearlings, broodmares and sires have been imported in 1916, and with Thomas Welsh, J. O. Keene and others abroad eager for bargains there will be at least 500 foreign-bred thoroughbreds on our shores by the New Year.

The fact that the agents from this country are at present taking nothing but the best bred ones that can be found is being commented upon by English fanciers, who do not relish the thought of parting with the blood which has made turf history abroad. Some of the earlier purchases for American account were not remarkable for either individuality or blood lines and they ran as they looked, but when the Joel and Blanc studs were invaded by Messrs. Macomber and Widener there was a real protest that something should be done to prevent the further despoliation of the representative studs of England and France. The announcement from Mr. Joel that he would continue breeding has soothed John Bull somewhat, but everywhere there is a demand for more racing in order that the horse breeding industry of England may not become an empty shadow of its former glory when it was the thoroughbred nursery of the universe.

There was a time when the thoroughbred was used exclusively for racing in the United States, but of late years the excellence of the clean bred animal for horse show, saddle and hunting purposes has made friends for him in communities where he was hitherto a stranger. Those who attended the recent big show at Piping Rock, Syracuse and Rochester, N. Y., found the thoroughbred and half-bred in evidence in the hunting and saddle classes—not only the finished product, but the immature representatives by the stallions of the Breeding Bureau of the Jockey Club. Friends of Governor Whitman, of New York, who has visited many fairs throughout his State this fall, say that he commented favorably on the display of light horses suitable for army purposes, which he saw, and in conversation with the breeders he encouraged them to increase the production of this type, of which there has long been a shortage. Regions which have not given any attention to the production for half-breds have taken up the matter seriously, Willis Sharpe Kilmer, of Binghamton, N. Y., and Geoffrey Tower, of Waterville, N. Y., being the newest additions to the ranks of the enthusiasts in that State, while W. Averill Harriman and Pierre Lorillard, Jr., of Goshen, N. Y., are on their return from a hunting trip in the West to make a requisition for a thoroughbred sire of the Breeding Bureau. In addition to these the New York State Agricultural College wants a horse, so that the horse breeding industry in New York may be safely pronounced as being on the improve.

HACHMEISTER SAYS COMMISSION FAVORS CHURCHILL DOWNS CLUB.

General Manager John Hachmeister, of the Douglas Park and Latonia Jockey Clubs, in commenting on the friendly suit which was filed last week in the Chancery Branch of the Circuit Court at Louisville by the Douglas Park Jockey Club against the Kentucky State Racing Commission, seeking the judgment of the court as to the validity of the rule recently adopted by the Commission, requiring the Louisville and Latonia racing associations to give purses of not less than $800 each and Lexington track $600, said:

"This suit is the culmination of a long series of objections made by us to what we have uniformly claimed to be unfair treatment in the matter of assignment of racing dates.

"In brief, we claim that Churchill Downs has been favored by the Commission to the exclusion of Douglas Park (Churchill Downs having a representative on the Commission in the person of Charles F. Grainger), while Douglas Park has been compelled to contribute as much in purses with scant opportunity to earn it. We have repeatedly protested to the Commission against this treatment, but our position is clearly set forth in a written protest filed by us with the Commission on April 20, last, which in part follows:

"Douglas Park Jockey Club acknowledged receipt of a letter from the chairman of your honorable body, advising it that certain legislation would be enacted by your Commission concerning racing associations, amongst other things announcing that purses required by your Commission to be given would be increased over those of last year. This association desires to say that while it intends at the approaching meeting to give an amount which will average for each day of the meeting not less than $800 per race; no purse to be less than $600, it vigorously protests against the continued unfair action of your body in the matter of dates assigned to it. It might be, in the course of events, that one track or another should occasionally be given less or more, as the case might be in the matter of preferable dates, but the course aimed at Douglas Park, we say without hesitation, has been uniformly detrimental and unfair in the extreme. We have no hesitation in saying that a fair construction of the act creating the Commission, intended that its rules and regulations should be general and should bear equally and fairly on all tracks alike, placing all of them on a fair and equal footing.

"If this association is expected to give as liberally as the more favored associations, better dates must be awarded to enable it to earn the requisite money."

"It so happens that two racing associations, representing more than fifty per cent. of all the money invested in race plants in Kentucky, have never had a representative on the Commission. This is in itself unfair as to the other represented tracks, in the matter at least of racing dates. In this connection we call your attention to the fact that Douglas Park Jockey Club was first in the field to offer stakes of the value of $10,000 added money, and it is our desire to continue this liberal policy toward horsemen and breeders, but to do so we must have fair consideration in the matter of racing dates.

"This year we requested the same dates for both Louisville tracks, as were awarded last year, to-wit: twelve days for the track having the opening meeting and thirteen days for the track having the closing meeting, and offered to give Churchill Downs the first choice of dates; instead, Churchill Downs was given the first meeting of thirteen days, with Saturdays for both opening and closing, and this club was awarded the second meeting of thirteen days with Mondays for both opening and closing.

"In this suit, which is stated to be a friendly one, it is set forth that we have at great cost and expense, constructed a racing plant which in a large part is not useful for any other purpose; that it has been the unbroken custom from time immemorial for racing associations throughout the country to voluntary offer to owners and breeders of thoroughbred horses purses, prizes and premiums in sufficient amounts to induce them to enter and contend for, and that the General Assembly of Kentucky in recognition and continuation of this custom provided in the act regulating racing that 'the corporation or owners of horses engaged in such races, or others who are not participants in said racing, may contribute purses, prizes, premiums or stakes to be contended for.'

"We have in the past and will continue to offer suitable purses, prizes and premiums, but we deny the authority of the Racing Commission to require us to give any specified amount, and we wish to show that two members of the Commission, viz.: Messrs. Grainger and Haldeman, voted against said rule, while three members voted for it.

"We also charge that in the license issued by the Commission to racing associations, it is provided that, 'And they agree by accepting the license, that the associations will conform to all the rules adopted by the commission, and that if a license is granted to the Douglas Park Jockey Club for 1917, it will be required to agree in accepting such license to give these purses, and we ask that the Commission be enjoined from enforcing said rule and that the same be declared null and void. We also claim that the rule is not of uniform application in that it applies to Louisville and Latonia only, exempting the Lexington track.

"(Signed) JOHN HACHMEISTER,
"General Manager."

SATISFACTORY OPENING AT LAUREL.

LAUREL, MD., October 2.—The Maryland State Fair's fall meeting began today at Laurel under conditions that promise to make it the most successful ever held at this picturesque course. An immense gathering turned out, the contingent from Philadelphia being much larger than in former years. Washington and Baltimore each sent over two loaded special trains. The track, which has been reconstructed since last fall, was in splendid condition and improved racing was the order. The track has been raised a couple of feet and the turns are now well thrown up. A majority of the races furnished interesting finishes, in which Jockey F. Robinson showed to good advantage.

A. J. Joyner saddled two of the afternoon's winners in Chicklet and Pickwick, the former beating the highly tried Crimper by a head in the fifth race, while Pickwick made a runaway affair of the sixth. Both horses ran in the colors of L. Wood.

The Laurel Handicap, the feature race of the programme, resulted in an easy victory for Leochares, which carried top weight, came from behind and drew away into a long lead in the homestretch. Sir Edgar was second and Top o' th' Morning third. Ormesdale was an added starter, but cut little figure in the running.

Fair Mac, winner of the Ontario Jockey Club Cup at Woodbine Saturday, will be shipped to Kentucky to start in the long-distance races at Churchill Downs and Latonia and will then be brought East and started in the long races at Pimlico.

DEATH OF RALPH H. TOZER.

Ralph H. Tozer, who for many years edited the thoroughbred department of the Breeder and Sportsman, and was well known all over the Pacific Coast as a turf writer, died on Monday last at a sanitarium after a short illness. He was born in Louisville, Kentucky, and as a youth learned the type setting branch of the printers' trade, coming to California about the time he reached his majority. He worked at the case in San Francisco for several years, and having an extensive acquaintance with the history of the thoroughbred horse and a deep knowledge of pedigrees he became a writer on running horse affairs. When racing assumed large proportions in the years following the taking over of the affairs of the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association by the California Jockey Club, he held various positions as secretary and handicapper at different meetings on the Coast and became a regular contributor to the turf columns of the San Francisco dailies. He suffered a very severe illness a few years ago, but had seemingly recovered entirely and three months ago appeared in robust health. A recurrence of the ailment came while he was acting as racing secretary of the Reno meeting last July and resulted in his death last Monday. He leaves a widow but no children to mourn his death. A man of abstemious habits, of genial personality and kindly disposition, he had hosts of friends, and probably no man had fewer enemies, if he had any at all, which is doubtful. Peace to his ashes.—[San Francisco Breeder and Sportsman, September 30.

DEVONSHIRE PARK STARTS OFF WELL.

WINDSOR, ONT., September 30.—With a crowd of about 7,000 present, the Western Racing Association opened its new track at Devonshire Park here this afternoon. The weather was ideal for racing and the supporters of the new track patronized the mutuel machines heavily, with the result that the prices paid on the various winners were liberal.

The plant, although not quite complete, is nevertheless up to date in every respect, while the mutuel machines have been arranged in such a way as to avoid congestion.

The feature race of the afternoon was a claiming affair at three-quarters, and was won in easy style by G. Alexandra's Redland, which followed the leaders and drew away when his rider was ready.

E. T. Colton arrived today with his stable from Kentucky and saw his horse Dengro run in the third race. This horse had considerable hard luck, taking the tape in his mouth at the start and carrying it along with him for a sixteenth of a mile. With the Colton stable came Jockey Mott.

William Stormont will be here on Monday from Toronto and has entered The Masquerader and Scaramouch in the feature race of the day.

Among other arrivals today were W. A. McKinney, E. L. Fitzgerald, W. A. Burttschell.

DISPERSAL SALE OF HORSES IN TRAINING.

Foxhall P. Keene has decided to have a sale of his horses in training, and an auction will be held of them by the Powers-Hunter Company, at 1 p. m., on October 9, at the Laurel race course, Laurel, Md. Those that go under the hammer are Churchill, Lorac, Indian Chant, Landslide, Tipperary and Queen Mab. It is not the intention of Mr. Keene to retire from the turf, but he will go into breeding, and proposes to race horses of his own breeding, as his father before him did so successfully. Puss in Boots has already been sent to the stud and other fillies have been reserved as matrons.

LET US TAN YOUR HIDE.

Cattle or Horse hide, Calf, Dog, Deer, or any kind of skin with hair or fur on. We tan and finish them right; make them into coats (for men and women), robes, rugs or gloves when ordered.

Your fur goods will cost you less than to buy them, and be worth more. Our illustrated catalog gives a lot of information which every stock raiser should have, but we never send out this valuable book except upon request.

It tells how to take off and care for hides; how and when we pay the freight both ways; about our safe dyeing process which is a tremendous advantage to the customer, especially on horse hides and calf skins; about the fur goods and game trophies we sell, taxidermy, etc. If you want a copy send us your correct address.

DODGE WINS LATONIA INAUGURAL.

LATONIA, KY., October 7.—Running one and one-sixteenth miles in 1:43 2-5, which is not only a new track record for this course but a mark that is seldom made by any thoroughbred, Dodge, A. K. Macomber's great three-year-old son of Jim Gaffney—Flora Willoughby, won the Latonia Autumn Inaugural Handicap, the chief event on the racing programme for the opening of the fall racing season at the Milldale course this afternoon.

By his victory Dodge demonstrated that he undoubtedly is the best stake horse in America at the present time, as his gameness was put to a terrific test. Half a length behind him was Rancher, which also ran an excellent race after getting away from the barrier last. Hodge was third, the same margin behind the place horse. There were nine starters in the race, A. K. Macomber being represented by an entry, Dodge and Ed Crump.

The best previous time for a mile and a sixteenth at the Latonia track was 1:43 4-5, and this mark was made by such a high-class race horse as The Manager as a three-year-old, carrying 110 pounds. The pace in today's race was set for nearly a mile by Vogue, and to her credit it must be said that she carried her field along at a dizzy gait. The first quarter was reeled off in :23 4-5, the half-mile in :47 2-5, the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5 and the mile in 1:37 1-5. Dodge was in front after going a mile and to him belongs the credit for touching this phenomenal mark for the distance.

The largest crowd ever on hand for an opening of a fall meeting at Latonia was present today to witness the victory of Dodge. Seldom has a horse been tendered such an ovation as he received when the official time was announced. Weather and track conditions were made to order for the opening, and not only was the feature race run in fast time, but other events were reeled off faster than usual.

It took Starter Harry Morrissey three minutes to get the stake field lined up at the barrier. He sent them away to a perfect start. Vogue and Dodge immediately made a rush to get to the front by the time the first turn was reached, and the former was successful although she was less than a half a length in front of the Macomber colt. Jockey John Callahan was "shooting" Vogue for all that she was worth and she did her best. However she was not able to get farther than a length away from Dodge at any time, and Jockey Merritt Buxton was biding his time with the latter, knowing that the route of a mile and one-sixteenth was farther than Vogue wanted to go. Faux-Col and King Gorin each tried to take a run at the first two horses, but they soon fell back.

Rancher, with all of his bad luck in getting away none too well and having to go around his field, showed that he is a very high-class horse. When he charged on Dodge after Vogue weakened he made Buxton hustle the Macomber colt all the more, but the latter was equal to the occasion. Hodge also ran at tremendous speed when clear in the stretch, but he made his move too late. The worst disappointment in the race was Franklin, Dodge's former stablemate, which finished last. He was never able to get in the hunt, and was not persevered with to any extent toward the end. Ed Crump likewise was never a contender, being content to let his stablemate do the "dirty work."

Today's stake win was the second for Dodge since the Kentucky fall racing season opened, he having won the Inaugural Handicap at Douglas Park. In addition to this he has two Derby victories to his credit this year, the Latonia Derby here and the American Derby at Chicago. Today's stake was worth $2,435 to the winner, $350 to the second, $150 to the third, and the fourth horse, which was Vogue, saved nomination and starting fees amounting to $65.

The race was a good proposition from a wagering standpoint as every horse came in for some play, but the entry was the favorite. Rancher was at surprisingly big equivalent straight odds in view of his recent good races in Canada.

Just to show that the Macomber horses are as good now as they were at Louisville, Trainer Walter Jennings sent the winner to the post in the Mt. Storm Handicap, in Hank O'Day. This was an all-aged affair at six furlongs and at the end Hank O'Day was two lengths in front of Bringhurst, which beat Bob Hensley a length and one-half for the place. Bringhurst, which was the favorite, made the pace most of the way but he could not stall off Hank O'Day when Jockey Buxton made his move with him. There were only five horses in this race, but it also was a good betting proposition. The Strang-Perkins combination picked out what they considered a "good spot" for Jane Straith and there was "comeback money" for her, but she was running where she did not belong. All that she did was to help make a price for the placed horses.

Another race that attracted a lot of interest was the third, in which Cudgel beat Auriga over the six furlong route. This high-class two-year-old from the J.W.Schorr stable was the choice and he ran like he should have been. He won by four lengths and it was all that Auriga could do to beat Bedtime Stories half a length for second position. The latter was in front part of the way, but she was a trifle overmatched. She tried to run away going to the post and it was all that Jockey King LaPaille could do to hold her. Mary Belle showed some early speed, but could not stick it out. Barney Shannon was outpaced all the way.

Latonia waited until she got to the race track that she is named for before graduating from the maiden ranks, but she was in a soft spot today and beat her field by a big margin. Penrod finished second to her, six lengths back, and Snowdrift was third. The winner was outrun the first three-eighths of a mile, but when Jockey Frank Murphy made his move with her the race was good as over. Penrod was off last, but made up a lot of ground. Snowdrift trailed part of the way and had to be a good horse to even finish third. Pilsen showed some early speed, but weakened. Velvet also went well in the early running. The winner was an odds-on favorite.

Conning Tower led his field all the way in the second race and got the verdict by a length and one-half over Checks, which beat Stout Heart a scant head for second money. The winner was kept running hard all the way by Jockey Hugh Shilling, and he stepped along at a fast gait, running the first quarter in :23 2-5 and the half-mile in :46 4-5. Checks showed to good advantage and hung on gamely. Stout Heart was far back in the early running and closed an immense gap. Kinney was always prominent. Dr. Larrick is not nearly as good as he ought to be. The winner was the favorite at odds of 11 to 10.

Old Sleeth showed the way home to a good field of selling platers over the route of one and one-sixteenth miles in the sixth race, and he was never in danger. Jockey Roscoe Goose took no chances with him and kept him running all of the way. He ran the first mile of his race in 1:38 4-5. He beat Beauty Shop six lengths, and the latter beat Jack Reeves a length and one-half for the place. Beauty Shop was in closest pursuit of the winner all the way, but she was no match for him. Jack Reeves closed with a rush. Guide Post finished better than usual. Yenghee moved into a contending position and then dropped back. Evidently he struck himself or met with some other mishap, as he stopped too fast. Yenghee was an odds-on favorite.

The dead came to life when Jessie Louise led her field a mile and seventy yards in the seventh race. Unlike her races at Louisville, where she stopped after leading most of the way, with Jockey Willie Meehan up, she kept on going today. Jockey Merritt Buxton was on her, and this made his third victory of the afternoon. The price against her, $13.10 for a $2 straight ticket, showed that her stable connections did not overlook the opportunity to wager. Syrian, with Jockey F. Fuerst up, managed to last long enough to beat Reno a head for the place. Egmont showed a lot of early foot, but weakened. Waterproof came fast towards the end. Reno was the favorite.

The two-horse combination, which was made up of the races won by Conning Tower and Cudgel, paid $12.50. The three-horse gig embraced the events won by Hank O'Day, Sleeth and Jessie Louise. It paid $203.30.

Accompanied by Acting City Solicitor John Richmond, Covington, Lieutenant of Police John Higgins today, after Latonia had won the first race, appeared in the office of John Hachmeister and cited him to appear in Police Court Monday morning for failing to take out a license to race in violation of an ordinance passed recently. When the officer appeared and asked Mr. Hachmeister if the club had a license to race and well knowing that the officer would come, jokingly said: "Yes, officer, I have a hunting license and a bar license." Higgins and Richmond smiled and it was then that the officer, in compliance with his duties, summoned Mr. Hachmeister to appear in Police Court Monday morning. The next to be notified as a witness was Jockey Murphy, who rode the winner of the first race. T. C. McDowell, owner, and Steward C. F. Price were told to be ready as witnessess for the city when called upon by the Court. After the seventh race was run Lieutenant Higgins summoned Mr. Hachmeister to appear in Court Monday morning for seven violations of the ordinance. Harvey Myers said tonight that it is not likely that the case will proceed Monday morning for the reason that there is usually a big court docket and that both Circuit Judges hear the motion dockets and feel that Mr. Richmond himself can arrange a day and take up the case before Judge T. J. Edmonds. Mr. Myers said the club would plead that the ordinance specifying that the club pay $100 for each race was excessive; that Covington has no authority to pass such an ordinance and that the races are not run in Covington. The ordinance provides a fine of $50 to $100 for every violation.

Lon Jones and J. S. Ward were in partnership in the two good two-year-olds, Berlin and Sedan. They decided today it would be to their interest to have each in a separate stable, so Jones took over Sedan and turned him over to R. D. Williams to train. Ward retained Berlin and will race him.

H. Price Headley, President of the Thoroughbred Breeders' Association, came up from Lexington to hold a conference with John Hachmeister relative to the proposed tax to be assessed against the race tracks by the state government. Mr. Headley is well aware that if the state takes 2½ per cent. of the mutuel play it either means no racing, or, at the best, $300 purses. With both the Louisville tracks losing money this fall it does not look as though $800 purses can be maintained, and it would not be surprising to see the State Racing Commission rescind its rule making $800 as the minimum purse offering.

TORONTO RACING STATISTICS.

The autumn meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club, which began September 23 and came to a close September 30, embraced seven racing days, during which time forty-nine races were run and $47,310 was distributed in stakes and purses, representing a daily average of $6,758.57. Of the seventy-four owners who shared in this distribution, the following were winners of $1,000 or more:

BOOTS IS WINNER OF BALTIMORE HANDICAP.

LAUREL, MD., Oct. 7.—A great horse did Oscar Lewisohn's Boots prove himself here this afternoon when he broke a track record by a fifth of a second in the mile and a sixteenth distance to win the Baltimore Handicap and beat eight other of the best handicap horses in training in the fast time of 1:43 2-5, the final mile being timed from the stand back to the stand in 1:37.

In this field of nine James Butler's Spur was second and August Belmont's Stromboli third. It was one of the best races of the year, with the best horses of the season out and trying to win.

It was a perfect race that Boots ran and a perfect ride that Jockey Fairbrother gave the son of Hessian and Little Flower. Although he came from third place, to take first, Fairbrother never once resorted to the whip in the great drive through the stretch, handriding his mount to victory with perfect ease, and he had a length to spare at the finish.

Once more the hard luck of the handicap came to James Butler's Spur, just as this same great three-year-old had bad racing luck in the big handicap at Havre de Grace two weeks back. Through the whole of the first seven furlongs of the race, Spur was in close quarters and bumped about on at least three occasions when he tried to come through his field. Just as happened two weeks ago, this son of King James and Auntie Mum was closing as strongly as any of them at the end, and had he not suffered from the early interference the winner would have had to go even faster at the finish to beat him.

Mr. Belmont's Stromboli, which came from without the bunch to take third place, was another one that had some hard racing luck, but he never was good enough to win under the weights and conditions, and should have credit for running a great race as it was.

After the finish, Stromboli came back to the stand a bit lame in his off fore-ankle, but his trainer, S. C. Hildreth, said he walked out of this lameness before he was back to the barn.

It was a race in which no one blamed a boy for a bad ride or a horse for not doing what was expected of him, and, although beaten, Hildreth expressed himself as well pleased with the ride Butwell had given Stromboli, and, as far as riding went, it was the best ride he recalled Butwell putting up on any mount. John Whalen, trainer of Boots, was particularly pleased with the ride of Jockey Fairbrother, and although Short Grass disappointed many by failing to finish in the money with his usual mighty rush, Emil Herz, his owner, was pleased with the showing he made in the final stretch run, when he was doing his usual stunt of catching the leaders.

It was Mr. Belmont's Fernrock, stable companion to Stromboli, which was out in front before they had passed the club house, and he set the merry pace for the entire run around the turn and through the backstretch.

For the first part of the run, Roamer was closest in pursuit, with Boots always close beside him, any of them, including Short Grass, which was taking all the dust from a dozen or so lengths behind him, looked to have a possible chance as they made the run for the far turn. But once they were around the turn for home and straightened away in the stretch, Boots showed his real speed and took such an easy lead that he never was made to extend himself at the finish.

Boots was bred by the late James B. Haggin and sent to England as a yearling and sold. His sire and dam were also bred and owned by Mr. Haggin.

There was another great race on the card that showed what a good racehorse Mr. Belmont has in his imported two-year-old, Hourless, which overcame all kinds of bumping and crowding in the rush for the stretch turn, and then came on around on the outside to win the six furlongs of the Annapolis Stakes for two-year-olds in 1:12 3-5.

At the end this son of Negofol and Hour Glass II. was only galloping to win by five lengths, while Gifford A. Cochran's Fairy Wand just beat the Glen Riddle Farm's Yankee Witch a nose for the place.

The winning of Hourless was no surprise, for he stood out as a winner in the field of nine with which he was engaged to battle. He proved himself a two-year-old of the highest class, however, by overcoming difficulties in the first part of the running, and then, even after losing his stride, coming around and taking command at the very head of the stretch run.

There was a record crowd for Laurel out to see the running of a great Saturday card, despite the fact that the Jewish day of atonement kept many from the course. The weather was like midsummer at Saratoga, and the place was a picture of bustling activity and excitement.

ENGLISH HORSES REACH AMERICA.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—One of the most important shipments of thoroughbreds of the year is in New York. Several of the forty-two that were brought over on the Minnehaha are consigned to Western owners, but there are a number of them intended for the East, and one of the importers is George D. Widener, Jr., who is reviving the old Erdenheim Farm. In his lot there came five richly bred broodmares, and with other purchases that have been made it means much for the Pennsylvania breeding establishment.

Kenneth Alexander of Kentucky, Frederick Johnson of New York, George Wingfield of Nevada, J. H. Rossiter of San Francisco, and Howard Oots of Kentucky, were among the other importers, and altogether it was a very remarkable shipment of thoroughbreds.

A practically complete list of these importaions are:

Candacraig, bay mare, 9, by Orme, out of Risby (own sister to imported Lackford) by Juggler. Lackford was the sire of Round the World, well known in this country.

Messalina, bay mare, 5, by Cicero, out of Raindrop, by Florizel II.

Rice Bird, bay mare, 5, by Missel Thrush, out of Trousseau.

Bay weanling colt by Roi Herode, out of Candacraig.

Grant Hugh Browne has one remarkably good-looking yearling on board the Minnehaha. This is a large and rangy chestnut colt of fine length and substance, well balanced, and liberally marked with white. He is by the Derby winner Sunstar, out of Merry Margot. This colt cost Mr. Browne 620 guineas at Newmarket.

Kenneth Alexander, the well-known Kentuckian, has brought over the two-year-old chestnut colt, Trevisco, by Tredennis, out of the Test. This is a remarkably good-looking colt, fairly upstanding, and having great length and substance without appearing at all gross or overloaded. He is a bright red chestnut, nicely marked with white, his most noticeable marking being a broad blaze. He has admirable racing angles, and has the look of a weight-carrier and a stayer. He ran in Ireland, where he was rated a top-notcher, having won the Baldoyle Foal Stakes.

Frederick Johnson has two broodmares and one weanling foal on board the Minnehaha. One is the bay mare French Essex, 8, by Volodyovski, out of Luscious, the grandam of Omar Khayyam. She has a fine weanling foal by Llangwm. The other is the chestnut mare, Fairy Ray, 5, by Radium, out of Seraph, by St. Frusquin. Mr. Johnson intends to mate this Radium mare with Cock o' The Walk, under the impression that the union ought to be a good one. In any event, it should give Cock o' The Walk a good opportunity at the very beginning of his stud career. She now is in foal to the good racehorse and highly-bred sire, Adam Bede.

George H. Strate, of California, is here in the interest of George Wingfield, of Nevada, and J. H. Rossiter, of San Francisco, who have several valuable animals on board the Minnehaha. Their lot is made up as follows:

Brown colt, yearling, by Mauvezin, out of Berenice.

Agnes Velasquez, bay mare, 14, by Velasquez, out of Agnes Galliard. This mare is the dam of Volta, by Valens, and she is now in foal to the same popular sire.

Berrill's Choice, b f, 3, by Berrill, out of Sunny South.

Berrill's Image, b f, 3, by Berrill, out of Proud Beauty.

Santa Malta, broodmare, by Sanctuary, out of a daughter of Knight of Malta. This mare is accompanied by a weanling foal.

Weanling filly by Squire Jack, out of Santa Malta.

MR. HITCHCOCK PRAISES THE THOROUGHBRED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—No man in America has developed more high-class steeplechasers and thoroughbred hunters than Thomas Hitchcock, and what this finished horseman has to say about the cross country or show ring performer will be read with interest, as he is recognized as an authority in every country where the horse of quality is known. Mr. Hitchcock had just come to town after winning numerous championships at Piping Rock and Mineola, and he was enthusiastic over the showing made by Jolly Dixon, Cavalier and other members of his stable at those places.

"There is no horse in the world that is comparable to the thoroughbred as a hunter, or as a matter of fact for almost any purpose," said Mr. Hitchcock when seen at the offices of the Jockey Club. "You find men decrying him as being too 'hot' to give satisfaction when put to any other task than racing. There never was a greater mistake. People who talk in that fashion have never had anything to do with the higher type of thoroughbred, and their experience has come from contact with culls which have been discarded because of their shortcomings.

"As a matter of fact," continued Mr. Hitchcock, "the thoroughbred is not as hot as the half-bred if the same animals are subjected to equal tasks. Put a half-bred horse in training and ask as much of him as you do of the thoroughbred and the result will be surprising. The half-bred would not stand the acid test of racing and come through with a perfect disposition. The thoroughbred has been bred for 150 years, and the culls during all that time have been eliminated. I have had twenty-five years experience with thoroughbreds, and during that period I have experimented with them widely. My twelve-year-old son has ridden them in the hunting field on Long Island, and another of my children, only six years of age, has ridden them in the show ring. They are more easily broken to harness than any other horse in the world, and, illustrating this, let me tell you of something I saw S. T. Harbison do at Lexington, Ky., when the thoroughbred market was at its lowest some years ago. He bought a lot of young stallions, mares and geldings from one to three years of age, and turned them all into a big paddock. They agreed famously, and it wasn't three weeks till those that were old enough were broken to harness and soon being sold all over the country.

"The half-bred is fine, too," continued Mr. Hitchcock, "and we have to bring in the grade in order to secure an average of size, just as in Ireland they went to the cart horse to secure a bigger hunter type, but by and large the thoroughbred, when he is big enough, meets every requirement. Jolly Dixon, by Sir Dixon, out of Merry Maiden, winner of the heavyweight championship at Piping Rock, is 16.2 hands and weighs 1,460 pounds. He has stood up under ten years' hard service. Cavalier, by Stalwart, out of a Potomac dam, weighs 1,260, while another good thoroughbred hunter in my string is Conniston, by Yankee, out of La Sorella, that tips the scales at 1,300 pounds. Surely these are big enough for any purpose, and besides their bulk they have the quality we all admire.

"The Breeding Bureau of the Jockey Club," resumed Mr. Hitchcock, "is doing splendid service in standing thoroughbred sires in various parts of this State. They are really doing the work of the Federal Government on what foreign countries are doing in order that they may have a sufficient number of horses of the cavalry remount type. The greatest menace which I see to horse breeding in the United States is the growing scarcity of the light mares which nick so well with the thoroughbred sire. During a recent visit to Wyoming I found breeders raising the heavy draught type. There was a market for the smooth young mares unbroken at two and three years of age, at good prices, and they bred them in preference to anything else.

"The trotting mare is an ideal mate for the thoroughbred sire," went on Mr. Hitchcock. "Her qualities have been developed by racing also, and those communities which have any number of dams of this type should conserve them. It is only a question of time till the authorities at Washington realize that we need these mares. France, Germany and Russia have them, and trotting contests are a feature of race meetings everywhere on the Continent.

"Thoroughbred blood," said Mr. Hitchcock in conclusion, "has played its part everywhere in the horse world, and it has benefited all other strains. From whence does the trotter derive his sterling qualities? Is it from Messenger or Bellfounder? Racing everywhere should be encouraged. The more racing we have the more of this coveted blood we are going to have to infuse into other families, and in the end we should produce horses second to none in the world."

LOCAL NOTES.

O. H. Chenault has sold to F. E. Driver, who was acting for A. B. Hancock, the following mares:

Anyday, ch m, 15, by Locohatchee—Happy Day, by Coeruleus; 2d dam Rosherville, by Cremorne; 3d dam Vertumna, by Stockwell. Anyday is a full sister to Caiman, holder of the world's record for a mile, 1:33 1-4, 128 lbs. up, made at Lingfield, England, on July 13, 1900. She is the dam of Floreal (winner of the Kentucky Oaks), Floral Day, Leo Ray, etc.

Floreal, b m, 10, by Alloway—Anyday. She is the dam of Green Jones, winner of the Harold Stakes.

These mares come from the famous No. 19 family, from which have come Isonomy, Gallinule, Hammerkop, Llangibby, Colin, Vedette, Alarm, Sirenia, and a host of other first-class horses.

K. D. Alexander's Irish-bred two-year-old colt, Trevisco, by Tredennis—The Test, by John O'Gaunt, reached here this week and was immediately sent to W. J. Young's stable at the Kentucky Association track. Nothing but favorable comments was heard on the youngster's appearance. Trevisco, was among the first flight of two-year-olds abroad and in commenting on his win in the Baldolye Foal Stakes the London Sportsman has the following to say: "The Foal Stakes at Baldoyle was won by a very fine colt, Trevisco, as good looking youngster as we have seen this season, for he has power, size and reach and gained success in an effortless manner. He is only now coming to himself and he should fashion into a high-class three-year-old. Which is the best of our juveniles? I should take Certosa di Pavia and Trevisco as the leaders."

A. A. Reilly, President of the Victoria Oil Company, of New York, who recently entered the ranks of thoroughbred owners by purchasing several choicely-bred yearlings out of the Hancock and Oxnard consignments to the New York sales, has registered life colors —"light blue, blue and white blocked sleeves"—and will make his debut in the racing world in 1917. Mr. Reilly has eight yearlings, five colts and three fillies, at the old Gravesend track in charge of A. G. Blakely, who will train for him. Names have already been claimed for these juveniles, which are as follows:

Albert A., br c, by Ballot—Clara J. (dam of The Jay, one of the best horses in South Africa) by Watercress.

Anna J., ch f, by Celt—Meddling Mary (a winner and dam of the stake winner Hands Off, Paul Pry, etc.) by Meddler.

Frank Waters, ch c, by King James—Lacona (dam of Louise May and Col. White) by Potomac.

Frederick Johnson's two recently imported mares, French Essex and Fairy Ray, have arrived at Hal Price Headley's Beaumont Farm.

K. D. Alexander placed $8,000 insurance on his imported colt Trevisco this week through Willcox, Peck & Hughes of New York.

R. T. Wilson, Jr., has leased from A. L. Hamilton his 500 acre farm, Kirklevington, for five years, with the privilege of renewal at the end of the first five years, for a second term of the same length. Mr. Wilson is at the farm now and takes immediate possession. Heretofore, Mr. Hamilton has taken care of Mr. Wilson's horses.

Catalogues of the yearling sale to be held at Latonia on Tuesday, October 24, are now ready for distribution and will be mailed on application to the Kentucky Sales Company, Lexington, Ky. The book contains the pedigrees and descriptions of 53 highly-bred youngsters, and it is more than probable some high-class performers. It must be remembered that the Kentucky Derby winner of 1916, the sterling colt George Smith, was sold in a fall sale at Latonia, as well as the good stake winner Surprising and other useful horses.

The yearlings purchased by Howard Oots at the recent sales at Newmarket, England, arrived in Lexington this week and are quartered at the Kentucky Association course. They number fifteen and arrived in good condition. The list follows:

Brown colt by Valens, out of Sweet Sauce.
Bay colt by Cylgad, out of Byeway.
Brown colt by Holiday House, out of Pimpinella.
Bay filly by St. Amant, out of Lilium.
Clonakilty, b f, by Catmint, out of Catamount.
Oenothers, ch f, by Day Comet, out of Presanella.
Chestnut filly by Grebe, out of a daughter of Santoi.
Bay filly by Amadis, out of Petite Dame.
Bay colt by Neil Gow, out of Fruition.
Bay or brown colt by Holiday House, out of Lapis.
Chestnut colt by Marco, out of Permia.
Impartiality, ch c, by King's Proctor, out of Heroine's Dream.
Bay colt by Llangwm, out of Amorosa.
Chestnut colt by Picton, out of Jermin.
Brown colt by Sir Archibald, out of Roman Matron.

* * *

The good two-year-old colt, Oakwood Boy, by Salvation, out of Escarola, by Amigo, will be sold at Latonia following the yearling sale on Tuesday, October 24, under the management of the Kentucky Sales Company.

* * *

A. L. Hamilton has bought of C. C. Van Meter for a reported price of $2,000 the Kentucky Oaks winner, Cream, now in foal to Jack Atkin, and her chestnut weanling colt by The Manager. It is understand that Mr. Hamilton secured Cream and her weanling colt for R. L. Wilson, the owner of Olambala and the latter's great two-year-old son, Campfire. Cream has been at the Waldeck Farm of Thomas M. Murphy, near Louisville, and was shipped from there to Lexington a few days ago.

* * *

Dr. R. W. McCully has purchased the unbeaten Last Coin, a four-year-old son of Ultimus and Half Crown, from James Butler, of New York, for a reported price of $10,000. He will be shipped to Kentucky, where he will take his place in the Wickliffe Stud of Corrigan & McKinney. The purchase was made by Dr. McCully for Dr. E. W. Hagyard, who was acting for Miss Daingerfield, manager of Wickliffe Stud. It is natural that Last Coin should go to the Kingston Stud for Mr. McKinney was the most liberal purchaser that attended the dispersal sale of the Castleton Stud, after the death of James R. Keene. He has an abiding faith in the blood-lines that were so successful at Castleton. Last Coin was one of the most promising prospects when he went into retirement at the end of his two-year-old season, and the only reason for his not having been shown since that time was that he suffered a bowed tendon.

* * *

J. C. Milam sold to F. W. Staten, of Cincinnati, the three-year-old bay gelding Hans Opper.

* * *

Trainer Kay Spence has turned Red Cloud out at T. M. Murphy's Waldeck Farm and Trainer J. F. Schorr has also turned Ellison out at the same place. After the close of the Latonia meeting both of these horses will be taken up for winter racing, Schorr taking Ellison with his other horses to New Orleans and Spence taking Red Cloud with the rest of his stable to the Jockey Club Juarez track.

Mr. Murphy has turned out his two good horses, Billows and Old Miss, for the winter at Waldeck Farm. Billows was recently fired. Both of these mares will be trained for Mr. Murphy by Joe Umensetter next year and Old Miss will be entered in the Ashland and Kentucky Oaks.

* * *

* * *

C. J. Fitzgerald, of New York, arrived in Lexington Monday. He will visit the breeding farms in this section.

* * *

Foals of 1916 must be registered with The Jockey Club, 18 E. 41st Street, New York, by November 1st. The registration fee is $2 for each animal, which will include certificate. A name must be claimed through the Registry Office of The Jockey Club on or before March 1 for foals of 1915. No horse will be allowed to race unless duly registered and named.

* * *

T. C. McDowell has a promising band of yearlings at the Kentucky Association course and fifteen of them worked quarters Sunday, their time ranging from :23 to :24, the fastest being the bay filly by The Manager out of Fancywood. Mr. McDowell expressed himself as well satisfield with the showing made by the youngsters. "I made no attempt at sensationalism," he said, "for none of the yearlings are sufficiently forward in their training to permit their being set down, as the expression goes, for the best that is in them."

* * *

Wm. Garth, of Charlottesville, Va., is in Lexington, looking for yearlings. He visited a number of the stock farms this week.

* * *

T. M. Murphy has ten weanlings at Waldeck Farm this fall. They are as follows:

Bay colt, by Golden Maxim—Brightstone, by Deutschland.

Bay colt, by Golden Maxim—Lily Mac, by Plaudit.

Bay filly, by Peep O'Day—Gold of Ophir, by Ben Brush.

Bay filly, by Golden Maxim—Annul, by Himyar.

Chestnut filly, by Golden Maxim—Miss C., by Florist.

Bay filly, by Golden Maxim—Evelyn Doris, by Ben Brush.

Chestnut filly, by Golden Maxim—Diamonds and Rubies, by Ornament.

He intends to dispose of all these youngsters when they are yearlings next year with the exception of the filly out of Lady Lexington, a half-sister to Old Miss, which he proposes to race and keep as brood mare.

With a view to getting the stake entries in early, and definite dates for the spring meetings set by the Racing Commission, instead of having to wait until next April for the allotment of dates, Mr. John Hachmeister has written to Senator Camden inviting the Commission to meet at the Latonia clubhouse some time before the current meeting is finished. Below is a copy of Mr. Hachmeister's letter:

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 28, 1916.

Hon. J. N. Camden, Chairman, and members of the Kentucky State Racing Commission, Lexington, Ky.

Gentlemen:—In filing herewith our application for license for our Club for the year 1917; I take the liberty to call the attention of the Commission, that Kentucky Racing Associations are under distinct disadvantages from the lateness of the time of arranging dates on the Kentucky circuit. Last year, as well as in previous years, dates were not assigned until about April 1st, or about 30 days before the opening of the season of racing at Lexington on April 27th.

The Jockey Club of New York, as well as the Canadian Racing Associations, usually assign racing dates in January, to the various tracks racing under their jurisdiction and always before Kentucky dates are assigned, thus enabling these associations to consult with their stockholders and prepare in advance, suitable stakes and other events. Horsemen racing at winter tracks, where the season usually closes in March, desire this information before determining where they will ship, and with attractive announcements of stakes, and dates, from tracks of other circuits before them, and silence as to Kentucky dates and stakes, many horsemen make engagements and arrangements elsewhere, who with definite information before them, would probably ship their horses to Kentucky and race with us.

Your rule now provides that each track, at the time of applying for a license, shall accompany such application with a book or program; we respectfully call your attention to the fact, until racing dates are assigned, it would practically be impossible to prepare a program in advance and before knowing what dates or how many racing days would be assigned, viz:—last spring dates were assigned about April 1st, and your rule provides that a book or program of our races must be filed at the time of applying for a license, on or before February 1st.

Another rule provides that associations must submit names of racing officials at the time of making application for dates; since the Commission regulates the matter of dates, this rule, it would seem, requires associations to engage officials in advance and before it is known just what dates would be assigned.

We respectfully suggest that, as the racing season of 1916, will end with the conclusion of the Latonia meeting, Saturday, Oct. 28th, and as horsemen from all parts of the country will be there in attendance, a meeting of your honorable body be held at the Latonia clubhouse, at some suitable date during the meeting to arrange for the 1917 session of racing in Kentucky.

JOHN HACHMEISTER, General Manager.

LATONIA GOSSIP.

The fall meeting at this historic course opened with a record attendance, a great volume of speculation and magnificent weather.

Manager Hachmeister was all smiles after the counting up time as both the gate and the play in the machines exceeded the opening day last year, but a greater source of satisfaction to him was the arrival of the star performers from the East and Canada to participate in the nineteen days racing at Latonia.

The Latonia Cup this year will be a real race as in addition to Star Hawk, Embroidery, Killanna, Hodge and other cup performers that have been seen at the Kentucky tracks, there will be Oscar Lewisohn's great five-year-old horse Boots which has won several good distance races this season, his last victory being in the Baltimore Handicap at Laurel on last Saturday when he easily vanquished the best in training in the East. Fair Mac the Canadian distance champion arrived Sunday and is a sure starter in the Cup.

Mr. Hendrie's good horse Rancher which finished second to Dodge in the Inaugural on Saturday is also a sure starter, bar accident, and Bob Baker's Pif Jr. which has developed into a star distance performer is being pointed for the event.

Altogether the Cup this year promises to be much the best contest in its history, and the rest of the races through the meeting will benefit by the influx of real good horses.

There are 738 horses here now ready to race and Secretary Campbell will not have the trouble that confronted the Racing Secretaries at Lexington and Louisville in getting their cards filled.

The Inaugural was a fine contest from a spectacular viewpoint, and served to drive home to a few remaining doubters the fact that Dodge is one of the greatest colts ever bred in Kentucky. Giving chunks of weight to the best old horses in training he followed Vogue's terrific pace easily, come on when ready and won going away in 1:43 2-5 for the mile and a sixteenth. It is only a truly great three-year-old that can pick up 122 pounds and run the quarter in :23 4-5, the half in :47 2-5, three-quarters in 1:11 3-5, mile in 1:37 1-5 and win easily in time which beat the mark made by The Manager in 1912 with 110 pounds up.

Everyone with any superstition in his made-up took for a "hunch" the fact that Mr. McDowell's filly Latonia was an entry in the first race to be run at the meeting at the Latonia track, and the superstitious ones evidently outnumbered the others considerably as the mare was a 7 to 10 shot in a field of ten starters, winning in a gallop by six lengths, the first purse the popular Major has won since Lexington.

Carroll Shilling also broke into the winners' circle for the first time this fall when Conning Tower easily beat a rather ordinary field including the prize quitter Roscoe Goose.

This has been a rather tough season for E. R. Bradley. "The best-liked man in the game" has only four horses at present fit to race, the balance of his string being on the shelf from injury or sickness. Mr. Bradley is game as they make them, however, and is preparing to come back next season with a bigger string than ever, and breeding operations are going on at Idle Hour on a greater scale.

When "Bub" May's good mare Bayberry Candle won the six-furlong handicap at Churchill Downs on Saturday it made her eighteenth win for May for a sum of about $16,000.

She was bred by E. R. Bradley and did not show much as a two or three-year-old, Ed. Colton claiming her out of a selling race for $1,000. E. B. Elkins a little later claimed her from Colton for a like amount.

One day last fall, a year ago, "Bub" May lost his then good mare, Guide Post, to Grover Baker by the claiming route, and the next day entered Malabar as a "police man." It happened that Bayberry Candle, through a bit of bad luck, lost the race, and May claimed the mare for $1,600. Since that time she has won at all distances, from ¾ to 1¼ miles, for a total, as stated above, of $16,000, or 1,000 per cent. on the investment, and from present indications this good mare will double the amount before she is done with the turf.

Ted Rice was an arrival at Latonia Saturday from Canada. Jockey Ted reports things in great shape in the Dominion and a successful season personally. He will have the mount on Fair Mac in the Latonia Cup.

Joe Umensetter reports his good mare of a few seasons back, Lady Panchita, in foal to Golden Maxim, as are also Kiva and Nellie Welles. All three mares are at T. M. Murphy's farm near Louisville. Mr. Umensetter says his old campaigner, Grover Hughes, is going along nicely and will probably get a chance to win a purse before the Latonia meeting is over.

Louis Tauber has turned over to Mose Goldblatt all of the horses in training, belonging to Jefferson Livingston including Julia L., Ed Howard and Cash on Delivery, bringing Mr. Goldblatt's total to twenty, all of which will go to New Orleans for the winter's racing. Tauber has charge of all the Livingston yearlings and horses unfit to race. Royal II. is in a bad way, having struck himself in work, and there is no chance that this erstwhile good horse will go to the post before next year.

Trainer Will Perkins states that M. C. Moore's good three-year-old Gipsey George, has been fired and turned out, and there is no chance of his racing this season.

Marion Goosby is moving along nicely enough and will be in prime shape for the opening at New Orleans this winter.

Perkins has fifteen yearlings belonging to different owners in his charge, most of them being the get of Dick Welles and Marathon.

Hodge would have been a lot harder to beat in the Inaugural on Saturday had it not been for the bad racing luck he encountered going to the first turn, when Faux-Col swerved across in front of him, knocking Hodge back from a contending position to the rear of the bunch. Faux-Col pulled up in a bad way after the finish and will hardly race again this year, but Hodge gamely went on after his field and got up to show about a neck back of Rancher.

Dick Williams explains the reason for so many of the present two and three-year-olds of his breeding being the get of Hilarious, is that his beautifully bred English stallion Martinet, suffered an attack of blood poison a few years ago and could not be used.

Martinet covered about half of the Williams mares for the present crop of yearlings and the majority of the weanlings at the farm this season are his sons and daughters.

Martinet is a magnificently bred horse, being by Martagon, by Bend Or, out of a St. Simon mare, his second dam being Palmflower, one of the greatest broodmares of all time. Martinet is now sixteen years old and before his temporary retirement had the remarkable record of having every one of his two-year-olds which got to the races, being returned a winner.

"The best laid plans of the racing men oft strike a kink." The Baker boys tried to put over a real winter money getter in the last race Monday. In some occult way they knew their old cast-off Samuel R. Meyer, would stop somewhere about the eighth pole, under the weight of the dear public's coin, and so decided to wake up Rifle Shooter and get the easy money. Everything was lovely, apparently, until the seventy yard mark was reached, when Danny Stewart's mare Ask Her, which had been left out of the combination, came along with a rush and nipped the Baker good thing in the last jump. It's a tough old world, Grover, and eagle birds have strong wings sometimes.

Little Walter Lilley is a much underrated rider. His ride in the Derby last spring when he used a little bad judgment when aboard of Star Hawk, has militated against the boy's chances of getting mounts in many instances, but he has had quite remarkable success since, in view of the few mounts he has had and the class of horses he has had to ride.

Lilley is a clean-living lad, which cannot be said of some of the more fashionable riders, and furthermore he is honest and is trying his best all the time, which latter statement does not go for some more of the star jocks.

Lilley's ride on Lahore, when he beat Sleeth at the Downs last week, was as good as any boy in Kentucky could have put up, and it was due to Lilley's superior finishing powers over Goose that landed his mount the winner.

At Lexington Lilley outgeneraled and outrode Frank Murphy in that nose finish of Waterproof and Camellia, although the judges' decision went against him by an inch on that occasion.

An apprentice boy in much demand just now is L. Lykes, a 95-pound boy who galloped horses less than four months before he won his first race on King Radford at New Orleans last March. This lad has ridden many winners of races around the New York tracks during the past summer, including ten stake races, and is riding four or five mounts a day at this track. This boy should develop into a real race rider.

The stewards finally have taken some notice of Roscoe Goose's poor work in the the saddle. They had Goose on the carpet Tuesday and told the rider he would have to show better form the rest of the meeting or stay on the ground.

Roscoe's friends claim the boy has staled off from overwork, while some good judges of races say he is faint-hearted and quits before his mount does. Of course there are many who put a much harsher construction on Roscoe's poor work, and there is no denying that some of his mounts that were heavy public choices ran way below figures. But when the Baker boys would wire a flock of telegrams to their numerous clients over the country, and would climb up into the grandstand with their field glasses to watch every move, Roscoe would display marked energy and his mounts a corresponding increase of speed and staying power. The Samuel R. Meyer-Rifle Shooter race mentioned above was in question particularly, and the stewards also had Trainer Perkins and Jockey Connolly on the carpet with regard to the race. Perkins was told his horses would have to show more consistency and Connolly will be watched closely hereafter. ALVES.

P. J. MILLETT DIES AT KNOXVILLE.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., October 12.—Hundreds of friends will regret to learn of the death of Patrick J. Millett, well known as a railroad contractor and breeder and owner of race horses. Mr. Millett came to his sister's home in this city two weeks ago from his bluegrass farm at Paris, Ky. Physicians determined that his condition was critical, and he was at once removed to the Knoxville General Hospital, where he died last night at 8 o'clock.

The past summer, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Griffin, of Knoxville, he visited Rochester, Minn., and underwent an operation by Dr. Mayo, which terminated successfully. However, the operation merely checked the serious stomach disorder which was ravaging his system.

Patrick Joseph Millett was born in September, 1859, in the County Galway, Ireland. He was a son of Thomas and Bridget Millett. His parents were poor and he received but a meager education. At the age of sixteen he came to America with an older sister, Mrs. Mary Wells, coming directly to Knoxville, Tenn., to visit his uncle, Mr. Thomas J. Ridge, Sr., then in charge of the National Cemetery.

As a young man he early exhibited those qualities which marked his later career. He was industrious and sober, aggressive and ambitious, strong in his likes and dislikes, but more apt to give evidence of his approval than his disapproval. He was always of a modest disposition, quiet to an extreme in his dress, and avoided ostentation.

The case against John Hachmeister, charged with running races without a license, was continued in the Covington Police Court Tuesday morning until Friday morning. After the seventh race Tuesday Police Lieutenant Higgins again served notice upon Hachmeister that he was under arrest, and he will be served with the same notice each day until the case is settled. Such a small portion of the track proper is in the city limits that attorneys, in commenting upon the case, declared they did not believe the ordinance could hold.

Before the races at Hillcrest on Saturday the horses of Ike Striker were sold at auction and the following prices realized: Rose Oneil, to T. McCarron, $600; Thomas Hare, to Ray Miller, $450; Hasson, to C. W. Otwell, $65; Bon Box, to C. Rowe, $35; Tower, to William Cleland, $240; Sharper Knight, to D. Hill, $10; Hearthstone, to D. Herron, $100; Jimmie Hunt, to D. Hill, $10; George, to D. Hill, gratis. William Walker also sold William W. for $30 to Martin Crews.

George Wingfield, of Nevada, has purchased in England a full brother to his two-year-old Mont Blanc that died last spring. It is a yearling colt by Grey Leg, out of Bernina, and is expected to reach New York in a few days. Mr. Wingfield also purchased Bernina, but she will not be shipped to America until after she is again mated with Grey Leg in the spring.—[San Francisco Breeder and Sportsman.

S. C. Hildreth has sold to H. G. Bedwell for August Belmont three colts by Ethelbert. These youngsters were all bred in France and were not broken until this year. None of them has raced, but all are ready. They are Kinglet, out of King's Favorite; Valais, out of Lady of the Vale, and Dramature, out of Drama.

LEXINGTON, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1916.

YEARLING SALE AT LATONIA.

The annual fall sale of yearlings, under the management of The Kentucky Sales Company, will be held in the paddock of the Latonia Jockey Club on Tuesday, October 24. The contributors to this event include such well known breeders as John D. Carr, Thomas Piatt, T. Collins, S. K. Nichols, Gorham Bros., F. R. Hitchcock, O. H. Chenault, C. C. Patrick, Charlton Alexander, Col. Milton Young, C. M. Corbin, W. Showalter, Mrs. Dorothy Kelly and others. Some of the best sires in America will be represented in the catalogue, including such as imp. Peep O'Day, imp. McGee, imp. Marathon, Dick Welles, Cunard, Jim Gaffney, Sweep, Transvaal, Ben Trovato, imp. Sain, Master Robert, Bryn Mawr, Dr. Boots, Plaudit, Sir John Johnson, Froglegs, Rapid Water, Bourbon Beau, Dick Finnell, Eyebrow, Trap Rock and others. The estate of Frank Clarkson will sell in this sale the useful horses W. W. Clark and Talleyrand. Catalogues now ready and will be mailed on application to The Kentucky Sales Company, Lexington, Ky.

SALE OF THE KEENE HORSES.

Previous to the races at Laurel Monday afternoon the horses comprising the stable of Foxhall Keene were sold in the paddock by the Fasig-Tipton Company. The result of the sale follows:

Indian Chant, ch c, 3, by Delhi—Anthem; J. U. Bean.....$3,100
Churchill, br c, 3, by Sweep—Lamp Girl; R. F. Carman..... 2,100
Lorac, b f, 3, by Disguise—Wild Bess; G. L. Goodacre..... 1,850
Tipperary, b c, 3, by Ben Brush—Acushla; J. W. Hedrick..... 450
Queen Mab, b f, 3, by Peter Pan—Mildred Shults; Frank Ortell..... 450
Landslide, b c, 3, by Voter—Debacle; G. C. Winfrey..... 550

Robert L., br g, 5, by Jack Point, out of Raiment, was sold for $100 to H. B. Lodge.

This disposal sale does not mean that Mr. Keene contemplates deserting the turf, but he proposes to race horses of his own breeding. To that end he reserved Puss in Boots, the filly that was sent to England, and it is his intention to make other purchases, with a thoroughbred breeding establishment in view.

It would take a long time to build up any such breeding establishment as Castleton, the thoroughbred farm of the late James R. Keene, his illustrious father, but Mr. Keene has the real sporting idea when he desires to breed his own horses.

MRS. KEENE DIES IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Sara Daingerfield Keene, widow of the late James R. Keene, financier and turfman, died at her home, Cedarhurst, L. I., at 6:30 o'clock last night after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Keene was born at Rich Hill, near Winchester, Frederick County, Va. She was the daughter of Leroy Parker Daingerfield and Julia Parker, his wife. The grant of land to Rich Hill was issued in 1660, and she was the direct descendant of Col. William Daingerfield of Greenfield, Essex County, Va.

Mrs. Keene was named for her Aunt Sara Jay Bogardus, wife of Commodore Foxhall Parker. She married James Robert Keene in California on November 3, 1863, at the residence of her brother, Judge William Parker Daingerfield, in San Francisco, Cal.

The family moved to New York in 1876 and resided on Twenty-sixth street for a number of years, afterward moving to Newport, R. I., and then to their present home, Cedarhurst, Long Island.

Mrs. Keene is survived by two children, Foxhall Parker Keene and Jessica Keene Frost.

She was a sister of the late Major Foxhall A. Daingerfield who attained a wonderful measure of success up to the time of his death as manager of the Castleton Stud in Kentucky for Mr. Keene.

Her children and grandchildren were at her bedside when the end came.

Bruce McDaniel, who for the present is acting for his brother, Trainer D. R. McDaniel, in charge of Grant Hugh Browne's yearlings quartered at Gravesend, has between thirty and forty imported yearlings in his care. About twenty of these were imported as weanlings last December, when they were at once shipped to Mr. Browne's up-State farm near Goshen; but very recently have been sent down to Gravesend to join some seventeen more recent importations which were bought as yearlings at the Newmarket summer sales.

Ral Parr has purchased the brown gelding Daddy Long Legs, 2, by Ogden—Chapala (full sister to Running Water), by Sir Dixon. The horse will remain in the Herz stable through the Pimlico meeting.

George M. Hendrie lost one of his good horses this week when his English-bred colt Morven died. The horse contracted an ailment while being shipped to Latonia.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACING STATISTICS.

TRACK RECORD EQUALED.

LAUREL PARK, MD., October 12.—Equaling the track record of 1:12 flat for six furlongs, the good Algol bay gelding A. N. Akin, owned by Edward Trotter and ridden by Robinson, today won the Columbus Handicap of $1,000 added, defeating the odds-on favorite, Leochares, and Sir Edgar, which were second and third respectively.

The winner was away from the barrier flying, raced neck and neck with Startling to the head of the stretch and then came on to win easily. Leochares got away in a very poor position, was forced to pick his way through a difficult field and made up ground in the stretch, but under the weight of 132 pounds did not have enough left to get to the winner.

JONES' YEARLINGS TO WINTER IN KENTUCKY.

For the first time Ben A. Jones, of Parnell, Mo., will winter his big band of yearlings in Kentucky, he having shipped recently to Douglas Park race track seventeen head of these youngsters and the two-year-old Tangoing, a maiden filly by Harrigan out of the speedy mare Dandy Dancer. Jones anticipates disposing of some of the members of his yearling string in Kentucky this fall and coming winter, but they will only be sold privately. He intends in the next few weeks to give them their final yearling trials. They are all well broken and have this early been speedy quarters. The only one he has yet named is the bay filly by Waldo—Sevenfull, and she will be raced under the name of Alpha Ray. The others are:

Chestnut colt by Harrigan—Willie T., by Albert.
Chestnut colt by Harrigan—Day Peep, by Hermence.
Bay colt by Harrigan—Pickaninny, by Cesarion.
Chestnut filly by Harrigan—Sharp, by The Sharper.
Chestnut filly by Harrigan—Tender Bloom, by Sir Dixon.
Bay filly by Harrigan—Betty Fuller, by McGee.
Bay filly by Harrigan—Beatrice Soule, by Peep O'Day.
Chestnut filly by Harrigan—Top Note, by Hamburg.
Chestnut colt, by Seth—Mattie Kernan, by Kilkerran.
Chestnut colt by Seth—Lady Hildreth, by Golden Garter.
Chestnut filly by Seth—Debutante, by McGee.
Chestnut colt by Blues—Eudora, by Plaudit.
Bay colt by Blues—Mazonia, by Mazagan.
Bay filly by Blues—Litholin, by His Highness.
Bay filly by Waldo—Orilene, by Ingoldsby.
Chestnut filly by Blues—May Irwin, by Banquo II.

Those of this band that Jones does not dispose of, which include the filly Alpha Ray, he will race next year in the two-year-old stake races on the Kentucky tracks.

A. J. Joyner has signed a contract to manage and train the stable that is raced by George D. Widener, Jr. Mr. Widener has gone into racing very seriously this year, and for 1917 his silks promise to cut a most important figure. He has made many important purchases, and, with Joyner fitting the horses, it is inevitable that the silks will attain a real importance in turf history. The Erdenheim Farm is the home of the Widener thoroughbreds, and there is no more famous farm in this country. It was at Erdenheim that both Parole and Iroquois were bred and many another champion first saw the light of day there. With Joyner taking charge, the famous old establishment will return to much of its glory of the long ago.

Beauty Thorpe, b m, 8, by Woolsthorpe—Beautiful Bells by Onondaga.

Ten Buck, b g, 3, by Woolora—Beauty Thorpe.

An effort will be made this winter to have the legislature pass a bill which shall put racing in California under the control of a commission as it is in Kentucky, Nevada and other states, and to permit betting on race results by the pati-mutuel system within the enclosure where such racing is being held and nowhere else.

IMPORTANT NEW YORK BETTING DECISION.

NEW YORK, October 11.—An important oral betting decision has been handed down by the Appellate division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn. A certified copy was sent yesterday to District Attorney Dennis O'Leary of Queens County. The decision written by Justice Edward B. Thomas holds that a man does not have to write down bets to be guilty of bookmaking. He may be held guilty, although the wagers are made orally. The opinion while general in effect was written in the specific case of Morris Solomon and Julius Cahn, who were convicted for soliciting a bet from detective Horn at the Aqueduct track last July. These men were notified yesterday that they will have to serve terms in the workhouse.

When Solomon was sentenced to fifteen days and Cahn to thirty, both men appealed.

"It is not necessary that the bookmaking should be in writing. In this case, the accused announced odds to persons drawn to him and he conducted his operations as openly as he deemed safe. No one who applied to him to bet was rejected, not even the detective."

It was urged in behalf of the defendant that the statute was passed against professional gamblers, and the accused operated for too short a time to be placed in that category. "That would mean that one person could with impunity have his day of doing what, what would be a crime, if done for a time longer. It is not the duration of the alleged act, but what contrivance is used and its relation to the public that is determining."

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC.,

required by the act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of THE THOROUGHBRED RECORD, published weekly, at Lexington, Kentucky, for October 1, 1916.

State of Kentucky, County of Fayette, ss.

Before me, a notary public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared John E. Rubbathen, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Business Manager of THE THOROUGHBRED RECORD, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit-

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:

NAME OF—	POST-OFFICE ADDRESS
PUBLISHER, The Thoroughbred Record Company, Incorporated,	Lexington, Ky
EDITOR, MANAGING EDITOR, BUSINESS MANAGER, John E. Rubbathen	"

2. That the owners are: (Give names and addresses of individual owners, or, if a corporation, give its name and the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 per cent. or more of the total amount of stock)

The Thoroughbred Record Co., Inc., Lexington, Ky.
J. K. Kelly, Lexington, Ky.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders, owning or holding 1 per cent. or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company, but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds or other securities than as so stated by him.

JOHN E. RUBBATHEN.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 4th day of October, 1916. RODES ARNSPIGER.

LET US TAN YOUR HIDE.

Cattle or Horse hide, Calf, Dog, Deer, or any kind of skin with hair or fur on. We tan and finish them right; make them into coats (for men and women), robes, rugs or gloves when ordered.

Your fur goods will cost you less than to buy them, and be worth more. Our illustrated catalog gives a lot of information which every stock raiser should have, but we never send out this valuable book except upon request.

It tells how to take off and care for hides, how and when we pay the freight both ways; about our safe dyeing process which is a tremendous advantage to the customer, especially on horse hides and calf skins; about the fur goods and game we sell, taxidermy, etc. If you want a copy send us your correct address.

WESTY HOGAN WINS FT. THOMAS STAKES.

LATONIA, KY., Oct. 14.—Westy Hogan, John Whitlow's two-year-old son of Dick Finnell—Carrie Jones, came into his own today by winning the Fort Thomas Stakes, at six furlongs, and going the distance in 1:12 3-5. The good colt carried 114 pounds and beat Sunbonnet, A. K. Macomber's crack filly, by three lengths. Mary Belle finished third, a length behind the place horse. There were nine starters in the race, the Macomber stable being represented by an entry, Sunbonnet and Sisaga, and the event was worth $2,825 to the winner. The second horse received $350, the third $150, and the fourth, which was Believe Me Boys, saved her stake, amounting to $65.

Turning off the backstretch Westy Hogan passed Believe Me Boys, which until that time was a small margin in front of him, and from then on it was plain to be seen that nothing was going to worry the Whitlow colt. He skimmed the rail making the turn and seemed to be simply galloping at the end. Sunbonnet had a lot of bad luck in the early stages of the race, but it is safe to say that she cannot beat Westy Hogan under any circumstances. Mary Belle ran a surprisingly good race and was full of run at the end. Believe Me Boys weakened some towards the end. Opportunity showed some early foot, but could not stick it out. Berlin was never a contender, and the best he could do in the race was to interfere with Sunbonnet. As a result Jockey Joe Kederis was suspended for ten days by the stewards. Starter Harry Morrissey told the stewards that Kederis deliberately tried to unseat Buxton on Sunbonnet.

A fast pace was what Westy Hogan wanted, and the pace in this race was plenty hot, as the first quarter was reeled off in :23 2-5 and the half mile in :46 4-5. The Fort Thomas Stakes is the only two-year-old stake event run in Kentucky in the fall that is not run under selling conditions, and it is one of the richest juvenile stakes of the year on the Blue Grass circuit.

The consensus of opinion among the horsemen and turfites here is that Westy Hogan is every bit as good a two-year-old as Campfire, and they figure that his recent running has been as good as Campfire showed at any time. Westy Hogan was on the shelf from the Lexington meeting last spring until racing was resumed at Louisville this fall, and he has just now reached the top of his form.

The attendance at the Latonia track today was the best by far of any previous day during the present fall season, and the racing card arranged by Secretary Jack Campbell was the best in a long while on any Kentucky track. A better field could not have been gotten together for the stake race, and there were several other events on the programme that could have been classed as features. The weather was of the best variety and the track lightning fast, with the result that every event was run in good time.

The Cheviot Handicap, a mile and one-eighth affair for three-year-olds and up yard, was next in importance to the stake race, and Hodge was returned the winner by three lengths over Grumpy, with Prince Hermis third. The winner carried 128 pounds, but he is a horse of the highest class and the heavy impost did not bother him in the least. Grumpy led him most of the way and showed a surprisingly high order of speed, but he was no match for Hodge when Jockey Claude Hunt let the latter out. Prince Hermis came with a rush towards the end and had no trouble holding the show end of the purse safe. Ed Crump also carried a heavy impost, 128 pounds, but he weakened under it. He does not seem to be as good as formerly, and does not carry weight nearly as well. Hodge was the favorite by ten cents on the dollar over Star Jasmine.

Another race that attracted a lot of interest was the sixth, the Cuvier Club Handicap, which was at six furlongs for three-year-olds and upward. It resulted in a thrilling finish, Vogue getting the verdict by half a length over Bringhurst, wtih J. J. Murdock landing in third place a head behind the place horse. This race brought about the first defeat for Kathleen in her last six starts, and she had plenty of weight up today. Hank O'Day also carried a big package and it looked as though he had a chance to get up at the head of the stretch, but he ran out and finished next to last. The surprise of the race was J. J. Murdock. He has been "sleeping" a long while and being beaten by much inferior horses than he met today. In today's race he was beaten less than three-quarters of a length, and the affair was run in 1:12. Kathleen got into a contending position once, but fell back. She was the favorite.

Mabel Dulweber was bid up from $400 to $1,100 by B. Nestlehouse. Owner W. V. Walsh let her go.

The following horses were sold at auction in the paddock today: Signorette, Frazier & Farris, $525; Macmonde, Kay Spence, $175; Ague, A. Woodman, $260; San Vega, J. Troxler, $360; Lee Hall, M. Moore, $225; Useful, M. Moore, $505; Helen Thompson, Kay Spence, $225; Honey Shuck, W. Feuchter, $700; Polly H., O. A. Bianchi, $325, and Elizabeth Thompson, W. Covington, $400.

A. K. Macomber concluded a deal for the good colt Boots today just before he won at Laurel. Boots will be here next week. The price was reported to be $15,000. Mr. and Mrs. Macomber left for Lexington last night, but will be back next week.

John Henry did not keep Spring Song, which he claimed from T. C. McDowell, very long. Yesterday he sold her to E. T. Colton.

A TROTTING HORSEMAN'S VIEWS.

Mr. H. K. Devereaux, of Cleveland, O., President of the Grand Circuit, amateur reinsman second to none and the guiding spirit of the syndicate known as the Pastime Stables, which owns the champion trotting stallion of the world, Lee Axworthy 1:58¼, as well as the record-holding three-year-old filly, Volga 2:04½, has been a visitor at the meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association in this city, which came to a close last week.

Mr. Devereaux is a close student of the horse and while primarily interested in the trotting family, is a broadgauge sportsman who can see merit in other types. He is in harmony with any movement looking to the production of a family that will be thoroughly representative for general purpose usage. Like other progressive horsemen he is unable to fathom the wisdom of the policy of the Federal Government as expressed through the Committee on Agriculture, which recommends an appropriation of $25,000 for experimental work in horse-breeding for 1917. Speaking to some friends a few days ago, he said:

"I notice that $37,000 is set aside for experimental work in poultry and ostriches during 1917, while only $25,000 is to be devoted to the horse. This is utterly absurd. There is such a scarcity of horses of the proper type for cavalry service that a protest should be made from every breeder and lover of the light horse, whether trotter, thoroughbred or saddler. I know of the absence of the remount type because I had to buy one for my son who was going to the border. In the end I got a mount that was only fair in quality. I am told that the work which has been carried on at Front Royal and other stations, though limited, has been productive of much good and that the sires which include all the light-horse type have been well patronized by the farmers having access to them. Ten times the present appropriation would be too small for the proper conduct of the campaign in its primary stages measured by the sums foreign governments set aside for such work."

Upon being told that the war authorities from Generals Wood and Scott down favored the half or three-quarter-bred-horse for cavalry, and that most of the best ones came from a blending of the thoroughbred and trotting families using the clean-bred horse as a top cross, Mr. Devereaux said:

"I have gone on record as being opposed to the thoroughbred cross in trotting families when it is close up, but I am open to conviction and those who have had much to do with representatives of this horse should be competent to judge. The half and three-quarter-bred hunters and saddle horses I saw at the New York State Fair at Syracuse recently were fine types and possessed qualities we all admire. It was the first time I had given them close attention and the fact that many of the best of them were out of trotting dams impressed me. Our own champion's pedigree is buttressed with thoroughbred blood and that other great trotter, Mary Putney's second dam, Expressive 2:11¾, is out of the thoroughbred mare, Esther, by Express. When Lee Axworthy finished his mile in 1:58¼ the other day with a thoroughbred prompter on either side of him he tried his best to beat them, and though tired, he never wavered or wanted to do anything but trot. The warm blood didn't hurt him any then.

"The best trotting family," resumed Mr. Devereaux, "have, I think, quite as much courage and staying powers as the thoroughbred. It's been put into them through the test of racing. Why shouldn't the mingling of these strains produce good horses?

"The future holds a menace, however," he continued. "We are in breeding our trotting families too intensely, and an out-cross is needed. I believe that the Orloff is our salvation. Some years ago two mares of the Chetsey type, a blending of the American standardbred and the Orloff were sent to Cleveland to be bred to my stallion, John A. McKerron 2:04½. They were both lovely mares, big bodied and on short legs—ideal dams to throw cavalry horses and one of them had a record of 2:11½. She failed to get with foal, but the other threw a colt named Levar that when three years old lowered the Russian record five seconds for trotters of his age. He did still greater things later on. The Russians then bought Harry McKerron, a son of John A. McKerron, and although a double-gaited horse and not specially qualified to get cavalry horses, his progeny gave such satisfaction to the authorities that they wanted still more of the blood. Frank Caton, the American trainer, cabled to Toronto and bought Jack McKerron 2:07¼ for $3,500. He sold the horse in a short time for $15,000, and Caton, who is here, tells me that $20,000 was refused for Harry McKerron. The progressive spirit of the Russian is shown by the offer of The Imperial Trotting Club of Petrograd to give a race of the value of 50,000 rubles open to the world and a special invitation to American owners to participate.

"Mares of this Chetsey type should go a long way toward helping us solve our problem," said Mr. Devereaux in conclusion. "Mated with our best sires—thoroughbred or trotter—they should help us develop a useful family of horses big enough for any purpose and having the courage and other qualities which would carry them through any task whether the emergency came in peace or war. I for one believe the experiment would be well worth while."

Horsemen the country over will be swayed considerably by Mr. Devereaux's judgment, as he is a student and is laboring constantly for progress. One of the races given at every meeting of the Grand Circuit owes its origin to him and bears his name. The conditions under which it is raced has provided better contests and divides the money more evenly than any other plan yet devised. The provision follows: Three-heat-plan—$480 for the first heat; $600 for the second heat, and $720 for the third heat. The purse in each heat is divided 50 per cent., 15 per cent. and 10 per cent. Of the balance $60 goes to the winner of the race; $60 to the winning driver and $80 to the fifth and sixth horses.

COUNCIL TO REGULATE RACING.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., October 17.—Acting for Mayor Martin Behrmann, absent from the city, Commissioner Lafaye today introduced an ordinance defining racing as it is to be conducted in the city of New Orleans in the future. The ordinance was referred to Commissioner of Public Safety Harold W. Newman, who said he would report it favorably at next Tuesday's meeting of the Council, at which time it will be adopted.

The ordinance provides that to carry on racing the promoters must file a petition with the City Council stating whether corporation or not, giving all the names, and requires "said petition shall contain allegations that such person or persons, or officers or stockholders of such corporations are citizens of the State of Louisiana, law abiding and of good moral character."

After the ordinance had been introduced H. D. "Curly" Brown, who bought City Park track from Woodring & Gardner, said that he had renewed his offer to sell City Park, the price set being $390,000.

"I will race if any one else does," said Brown, "unless I am treated fairly. Mayor Behrmann apparently does not know the constitution of the United States."

This is taken to mean that if Brown's offer is refused he will go to Court in an effort to stop racing here.

The ordinance, as it will be adopted, will set the days of racing between January 1 of each year and Mardi Gras. This means that there will be but forty-four days of racing in 1917, as Mardi Gras is on February 19.

The ordinance also requires that none but local men be employed, except as presiding judge, paddock judge and positions in which experienced racing men are needed, fixing a penalty of $25 fine for each day of its violation. If any opposition is filed against applicants to run tracks the Commission Council will hear a protest. Racing will not be tolerated on tracks of less than a mile in length.

CRACK FIELD IN LATONIA CUP.

LATONIA, KY., Oct. 14.—With such racing stars as Dodge, Star Hawk, Boots, Rancher, Star Jasmine, Embroidery, Hodge and Fairmac, regarded at present as sure starters in the rich $8,000 Latonia Cup this fall, this event, which is staged to be run on Saturday, October 28, bids fair to present to racegoers of today what old-time turfmen saw at Saratoga in 1875, when Springbok and Preakness ran their famous dead heat at two miles and a quarter, and were followed closely over the winning line by the two noted cracks, Grinstead and Aaron Pennington.

In selecting such a stake as the Latonia Cup for the feature race of the autumn meetings at this course, Manager John Hachmeister has had in view the idea of preserving to racing at least one event which calls for great endurance in horses as well as sensational speed. There never has been a meeting at Latonia since this event was revived that it has not resulted in a good race and attracted an enormous crowd to the course.

It has always been his idea that the Latonia Cup can be made a race that in time will take rank in racing annals with such foreign events as the Ascot Cup in England and the Melbourne Cup in Australia.

There is always much glory clustering around the winner of a big cup race. Many of the most brilliant racing stars the American turf has known gained more fame in one cup race than they earned in all their other winning performances combined. Kentucky, the first American-bred race horse to sell for $40,000, became regarded as worth such a price only when he won the Saratoga Cup of 1865, and proved to be the first horse capable of running two miles and a quarter in better time than 4:02. His time in that race, 4:01½, stood for six seasons and was then lowered in the same race to 3:59 by Harry Bassett when he beat out the famous Longfellow, which hopelessly broke down in the race. It was in this event the year previous that Longfellow defeated the mighty Kingfisher and became the first horse in America to have the distinction of being the object of a $100,000 offer. In his race with Kingfisher, Longfellow ran the first mile in 1:40, and in all the long years since, this performance has never been duplicated by any winner of a two-mile and a quarter race.

Harry Bassett's mark of 3:59 stood only four years, as in their memorable dead heat cup race in 1875, Springbok and Preakness reduced the best mark for this distance to 3:56¼. It was more than twenty years before this record was lowered. Ethelbert is the only horse that has ever run this distance better than 3:50.

The Kentucky record was made by Star Jasmine in the Latonia Cup last season, when she captured the event from a lot of high-class opposition and scored the mark of 3:50 4-5. Some of the other great winners over this real cup course embrace stars of the highest class in racing, and a number of these and the time made by them are given below:

Horse.	Time.	Horse.	Time.
Salvidere	3:52	Go Between	4:03 2-5

Aside from the Latonia Cup at this great course this fall there are many other attractive races to be run during the final two weeks of the sport. On Saturday next will be decided the Autumn Stakes, at a mile. This event is for three-year-olds and upward, and the following fifty performers are eligible to start in the event: Bringhurst, Mars Cassidy, Big Fellow, Indolence, Milestone, King Gorin, Peep Sight, Lady Rotha, Sleeth, Amazon, Rifle Shooter, Black Coffee, Pockichoo, Sun God, Bell Boy, Grumpy, Dark Flower, Converse, Primero, Corsican, Sasin, Old Broom, Fleetabelle, Margaret N., Sands of Pleasure, Sharp Frost, Korfhage, Lucky R., Sun Maid, Alex Getz, Alfadir, Money Maker, Othello, Aldebaran, Schemer, Sea Urchin, Checks, Gipsey George, Lahore, Christie, Prince Albert, J. J. Murdock, Goldcrest Boy, John W. Klein, Business Agent, Hocnir, Egmont, Wilhite, Jane Straith and Grover Hughes.

The event has been an annual fixture at the Latonia course in the autumn since 1913, and its winners have been such good performers as High Private, Little Father and Hanovia. The race record is held by the latter, she having scored a mile in 1:39 when she won the event last fall.

Manager John Hachmeister has set aside Wednesday of the closing week of the meeting at Latonia, the date being October 25, for Ladies' Day. On that afternoon all women attending the track with escorts will be admitted to the grounds and grandstand free.

NEW YORK GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—With the thoroughbred playing a star part down in Maryland and out in Kentucky, as well as drawing big houses up in Canada, these are now the melancholy days of Indian Summer for turfites around New York. There is little doing about the haunts of horsemen in this metropolis just now, but on some of the tracks hereabouts on Sunday it was different. Some of the leading trainers returned to Laurel yesterday after anything but a day of rest spent on the nearby courses.

These trainers had taken advantage of a day off and fine weather conditions to journey to the home training grounds to have a look at the yearlings that are expected to do great things in the next season of racing.

S. C. Hildreth spent the busiest day of any of the trainers, for he tried out seventeen of August Belmont's youngsters and Mr. Belmont was on hand to take note of the actions of his young racers. Trainer Hildreth brought Jockey Jimmie Butwell, who has been engaged to ride for the Belmont stable next season, and one of his apprentice jockeys along to give the yearlings their trials. A yearling son of Fair Play and St. Priscilla, a full brother to Mr. Belmont's star handicap performer, Stromboli, was one of the lot that particularly pleased Mr. Belmont and his trainer by his actions. There was one disappointment in the lot, this one being a half-sister to Mr. Belmont's great two-year-old, Hourless. This one is the "ugly duckling" of the lot and never will go to the races because she has the misfortune to be swaybacked. She will not be trained, and while the turf will not know her as a racehorse, she may become great as a matron of the turf, for the chairman of the Jockey Club decided to ship her to his farm to be reserved for breeding.

W. R. Midgley, who trains the stable of Gifford A. Cochran, was another who was at the Belmont Park course to have a look at the yearlings in his care. He tried out several of his juvenile charges and was well pleased with the showing they made.

Midgley gained distinction as a trainer of youngsters through the past season, when he sent so many winners to the post on their early outings. It was noted that the Cochran two-year-olds of this season held a distinct advantage over their opponents in races because of their ability to beat their fields away from the barrier, showing that the trainer had looked well to their schooling at the post.

Jack McCormack, trainer for James Butler, came from Laurel, where he once more had suffered the disappointment of seeing Mr. Butler's great three-year-old Spur run second in one of the big fall handicaps on Saturday, for the second time finishing next to Boots, probably king of the handicap horses of the year. McCormack was at the Empire City track, where the Butler yearlings are quartered, and tried out his lot. He was accompanied by Jockey Loftus. It was reported that the Butler string was in good shape and would be wintered at the Yonkers course, where McCormack will have about fifty thoroughbreds to look after.

Among the visitors to The Jockey Club offices during the afternoon were Frederick Johnson and Christopher Fitz Gerald. Mr. Johnson was looking after the registration of some of his yearlings and Mr. Fitz Gerald was full of glowing accounts of the breeding industry in Kentucky, where he has been spending several days. A full account of his observations in the Blue Grass State will be given the press within a few days, and no better judge of conditions in connection with the thoroughbred could be found to give such an account than this same veteran of the turf.

BOOTS WINS WASHINGTON HANDICAP.

LAUREL, Oct. 14.—An immense gathering turned out at Laurel this afternoon to witness the Blue Point Stakes and the Washington Handicap. The former was a dash for two-year-olds at five and a half furlongs, and the latter for three-year-olds and upwards at a mile and a furlong.

Boots, running in the name and interests of A. K. Macomber, won the first time of asking for his new owner. He carried 122 pounds and, after racing under stout resistance for six furlongs, assumed an easy lead and won in hand by a length and a half from Spur. The pace in the early stages was very slow, but the last half mile was fast. The winner ran the mile and a furlong in 1:51 1-5.

R. T. Wilson's Killdee proved best of the dozen starters that went to the post in the Blue Point Stakes. He came from behind the leaders in the run through the homestretch and at the finish was going away from Gloomy Gus. The latter made most of the pace but weakened right at the end. The conditions of the Blue Point called for selling allowances, and when the winner was offered, J. W. Hedrick was on hand and boosted him from $800 to $2,005, at which figure he was retained.

Samuel Ross, of Washington, acted for Mr. Macomber in the sale of Boots. The deal was consummated about one o'clock, and the price paid was said to have been $15,000. Boots will be shipped to Latonia next week to fill his engagements there.

The finish in the steeplechase was particularly close. It was so tight that the backers of Early Light thought their horse had won. The official placing, however, gave the race to New Haven. The latter came again in the last few strides and just managed to poke his nose in front.

Glory Belle was claimed by I. M. Hedrick for $1,200.

James Robertson has arranged to leave for New Orleans on Tuesday next. He will ship the two-year-old Valerie West probably on Monday. Valerie West was cut down during the meeting at Havre de Grace and will not be in condition to start again until next spring.

It develops that William Garth purchased the yearling by Star Shoot—Lady Schorr of J. E. Madden while he was in Kentucky. Mr. Garth also bought of Mr. Madden the unbeaten two-year-old Nebraska.

J. T. Gwathmey came up from Virginia to take in a few days' racing. His colors were carried in the steeplechase this afternoon by Reliance.

Joseph E. Davis has arranged to have the remains of Steeplechase Jockey Murphy interred in the Westchester Cemetery. Jockey A. Lee, who fell in the same race, arrived in Laurel this morning looking none the worse for his mishap.

THOROUGHBREDS TO BE WELL RECOGNIZED.

NEW YORK, October 17.—New directors of the National Horse Show Association have this year recognized the utility of the thoroughbred horse and in consequence there will be more opportunity at the coming show for horses registered by the Jockey Club than ever has been presented before at a show in Madison Square Garden. In the program for the association's thirty-first annual exhibition from November 11 to 17 there are classes exclusively for thoroughbred saddle horses, thoroughbred hunters, thoroughbred polo ponies and thoroughbred sires suitable for getting cavalry horses.

John E. Madden has accepted an invitation to judge the thoroughbred stallions at this year's show. The saddle horses will be judged by Lady Beck of London, Ont., and James G. Marshall of New York, while H. V. Colt of Geneseo, N. Y., Henry L. Bell of Bayside, N. Y., and Richard Wallach of Warrenton, Va., will judge the thoroughbred hunters.

Harry Payne Whitney's splendid four-year-old filly Regret, by Broomstick, out of Jersey Lightning by Hamburg, has been permanently retired from the turf and will go into the stud at Brookdale. Hansa, the own sister to Jersey Lightning, has been sent to the stud. As yet it has not been decided with what sires these fillies will be mated.

Clapperbill, Bromo, Tumbler and Hwfa are now geldings. Thunderer was seriously amiss about the opening of the Saratoga meeting and was sent down to Brookdale for the remainder of the season. As yet it is too early to venture a prediction as to the chances of his racing next season, but should he prove unfit to race, he will be sent to the stud.

Chicle, Mr. Whitney's imported colt, by Spearmint, was retired about the beginning of August, but it is hoped that he will be seen under silks next spring.

WHAT AND WHY IS A "SELLING RACE."

The Jockey Club seems to be unable to cure new phases of the old evil which, lacking a better name, may be termed "sellingracitis." If racing be the "sport of kings," the malady might be called "kings' evil," but that might be too far-fetched as applied to some of those who receive much of the blame for aggravating the disease. The question that arises out of recent symptoms is, "What is a selling race?" If the horses entered to be sold at a stated figure are entered in good faith, why should they be "protected" against bidders after winning? The phrase "selling plater" has always been recognized as applicable to a "cast-off" which a first-class stable deems unworthy of its consideration, or a fairly good one that a poor man enters either, say, with the hope of winning a feed bill or selling at a price that might with some addition be used in purchasing a better animal. It has never been supposed that a rich man would bother with such events. By a sort of fraternity of spirit, hitherto, horses have not been "bid up"; but that seemed foolish and in fact a sort of "baby act." The Jockey Club, in trying to solve the problem, has been legislating one way and some individuals have been exercising moral suasion in another way, to effect a nullification of a selling race's apparently real purpose. If this be not the case we ask again, "What is a selling race?" and "Why is a selling race?"—[Rider and Driver.

Trouble in Store for Shoestring Tracks.

That action in some direction will be taken to curb the epidemic of new tracks which has in recent years afflicted Montreal there seems little doubt. Good authority has it that measures will be taken by the Provincial Parliament this winter to place a heavy tax on the tracks, which is likely to result in some of the "shoestring" organizations closing their gates.—[Montreal Herald.

HUGGINS LIKED PERSIMMON.

As every horseman knows, it is not upon the mere fact that he developed and trained for the Derby, the good colt Volodyovski for the late William C. Whitney, the enviable reputation of John Huggins rests, but rather upon the brilliant achievements of other horses trained by him on the other side of the Atlantic where he saddled no fewer than seventy-four winners in a single season. Twice he has sent the winner of the Cambridgeshire to the post as well as the winners of the two big two-year-old classics, the Middle Park Plate and the Dewhurst Plate. He has also trained the winner of the One Thousand Guineas, as well as of many other rich stakes. Indeed there is hardly a coveted classic in England which has not at one time been won by a horse trained by John Huggins, while he has many records to his credit.

When asked the question: "What was the best horse you ever trained?" Huggins replied very promptly: "I haven't any idea, but I can tell you the best horse I ever saw, and that was Persimmon. I have seen many good racehorses—some really great ones—but I have no hesitation in pronouncing Persimmon the greatest of them all.

"Persimmon was a big horse, that is, a tall horse, fully seventeen hands high, I should think, but his younger brother, Diamond Jubilee, was considerably stouter for his height. I do not mean to say that Persimmon was slender, much less weedy, but he had long legs and not a little daylight under him. He had a brilliant turn of speed and he could stay to the end of any racehorse distance. There was a very fast colt over there which was afterward imported to this country. I saw him winning at five and a half furlongs or thereabouts, and he looked to be invincible, but I saw him sent out to work with Persimmon one morning for not more than six furlongs, but Persimmon simply lost him right from the first jump.

"I have no doubt that the wonderful successes achieved by Persimmon, Diamond Jubilee and other immediate descendants of St. Simon on the turf have had much to do with the high favor in which the St. Simon strain is held in England, France, America, and elsewhere, but of course some of the sons of St. Simon have been brilliantly successful in the stud, and that has shown that the value of the strain is persistent. Rabelais, by St. Simon, is one of the great sires in France. Diamond Jubilee is working wonders in South America, and there are successful sons or grandsons of St. Simon in every country where they are breeding racehorses, but the 'St. Simons'' are not without their faults (some of them have abominable tempers) and the St. Simon strain is not without formidable rivals.

"I like these lasting and persistent crosses," John Huggins continued. "When they show racing quality in one generation after another, like Polymelus, tracing straight back through good ones to Stockwell, and that Blacklock strain which runs from St. Simon back through Galopin, Vedette and Voltigeur, and Isinglass going right back through Isonomy, Sterling and Oxford to Birdcatcher, it means something."

"The Bend Or strain is one which seems to be steadily coming to the front, and as it constitutes an outcross with that of St. Simon as well as the Oxford-Sterling-Isonomy-Isinglass family, the latter having only one Stockwell cross through Isola Bella, the dam of Isonomy, the union should be a good one. Polymelus, one of the most fashionable English sires of today, goes straight to Stockwell in the male line through his sire, Cyllene, Bona Vista, Bend Or, Doncaster, Stockwell, with but one intervening cross of Sterling which comes through Arcadia, the dam of Cyllene and the daughter of Isonomy.

Mr. Huggins talked rather conservatively about the two-year-olds which have shown themselves on the American turf during the season of 1916. Campfire and Hourless stood out by themselves, and he would feel doubtful as to which was the better of the two. Both were unquestionably good colts. In the three-year-old division he also was very much in doubt. Friar Rock had run some wonderfully good races, brilliant ones in fact, but he also had run some bad ones. Spur had run a lot of good races and although he had had bad luck at times, he might be rated as a really consistent colt. Star Hawk had run some good races and in the early part of the season some bad ones, but allowance was to be made for him in view of the fact that this was his first year in America.

OWNER STRANG'S ENTRIES BARRED.

LATONIA, KY., Oct. 17.—The stewards handed down a ruling today barring the further entry of the horses racing in the name of G. L. Strang. Strang is not ruled off and no ruling is made against him, but the stewards believe it to be to the best interests of the turf to bar his horses, or rather, refuse to permit him to race horses. The ruling is based on a printed letter, signed by Strang, in which he says he has the betting privileges on these horses and requesting the man to whom it is addressed to place bets for him.

Strang admitted that it was his signature and the stewards questioned him no further. Horses affected by the ruling are Samuel R. Meyer, Rhyme and Jane Straith. Strang is part owner in the horses Deliver and Chief Brown, and they probably will be sold at auction, as Trainer Will Perkins is interested in them.

The stewards in making the ruling announced that they intended to follow the same course in case any bona fide letters sent out by trainers or owners are submitted to them in which the writer makes similar claims to those advanced by Strang. If the proof can be secured by the stewards some of the biggest stables in Kentucky are liable to get into trouble. In handing down the ruling both Stewards Price and Clay said "that they were making these rulings in the best interests of the turf; that they intended to make the same ruling if similar letters were presented to them, no matter who sent them out. In conclusion they said: "We are doing this for the good of the turf and believe that we will be sustained in all cases of this kind by the Racing Commission."

The ruling of the stewards was about the only item of general interest at the track today. The feature event was a purse race, termed the Linwood Purse. It went to the odds-on favorite, King Gorin, which laid in behind Sleeth until the stretch was reached, and then showed plenty of speed and staying ability. Sleeth finished second and Star Jasmine third. The latter was in third position throughout the running of the race.

The fifth race brought out some fair two-year-olds, and Passing Fancy, another odds-on favorite, got down in front of Goldblatt's Bullion by a short nose. Phocion had the early speed and went to the front, but couldn't stick it out, both Passing Fancy and Bullion drawing away from him in the stretch. The others were well back in the ruck.

The Mackenzie Stable has dwindled to two horses. Jack Adkins has Leo Skolny and Faux-Col at Latonia and will soon ship them to Hal Price Headley's Beaumont Farm at Lexington to be wintered.

It is commonly understood that the half-mile tracks in Toronto have found this season that the margin between income and expense was a very small one, and that the margin was on the wrong side of the ledger. With an expense of over $4,000 daily for two items alone of license and purses, the cost of operation has now grown to a serious figure. And while expenses are steadily mounting, and will be even greater next year, the revenue of all syndicate-ring tracks in Canada is steadily decreasing. The amount of money handled at these places, both at Toronto and Montreal, is less at each meeting, and hereabouts does not reach such a sum as to make profitable meetings, even when the calculated thirty-five per cent. is retained. The finish of the half-milers is inevitable, and will be brought about by the inability to make them paying concerns. As soon as it is clear that the public will no longer pay from 35 to 55 per cent. for its sport, then the half-mile enterprises will close their gates.—[Toronto Globe.

I fancy the number of Irish horses purchased this season for racing abroad must constitute a record, for seldom a week passes that I do not hear of a number being bought either out of selling races or from their owners. The Irish Bloodstock Agency have sold a large number to go to Spain, the United States, New Zealand, South Africa, Canada and elsewhere, but their consignments have not been confined to horses for racing purposes only, for of two good purchases they made for Canadian owners both were sires. One, it so happens, was Bachelor's Beau, by Tredennis out of a sister to the recently defunct Bachelor's Button.—[Blackthorn in London Sportsman.

EARLY TWO-YEAR-OLD RACING.

In order to secure definite information as to whether there would be races for two-year-olds (foals of 1915) early in 1917, as in former years, prior to the ruling of the Jockey Club barring any two-year-old that was raced before April 1st from all racing on tracks under its jurisdiction for the remainder of the year, the Kentucky Sales Company addressed the following telegram to the managers of the various tracks at which racing is held during the winter months:

"Many racing men have asked us whether you will give races for two-year-olds (foals of 1915) beginning the first of January as has been your custom. If we can make some definite reply in the affirmative it may be beneficial to your meeting. Please advise us.

Kentucky Sales Co.

The replies to this telegram are printed below and, as will be seen therefrom, races will be programmed for juveniles beginning January 1st at both Tijuana and New Orleans, and probably at Havana:

SAN DIEGO, CAL., Oct. 14, 1916.

Kentucky Sales Company, Lexington, Ky.:

You may advise racing men that we will positively give races for two-year-olds, foals of 1915, beginning the first of January.

LOWER CALIFORNIA JOCKEY CLUB.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Oct. 14, 1916.

Kentucky Sales Company, Lexington, Ky.:

Have not decided yet whether or not I will give two-year-old races in Havana this coming winter. Will determine that when I visit Latonia about the 22d.

H. D. BROWN.

ST. LOUIS, MO., Oct. 15, 1916.

Kentucky Sales Company, Lexington, Ky.:

Your wire in regard to two-year-old races at New Orleans was received. Will you kindly notify all horsemen who ask that we will give a two-year-old race every day after January 1.

SANCTUM WINS THE CESAREWITCH.

LONDON, ENG., October 18.—At Newmarket today the Cesarewitch Handicap at two miles and a quarter was won by W. Raphael's four-year-old chestnut colt Sanctum, by Santoi—La Croisette, 101 pounds, with J. Cooper's four-year-old bay filly Corn Sheaf, by Cornstalk—Lady Cringle, 108 pounds, second, and Sir A. Bailey's four-year-old brown filly Dark Opal, by Dark Ronald—Fire Clay, 89 pounds, third. Nineteen horses ran and the winner had been the steadily backed favorite for several weeks past.

A VISIT TO KINGSTON FARM.

No visitor to the Blue Grass country, of which Lexington is the centre, would call his trip complete without having seen and chatted with Miss Elizabeth Daingerfield, the remarkably clever young woman who manages the Wickliffe Stud of Messrs. McKinney and Corrigan of Cleveland with marked ability and still finds time to contribute reviews of books and essays on topics of interest to the leading newspapers of the State, writes C. J. Fitzgerald, of New York, a visitor last week in Kentucky.

Kingston Farm, where this stud is located, comprises 700 acres of rolling blue grass pastures and spacious paddocks on the Russell Cave pike, three miles from Lexington. There are six sires, sixty broodmares and more coming, twenty-six yearlings and twenty-eight weanlings, as this year's foals are termed, and these, together with the men and women necessary to run such an establishment, are under the care of Miss Daingerfield, who is the last word in efficiency. She knows the Stud Book as the Mohammedan knows his Koran, and can tell you the pedigree of every animal on the farm to the fountain head. Her right hand is her sister Jay, who is everybody's friend, and whose appearance is always a rallying signal for the clans, whether broodmares, yearlings or foals, which come racing the moment she makes her appearance in the pastures.

Miss Daingerfield was the chief aid of her father, the late Major F. A. Daingerfield, during the period when that noted horseman was in charge of Castleton for James R. Keene, and it was under her eye that the famous Commando family was brought to its highest state of perfection. She has in the light of achievement made a secure and unique place for herself in the history of horse breeding in this country, if not in the world, and horse lovers everywhere will be interested in the theories which were responsible for the production of a tribe of horses whose winnings ran well up to the million dollar mark.

"I tried always," said Miss Daingerfield, standing ankle deep in blue grass, surrounded by a group of mares and foals, each eager to touch some portion of her dress or person with their eager and friendly muzzles, "to follow along the lines laid down by my father. Sometimes I am afraid when I haven't him to turn to for counsel and aid. My idea is to find the blood and individuality you want and then intensify.

"Ultimus represented the apex of endeavor on the part of my father," she continued, as she stroked the broad forehead of a lovely matron with a colt at her foot "and he is an illustration of what I mean. You know he is by Commando, a son of Domino, and out of Running Stream, a daughter of that name. My ideal sire must have speed and courage. He musn't be too big—16 hands at the most. He must be muscular. You have seen Ultimus. He is my type to perfection. I am a firm believer in inbreeding, but care must be taken to avoid weaknesses. Taking nothing for granted I must have proof for myself.

"With an inbred sire," resumed Miss Daingerfield, "the greatest care must be taken in selecting mares. We were in good shape in this respect when the fire destroyed so many at Kingston and then came Mr. Keene's death and the disposal sale. We have had to begin all over again. This crop of weanlings you see is the first that is comparable to what we once produced. Mr. McKinney wants quality rather than quantity."

Asked what type of mare she preferred, the clever young horsewoman said: "Those with the blood of Amphion, Galopin and Hampton. I would prefer mares that had not raced much, and my choice would be the untrained sister of a very great performer. Mares which have been raced for long periods should have at least two years of recreation before being bred. Every mare should possess speed of a high order."

In reply to a further query as to whether she favored the racing of two-year-olds, Miss Daingerfield said:

"I am not in favor of racing any two-year-olds prior to July 1, and then only the smaller ones that mature quickly. Many of our best youngsters are broken down by trials before their bones and muscles are set. We might as well expect factory and sweat shop children to grow into sound and healthy specimens of the human family. Yearlings and two-year-olds should get their educational work in galloping on grass, and we are now rolling an oval on one of our pastures, over which we shall break our youngsters this year. We have the yearlings nicely under way now. They stand in line and spring away at the word of command. The turf is springy, and we shall keep them off the unyielding dirt as long as possible.

"Our system of racing is not well balanced," went on the self-reliant young woman. "Too much money is offered for two-year-olds and not enough for three and four-year-olds. Properly trained our horses should stay as well as any in the world. It will be a happy day for the turf when the sprinting trainer is no more."

The quality of the pasturage at Kingston being commented upon, Miss Daingerfield was moved to remark: "It's not as good as usual because of the long drought. We try to give our pastures a rest from the horses by turning in the cattle, of which we have quite a number. We spread lime and muck, too, and have reason to congratulate ourselves on the results obtained."

MR. MACOMBER'S LATEST ACQUISITION.

Not content with having in Dodge the champion three-year-old of 1916, A. K. Macomber has added to his extensive stable the thoroughbred that Eastern critics generally concede to be the peer of the older racers. It is Boots.

The purchase of Boots was announced at Laurel Saturday just before the races, and the star son of Hessian ran under the red and white striped silks of Mr. Macomber in the Washington Handicap, which he won in rather easy fashion from James Butler's Spur, the Mirasol Stable's Runes, Emil Herz's Short Grass and Harry Payne Whitney's Kentucky Handicap winner, Borrow.

Mr. Macomber is reported to have given Oscar Lewisohn $15,000 for Boots. Samnel Ross, of Washington, acted in behalf of Mr. Macomber in the deal. Boots will be shipped at once to Latonia to fill his engagements at the Milldale course. Turfmen who have anticipated a meeting between Dodge and Boots probably will be disappointed at the Macomber acquisition.

There can be no question that Boots is a horse of decided class. The manner in which he has won five of his six starts in this country settles that. In his first start at Jamaica early in the season he was badly ridden by Fairbrother. He was permitted to trail the field until the stretch turn, but when given his head and a little assistance he fairly ran over the Eastern cracks, going from sixth to third against such noted stretch runners as The Finn and Short Grass.

The son of Hessian won his next start from a cheap field, but on his next out he ran away from He Will, Spur and Roamer, to win easily by two and a half lengths. His first exhibition of unusual speed and gameness was given in the Dominion Handicap at Fort Erie, when he set a new track record of 2:02 4-5 for one and one-quarter miles. In that race Boots was carried at a terrific pace by Borrow, but after racing the aged son of Hamburg—Forget into submission, he withstood the rush of Rancher and again won easily.

Trainer Whalen then gave his crack a rest of several weeks. When he came back to the races his opposition was led by Spur, and practically all of the Eastern handicappers gave Butler's son of King James the edge, although Boots had beaten him decisively in the early summer. Spur had a lot of bad racing luck in that race, run Saturday a week ago, but it is a doubtful if Spur cares much to race a mile and a sixteenth any faster than 1:43 2-5. This is a new record for the Laurel track and the same time that Mr. Macomber's Dodge made on the same day in the Latonia Inaugural.

Boots picked up six pounds Saturday in the Washington Handicap, and Spur again was forced to take second money. Boots ran the first mile in 1:38 4-5 and finished out the last eighth easily in 1:51 1-5.

Boots was bred by the late James B. Haggin and sent to England as a yearling and sold. His sire and dam were also bred and owned by Mr. Haggin.

His best races abroad, under Mr. Lewisohn's colors, were:

As a two-year-old he won the Kempton Park May Plate and the Seghill Juvenile Plate at Newcastle.

As a three-year-old won the Old Newton Cup at a mile and a half and the Oadby Handicap at a mile and a half at Leicester.

Boots was returned to this country last season as a four-year-old, but was not raced here until this year.

A significant feature of the recent Devonshire meeting at Windsor was the practically complete absence of Canadian owners. Only about three were represented there, with about half a dozen horses, mainly from the half-mile tracks. The enterprise, like the horsemen's meeting in Toronto, which endorsed it, did not appeal to a single person with a permanent, substantial interest in the Canadian turf. And if the casuals are of opinion that the public does not recognize that fact they are entertaining very mistaken views.—[Toronto Globe.

LOCAL NOTES.

When asked this week to put a price on Hessian (son of Watercress and Colonial by Trenton) sire of Boots and other good horses, John E. Madden replied: "I will sell Hessian for the same price that was reported to have been paid for his son Boots, namely, $15,000."

Mr. Madden secured Hessian for the very nominal sum of $3,500 at the dispersal sale of James B. Haggin's Elmendorf Stud held here last October, and in commenting on his sagacity as a buyer, W. H. Rowe, Registrar of the Jockey Club, said at the time:

"John E. Madden did a shrewd thing from a breeder's viewpoint in buying Hessian. Mr. Madden has a number of Star Shoot mares which ought to nick particularly well with Hessian, as in the comparatively near past both Star Shoot and Hessian run into the same family, and an excellent one at that."

* * *

That the best horse is not always the highest-priced one was again demonstrated in a race for two-year-olds at five and one-half furlongs at Havre de Grace, Md., on September 22, in which Yankee Witch by Ogden, out of Event, and Manokin by Rapid Water, out of Little Buttercup, foaled at Hamburg Place, started, Manokin easily defeating Yankee Witch. J. E. Madden, the breeder of both, sold Yankee Witch to Samuel Riddle, of Philadelphia, for $5,000. Manokin was sold, as a weanling, to Capt. Presgrave for $300.

* * *

Miss Olivia Israel, owner of Thorndale Stock Farm, who has been seriously sick at the Good Samaritan Hospital for several weeks, is now much improved.

* * *

Boots, the five-year-old bay gelding by Hessian, out of Little Flower, by Star Ruby, recently purchased by A. K. Macomber for the reported price of $15,000, was sent from this country as a yearling, along with several other yearlings from J. B. Haggin's Elmendorf Farm, to England and sold at Newmarket on October 3, 1912, for 75 guineas or about $375.

* * *

The yearling sale to be held at Latonia on Tuesday, the 24th, will be the last of the season for the baby racers. This sale was inaugurated by the Kentucky Sales Company in the fall of 1912, and since that time has annually been the last event devoted to the yearling product. It is interesting to note that, in round numbers, fifty per cent. of all the yearlings sold in the Latonia sales have been returned winners at two years old and about sixty-five per cent of all sold won either at two or three years old or both.

Among the more prominent horses that have come from these sales are the stake winners George Smith, Surprising, Rancher, Gipsey George, Harry Gardner, and numbers of others of high class, while among others that have won goodly sums, but not stakes, might be mentioned Laura (over 50 races), Roscoe Goose, Billy Joe, Nobleman, Deliver, Huffaker, Lucky R., Cane Run, Tom Elward, Bessanta, and numerous others.

With the number of two-year-olds curtailed the coming season, it is safe predicting that even a greater percentage of winners will come from the 1916 sale than from any of the preceding events, and by the close of 1917 it would not be surprising to see that as much as 90 per cent. had been returned winners, as, with maiden races on each day's programs, it is argued that it must be a very inferior two-year-old that cannot win the coming season.

John S. Barbee, Glen-Helen Stud, met with a most untoward accident on Tuesday, when he slipped and in falling fractured his left arm at the wrist. The bone was set by Dr. David Barrow, and an X-ray picture shows the arm to be in a satisfactory condition.

E. B. McLean motored to Lexington from Cincinnati Wednesday, spending the day at Hamburg Place and other breeding farms.

Preston Burch brought this week six of John Sanford's mares to F. D. Knight's farm, near Lexington, from Mr. Sanford's New York farm. The mares will be mated next season with Kentucky stallions.

In reporting the sale of the Keene horses held at Laurel last week, under the management of the Powers-Hunter Company, the old firm name of Fasig-Tipton Company was inadvertently used. This was, of course, merely a slip of the pen, but, in order that there may be no misunderstanding, we desire to call attention to the fact that the sale was conducted by Powers-Hunter Company and not by the Fasig-Tipton Company.

D. M. Brunk, of Forest, Kansas, reports the death of St. Maxim, 1891, by St. Blaise, out of Delilah, by The Ill-Used, and the good mare, Louise Wood, bay, 1899, by King Eric, out of Rose of Lee, by Insulaire; second dam Rose of Eltham by Marsyas. Louise Wood was the dam of Little Osage, Lasa Ja, Quartermaster, etc.

St. Maxim was a stake winner of twenty-one races. He won among other races the Spring Stakes, the Pocantico Stakes, the Fourth of July Handicap, the Gotham Handicap, Sheepshead Bay Handicap, and the Parkaway and Brookdale Handicaps. He is the sire of Maximus, Barbara Frietchie, Francesco, Dixielene, Dark Secret, Lucrusta, Sarah Maxim, Miss Fleischmann, Sanctum, St. Merrylegs, Dazio, Gallawater, Makaloff, Wheeler B., Hermoine, St. Flour, Elizabeth F., etc.

Jockey A. Schuttinger has signed to ride for the Wickliffe Stable next year.

* * *

A deal has been closed by Corrigan & McKinney, Wickliffe Stable, with John Whalen, to handle their string next season. Whalen will take charge of the horses at the conclusion of the Latonia meeting. The stable will be wintered at the Churchill Downs track. Whalen formerly trained for August Belmont and during the present season he has handled that good horse Boots.

Matt J. Winn announces that the winter meeting at Juarez will open Thanksgiving Day and will continue for one hundred or more days. The purses will be $300 and the pari-mutuel form of betting will be used.

Edward Kane, manager of Nursery Stud, advertises for sale in this issue several young Rock Sand stallions and the good horse Watervale, holder of American record for one mile and sixty yards, 1:42 2-5, made at Pimlico, and the Canadian record for one mile and an eighth of 1:50 2-5, made at Fort Erie. Watervale is by Watercress out of Lady Violet by The Ill-Used and will make a valuable horse for some enterprising breeder.

Mr. Kane also has for sale the stallion Factor, half-brother to For Fair, by Fume (son of Henry of Navarre) out of imported Fairy by St. Frusquin. All of these horses will be sold and will be well worth the money paid for them.

* * *

The brown yearling colt, by Sir Archibald—Roman Matron, which Howard Oots bought at auction in England recently, could not be shipped out of England, on account of coming from a farm on which there was sickness. Mr. Oots left him there to be sold. To keep his shipment up to fifteen, Mr. Oots purchased the brown yearling colt by St. Nat—The Hare, which is now at the Kentucky Association track with the rest of Mr. Oots' importations.

* * *

The two-year-old Nebraska and the yearling brown colt by Ogden—White Owl, and yearling brown filly by Ogden—Quebec, purchased last week by William Garth from John E. Madden for R. Parr, were shipped this week to Benning.

Foals of 1916 must be registered with The Jockey Club, 18 E. 41st Street, New York, by November 1st. The registration fee is $2 for each animal, which will include certificate. A name must be claimed through the Registry Office of The Jockey Club on or before March 1 for foals of 1915. No horse will be allowed to race unless duly registered and named.

When the case of the city of Covington against the Latonia Agricultural Association, to compel the payment of a license fee of $100 for each race run at the Latonia track, was presented to Judge Edmonds, in Police Court, last Friday a motion of Acting City Solicitor John Richmond that the facts be presented to the Court in briefs was sustained. The case was continued until October 21.

Attorney Harvey Myers, representing the race track, was accompanied in Court by General Manager John Hachmeister and Secretary Frank Bruen. Facts as to the manner of running races and jurisdiction of the city to assess a license fee will be presented to the Court in the briefs. Opposing attorneys were unable to agree on the law governing the case.

Manager Hachmeister took occasion to point to numerous improvements which have been kept up in Latonia by the racetrack officials. Attorney Myers questioned the right of the city to pass the ordinance, and declared the more the track officials do for the city the worse they are treated.

If the city were to recover $100 for each race run at Latonia during the present meeting, which lasts nineteen days, the racing association would be required to pay to the City Treasurer $13,300. Safety Director Kluemper was instructed by the City Solicitor to continue citing the track officials daily for failure to pay the license.

With this issue of THE RECORD, The Kentucky Sales Company announces its annual sale of breeding stock, to be held at Lexington the week of November 27 to December 2. For this sale two prominent dispersals have already been listed. Mr. G. D. Wilson has decided to disperse his Iroquois Stud, at the head of which are the stallions Stalwart and Duke of Ormonde, and Mr. A. J. Gorey has decided to retire, thus placing on the market the Castleton-bred stallion Transvaal that has attained such pronounced success with such slight opportunities. These two dispersals are sufficient in themselves to insure the success of the sale, but in addition, numbers of others will dispose of breeding material and weanlings. Among these may be mentioned the Estate of Frank Clarkson, Mr. O. H. Chenault, Mr. Burgess Smith, Mr. E. S. Lyle, Mrs. Dorothy Kelly, and others. Negotiations are now in progress that will likely bring to this sale a consignment from each of several large and successful breeders, and when these are closed, it will make the event the most attractive held here in several years. Space in catalogue should be engaged at once by addressing The Kentucky Sales Company at Lexington.

BROWN IS SATISFIED.

A telegram received from H. D. Brown would indicate that the racing situation in New Orleans has settled down into a semblance of peace. In his message he says:

"City Council submits satisfactory ordinance, limiting racing to forty-five days this winter, from January 1 to Mardi Gras. I approve it, since Council's previous ordinance guarantees fair play and equal division of dates to both tracks."

This, however, will mean that racing will not open in that far South section as early as had been expected, for it had been announced by both the Business Men's Association and Mr. Brown that there would be racing from Thanksgivlng Day on.

RACING DATES FOR 1916-1917.

Latonia Jockey Club, Latonia, Ky., October 7 to October 28—19 days.
White Marsh Valley Hunt, Flourtown, Pa., October 25 and 28—2 days.
Western Racing Association, Devonshire Park, Windsor, Ont., October 28 to November 4—7 days.
Maryland Jockey Club, Pimlico, Md., November 1 to November 13—11 days.
Pickering Hunt, Phoenixville, Pa., November 4—1 day.
Lower California Jockey Club, Tijuana, Mexico, beginning November 11—100 or more days.
Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, Bowie, Md., November 14 to November 30—15 days.
Warrenton Hunt, Warrenton, Va., November 18—1 day.
Jockey Club Juarez, Juarez, Mexico, beginning November 30—100 or more days.

After Howdy Howdy's victory last Wednesday at Latonia, Frank Moore bid him up from $400 to $705, but he was retained. Owner J. C. Gallaher went into the stewards' stand to see if he could protest the bid, as he alleged that Walter H. Pearce furnished the money for the run-up while he was present. It developed that Moore signed the bid, but did not fill it in, and that Pearce filled it out for him and did put the money in the envelope. However, there was no chance for a protest, as any person has the right to bid up a horse as long as he puts the money in the envelope, regardless of where he got it..

George M. Hendrie's Rancher has won more money this year than any other horse owned in Canada, $8,710 being his earnings to date. Thornhill, owned by Messrs. Barry and Starr, of Montreal, is the only other Canadian-owned horse to win more than $6,000, which he surpassed by $1,690. The possibilities of the turf are illustrated by the records of Manokin and Monocacy. The former, a gift to H. G. Bedwell, earned $8,080. Monocacy, a three-legged horse, running in cheap selling races, has won $7,250 since the first of January, and, like Manokin, is still going.—[Toronto Globe.

J. O. Talbott has purchased of Harry Payne Whitney ten horses, three of which are yearlings. James Rowe acted for Mr. Whitney in the transaction. Two of the older horses are Stilly Night and a two-year-old by Macdonald, out of Paradise. Gainer and Hubbub, the property of the Greentree Stable, will be sent to New Orleans with the Talbott string.

FICKLE FASHION.

[The Special Commissioner in London Sportsman].

Prudent breeders who look ahead two years or more can afford utterly to disregard the fashion of the moment. Until quite recent times young stallions, however, brilliant their Turf careers, were not started at fees on the same plane as those of proved successes. St. Simon and Hampton began at quite modest fees, and clever breeders profited accordingly. Thus the late Mr. Smith, of Whimple, bred Rookery, the first-born of all Hampton's foals, and the Chevalier Ginistrelli bred Signorina, by St. Simon. It is idle to suppose that the glamour of the moment when a horse has finished a brilliant racing career makes it good business for those who there and then fill his book for three years to come. It is quite considerable odds in such a case that they will be bitterly disappointed. I need not mention particular instances, but they are sufficiently notorious. On the other hand, take the case of Sundridge, which commenced at a 25 guineas fee—or was it 9 guineas? There, if you like, was a horse to patronize, and the same might have been said of Wisdom, though the late Mr. Hoole bought him for 50 guineas. Then there is Polymelus, a good but certainly not a great horse, and not within 10 pounds of the best of his year—he is the champion stallion of today. Roi Herode affords an apt illustration of what good judgment may achieve, for Mr. Kennedy, though he is a breeder for sale, did not hesitate to buy—I think for 2,000 guineas—and freely use this horse, which was no wonder on the turf, and as result he bred The Tetrarch from the first stud season. I could multiply instances by the score, such as Gallinule and Desmond—neither of them first-class racehorses; and it may well happen that want of money in this country will drive breeders into using their wits rather than drawing on their depleted purses. It this happens it will be all the better for our bloodstock.

We have passed through a time when money was deemed all powerful. A man, it was thought, had but to give long prices for mares and high fees for stallions, and then he could not fail to breed great winners. Of course, he did fail in most cases lementably, and he had far better have used his brains than his money in his bloodstock breeding. The period through which we have passed was one in which money absolutely followed money. When Mr. Gubbins bought Kendal for a comparatively small sum—£2,000 or £3,000—no English breeder dreamed of sending mares to the son of Bend Or, which during his sojourn in Ireland was siring such winners as Galtee More and Laodamia, but when Major James Platt (before these winners had appeared) gave Mr. Gubbins some 20,000 guineas for Kendal and brought him to England the subscription list readily filled at 200 guineas, and Kendal yearlings were in due course among the highest-priced lots at Doncaster. Not one of them was a patch on Galtee More, which was sired when Kendal was in obscurity. I hope then I have shown that breeding by mere weight of money was an evil of which we shall be well rid, and that those breeders who may have got so into the groove of it that they dare hardly venture out will nevertheless take their courage in both hands and set their wits working to find the most likely stallions rather than the highest fees. To some it may seem almost painful to pay small fees, and they will say, with the Apothecary:

"My poverty but not my will consents."

But they will have done the right thing if they have really exercised good judgment and picked the right horse. They should remember, too, that buyers are more truly discriminating in their purchases when they have not so much money to thrown away; and thus it happened that we saw a Kroonstad yearling sold on its genuine merits for over 600 guineas last year, and one by Ouadi Halfa, which fee was 9 guineas, made 500 guineas.

The vicissitudes of stallions are without end, and no one should judge them without full knowledge of the circumstances surrounding each particular case. Take Collar, for example. I bought him in South Africa for £2,000 and brought him back to England. Had he then passed into the hands of a rich breeder he would have gone right to the top of the tree from the very first, but in my hands mares covered by him were distributed all over the world, and though he gained an extraordinary cosmopolitan reputation, it was too diffuse to benefit him according to his deserts at home. To explain what I mean let me point out that Collar (then a 50-guinea sire) got 18 winners out of 23 foals in his first season, but among these was the undoubtedly great horse, Frank Gill, which was foaled in the U. S. A., where he won £13,000 in stakes. There were others almost equally good in other countries, and even those foaled in England were nearly enough for any horse's fame as his first fruits. Among them were two that made upwards of 800 guineas each as yearlings at Doncaster. One was Stick Up and the other Order of Merit (winner of the Yorkshire Oaks). Now if in addition to these Frank Gill and the other good ones of that season had raced in England instead of abroad it is clear enough that Collar would have been placed on a pinnacle of fashion, especially as he followed on with Bracelet the next year, when also there was the wonderful Raketa (foaled in Russia) and many other good ones; but though he rose to a 94-guinea fee he never rose higher, as from first to last he had more stock running abroad than at home, and English breeders at that period were too insular to pay any attention to what was going on outside their own country. I fully believe that in the near future they will think a great deal more over breeding problems, and abandon the idea of trying to solve them by paying big fees for such an illusory chimera as the fashion of the moment. As a result they will probably breed much better horses. I have often attributed the success of Irish breeders to the fact that they could not afford to pay for fashion, and therefore did their level best without it.

Harry Payne Whitney's good horse, Pennant, which won the Futurity of 1913, and was undefeated as a two and three-year-old, went amiss and was off the turf during the year 1915, came back and raced creditably in 1916. He will not be seen under racing silks again, but will be put in the stud at Brookdale.

The Irish "Racing Calendar" states that Mr. Poole having brought to the notice of the Stewards of the Turf Club that he had run a four-year-old called Wandering Wolf under the name of Ramrock (3 years) at the Limerick Junction meeting, and as it was proved to the satisfaction of the Stewards that the proceeding was the result of Mr. Poole being unaware of the identity of the two horses lately put under his care, the Stewards acquitted Mr. Poole of any wrongful action, and ordered the horses to be registered again in their proper names, Wandering Wolf to be substituted for Ramrock in the report of the Limerick Junction meeting in the book "Calendar."

Cattle or Horse hide, Calf, Dog, Deer, or any kind of skin with hair or fur on. We tan and finish them right; make them into coats (for men and women), robes, rugs or gloves when ordered.

Your fur goods will cost you less than to buy them, and be worth more. Our Illustrated catalog gives a lot of information which every stock raiser should have, but we never send out this valuable book except upon request.

It tells how to take off and care for hides; how and when we pay the freight both ways; about our safe dyeing process which is a tremendous advantage to the customer, especially on horse hides and calf skins; about the fur goods and game trophies we sell, taxidermy, etc. If you want a copy send us your correct address.

SANDS OF PLEASURE WINS AUTUMN SELLING STAKES.

LATONIA, KY., Oct. 21.—Being left at the post did not bother Sands of Pleasure, George M. Hendrie's good three-year-old Fair Play gelding in the Autumn Selling Stakes, the feature event at the Milldale track this afternoon, for he went around and through his field and was returned the winner by the margin of a head over Hocnir, with Sleeth third. Sands of Pleasure was totally unprepared for the break, and the field was well on its way before Jockey H. Jeffcott finally got him to running. Sleeth found the muddy going just to his liking and set the pace the greater part of the way, but turning into the stretch Jockey Roscoe Goose tried to pick the good thing and went to the outside. This cost him the race, as it enabled Sands of Pleasure and Hocnir to save plenty of ground and to beat him.

Seven horses contested for the stake, which had a net value of $1,730. The second horse received $350, and the third horse $150. The affair was at a mile and the time, 1:44 4-5, was not bad as the track was in wretched shape.

The stake event proved the best betting race on the card and every horse came in for some consideration, with Sleeth going to the post the favorite. The "comeback money" helped shorten his price, as in the $2 machines he would have been a good price. Sands of Pleasure was extensively wagered on by the Canadian contingent, but he paid odds of better than 4 to 1.

Although weather conditions today showed some improvement over yesterday, it still was cold and threatening. The attendance was surprisingly large and the play in the pari-mutuel machines totaled a high volume. Racing Secretary Jack Campbell provided a good racing card even with the heavy track to work on, and there were four races, anyone of which could have served as a stellar offering.

The Oakley Handicap, for three-year-olds and upward, drew a field of three horses to the post, with Hodge an odds-on favorite. This race was at one mile and a furlong, and King Gorin was returned the winner after leading all the way. Star Jasmine landed in the place position, while, much to the surprise of everybody, Hodge was beaten off. He had some excuse, however, as just when Jockey Claude Hunt made his run with Hodge near the three furlong pole, Jockey Mack Garner, on King Gorin, shut him off and he fell back. He was practically knocked out of it right then, and was unable to get up again. King Gorin was never in danger until Hodge started to run at him, and after Jockey Garner got in his work he was safe.

For his rough riding in blocking Hodge, Garner was suspended for the remainder of the meeting by the stewards. Patrol Judge W. E. Phillips corroborated the allegation of Jockey Hunt that Garner shut him off.

Blackie Daw was returned winner in the Sinton Hotel Handicap, beating Prince Hermis by half a length. He disposed of Lena Misha, the early pacemaker, turning off the backstretch, but he had to be ridden to the limit to outstay Prince Hermis. The latter was off last, but came with a good rush toward the end, and would have been returned the victor had the race been a little farther. Sparkler had no trouble securing the show end of the purse. This race was at six furlongs. Lena Misha is supposed to be a mudder par excellence, but he did not show it today. He was the favorite.

Howard Oots' imported horse, Butterscotch II., scored in the Western Hills Country Club Handicap, the sixth race on the card, which was at six furlongs for two-year-olds. He had a length and one-half in his favor at the end over Geo. C. Love, while Top o' the Wave was third. The winner was the favorite, and incidentally he was whispered around as a real "good thing." It was plain to be seen that he was a "good thing" when the money began to show for him in chunks. Geo. C. Love finished fast and paid a big price for place. The fight for third money was exciting, and Top o' the Wave just did get it. Opportunity was miserably ridden, and Jockey W. Hoag almost fell off of him near the end. Felicidad showed a lot of early speed, but stopped to nothing.

Penrod finally left the maiden ranks when he won the opening event on the card. He had only to gallop to beat those which opposed him today and he was a 7-to-10 chance. Flash of Steel was second and he beat Hazelnut a length for the place. The latter weakened badly after setting the early pace. Penrod did not break as slowly as usual and was well up all the way. When Jockey Merritt Buxton let him run he took command and was drawing away at the end. Pollyanna was figured to have an excellent chance, as she is a pronounced mudder, but she cut no figure in the running of the race. Pulaski runs like he is not of much account, as he shows no speed on a dry track and cannot run in the mud.

Stephen R. was installed the choice for the second race, but when the smoke of battle cleared away Billy Joe's number was hanging out. He beat Ardent a length and one-half, and the best the choice could do was to finish third. Bars and Stars essayed to set the pace in this race, but he could not stick it out. Billy Joe, as usual, was restrained off of the pace, and when he was set down he just rolled home. Ardent was a contender throughout. The others were outpaced all of the way.

Trainer W. R. Sallee finally decided that it was about time for Surpassing to come down to the wire in front, so he put the blinkers on him instead of letting him run without them as he did yesterday. Then to make it more complete Trainer Kay Spence took the blinkers off of Commauretta. This resulted in her wearing herself down at the post, and she did not run the race she does when she wears them. Yesterday Surpassing was almost a sixteenth of a mile behind the last horse at the half-mile pole, but today he was in front passing the same place. He was never worse than second at any stage of the race. Allen Cain, an outsider, almost broke it up for the wise set, as Surpassing only beat him a length. Commauretta's race was pitiful. She was the favorite.

Walter H. Pearce and John Henry filed complaint with the stewards that W. V. Walsh had tried to induce Will Perkins to claim Knebelkamp out of a race yesterday in which he was beaten. Perkins was sent for and denied that Walsh asked him to claim the horse, but he admitted that Walsh had told him that if he claimed him he (Walsh) would take him off of his hands. Joe Umensetter, who was supposed to have overheard the conversation between Perkins and Walsh, was also called into the stewards' stand, and he said that he did not think or remember anything wrong being said or done. The complaint was dismissed because of lack of evidence.

The Australian Jockey Club Derby was run at Randwick October 3, and resulted in the success of Kilboy, with Eastcourt second and Colbert third. Sixteen ran and Kilboy was the favorite at 5 to 4, while it was 12 to 1 against Eastcourt and 33 to 1 against Colbert. The mile and a half of the race was covered in 2:39¾.

LOCAL NOTES.

John E. Madden sold this week to Frank Fogg, Covington, Ky., Old Eylers, ch c, 2, by McGee—Sanfara (dam of Kewesse) by Ingoldsby.

J. W. Schorr's good Broomstick colt, Cudgel, showed a thoroughly creditable performance when he shouldered 120 pounds in the Queen City Handicap on Wednesday at Latonia and ran the mile in 1:39 3-5, winning easily by 1½ lengths from a field, which included several high-class juveniles.

* * *

Hon. J. N. Camden is expected home today from New York. Mr. Camden's many friends will be glad to learn that the operation which he recently underwent was entirely successful and that he is well on the road to complete recovery.

* * *

The announcement that the breeding establishments of Messrs. G. D. Wilson and A. J. Gorey will be dispersed this fall is creating quite a bit of interest in thoroughbreds. Mr. Wilson's Iroquois Stud is headed by the Meddler stallion Stalwart and Duke of Ormonde and at the head of Mr. Gorey's is the Castleton-bred horse Transvaal, really a remarkable sire for his opportunities. Both of these gentlemen have some very select mares, as well as a number of weanling foals that should be eagerly sought. Additional entries for this sale may be made with The Kentucky Sales Co., Lexington, and, as the catalogue will be put to press in a short time, data should be forwarded promptly.

* * *

The bay stallion Last Coin, 4, by Ultimus—Half Crown, by Cyllene, recently purchased by Corrigan & McKinney from James Butler, arrived in Lexington Monday in charge of John Miller. Last Coin was a fast and unbeaten two-year-old, winning four races, and has every right to succeed in the stud.

John Sanford has decided to stand Chuctanunda in Kentucky next season. He will be located at S. C. Lyne's Larchmont Stud. Chuctanunda was a good race horse and well bred, being by Laureate, out of La Tosca, by St. Blaise, and from the limited opportunity he has had in the stud has proven a success. Here in Kentucky, where he will have a broader field, he should get many good racers.

Sampier, half-brother of A. B. Hancock's imported stallion Wrack, by Lochryan, out of Samphire, won the First October Nursery Stakes for two-year-olds on October 3, at Newmarket.

Magpie, two years old, by Dark Ronald, out of Popinjay, half-sister to Wrack's dam, won the Rous Memorial Stakes, for two-year-olds, on October 6, at Newmarket.

The Verderer, by Greenback, out of Menda, by Gallinule; 2d dam Glare, by Ayrshire, and from the same female line and similar breeding as Wrack, won the Boscowen Stakes, for two-year-olds, on October 4, at Newmarket.

Hon. J. N. Camden, Hartland Stud, will make a consignment of mares to the sale at Lexington, Nov. 27-Dec. 2. Others who have recently made entries to this sale include Messrs. O. H. Chenault, W. Showalter, Milam & Levy, J. J. McGeough, Clyde Smith, Estate of L. P. Tarlton, etc. Entries for this event should be sent to the The Kentucky Sales Co., Lexington, at once.

Friends of the late John K. Stringfield started a subscription list at the track Tuesday to raise some money to help his widow and daughter. Stringfield was particularly helpful to breeders in selling their yearlings, for he was never too busy to write a few words about the young horses, and many a breeder has sold yearlings for a good price at private sale due to the good words written by Stringfield, when, if the yearlings went to public auction, they would have brought but small sums. Judge Price was asked to write a few words about Stringfield's work in heading the list and this was what he said: "No one in a modest but earnest way has done more for the promotion of the turf than the late John K. Stringfield. For over thirty years he had been actively engaged in newspaper work on its behalf, much of which was not only of great historical value, but all of which was of material benefit to racing. He never spoke ill of any one or wrote a line which was not intended to do good. He leaves a widow and one child. They are in destitute circumstances. Won't you help them?" Horsemen who would like to contribute can do so by addressing John Hachmeister, General Manager Latonia Jockey Club, Covington, Ky.

E. R. Bradley, Idle Hour Farm, has purchased the contract on Jockey P. Lowder. Lowder will go to Charleston, S. C., with the Bradley Stable for the winter.

The three fine yearlings bred by George C. Bennett and foaled at Idle Hour Farm have been purchased by E. R. Bradley and are in the string that is to winter at Charleston. They are a brown colt by Helmet—Miss Caldwell, a bay colt by Cunard—Arthesia, and a chestnut filly by Abe Frank—Negligee.

E. R. Bradley's horses now at Latonia will return to Idle Hour Farm, October 30, and on the night of November 1 the Bradley employees will have their annual dance in the big house at the farm.

Mr. John E. Madden, of Hamburg Place, announces that he will sell the entire crop of 1916 foals by Sir John Johnson in the sale at Lexington, Nov. 27-Dec. 2, to be conducted by the Kentucky Sales Co. He advises that this is a very attractive lot of foals and that he is selling them because he has all the space at Hamburg Place taken with foals by Star Shoot, Ogden and Plaudit, which, of course, are being reserved.

PROPOSED NEW ORLEANS RACING ORDINANCE.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., October 28.—The ordinance regulating race tracks, introduced in the council by Commissioner Lafaye, has been referred to Commissioner Newman. Mr. Newman said that it appeared to him a proper measure, and after he had given it consideration he would probably report it favorably. Under the law it must lie over one week, and will come up for adoption at the next meeting of the council.

The ordinance requires that officers and stockholders of any corporation applying for a permit to conduct horse racing must be citizens of Louisiana, and it provides how application must be made, and how opposition to the permit, if any, shall be heard. The ordinance prohibits racing except between "January 1 and Mardi Gras," and it also prohibits racing on Sundays and before noon or after 6 o'clock on any day.

The ordinance makes no exception for horse racing conducted at fairs, festivals or picnics, and, it is said, may prohibit any kind of horse racing at such affairs, unless it be amended before being adopted so as to make exceptions for this kind of public racing.

The ordinance is as follows:

"Be it ordained by the commission council of this city of New Orleans, that any person, firm or corporation desiring to conduct a public track whereon horses are raced, and desiring a license to conduct such business, in any locality within the city of New Orleans, prior to the issuance to him of any license by the municipal authorities, shall address a sworn petition to the commission council, which shall state the location of the place, the name and place of residence of the person, firm or corporation applying for the license, and, if a corporation, its officers and stockholders, and said petition shall contain allegations that such person or persons, or officers and stockholders of such corporation, are citizens of the State of Louisiana, law-abiding and of good moral character.

"The said petition must be accompanied by the affidavit of two reputable citizens of this city, vouching for the truth of all allegations contained in the applicant's petition as herein above specified. Notice of the filing of this petition, setting forth the name of the applicant, the place where he intends to operate or locate his race track, must be published during ten days in a daily newspaper of the city, and, after such publication, upon due proof thereof, the commission council may proceed to pass upon said application.

"The ordinance of the commission council granting such applicant such permission shall be applicant's warrant for obtaining a license from the city treasurer. If, however, an opposition is filed to the applicant's petition, the commission council shall hear the parties contradictorily, and dispose of the matter in a summary manner, and with as little delay as possible.

"Section 2. Be it further ordained, that any person, firm or corporation that hereafter conducts any public track where horses are raced, who shall conduct such track without the permit or approval required by this ordinance, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in a sum of not less than $25, or imprisoned for not less than thirty days, or both, and, upon the second conviction of this ordinance, shall be permanently deprived thereafter of the privilege of conducting a public track where horses are raced.

"Section 3. Be it further ordained, that horse racing upon public tracks shall not be held in the city of New Orleans, except during the period extending from the first of January to Mardi Gras day, both inclusive, and except between the noon hour and 6 p. m., and that horse racing upon public tracks is entirely prohibited upon Sundays.

"Section 4. Be it further ordained, that no license shall issue to conduct such public track less than one mile in circumference within the city of New Orleans.

"Be it further ordained, that all ordinances or parts of ordinances, if any, in violation of the provisions of this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed."

NEW ORLEANS, LA., October 24.—An amendment to the race track ordinance, striking out the requirement that stockholders in race tracks in the city limits of New Orleans, must be Louisianans and also an amendment giving the Commission Council authority to refuse a permit to run races whenever such steps may be deemed advisable, were the principal changes in the ordinance when it came up before the Commission Council for its final reading today.

After the amendments were read, the ordinance was unanimously adopted. The ordinance now requires that officers of the race track must be Louisianans. The other important amendment gives the council power to refuse a permit whenever such action is thought advisable. By this means, it is believed, an impregnable barrier has been set against the attempts to bring on a racing war. With these two principal amendments read and passed on by the council, the ordinance stood practically as it was first presented by Commissioner Lafaye.

WEIGHTS FOR THE LATONIA CUP.

LATONIA, KY., Oct. 24.—Weights for the Latonia Cup, a handicap, at two miles and one-quarter, to be run next Saturday, the closing day of the meeting, were announced today by Handicapper Jack Campbell. The affair has an added value of $5,000, and it will bring out the best horses in training to contest for it.

Boots, recently purchased by A. K. Macomber for a reported price of $15,000, is assigned top weight, 126 pounds, and he is a sure starter. Star Hawk, also owned by Macomber, gets in with 118. Dodge, from the same barn, carries 119, but it is more than likely that Boots and Star Hawk will represent Mr. Macomber in the race.

Fair Mac, winner of the Toronto Cup race at two miles and one-quarter, gets in with 109 pounds, while Pif Jr., which he beat by the margin of a nose in the same race, is in with 108.

The weights follow:

The Latonia Cup; two miles and a quarter; $5,000 added:

Boots	5	126	Herbert Temple	4	100
Hodge	5	119	Faux Col	3	100
Rudolfo	7	119	Big Smoke	3	100
Dodge	3	119	Grumpy	4	97
Star Hawk	3	118	Killanna	5	97
Rancher	4	117	Hanovia	4	97
Bayberry Candle	5	112	Water Witch	4	97
Fair Mac	6	109	Cadenza	4	97
Pif Jr.	4	108	Disillusion	4	97
Embroidery	4	104	Ellison	3	97
Franklin	3	104	Capt. Rees	3	97
Courtly Lass	4	104	The Cock	3	95
Sharp Frost	3	104	Alfadir	3	90
Hendrie	3	100	Rifle Shooter	3	87
Money Maker	4	100	Heir Apparent	3	87
Shyness	4	100	Safety First	3	87
Christie	4	100	Stephen R.	3	87
Star Jasmine	7	100	Mandy Hamilton	3	87
Manager Waite	4	100	Welga	3	87
Leo Ray	4	100	Margaret E.	3	87

Penalties accrue from 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, October 25.

Imported Alleyn (Planudes—Ivory Bells), which recently changed hands in Melbourne and is now in J. Kelly's care at Flemington, may be raced in Sydney. Alleyn is an aged gelding, and the last race won by him was a six furlongs welter at Moonee Valley on July 29. He carried 7.11 (minimum 7.7), and beat 28 others.—[Australian Referee, Sept. 20.

PROSPECTS FOR NEXT YEAR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—At this season of the year, as the racing is drawing to a close, horsemen and racegoers generally are beginning to turn their attention to the crop of yearlings which are finding their way into the training stables.

As racing is now conducted in this country, the two-year-old monopolizes rather more than fifty per cent. of the season's racing interest, and as a result the yearling comes into the limelight in early autumn, for upon him rests a large share of the responsibility for the racing of the following year.

Naturally enough, many yearlings which appear promising in the late autumn turn out to be sorry disappointments before the racing of the next year has made much progress, but, after all, it is but natural to judge of them by their conformation and blood lines up to the period at which something trustworthy in the way of yearling trials may be expected of them; and if one takes the showing made by youngsters of good conformation last autumn, it will at least indicate that while some really fine-looking ones did not live up to their good looks, no inferior ones did anything worth mentioning.

It is true that Tom McTaggart, of the Brighton Stable, was not as highly thought of as either Ed Garrison or Whitney Belle, neither of which ever showed performances at all in keeping with what their conformation seemed to indicate; but, after all, Tom McTaggart was not passed over as a "no account" when inspected in his yearling form. This is what was said of him:

"Bay colt by Chuctanunda—Toplash. This is a thoroughly good-looking colt, big everywhere, but clean cut and even highly finished. He looks as if he ought to be a speedy colt, and as he is stoutly and compactly built it is reasonable to predict that he ought to pack weight and stay. He has fine driving power, admirable muscular development, oblique shoulders and pasterns and a bloodlike and intelligent head."

Both Ed Garrison and Whitney Belle were more highly praised, and they were extremely good-looking yearlings with good yearling trials to their credit, and that the buyers of yearlings thought well of them is evidenced by the fact that they brought $1,600 and $1,650, respectively, while Tom McTaggart brought $500 or thereabouts.

Of Campfire, the hero of the two-year-olds of 1916, it was said when he was in his yearling form: "A chestnut colt by Olambala—Nightfall, nearly or quite solid colored. This is a grand-looking big colt with beautiful quarters and fore-end, a strong, massive barrel and splendid limbs. He is a heavily-muscled colt and full of individuality; not as handsome as some of his stable mates, but a particular favorite with Patrick Dwyer, who, having seen him in his workouts, may have some especial reason for his liking. He looks like a thoroughly good colt."

Firing Line, by Star Shoot, out of Royal Gun, was even more highly praised at the time, but Campfire kept on growing, while Firing Line failed to do so, and to make matters worse, being a small colt and coming to hand early, he went into the Maryland Spring circuit and had a bad fall which threw him out of training for the greater part of the season, but under almost any circumstances his warmest admirers never could have expected him to grow into such a grand colt as Campfire ultimately proved himself to be.

James Butler's Ivory Black was described as easily the best yearling in James Butler's string, and his performances in his two-year-old form more than adequately confirmed the opinion expressed concerning him.

Mr. Belmont's Hourless was highly praised for his conformation and finish when he was still 14½ hands high, and since then he has more than made good.

The worst disappointments were among the imported youngsters, but no one will pretend that these importations had a fair chance to show their real quality for the reason that with hurried preparation, bucked shins and an epidemic of coughing, many of the best-looking among them never were really fit to be seen under racing silks.

The bay filly Farce, brought over by Mrs. Duryea, was highly praised long before she had been shown under racing silks, and since then, although she has had more than her share of bad luck, she has more than made good. Star Hawk, although imported as a two-year-old late in November, was very highly praised for his conformation, and since then he has more than made good by proving himself undoubtedly one of the best three-year-olds of 1916 in this or any other country.

All this goes to show while racing is often filled with costly disappointments, breeding and conformation are qualities which must be reckoned with as well as actual performance, and for this reason turfmen are naturally anxious to learn as much as possible concerning the prospective crop of two-year-olds of 1917.

Late last week about thirty yearlings came down from Saratoga to be placed in the big barn of W. H. Karrick at Belmont Park. These embryo racehorses are for the most part the property of Schuyler L. Parsons, the Oneck Stable, Mrs. W. Jeffords and S. D. Riddle.

A rather striking looking member of Mr. Parsons' lot is a large brown colt by Zeus, out of Black Swan, purchased at the Adelbert sale of yearlings in Saratoga last August for $1,600. This is a big, rangy looking fellow of the masculine sort. He is marked with a narrow blaze and white off hind foot. This son of Zeus and Black Swan looks as if he ought to grow into at least a very useful horse, and not improbably a good winner. He is upstanding, with plenty of range and substance, outlined like a fast horse and a stayer, and is abundantly supplied with bone and muscle everywhere.

Another colt, also the property of Mr. Parsons, is of a distinctly different type. This is a very neat and racy looking youngster, smaller and lighter than his stablemate just described, but far from being undersized or "light-waisted." He was bought out of the Hamburg Place yearlings sold at Saratoga, and is by Plaudit, out of Country Fraud, the dam of Ed Garrison, and of at least one animal which has made a better showing under silks than has the son of Ogden just mentioned. This colt which Mr. Parsons has, looks decidedly racy, highly finished, and generally attractive in his general make-up. He is a rich bay, marked only with a star, race and snip.

The next yearling in the Parsons string is more promising in conformation than either of the colts already described. He is a dark bay colt by Sweep, out of Myrtelus, practically or wholly solid colored. While this colt has an abundance of size and range, he is more remarkable for his substance, compactness and smooth finish, than for other qualities. In fact this colt is a typical Sweep in every respect. He has the small bloodlike head, the long masculine neck, gracefully arched and crested; the rangy oblique shoulder, deep roomy chest, long, stout and cylindrical barrel, broad muscular loin and massive, yet gracefully-turned quarters, which are distinguishing features in the make-up of his splendid sire. He is a really grand looking colt.

Another member of the Schuyler Parsons string is a very large and useful looking bay colt by Peep O'Day, out of Prairie Belle. He is probably the largest of the lot, but he is well balanced and evenly made.

Another particularly fine looking colt, and one of which Mr. Parsons has good reason to be proud, is a medium-sized brown colt by Sweep, out of Josie Cohan. Here is another well-defined type of his distinguished sire, smoothly and compactly outlined, having long neck, barrel and quarters and grand substance everywhere.

A somewhat distinguished looking member of the Parsons string is the imported chestnut colt by Meddler out of Wheat-ear by St. Frusquin, purchased at the Mackay sale for $1,800. This colt is a strong, rugged looking fellow, upstanding and of rather exceptional range, but by no means lacking in substance. Except that he is just a trifle full between the eyes, this colt has a splendid head; his neck is long, lean and muscular, he has good shoulders, with plenty of depth through the heart region; a long, stout and well-rounded barrel and powerful loin and quarters. He looks as if he ought to run fast and stay.

Mr. Parsons has an uncommonly nice looking chestnut filly by The Commoner out of Luckless. She is distinctively of the type for which the get of her famous sire is noted. Smoothly and gracefully outlined, of moderate height and unusual length and weight for her other measurements. The many horsemen who know what these typical "Commoners" have accomplished on the turf, could not help liking this filly.

Another filly in Mr. Parsons' lot is a small bay by Uncle out of Dorval. She now is a shapely little miss, and looks as if she might grow into a really attractive filly, though for the present she appears a trifle undersized.

In the string of the Oneck Stable are several youngsters which appear worthy of special mention. There is a fine large bay colt by Peep O'Day out of Clare Russell. This is a youngster of splendid size and substance, and he seems to be typical of the get of his popular sire.

Another in the same string is by Peep O'Day out of Crazyquilt. This is a very dark bay or brown colt, upstanding, upheaded, rangy, sprightly looking and well furnished. This is a rather big colt, for besides standing well off the ground, he has plenty of length and substance for his inches. He is marked with a star and white feet on the off side.

An exceedingly attractive filly belonging to the Oneck Stable is a bright bay daughter of McGee out of Claudia, the dam of Prince of Como. This filly has the extremely smooth finish which McGee often succeeds in imparting to his get, and in addition to being highly finished, she has an abundance of size, range and substance along with especially good racing angles.

Next in the same string comes a brown colt by Jack Atkin out of Dentifrice, which is at once sprightly and sturdy looking. He is marked with a star and white hind feet.

A nice looking brown filly by Sain out of Pirate Polly is another of the Oneck Stable's yearlings worthy of mention.

Mrs. W. Jeffords, who is welcomed as a new and desirable recruit to the turf, has four yearlings in the Karrick training barn. They are as follows:

Brown or bay filly by Plaudit out of Janowood. This is a large and finely formed filly of ample size and substance, and she shows the fine racing angles and strikingly bloodlike outlines which the splendid son of Himyar and Cinderella imparts to a majority of his get.

Bay colt by Plaudit out of Olga Nethersole. This is a large and sprightly looking colt of the Plaudit type. He is marked with a star and snip and three white feet.

Red Sox, bay colt by Irish Lad out of Zuna. This is a grand looking bay colt which Mrs. Jeffords bought at the sale of Mrs. Duryea's yearlings in Saratoga for $3,600. Always a fine looking yearling, Red Sox has been improving of late, and he now is a wonderfully fine looking colt.

Bay or brown colt by Sir John Johnson out of Quack. This is a large and attractive colt which shows much of the outline and general make-up of his distinguished sire.

S. D. Riddle is represented in the Karrick training barn by a slashing big bay colt, a son of Sir John Johnson and Deviltree, the daughter of the famous old turf heroine, Imp.

Bruce McDaniel, who is acting for his brother, Trainer D. R. (Pud) McDaniel, has no less than thirty-eight young thoroughbreds belonging to Grant Hugh Browne in his charge at Gravesend. Nearly or quite all of them are imported youngsters. It is needless to add that McDaniel puts in a long day's work whenever the weather conditions are such as to permit of out of door training.

One of the most attractive youngsters in the big string which Mr. Browne has at Gravesend is the big chestnut yearling which he bought at Newmarket for 620 guineas and brought over October 5. This is a bright chestnut colt by Sunstar out of Merry Margot. He is rather liberally marked with white, is upstanding, upheaded and withal liberally endowed with both length and substance. Trainers and owners who have looked him over since his arrival at Gravesend are unanimous in the belief that this is an uncommonly good yearling.

Probably the most interesting of this trio and at all events the most impressive looking colt of the three, is the big chestnut Gunrock, by Flint Rock out of the great American race mare, Gunfire. This is an immense two-year-old, and as he is a bright golden chestnut liberally and rather eccentrically marked or "slashed" with white, he could not fail to command attention in almost any equine company. He is a colt of fine conformation, although somewhat over-sized, and Fred Jones, who is handling him, says he can show a rare burst of speed whenever called upon. When the Mackay yearlings were sold at Durland's last autumn Gunrock fell to the bid of John Sanford for $4,800; but at the Sanford sale held in the Belmont Park paddock early last September he was sold to J. E. Davis for $1,700. The colt appears to be absolutely sound, but why he should have been "turned loose" at such a price is a mystery to the many horsemen who have seen and admired him at Gravesend.

Another of these two-year-olds is the dark bay or brown colt Vaulter, by Negofol (sire of Hourless) out of Lady of the Vale. This was one of the youngsters imported from Mr. Belmont's Haras de Villers, in Normandy. They were yearlings when they began their journey to this country, but their voyage was a long and rough one and they were two-year-olds when they landed in New York and a sorry looking lot at that. Vaulter was far from being an impressive looking colt when offered at Durland's and many thought he was well sold when H. M. Maxwell bought him for $350. Since then he has grown a sturdy looking colt of a distinctly masculine type, and rather racy looking at that.

Thorn Bloom, the third of this trio of two-year-olds, was another of the tempest-tossed Haras de Villers lot. A dark brown colt by Flint Rock, out of White Thorn, the dam of Hawthorn, Thornhill, etc. He brought $1,200 at the sale, also becoming the property of Mr. Maxwell, who sent him down to Trainer Fitzsimmons' stable at Gravesend; but only a few days later he caught the prevailing epidemic influenza, which in his case ran into lung fever, and for more than a week it was thought he could not recover; but seemingly through sheer gameness he pulled through, and now he is a two-year-old of fair size and substance and looks like a good racing prospect.

Trainer Fitzsimmons has twelve thrifty looking yearlings now at Gravesend, and it would seem rather surprising if some of them should not develop into something very much worth while. A chestnut colt by Ballot out of Almadie is a particularly taking youngster of rare racing conformation, fine height and range and an abundance of substance. Another fine colt is a chestnut by Ballot out of Miss Crittenden; and there is a grand looking bay colt by Superman out of Award, a rich bay marked with three white feet and a narrow blaze. This is a colt of fair height and exceptional length and substance. Another in the lot worthy of especial mention is a very dark bay colt, marked only with a broken blaze. This is without doubt one of the handsomest and most highly finished of the lot. He is by Superman out of Notasulga. A bay colt bought at the Spreckels sale by Solitaire II. out of Georgia VI., a brown colt by Cunard out of Mrs. F. G. Hogan, a chestnut colt by Celt out of Sally Washington, a very neat looking chestnut colt by Glorifier out of Niola, a chestnut filly by Celt out of Frantic, a chestnut filly by Transvaal out of Lady Aristocracy, a chestnut filly of Celt out of Aurine, and a chestnut filly by Celt out of Sanci round out the bunch of yearlings in Trainer Fitzsimmons' charge.

Trainer Stephen Lawler has four particularly fine looking yearlings in his charge just now. They are a brown filly by Helmet out of Eonic, a bay filly by Helmet out of Grail, a bay colt by Ballot out of Discipline, and a chestnut colt by Ballot out of Blush Rose. These make a particularly attractive looking quartette.

SARATOGA DIRECTORS DECIDE TO RAISE STAKE VALUES.

LAUREL, MD., Oct. 21.—The Royal Blue Steeplechase Handicap of $1,500 added and the Prince George Handicap with $1,500 added were provided as features by the Maryland State Fair at Laurel this afternoon.

Both races furnished surprises, the former on account of Quel Bonheur winning and the latter on account of the poor showing of Runes. In his previous race Quel Bonheur finished last, beaten off, and in both of Runes' previous starts he showed winning form.

Quel Bonheur came from behind in his race today and in a driving finish beat out Northwood and Sun King. Runes was never a factor in his race, and at the finish was beaten off a dozen lengths. Borrow ran one of his good races. He was ridden by Robinson, assumed an easy lead after trailing J. J. Lillis for six furlongs, and at the finish won pulled up. Runes was last, beaten a length by Daddy's Choice for third money.

In his previous race Quel Bonheur was ridden by his owner, E. A. Burke, and in a three-horse race he was disgracefully beaten by both Sun King and Early Light. On that occasion he carried 147 pounds to 156 on Sun King and 138 on Early Light. Today he only took up 140, while Sun King carried 155 and Early Light was in under 136, and he beat the pair of them with Jockey Noe in the saddle.

Burke was called into the stand after the recent bad showing of his jumper, and he had an uncomfortable session with the stewards. Quel Bonheur finished with great gameness when put to a drive, and his victory was a thoroughly good one.

The defeat of Runes was not by any means as much of a reversal of form. He was third to Boots and Spur in the Washington Handicap, and in that running he only took up 105 pounds, as against the 112 that he shouldered this afternoon. He did not run up to his previous form, but Borrow, J. J. Lillis and Daddy's Choice, the three that beat him home, were in the handicap very nicely, and at his best Runes has never shown that he is partial to weight.

The defeat of Gloomy Gus in the mile for two-year-olds was another surprise, when Ed Roche was the one to beat him out by a head. It is probable this result would have been reversed had Ball been able to keep Gloomy Gus in at the head of the stretch. He swung very wide on the turn for home, and then when he came back to the scales nodding, there was plenty of excuse for his being second instead of first.

These were not the only surprises of the afternoon, for when Doyle jollied Song of the Valley along in front for a mile and seventy yards, that old plater upset many a calculation by beating home Buzz Around very handily.

Armament, the Henry J. Morris plater, which was one of the Piping Rock Subscription yearlings, had no "dope" reason for taking the six furlongs of the fifth race, and the showing of Paddy Whack in that running was something of a shock to the students when he was among the tail-enders at the finish.

At a meeting of the directors of the Saratoga Racing Association, held in the Belvidere Hotel last night, it was decided to increase the added money to some of the important fixtures for next year.

Extensive improvements will be made to the plant before next summer. The grand stand, field stand and club house will be repainted, and the latter building will be remodeled.

The value of the Hopeful Stakes next year will be $25,000, an increase of $7,500 over last season, and the Spinaway Stakes will be increased in added value from $3,000 to $5,000. The United States Hotel Stakes will have a value of $7,500, and the Grand Union Hotel Stakes will also carry with it a purse of $7,500. The Grab Bag Handicap will be of $3,000 value. The entrance fees to these events will be the same as last year.

J. W. Hedrick will in future train the horses running in the name of I. M. Hedrick. Steve Judge left for Tiajuana this morning with the Roegan and E. J. Mc Graw horses.

William P. Spurgeon, of Washington, has consummated a deal with the Kentucky Stable for the transfer of the imported Storm Nymph. The latter is a highly-bred filly by Joe Chamberlain, out of Maud Primrose.

George Miller, who has been starter and acting as judge at some of the smaller meetings in the South, was an arrival at Laurel this afternoon. Mr. Miller is here in search of material for a client in Porto Rico. He purchased twenty-seven horses this fall and shipped them to Porto Rico. Among the lot were eleven two-year-olds that he picked up in Kentucky, and the older horses St. Helene, Bullie Kean and Mollie Kean. Mr. Miller will leave for Montgomery, Ala., next week, where he will do the starting and manage the running races which will be given in connection with a fair in that city.

Max Hirsch shipped Candy Land back to Belmont Park this afternoon. Jerry Carroll sent two of Mr. Coe's racers home in the same car, and Louis Feustel left with the Crown Stable's horses.

GREAT IMPORTED HORSES.

"Of all the great horses imported into this country from England Glencoe was probably the best. As a race horse he was quite first-class, winning, among other races, the Two Thousand Guineas in 1834. His breeding was ultra fashionable, tracing on his dam's side to Web, Penelope, Prunella and others, one of the best racing families in the world. His impress upon the racing stock has been very strong, and today there is scarcely a first-class race horse, either in this country or in England, without several crosses to Glencoe," writes Charles Brossman in an exchange.

"Before the Revolutionary War, when Virginia was the home and the breeding ground of the thoroughbred horse, the importation of such sterling horses as Jolly Roger, James, Morton's Traveler, Fearnought and Medley gave class, distinction and worth to the horses of Virginia and made them famous throughout all of the other colonies. Wealthy gentlemen vied with each other in establishing a breed of horses that would be superior to all others, and expense was not considered where a desirable animal could be obtained. The above horses stand out conspicuously as the foundation stock that made famous the breeders of the numerous and excellent horses then to be found in that section. At that time horses were esteemed and distinguished for their feats on the turf, their service under saddle and as valuable cavalry horses during the Revolutionary War. Diomed, winner of the first English Derby in 1780, by Florizel, out of a sister to Juno, was one of the most valuable horses ever imported into this country. He was sire in America of Sir Archy, Duroc, Florizel and many other first-class race horses, and themselves the sires of race horses and sires from generation to generation. Indeed, his descendants were among the best horses ever raised in the United States, being large, speedy, game, vigorous, highly formed, sound and powerful. Sir Archy, his best son, was a rich bay, 16 hands high, with great power and substance, and as a race horse was considered very superior, but it was as a sire that he was considered supreme.

"Leviathan (imported in 1830) by Muley, dam Windle mare, was another that left a lasting impression and did much to improve the horses of his time. He is regarded as one of the best horses ever imported. He sired the winners of 450 races, running 1,517 miles between 1835, when they first appeared on the turf, and 1853, when races were up to four-mile heats and horses were only expected to run a limited number of races a year. Luzborough, imported into Virginia in 1832, was another justly celebrated sire that added fame to the country in which he was located. One of the most successful stallions ever brought into the United States was Messenger. He was the sire of Miller's Damsel, a great race mare and the dam of American Eclipse, one of the most famous race horses ever in any country, besides many other noted racers. Messenger is particularly famous as the founder of many successful trotting horse families, and in this connection it might be stated that imported Wildair of Lath, out of a Wildair mare, should be given credit with the good qualities esteemed in the Morgan family. It is not the least curious of the facts with the history of racing that England has parted with some of her best stallions, owing to an undue haste in condemning them. The English very early condemned Buccaneer under the impression that his get were non-stayers. But no sooner had he left the country for Austria than Paul Jones, Formosa and Brigantine appeared, and when Kisber won the Derby in 1876 they were anxious to get him back. Cruiser, imported by John Rarey, of Groveport, Ohio, was a half-brother, both being out of the Little Red Rover mare. Years ago they condemned Leamington, a horse that made history in America. He was a son of Faugh-a-Ballagh, which won the St. Leger in 1844. English turf writers have never ceased to regret that Leamington was exported. Gladiator was sold to France, but when his sons, Gladiateur and Mortemer, afterward imported into this country, and Chamant beat all of the best horses on the turf, they were not slow to acknowledge their mistake.

"They sold us Priam, which won the Derby in 1830, but before he came he had served in that country Industry, Miss Letty and Crucifix, and they clamored for his return. And so it goes all along down the line. Trustee, the sire of Fashion, the best race mare of her day, also sire of the gelding Trustee, the first horse to trot twenty miles within an hour, was another one of the horses that stands out as a valuable importation. The blood of Stonehenge, King Ernest, Bonnie Scotland, Rayon d'Or, Meddler, Prince Charlie, Watercress and many other celebrated imported horses not mentioned in this article will each contribute its part to the future greatness and glory of turf stars yet unborn. Of the recent importations by Jefferson Livingston, A. K. Macomber, Harry Payne Whitney, August Belmont and others, history will record the proper place to which each horse belongs according to the performance and breeding qualities of the individual. It was thought by many well-informed horsemen this spring, that the imported horses, on account of their supposed superior breeding, would sweep the boards and gather in all of the desirable stakes. They don't seem to have done so. Condition will tell, and it will be in the future, as it has always been in the past, that the trainer that has his horses in the best condition on the day of the race will win the money."

At the close of the Australian racing season of 1915-16, the list of winning stallions was headed for the first time by Wallace, by Carbine—Melodious, and he is the first Victorian horse to achieve that distinction since Pilgrim's Progress did so in 1903. The progeny of Wallace won in stakes $124,725. Second on the list is the imported Linacre, by Wolf's Crag—Lismaine, with $90,105, third place being filled by Bobadil, by Bill of Portland—She, with $82,340. The first half-dozen are completed by Malster, by Bill of Portland—Barley, $70,030; Grafton, by Galopin—Maid Marian, $69,230, and Pistol, by Carbine—Wenonah, $66,160.

PROBABLE STARTERS IN LATONIA CUP.

The Latonia Cup race, which will be run today, promises to be the best distance race of the year. Secretary Campbell is quite certain that eight or nine starters will go to the post. The probable starters are:

Horses—Weights	Jockeys.
Boots, 126	M. Buxton
Star Hawk, 118	R. Goose
Hodge, 119	D. Connelly
Rancher, 117	L. Gentry
Fair Mac, 109	T. Rice
Pif Jr., 108	F. Robinson
Star Jasmine, 100	J. Callahan
Killanna, 97	P. Louder
Money Maker, 100	C. Hunt

As $5,000 is added to this race it makes it the best race run during the entire autumn racing season. Dodge, from the A. K. Macomber stable will not start, as he has a cracked heel. But Walter B. Jennings, who is training the Macomber horses, will send either Boots or Star Hawk to the post, and probably both of them. Star Hawk has been given a special preparation for the race, and as he likes a route, he will undoubtedly carry the Macomber colors. Star Hawk got beat a head in the first big race of the Kentucky racing season in the spring, the Kentucky Derby, and Jennings is of the opinion that a poor beginning means a good ending.

This is the final big race of the year. At two miles and a quarter a horse has a chance to show his staying powers. It is a true test of stamina for a horse, and being the usual cup distance owners do not object to training and sending their charges over such a route. The four-mile race of a few years ago was too much for the present-day horsemen, and the four-mile race had a natural death. The Latonia Cup route is just the proper distance, and, being the last race of the year, horsemen can afford to send good horses after the prize, for they have nothing else in view until the spring. The race has an international aspect in that three of the starters are foreign-bred, they being Star Hawk, Killanna and Fair Mac. Rancher is owned in Canada. The management is expecting the biggest crowd of the season and is making preparations accordingly. Extra cars and trains will be put on to get the people to Latonia. As racing begins at 2 o'clock there will be no long delays between the races, for a twenty-five minute interval is all that can be granted if the races are run off before darkness sets in.

Foals of 1916 must be registered with The Jockey Club, 18 E. 41st Street, New York, by November 1st. The registration fee is $2 for each animal, which will include certificate. A name must be claimed through the Registry Office of The Jockey Club on or before March 1 for foals of 1915. No horse will be allowed to race unless duly registered and named.

MEETING OF THE RACING COMMISSION.

The State Racing Commission, with Senator Camden, who was in New York, and Judge Allie Young, the only absentees, met at the Club House at Latonia Race Track Thursday.

A communication relative to the proposed tax of 2½ per cent. received by the Commission, was referred to a committee, which will confer with the Tax Board with a view to adjusting the matter.

The matter of greatest interest before the Commission was that of allotting the spring dates for the Lexington, Douglas Park, Churchill Downs and Latonia tracks next year.

General Haldeman very strongly advocated the reduction of racing days in Kentucky to not more than 100 days for the year of 1917.

This met with opposition from all but Mr. Grainger, who agreed with General Haldeman that Kentucky was getting too much racing, and the matter was finaliy compromised by giving Lexington eleven days, Churchill Downs twelve days, Douglas Park thirteen days and Latonia twenty-one days.

Following are the dates allotted:

Lexington, April 28—May 10.

Churchill Downs, May 12—May 25.

Douglas Park May 26—June 9.

Latonia, June 11—July 4.

General Haldeman in explaining his position stated that he had received a great number of communications from business men in Louisville and Lexington protesting against so much racing and that he was firmly convinced that the sport and the breeding industry would benefit by a shorter season.

An interesting fact brought out during the meeting was that the Lexington course pays the largest dividends to the stockholders of any of the Kentucky tracks, and also that Douglas Park, Churchill Downs and Latonia had all lost money this year.

It can be stated almost positively that the $800 minimum purse rule will be rescinded before next spring, as it was shown that the associations could not continue to operate under the burden.

The forty acres recently purchased near Spring Lake, supposedly for an automobile factory, is intended for a new racing plant, according to the belief of those interested in the Latonia Jockey Club, and it is a question of what can be done in the matter of dates for 1918, if this project develops.

Lexington, with a drawing population of 50,000 people, gets eleven days; Louisville, with 250,000, gets twenty-five days, and Latonia, with 800,000, gets only twenty-one days.

The former two tracks depend for their existence on Kentucky and her citizens, but Cincinnati is the main support of Latonia, which draws money into the State instead of being a burden on it, and the Kentuckians most interested in Latonia will make an effort to have the Commission increase the allotment of dates for this track for the fall meeting. JOHN K. STRINGFIELD DIES SUDDENLY.

John K. Stringfield, press agent for the Louisville and Latonia race tracks and one of the foremost turf authorities in this section, died suddenly at the Hotel Honing, Cincinnati, shortly before eleven o'clock Sunday night. After eating a hearty meal he took his little daughter to a picture show. Returning to his room at the hotel he was taken sick. Clerk Robert Kelly, in answer to a call from Mrs. Stringfield, sent for several physicians, but he was dead before one arrived, having died from heart failure, precipitated by acute indigestion.

John K. Stringfield was known to horsemen throughout the country. He had been a familiar figure on the Kentucky courses for more than a quarter of a century. His knowledge of thoroughbreds and their breeding was excelled by few followers of the turf in America. Legions of friends among horsemen, breeders, jockeys, and even stable boys, mourn his death. "String" knew them all.

Mr. Stringfield possessed a remarkable memory, and from observation during his long association with the thoroughbred and study of blood lines, he was recognized by horsemen as an authority. With little difficulty he could trace the pedigree of an animal to its tap root and recount achievements of members of its family throughout its course. The turf of the long ago was "String's" hobby. The sentiment that caused his eyes to glisten when he talked of Hanover, Virgil, Boston, Fashion, Wagner bespoke his love for the horse itself. He wished the sport free as possible from commercialism and dabbled little with the betting end of the sport. An occasional two-dollar wager was the extent of his indulgence.

Mr. Stringfield leaves a widow and one child, Alphia Ray Stringfield, about three years old, and a stepdaughter. As a compliment to the turf writer, M. B. Gruber, a Louisville grocer and turfman, named a colt in honor of Stringfield's child. The horse is Little String and has been a useful horse.

Mr. Stringfield was born near Lexington. He was 57 years old. His father, Wood Stringfield, was a successful jockey, trainer and owner of thoroughbreds.

His body arrived in Lexington on the Queen and Crescent train at 10:30 Tuesday morning and was buried in the family lot in the Lexington cemetery. Services at the grave were conducted by the Rev. G. E. Cameron, of the First Methodist Church. The pall bearers were Col. William S. Barnes, Dr. W. L. Elmore, John B. Gorham, Andrew G. Leonard, R. L. McClure and John E. Rubbathen.

CUDGEL WINS QUEEN CITY HANDICAP.

LATONIA, KY., Oct. 25.—The biggest crowd of the meeting was out today at Latonia, the occasion being, first, Ladies' Day, and second, a good card. There were two features on the program, the Queen City Handicap for two-year-olds at a mile, and the Reading Handicap, at a mile and a sixteenth. Cudgel won the Queen City Handicap, and Bayberry Candle came down in front in the Reading Handicap.

The Reading Handicap, at a mile and one-sixteenth, for three-year-olds and upward, gave Bayberry Candle a chance to demonstrate again what a wonderful race mare she is when she negotiated the distance in 1:44 4-5. She was in the lead the greater part of the trip, but King Gorin headed her once, and it looked as though she was done for. However, Jockey Jack Hanover went to the bat on her with a vengeance in the stretch, and she got up again to beat King Gorin by a length and one-half. King Gorin had no trouble holding the place safe from Grumpy. There were only five starters in this event, but it proved a good betting race, as all of the starters came in for some play. The pace was a hot one, the first six furlongs being reeled off in 1:12 3-5 and the mile in 1:38 3-5. So evenly were the chances of the first two horses figured by the players that they both went to the post at the same price, 8 to 5.

The Queen City Handicap, at a mile, for two-year-olds, fell to Jehn W. Schorr's good colt Cudgel. He was the choice for the event, and he was always close enough to the front not to cause his backers much worry. Mary Belle set the pace the greater part of the journey, but when Jockey Danny Connelly let Cudgel out he fairly ran over the Baker Bros.' filly. He beat her by a length and one-half, and she in turn beat Butterscotch II. six lengths for the place. Mary Belle broke forwardly, as did Cudgel, but Butterscotch II. got off badly and had to be hustled hard all the way to even get into a contending position. He caught his field soon after rounding the first turn and stood a hard drive the rest of the way, but his early efforts told on him and he weakened. Seminole King, whose chances were fancied to a good extent, showed some early speed, but quit. The others were outpaced all the way.

E. R. Bradley, owner of Idle Hour Farm, near Lexington, and one of the most prominent breeders and turfmen in the country, today donated $250 to the fund being raised for Mrs. John K. Stringfield, widow of the well-known turf reporter who died in Cincinnati last Sunday night. The fund is growing steadily and a tidy sum has already been secured.

After Margaret N.'s victory she was advanced from her entered price of $1,000 to $2,000 by John Henry, and Owner Joe Hawkins let her go at that figure. Hawkins retaliated by claiming Syrian from the Baker Bros. for $1,550. Rube Dickinson advanced Commauretta from $400 to $905, but Owner W. J. Weber kept her.

R. L. Baker went before the stewards today and asked them to reinstate Jockey Mack Garner so that he could ride Pif Jr. in the Latonia Cup, at two and one-quarter miles, on Saturday. They refused to do so, and Mr. Baker wired Jockey Frank Robinson to come on from Laurel and ride for him. Robinson left Baltimore tonight. It was reported that Robinson was to ride one of the Macomber horses in this race, but Mr. Baker had him engaged long in advance, and he will ride Pif Jr.

Jockey Eddie Martin, who sustained a broken leg at Lexington, is able to be at the track now. He has discarded his crutches and is using a cane. He expects to go to Tijuana next week.

LATONIA GOSSIP.

The last three days of the past week gave the mudders a fine chance to earn some feed money, the track being a first cousin to an Irish bog from the first race Thursday to the closing event Saturday.

Joe Hawkins' good colt Chalmers took the feature race on Thursday for which Gallaher Bros.' filly Vogue was the outstanding choice. Vogue had never shown at any time that she could beat a horse like Chalmers, but the filly's fine races since this meeting opened and her known liking for the mush caused the players to forget the past dope on the two horses, at any rate Chalmers took the track from the first jump, and breezed all the way. The winner did not impress very favorably in the paddock, as the extremely liberal use of the firing iron and blisters were plainly evident. Chalmers pulled up apparently sound however and it is probable he will get another chance before the meeting ends.

The short let-up enjoyed by the Bob Baker string seems to have benefited them considerably. Pif Jr. and King Gorin have each won their last two outs, Pif Jr. beating Arriet and Manager Waite the first time and Hodge the last. King Gorin galloped to Sleeth, then came back and breezed all the way of the 1⅛ miles journey to Hodge and Star Jasmine. Jack Baker is not a Gibson House trainer with the foreman doing the work, but sticks at the barn and his horses show the effect of careful effort.

Blackie Daw showed quite a nice performance Tuesday when he won all the way at a mile and seventy yards from McAdoo and other fair horses. Spencer's colt was sick in the spring and did not recover his strength during the hot weather but seems to be a good colt now and may return to something like his two-year-old form.

When Walter Pearce and John Henry's colt Knebelkamp, won the mile race for two-year-olds Monday, there were three bids put in for him, Rome Respess securing him for $1,800.

The Goose—Baker—Adair—Martin—Pearce—Henry combination has been so active against others during the fall racing season, that the other owners have finally turned and are showing a disposition to return the compliment. Even Mr. Schorr, who has taken no part in selling race activities in recent years, put in a bid for Knebelkamp, in retaliation for Pearce and Henry's claiming of Geo. C. Love the other day. Roy Martin has bid up every winner of a selling race in Mr. Schorr's colors since the beginning of the Lexington meeting, and now that there is no more doubt of Martin's being one of the Baker-Pearce clique, Mr. Schorr is beginning to get active.

Like Lexington, Douglas Park and Churchill Downs, the fall meeting at Latonia will prove a loser for the associaton, principally on account of the compulsory $800 purses.

If the management had been allowed to split the money offered each day for purses to the best advantage, better attractions to the public and the players, would have resulted, with a corresponding increase in the attendance and the business in the machines, but when an arbitrary rule requires a set amount be given in each race, regardless of whether the event is for $400 maidens or $20,000 stake horses, it is almost impossible for the officials to arrange a card that is attractive to the public.

It is impossible to get the real high-class horses out without inducements of a sufficient amount, and impossible to offer them sufficient inducement when all the purse money must be given to maidens and $400 top and bottom horses. $5,600 a day for purses alone is quite a burden on an association for a fall meeting, when added to the heavy overhead running expenses of a race track. But even if this amount must be given the horsemen, the management might make both ends meet if they could use the money to the best advantage by making the purses for the cheap horses smaller and correspondingly increasing the purses in the one or two feature races each day.

Mr. Macomber's new purchase, Boots, was certainly not shown any favors in the weights assigned for the Latonia Cup, drawing the top weight of 126 pounds. Mr. Macomber's other entry, Star Hawk, however, is in well enough at 118. Pif Jr. with 108, Fair Mac with 109 and Rancher with 117, are others with a chance that have been well treated by the handicapper; 119 seems to put Hodge clear out of the probable winners' class. The others handicapped were probably entered just to see their names in print, for all the chance they have to go to the post Saturday.

John Huffman is petitioning the State Racing Commission to be allowed to sell the mare Mary H. Mr. Huffman was ruled off at Hawthorne last summer by C. J. Fitzgerald for refusing to give the mare up after she had been claimed out of a selling race by one Baumgardner, who had never been heard of before nor since in the racing game.

Huffman claimed at the time that there were no rules at the meeting allowing claiming in selling races, as the old Western Jockey Club rules provided only for the bidding up of winners, but did not allow the claiming of beaten horses.

The horsemen racing at Hawthorne all feel that Mr. Huffman was the victim of a job on the part of some of the owners taking part in that particular race, as the understanding had obtained throughout the meeting that there was to be no claiming.

Strang-Perkins Horses Bring Good Prices.

The horses of G. L. Strang, which the stewards gave permission for him to sell, after refusing their further entries in Strang's name, were sold at auction in the paddock Thursday.

Auctioneer Mickey Shannon got the horsemen into a good humor with some Irish wit and then proceeded to unload at the following prices:

Rhymer, b c, 2, by Dick Welles—Outwai; B. J. Brannon $2,700
Jane Straith, b f, 3, by Dalhousie—Tickle; William Perkins 2,100
Deliver, br f, 3, by Dick Welles—Anna Brooks; Hiter & Ford 2,200

RACING DATES FOR 1916-1917.

Latonia Jockey Club, Latonia, Ky., October 7 to October 28—19 days.
Western Racing Association, Devonshire Park, Windsor, Ont., October 28 to November 4—7 days.
Maryland Jockey Club, Pimlico, Md., November 1 to November 13—11 days.
Pickering Hunt, Phoenixville, Pa., November 4—1 day.
Lower California Jockey Club, Tijuana, Mexico, beginning November 11—100 or more days.
Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, Bowie, Md., November 14 to November 30—15 days.
Warrenton Hunt, Warrenton, Va., November 18—1 day.
Jockey Club Juarez, Juarez, Mexico, beginning November 30—100 or more days.

It has been decided to build four new stables at Belmont Park racetrack. These will have fifty stalls each, which will be arranged in double rows with the back walls common to both, so that the buildings will not be longer than the average stable buildings already on the premises. The new buildings will be "on the hill" and placed between the barns already there and the training track.

The Calumet Stable will be a new racing establishment which will try for honors on the New York track next season. C. M. Garrison, a New York broker, with large interests in Arizona and California, will be sponsor for the Calumet. He has arranged with William Jennings of Mount Washington, Md., to use the old Jennings colors, for many years so well known on the local turf. These colors were blue with white cap, and the only change that will be made will be that the colors of the Calumet Stable will carry a copper cap instead of the old Jennings white. Mr. Garrison has long been a lover and a follower of the thoroughbred and has owned horses several years ago, although he did not race them under his own name. Mr. Jennings is now in the market for a few good two-year-olds to rest up during the winter, and bring to the New York races for the Calumet Stable in the spring.

Racegoers in Russia like plenty for their money, seventeen races in a day being nothing unusual. At Moscow on June 8 there was a programme of nineteen races.

Cattle or Horse hide, Calf, Dog, Deer, or any kind of skin with hair or fur on. We tan and finish them right; make them into coats (for men and women), robes, rugs or gloves when ordered.

Your fur goods will cost you less than to buy them, and be worth more. Our illustrated catalog gives a lot of information which every stock raiser should have, but we never send out this valuable book except upon request.

It tells how to take off and care for hides; how and when we pay the freight both ways; about our safe dyeing process which is a tremendous advantage to the customer, especially on horse hides and calf skins; about the fur goods and game trophies we sell, taxidermy, etc. If you want a copy send us your correct address.
